

The CEO 419

Chapter 419 Snowman

Seeing Fu Ying touch Mo Rao, Mo Yuan could not take it anymore and rushed forward to push Fu Ying away.

“Don’t touch Rao Rao.” Mo Yuan pulled Mo Rao to his side, as if he was worried that Fu Ying would snatch Mo Rao away.

Seeing that the snowball fight between the two men had turned into a fight for her, Mo Rao was helpless. “Why don’t we go back to our respective homes? It’s quite cold outside.”

Mo Yuan felt that Fu Ying was a party pooper and was unwilling to let Fu Ying come into contact with Mo Rao again, so he agreed. “Alright, let’s go home.”

With that, he hugged Mo Rao’s shoulder and turned around.

Fu Ying followed closely behind without saying a word.

“Fu Ying, why are you such a stalker?!” After Mo Yuan took a few steps, he turned to see Fu Ying behind him.

Fu Ying shrugged. “My house is next door to yours.”

These words rendered Mo Yuan speechless.

Mo Yuan was even angrier after being retorted by Fu Ying. He pulled Mo Rao into the elevator angrily and kept a distance away from Fu Ying.

“Rao Rao, when we have more money in the future, we’ll buy a large villa,” Mo Yuan said. He didn’t want to continue being pestered by Fu Ying.

Mo Rao knew that Mo Yuan was deliberately angering Fu Ying, so she cooperated and said, “Alright, I like big villas too.”

Fu Ying stood at the side silently and pretended that these words were not directed at him.

After returning home, Mo Rao sat on the sofa, her body still warm from Fu Ying’s touch.

“It’s all Fu Ying’s fault. Neither of us had enough fun,” Mo Yuan said angrily as he drank his water.

Mo Rao only smiled and said, “Don’t mind him. He’s very thick-skinned now.”

“Mo Rao, I’m serious. Hurry up and find a man to stop him from pursuing you. Only then will he give up.” Mo Yuan started to give Mo Rao ideas again.

“Let’s wait until the right person appears,” Mo Rao said perfunctorily.

Actually, she knew that even if she really found a new man, Fu Ying might not let her off.

He was jealous and possessive, so he might even do something to hurt that man.

Mo Rao felt that to be so entangled with him in this life, she must have owed Fu Ying in her previous life.

The next morning, Mo Rao woke up early and prepared to head to the set.

The moment she went downstairs, she saw a snowman at the door of the neighborhood.

Not only that, but there was also a sign hanging around the snowman's neck that said, "Good morning, Rao Rao."

Mo Rao was stunned before she realized that this was most likely Fu Ying's trick.

In the past, Mo Rao would definitely feel extremely that it was romantic and touching. She would probably even kiss and hug Fu Ying to thank him.

But now, there was only a ripple in her heart before it disappeared.

The snow outside had yet to melt. As Mo Rao drove to the production team, there were many cars on the snowy road. When she was on the road, Mo Rao stepped on the brakes a step too late and rammed into the car in front.

"Do you even know how to drive?!"

A burly man who didn't look like someone to be trifled with got out of the car in front and walked to Mo Rao's car. Then, he roared at her.

Mo Rao put on her sunglasses and took a deep breath. Then, she got out of the car and prepared to talk about compensation.

After all, she was the one who tailed the other party.

"Sorry, the road is too slippery. I didn't control the brakes properly," Mo Rao said politely. "I'll call the insurance company and compensate according to the price."

"Can you afford to pay for this car?!" The man pointed at Mo Rao's nose and shouted, "I treat my car like a treasure. Now that my treasure has been destroyed by you, how can you only compensate me?"

Mo Rao didn't expect to be so unlucky today as to encounter such an unreasonable person.

"Then what do you want me to do?" Mo Rao asked.

"You have to compensate me more!" The man glared at her as he shouted, "And what's up with your attitude?! Why are you wearing sunglasses when apologizing? Who are you pretending for?!"

With that, the man reached out to pull off Mo Rao's sunglasses.

"Sir, aren't you being too unreasonable?"

At this moment, a tall figure blocked Mo Rao's way and reached out to grab the man's hand.