

The Alpha's Plus Size Urban Human Mate

Chapter 136

Shadow's POV:

Shawna, I called out to her. I saw Shaïd walk up behind her just as the vampire, who looked like he was about to attack her, stop in midair or moving in slow motion, just as Shawna turned around, Shaïd struck her and snatched the babies, then gave them to the vampire. I was running now just throwing warriors and animals away, not bothering to kill or fight. I needed to get to Shawna. Shaïd went back to Shawna as the vampire ran at human speed towards the witch, who was now saying some kind of spell by the looks of the clouds that were gathering. Shaïd picked Shawna up by her throat just as I got closer. "SHAÏD STOP DON'T DO THIS!" I yelled just as Shaïd drew her hand back and glanced at me. Her eyes widened in shock at seeing me, then quickly turned back to Shawna, bringing her claws down just as I got in front of Shawna and wrapped my arms around her just as I felt Shaïd's claws enter my back.

"NNNOOOO!" I heard Shaïd from behind me just as I heard a gun shot. I turned my head slightly to see Hawk holding the tranquilizer gun the doc gave us that could possibly cure Shaïd and give her her memories back. "Shadow?" I heard a voice that I came to love. I turned back to look at her as she opened her eyes, slowly recognizing that it was me that held her. "Hey beautiful", I choked out as blood began to spill from my mouth. "What the hell is wrong with you are you hurt?" She asked as fear crept in her eyes. "It's only a little scratch" I said putting her down, my body too weak to hold her any longer I fell to my knees and hit the ground face first and Shawna screamed.

Shawna's POV:

Is it just me or is it warm in here? It feels like I'm getting a bear hug. I thought just as I opened my eyes and realized that I was still in this shitty realm, I wasn't getting a bear hug. But I was in Shadow's arms. I was still kinda of dizzy. My head hurt like a motha fucka. "Shadow?" I asked, confused, because I may still be knocked the fk out and dreaming. "Hey beautiful." He said in a voice that sounded like he was in pain. My eyes widened in fear. "What the hell is wrong with you? Are you hurt?" I asked in a panic. "It's only a little scratch." He said as he put me on the ground before falling to his knees and face planting on the ground. That's when I saw the big hole in his back. All I could do was scream, dropping to my knees, turning his big body over as best I could. I buried my face in his chest as I screamed. "Please, please Shadow, don't do this to me. Please, don't leave me here. I can't do any of this st without you. Do you hear me? Don't you dare do this st to me." I cried.

"Sssshhhh, baby it's ok. You'll be OK, you will be OK. I promise." He said, coughing up blood. "SOMEBODY HELP ME PLEASE SOMEONE GO GET THE DOC PLEASE JUST HELP HIM PLEASE!" I Yelled, hoping someone would help me save Shadow. "Shadow?" I heard a small voice I looked up to see that zombie bh crawling towards us. I grabbed my blade and pointed it at her, and she stopped. "I swear to God if you take another step over here, I will cut your fg throat. You stay the fk away from us you crazy blood-sucking bh. You did this to him, he wanted to save you, but you wanted me to die so badly, now he's dying because he had to save me from you." I said, ugly crying at this point. "I. I. would never do that. He's my mate, I love him." She said, shaking her head in disbelief. That's when I realized that her eyes were no longer red, they were normal.

Frowning, "bh, have you lost your damn mind? Look at your fg hands, you just put a hole in his damn back trying to kill me. You want me to believe that you somehow don't know what the hell you did ten seconds ago." I yelled angrily. "She probably doesn't remember anything after I shot her with the vial the doc gave us. She may be disoriented right now. It may take a few minutes for her to recover. I know this is going to be hard for you to do. But you have to let Scarlett heal Shadow." Hawk said, kneeling in front of me and Shadow. "Hawk, I can say with confidence you have no idea how hard it will be for me to let that bh come near Shadow again. You know why, huh? Because it will be fg impossible for me to even remotely allow her to even stick her toe in our direction without me cutting that bh off with my blade." I said, pulling Shadow close to me as he coughed out more blood on my shirt, but I didn't care.

Hawk helped me straighten Shadow up so he and I could be more comfortable. His head now lay next to my stomach and the babies started to move like crazy and his head instinctively moved closer to them. I could hear him struggling to breathe and I began to cry again. "Please Shawna, he will die if you don't allow her to help him. He is her mate, and she can use her blood to help heal him. This is the only way. You have to let him go so his mate can help him." Hawk begged, with tears in his eyes. I looked over his shoulder at the bh I would kill when I got the chance. She was staring at Shadow with love and fear in her eyes. She looked nothing like the zombie bh she was a few seconds ago. I looked at Shadow, who was wheezing and growing pale. Then I looked back up at Hawk. "So, all she needs to do is give him her blood and he will be, OK?" I asked Hawk, looking at him intently.

He nodded his head at me. I looked back at the zombie bh, then back at Hawk and nodded. "But you stand right next to Shadow and if she even looks at me or Shadow wrong or I see her eyes change color at all, I'm cutting her throat. I said, looking her directly in the eyes, so she knows it's real. "Shawna, you don't have to do this. It's OK, I don't want her blood. I only want you and no one else," Shadow said weakly. I smiled down at him with tears falling from my eyes. I kissed his lips even with blood on them, but I didn't care at this point because I didn't know if it would be the last time that I would get the chance.

"Mine!" I heard a growl and looked up to see the zombie bh looking at me with anger in her eyes. Hawk hopped up and stood between her and us. "Scarlett, you have to focus and save Shadow. There is a lot that you don't know but we don't have time to explain any of this. Can you keep her cool until you help Shadow?" Hawk asked, grabbing her by the shoulders, turning her away from us so she could look him in the eyes. She finally nodded and Hawk came to move Shadow to lay flat on the ground. He immediately reached for me. I grabbed his hand and placed it on my stomach and the boys started moving like crazy again. The pain was intense, but I ignored it. I wanted Shadow to feel our boys, hopefully giving him something to fight for.

The zombie bh glared at me and growled lowly, but I didn't budge cause I wish a bh would. I pulled the dragon's blade out and placed it on my lap, so we were clear on what the fk I was about. I squeezed the handle on my blade hard when she reached for his face and turned it gently. Shadow's eyes were now closed but I could tell her touch affected him and it made my heart ache that she still had that kind of connection with him. But he needed her to save his life right now. So, I took a deep breath and ignored the pain in my heart and my back. Shadow opened his eyes slightly and smiled up at the Zombie bh.

"Scarlett is it really you?" he asked, wheezing. Yea it's me, I don't know what is happening, but I need to help you now." She said, and he nodded, closing his eyes. The zombie bh bit into her wrist and placed her wrist in his mouth and he latched on, sucking greedily. All of a sudden, he began to choke, and even more blood was coming out of his mouth than before. 'What the hell Hawk what's happening, why is he not healing?" I asked immediately, putting his head back on my lap, pulling him, so he is on his side. "I don't know it should have worked. Maybe it's because she is a vampire as well. Her blood may be poisonous, but it shouldn't matter since they're mated." He said, pacing before he stopped to look down at Shadow, who wasn't wheezing anymore. He was completely still like he was asleep.

I looked down at him and I felt him take his last breath and then I completely lost it. The pain I felt was so severe that it started to burn me from the inside. My heart felt like it was burning to ash. It felt like if I didn't let it out, whatever it was that was burning me, it would burn me from the inside out, so I let out a deafening scream. The purple flames were coming out of my mouth, eyes, and hands. I could vaguely see that everyone around me was on the ground rolling around in pain. The cross-breed animals were bleeding from the ears before they fell to the ground dead. My hands were on Shadow's chest and head. I felt the purple flames directed its energy to my hand and that's when I felt and heard Shadow take a deep breath. Then my screaming stopped, and I was only left with tears running down my face.

"Shadow baby can you hear me? Are you OK? Baby answer me?" I asked, crying, kissing his face. "Scarlett?" I heard him say barely above a whisper, I backed away in shock and the zombie bh took the opportunity. To crawl over to him like an ever-loving mate. "Shawna, he's just disoriented. He doesn't know what he is saying," Hawk tried to say. But I shook my head to silence him. I didn't need a pep talk or whatever he was trying to do. I was backing away from them. I didn't want to be near them and their happy moment. "SHAWNA LOOK OUT! Hawk yelled, just as something swooped my a*s up and flew away like I was a fg baby bird. Yea I'm done.