

The Beloved 46

Chapter 46: Lass, I Love You

Chu Liyuan looked at the falling Jian Dan and jumped down without any hesitation...

“Mr. Chu!” Li Jing and the others shouted and rushed over, but it was too late. Wang Yan stood rooted to the ground, dumbstruck by Chu Liyuan’s actions.

A few security guards immediately pinned her to the ground. Wang Yan’s eyes were empty and she was no longer struggling.

Chu Liyuan held Jian Dan tightly in his arms and fell down together...

Fortunately, Li Jing had already called the police in advance. The firefighters on the ground floor had set up the airbag in time, saving Chu Liyuan and Jian Dan.

In the hospital’s VIP ward... Chu Liyuan was lying on the bed. Jian Dan sat by the bed and held his hand tightly... Chu Liyuan had lost too much blood and had been unconscious for an entire day. Although the doctor told Jian Dan that Chu Liyuan was fine, Jian Dan was still very worried.

“Uncle!” Jian Dan immediately called out when she saw Chu Liyuan wake up.

“Uncle, you’ve been unconscious for too long, haven’t you? You made me worry for so long.”

“Got it. It won’t happen again.”

Looking at Jian Dan’s bloodshot eyes, he knew that she must have been by his side all this time without any rest.

“There’s no ‘again’!”

Please don't do it again. Her heart could not take it.

Seeing that Chu Liyuan wanted to get up, Jian Dan hurriedly helped him up. "Be careful. Do you want some water?"

Chu Liyuan nodded...

Jian Dan poured a glass of warm water for Chu Liyuan.

Chu Liyuan took a sip. Jian Dan looked at Chu Liyuan and reprimanded, "Uncle, are you mad? Why did you jump?"

Every time Jian Dan recalled that moment, she felt a lingering fear.

If it wasn't for the airbag, they would have been dead by now...

"You're so timid that you're even afraid of sleeping alone. If you really took that path, won't you be scared to death alone? How can I not accompany you?" Chu Liyuan said seriously.

Jian Dan looked at Chu Liyuan and slowly said, "Uncle, were you really not afraid?"

How much courage did he have to jump from such a tall building? Moreover, he did not even hesitate at all.

"I was afraid!"

Who wouldn't be afraid of death? But compared to losing Jian Dan, death did not seem so scary to him.

The moment Jian Dan fell, he deeply understood how important she was to him.

He could not even imagine what would become of him if he lost Jian Dan one day.

“Afraid? Why did you jump then?”

“I’m afraid of losing you.”

Jian Dan was dumbfounded. “Uncle, thank you.”

“I don’t think this is as nice as what you said when you let go!” Chu Liyuan leaned closer to Jian Dan and said.

At that time, when Jian Jian said those three words and let go, Chu Liyuan felt as if his heart had been shattered.

“Uh...” She recalled the scene in her mind and blushed.

“I want to hear it!”

There was nothing more beautiful than these three words in this world.

“I... love... you...” Jian Dan whispered with a flushed face.

“What? I didn’t catch it.” Chu Liyuan leaned closer and said.

“I... love... you...” Jian Dan raised her voice and said again.

“Your voice is so soft that I can’t hear you clearly,” Chu Liyuan said with a smile.

“Uncle, you’re so naughty!” Jian Dan knew that Chu Liyuan had heard her when she saw his expression, but he pretended that he could not hear her.

Chu Liyuan looked at Jian Dan's face that was flushed from shyness and pulled her into his arms. "Jian Jian, I love you!" Chu Liyuan said solemnly.

From the moment Chu Liyuan jumped down with her, Jian Dan had already confirmed his feelings for her. However, when she heard Chu Liyuan say these words to her, Jian Dan still felt that her heart seemed to have stopped beating..
