

The Beloved 62

Chapter 62: Treat It As An Advance on Your Salary

Clang!

Xia Zijie fainted...

Was this news that scary? He fainted?!

To the hospital at once!

When they arrived at the hospital, she realized that he did not faint from the shock of the news; it was the blood clot in his brain.

Ever since the car accident—other than affecting his memory— Xia Zijie would often get severe headaches. He had been suffering alone quietly and did not tell his family.

If the blood clot in his brain was not removed, it would always be a time bomb. The best solution was to undergo a surgery to remove the blood clot.

However, in addition to the danger of a craniotomy, the high surgery costs was a major obstacle.

“Sorry to trouble you.”

When Xia Zijie woke up, he saw Jian Dan and her husband.

“You’re awake! You scared me. I thought I went overboard and you fainted from the shock!”

Seeing that Xia Zijie had woken up, she knew that he was fine, so she teased him.

“I’m sorry to have troubled you.”

Xia Zijie was really embarrassed. Recently, Jian Dan had been the one to come to his aid every time something happened to him.

“We’ve known each other for so long and Mengjiao is my good friend. Why are you standing on such ceremony?”

“You should go for the surgery!”

Chu Liyuan—who had been silent all this while—suddenly said.

Although there was nothing going on between Xia Zijie and Jian Dan, he felt uncomfortable when he saw her worrying about another man. Therefore, the best solution was to nip the problem in the bud.

“I know that too, but if anything happens to me during the surgery, what will happen to my family? Moreover, how can we afford such high surgery costs?!”

Xia Zijie’s gaze dimmed.

“I can help you with the surgery costs.”

“Absolutely not. You’ve already helped me a lot.”

Xia Zijie was a very strong-headed and prideful person. How could he accept that?

“You can treat it as an advance on your salary.”

“Salary? What do you mean?”

“I heard from Jian Dan that you want to study law? Not only can I help you pay for the surgery, but I can also help you pay for your tuition fees. However, I’m not giving these to you for nothing. After you graduate, you have to work at Qin Corporation to repay these fees.”

“You’ll be a permanent staff member of Qin Corporation in future. You’d have to work hard.”

Jian Dan said deliberately.

Xia Zijie was not a fool. How could he not tell that Chu Liyuan was obviously helping him again? Although he had to work at Qin Corporation to repay him after graduation... This was obviously giving him a job at Qin Corporation straight after graduation! Qin Corporation—the company that everyone fought tooth and nail to join!

“Thank you, Mr. Chu!”

This was an opportunity for his family, and more importantly for himself..

Xia Zijie also silently swore in his heart that he would be loyal to Qin Corporation and Chu Liyuan for the rest of his life.

Afterwards, Jian Dan told Mengjiao about Xia Zijie’s condition. Mengjiao applied for leave from the camp and rushed back immediately. After all, if Xia Zijie wanted to undergo surgery, he would definitely need someone to take care of him.

“Thank you, Mr. Chu.”

Mengjiao gave Chu Liyuan a sincere 90-degree bow. Her gratitude towards him was indescribable.

She also silently swore in her heart that—like her brother—she would be loyal to Qin Corporation and Chu Liyuan for the rest of her life.

“Mengjiao, what are you doing?”

Jian Dan helped Mengjiao up. Mengjiao gave Jian Dan a bear hug.

In the future, she would do anything for Jian Dan!

Under Chu Liyuan arrangement, Xia Zijie was scheduled for the surgery in no time. Moreover, he arranged the best neurosurgeon for Xia Zijie...

Outside the operating theater...

Everyone was waiting anxiously...

The surgery took a full seven and a half hours...
