Chapter 2 The Humans Have Arrived!

hi:

males to not touch them. As well as make sure the children don't turn in front of them. God forbid if they saw one of us turn into a Wolf that would be a nightmare to clean up. Some humans know about our kind but it's mostly those who do business with us and or had a run in with a random rogue but for the most part humans don't know of werewolves and we prefer to keep it that way. Still yelling " kahi I told you how important this was to me and we need to expose our children to humans while their young and teach them how to act when they encounter them. I realized that we know very little about humans when your fath re so beautiful with their milk chocolate skin and honey colored eyes except my Lynn she's more caramel with dark chocolate eyes, and they are quite curvy as well not like that skin and bones youre mating but they're big girls who are smart, funny, very light on their feet for being humans but they're total sweethearts and we bonded during our stay in South Carolina. They are like the daughters I never had." My mother said sadly. Rolling my eyes " You wouldn't feel that way if you gave Summer a chance she will be your daughter in a few weeks." I responded.. I smiled because I could literally hear my mother rolled her eyes so hard thro ut she took that as the perfect opportunity to invite these human females which Summer was so shocked at my mother's excitement that she accepted without thinking twice she real life thought she finally softened my mother up and finally got her acceptance which was far from the reality but she was so happy i couldnt tell her the truth so i made a deal with my mother that if she would be civil to Summer until the matng then she could hire her precious humans. Which she readily agreed. With everything that Summer wanted for our ceremony we will be flat broke once its over this ceremony is so far out of the realm of the normal, which is usually our pack gathering at our moon goddesses sacred grounds which was an magical area surrounded by four big

Boulders that were blessed by the moon goddess thousands of years ago with a mating stone in the center of the grounds. It is also where we go on the Full Moon where the magic and power is the strongest and we are the strongest during the full moon very few but has happened . Its very painful for a wolf to reject their mated half because its said to anger the moon goddess because she chose your mated half so she made it painful to go against who she has chosen for you and didn't agree to it but i didnt disagree either. i kind of let it float in the air because i didnt feel like it was important to make that promise when i felt that i would never meet my other half anyway. "I swear kahi I will hang up this phone and send your father to drag your ass out of there if you don't show up to our party tonight at the very least. Because my girls will be performing for me and your father." My mother yelled. "OK Mother I will do my best to get to your mating anniversary which isn't a real thing by the way. But as soon as I'm done I will be there to meet my human adopted siblings. You just make sure you p y few words and always sticks to the shadows he doesn't like anyone he has always been a loner since his mate died many years ago before i was born. Some says he used to have a beautiful smile and he was kind, passionate, and talkative. But I've never seen it so label that at a fairytale. " ok mother see you later tonight at the never before mating anniversary party." I said before hanging up hearing my mother threatened so smack my nose for speaking to her like that. So we're really letting humans women in our pack for 3 weeks are you sure that this is a good idea? " Montago asked seating across from me at my desk . Nope this is a horrible idea but this is the only way to make sure my mother behaves until my mating ceremony and Summer was on top of
