

I'm The Devil

#Chapter 11: Coeus yearns for the Godking status. - Read I'm The Devil Chapter 11: Coeus yearns for the Godking status.

Chapter 11: Coeus yearns for the Godking status.

BUUUUUP, BUUUUUP, BUUUUUP

A sound of a trumpet was heard as all the gods of the Greco Realm all came out of their domains.

Today is the day of the coronation of the new Godking, Chronos. They have to go to the main domain for the coronation on time hence the trumpet.

All gods must be in attendance or else that's a sign of disrespect to the new Godking expect from some select few like the primordial gods.

The Main Palace

Chronos could be seen surrounded by his siblings and his future spouse, Rhea, who is also his sister.

Iapetus came to stand besides his brother "now that you are going to become the Godking, are you going to release our siblings from Tartarus, or are you going to leave them there" Iapetus said before sighing and then he continued "you know, they are not really good looking and very pleasing to the eyes, but again if you are leaving them in Tartarus, you will have to bare the full wrath of mother, so what would you do, Chronos?"

A frown appeared on the face of Chronos when he thought about what Iapetus just said "I will have to deal with that after my coronation, this is not the right time to think about that" Chronos not having anything to say, decided to push the matter to another time for now.

Coeus looked at Chronos and knew that he would not let their imprisoned siblings out because if he wanted to release them, he would have said and not avoid the question and he cannot let that happen "that's not a matter for another time, Chronos, do you know why you are the one who is becoming the Godking and none of us is having any objection" Coeus asked Chronos trying to remind him of his position.

Chronos knew the reason why his brothers had no opposition to his coronation as the Godking, "mother" Chronos answered to which Coeus nodded and continued "that's correct, Mother, it is because of her, that you are having a smooth coronation ceremony, it is because of her, that we even had the chance to get rid of father, she got rid of her husband and made the one who volunteered to do it, the position of Godking, do you know why mother did that?"

"Because father imprisoned the Hekatonkheires and the Cyclopes in the deepest part of Tartarus and mother was not pleased with him" Chronos was now getting tired of these question and answer section but he managed to keep his calm.

Coeus once again nodded "that's correct, and they are not just the Hekatonkheires and the Cyclopes, they are our siblings, mother's children and because of that, she was angry and had to use you, to get rid of father and now from the looks of things, you are also going to follow his footsteps, aren't you, I wonder what would mother do when she finds out you are having second thought on freeing the Hekatonkheires and the Cyclopes as you call them" Coeus smiled as he left the room, [if you can't even do a simple thing such as releasing them, then you are not going to last long on the throne of the Godking of Greco Realm and I will have to step up and please mother with what she truly wants and I will become the new Godking] Coeus said in his heart as he believed this to be an opportunity for to overthrow his brother quickly.

Hyperion knew what Coeus was thinking of doing and just decided to see how things will turn out to be, he just patted Chronos on the shoulder and said "you shouldn't mind Coeus, he just thinks it is his birthright to be the Godking instead of you as he is older than you and Oceanus has no desire for the title of Godking"

Chronos just scoffed at that before saying "then he should have thought of that when mother asked who was going to assist her in getting rid of father, he is just a timid man wanting to earn the title of Godking without putting any work to get it, how laughable" Phoebe who did not like the way Chronos addressed her future spouse stopped him from saying anything any further "that's enough, I will talk to him to wake up and stop having foolish dreams about your position as Godking, how about that Chronos?"

Chronos did not like the fact that Phoebe interrupted him but he just let it go as today was a happy day for him "all right, you do want you what, but if he still has any thought on my throne and Position as Godking, then he will have me come for him, brother or no brother, I will end him" Chronos said before taking the hand of Rhea and left the room.

Themis is who was sitting around the corner laughed at the display of her siblings "this is the most dysfunctional family in the entire Cosmos" Themis didn't mind the stares directed at her and just kept laughing.

Domain of Gaia

Gaia laid on her bed as she looked at the sky from her room.

Lucifer and Aphrodite laid on another bed which he created for themselves.

"What are you going to do now, I don't see anything that will interest you here in the Greco Realm, so I'm assuming you would leave very soon. Where would you go after leaving here?" Gaia who was still looking at the sky asked Lucifer who was still eating an apple as if he had a bottomless pit as a stomach.

Lucifer finished chewing the apple he had in his mouth as she smiled "who told you that nothing interest me in your realm. There are lots of things that piqued my interest like how you had your husband overthrown by his children because he locked up the ones he deemed ugly and you think after your children defeat him, they will release their siblings, that's where you are wrong, Chronos will not even want to associate with them, talk less of him releasing them and I want to see the curse Ouranos placed on Chronos come to fruition, that would be interesting" after Lucifer said that, he took a bit of another apple once again.

Gaia sighed as she knew that Chronos or any one of her children that eventually becomes the Godking, they would not release her other children that were imprisoned in Tartarus because of their deformity and as for the curse placed on Chronos, she didn't care as she believes it to be a dying man's last words.

Aphrodite seeing as Gaia remained calm despite not getting what she wanted was surprised and couldn't help herself but ask "you are particularly calm about the matter, which raises the question, what is it that you are planning?, as there is no way, you would just be this calm" Aphrodite said not understanding Gaia at all.

Gaia smiled at Aphrodite as she turned to face her and gave her a simple easy "I don't have any plans, I just know that everything will turn out as what I want with time"

Lucifer looked at Gaia and wondered if she was also a clairvoyant but he quickly discarded that thought "whatever, you should get ready for your son's coronation ceremony, you don't want to miss it"

Gaia went back to her stargazing "I will not attend, that's for the new generation"

A/N

Thanks for reading. And comment, drop power stones and reviews if you are enjoying it. Thank you.

Chapter 12: The Realm of Pangu

Domain Of Aesir

A man with a large beard and long black hairs with a muscular build sat on a throne as looked at the event going on in front of him.

He is Buri, a Primordial god, the current Godking of Aesir, a domain or more like a personal Realm of his.

A man with a black hair and black eyes, he has a slight resemblance to Lucifer walked up to Buri who was on his throne while holding a large piece of meat. He is Bariel, the brother of Lucifer, one of the seven lord of Hell and the sin of Gluttony.

When he left Hell, he appeared in the domain of Aesir where he had to beat up some of their best warriors to show them that he is worthy of the warrior's way which he didn't even understand. He didn't know the power dynamics of this new place so he had to refrain from roughing them up.

Back to the present

Bariel walked to Buri and saw that he was moody which contradicts his previous party mode "hey, man what's with your change of mood, you can't just bail on us when the party is getting to its climax, come on, this is nothing like you, look at your son, he will soon become the new god of partying" Bariel who loved the way the Aesirians party because of the plentiful of food during the event.

Buri didn't budge as he was concerned about something else, two Primordial gods have fallen and one of them is mysterious as nobody knew what happened to him. He was concerned if there is something out there that is targeting them as two Primordial gods falling the same time is not a coincidence, there is something at play here, and he will not just dismiss it as coincidence as only a fool would do that, what if he is next and was caught unprepared due to his negligence to the matter, he must always be on guard, he will not even trust his own son anymore as the other one fell by his son's hands.

"Hey, big beard, what's wrong with you? One moment you were a party god and the next you are a party pooper, come on, get a grip on yourself, Buri" Bariel called out to Buri once more.

Buri finally came back to his senses and just sighed "I will be going back to my chambers, I don't feel like to continue partying anymore, and as to not spoil the fun, you lots can continue without me, tell Bor he is the new god of partying and also tell him to go back home to his pregnant wife, he shouldn't let her be by herself especially at a time like this"

Bariel frowned when he heard that, he was not displeased by the fact that Buri is going to his chambers before the party could come to an end but because he was being treated like a servant boy, even back at home before their rebellion, he wasn't treated that way, heck even Lucifer didn't tell him what to do and now, someone who wasn't at the same level as him is giving him orders, how preposterous.

Bariel calmed himself and looked at Buri who was getting up from his throne "why don't you tell him yourself, last time I checked, I was not one of your servant boys who you can boss around, I will let it go this time but there won't be a next time" Bariel said before he left Buri and went back to eating whatever he got his hands on.

Buri sighed once again "where did he even come from, from the looks of things, everything started going wrong from the moment he arrived here in Aesir, does he have anything to do with the death of the Primordial gods, either way, I will have to keep a close eye on him, I don't want to take any chances" Buri said before he sent someone to contact his son, Bor for him while making his way to his chambers.

Elsewhere

A woman stood in the void with a young man besides her with a sad expression.

She is Nuwa, the Primordial goddess who appeared during the first meeting of the Primordial gods alongside Pangu, her husband.

"The realm died alongside Pangu, but he but even during his final breath, he didn't forsake us as from his dead body and new realm was created, Shangdi, now that your father is gone, you are the one who would preside over this new realm, you will be the Godking, so I leave you to name it as you see fit, my son" Nuwa said while still sad and angry for the death of her husband, sad because she lost her husband and angry at the one who did that, the one who used her husband's axe to brutally split her husband into two without any remorse or whatsoever.

She had only one child with Pangu, Shangdi, her most beloved, he is the only one who could be able to avenge his father but he is not ready yet to take on the man who kill Pangu.

Shangdi knew that his mother was grieving after losing his father and it saddens him for being weak and not strong enough to take down the man who murdered his father but that does not mean he will not have the chance, he will one day be powerful enough to avenge his father, but as his mother said, this is not the right time.

Shangdi looked at the new realm formed from the splitting of his father, he stepped inside together with his father and saw a majestic sight of four different beasts flying through the sky, a clear body of water that flows throughout the realm, there were large trees that bear different fruits, some, he knew of them while some were unknown to even his mother Nuwa, large mountains surrounding the realms. Shangdi was amazed by the wonders of this new realm, he didn't know most of the creatures he was seeing.

When he thought he had seen enough, he was even more bewildered when he saw a group of beings from a distance that also looked at him, he felt some powerful auras coming from them but it was not as powerful as him which he assumed as new gods born from his father.

He and his mother flew to their location and saw that they were just five new gods.

"Who are you? What are you doing intruding at our world outsiders?" A woman who appeared to be the leader of the new gods questioned Shangdi the moment he got near them.

The four creatures he saw when he first came to the realm also appeared before him with hostile gaze towards him.

Shangdi was not infuriated by the way the woman spoke to him, instead he was pleased as he would also do the same when someone intrude his realm just like his father did but was killed instead as the mysterious man took it as a disrespect to his status "my name is Shangdi, this is my mother, Nuwa, I am here to claim my right as the Godking of this realm as it was the only thing my father left for me" Shangdi said while looking at the woman in front of him.

The woman and the other four new gods didn't refute Shangdi's claim as when he said that, there was something telling them to bow down to him.

They listen and bow down to Shangdi accepting him as the Godking of their world.

Shangdi was a little surprised but he didn't let it show on his face, he told them to stand up and looked at the four creatures "what are they?"

The woman who was the leader of the five was the one to answer him "they are the four divine beast of this world, they were here when we were born, we don't have a name for them yet"

Shangdi nodded and decided to give them a name, he looked at the large azure serpentine lizard like creature and called it a Dragon, the fiery vermilion bird, he called a Phoenix, the large tortoise, he called the Black tortoise due to its black shell and lastly, the tiger, he called white tiger.

Nuwa chuckled at the naming sense of her son but didn't do anything about it.

Shangdi then looked at the woman in the lead "what is your name?" The woman thought for a while before answering "Bixia, my name is Bixia"

"Bixia, will you join me to rule by my side as the new Godking of this realm, the Realm of Pangu"

A/N

Thanks for reading. And comment, drop power stones and reviews if you are enjoying it. Thank you.

Chapter 13: Island of Crete

Realm of Greco

Lucifer and Aphrodite are walking through the street of the new gods plane where the children of the Primordial gods resides. There are different domains and planes in the Greco Realm.

The domains are like personal space of a god or a goddess, they are created from the divinity of the said god or goddess that lives there.

Planes are general places where gods and goddesses calls home, the domain is just a place for the gods to stay when they want to be alone. The domain of a god can only be accessed by the god who created it or the gods they let inside, while a plane can be accessed by all the gods.

There are four planes on the Greco Realm;

-the plane of the Titans (children of the Primordial gods)

-the plane of Tartarus [(a prison made for offenders), also a home of Thanatos and his two parents, Nyx and Erebus]

-the plane of the Godking [(the plane where the ruler of Greco Realm resides) also previously occupied by Ouranos. Current occupant: Chronos and Rhea]

-the plane of the New Gods (new gods are gods born out of special conditions, like Aphrodite)

Not all gods can create a domain of their own, only the Primordial gods and their children, the Titans and some special gods can create a domain of their own, that's why they have the various planes to have those gods whom are incapable to have a domain of their own reside there.

When Lucifer entered Gaia's domain without any permission from her, Gaia was surprised and frighten of Lucifer as that has never been done before by any other gods she knows and from then on, she has put Lucifer on the list of people to not offend and he is the only one on that list.

Back to the present

Lucifer wanted to explore the Greco Realm as he was bored of staying in Gaia's domain all the time and she is getting pissed off by that, so he took Aphrodite outside to look around this new world.

Lucifer walked through the street as he felt gazes on him and Aphrodite which made him just smile "we should do this often, what do you say, Aphrodite"

Aphrodite turned to look at Lucifer "whatever you want, my dear devil" Aphrodite said as she held his hands which made many of the goddesses who was fancying Lucifer looked at her with envy and anger.

Lucifer smiled as he absorbed all the envy and anger from the goddesses and also the gods as they helped to strengthened him. Lucifer saw a large mountain and saw several nymphs there, he walked up to a lesser god to ask about the mountain. "Hey, can you tell me about that mountain, it seems strange as if it was recently dropped there" Lucifer asked as he felt that this particular Mountain had or will have a lot of history.

The lesser god was momentarily daze as he was approached by Lucifer and Aphrodite who he was peeking at not too long ago, he had never seen anyone was beautiful and handsome as these two, he was jealous of Lucifer for having such a handsome visage and a beautiful woman.

"Hey, we are talking to you, what are you standing there like a stone statue?" Aphrodite brought the lesser god back to reality but this had another effect on the lesser god as he couldn't keep his cool after hearing her voice as a love sign appeared in his eyes which made Aphrodite sigh in frustration "you are a lose cause, let's ask someone else, Luci"

Aphrodite took Lucifer from there and asked someone else but all of them had the same reaction as the lesser god from before.

"Sigh, we are too good looking for the liked of this gods to have a clear mind, I don't blame them, I would also lose my mind when talking to myself much less people like them" Lucifer said before he looked at the mountain and continued "since we couldn't get the answers we wanted, why don't we check it out ourselves, my beautiful goddess"

Aphrodite smiled as Lucifer called her beautiful, she followed him as they made their way towards the mountain with smiles.

A few minutes later

Lucifer and Aphrodite made their way towards the peripheral of the mountain as they were blocked by a nymph at the entrance.

"Who are you? And what is your business here?"

The nymph asked them with a serious expression and no nonsense look.

"You are a very diligent nymph worker and you seem to be immune to our charm, or is it all a nymph thing, if so it will be very hard to have a conversation with you lots" Lucifer said trying to make a light joke and see if she be a little friendly with them so that they have easy access to the island behind that mountain, also ease the tense atmosphere but the nymph did not look like she is going to fall for his tricks "well, that didn't go as plan, so see nymph lady, I know there is an island behind that mountain and I would very much like to see this place"

The nymph was a little surprised as to how the strange man knew about the island hidden behind the mountain as even the new Godking knows nothing about it as it was created when the own Godking fell including them Nymphs.

When they came alive, they made the island their home and since it was naturally hidden from the view of everyone one else except them, they made it a sacred place for only them Nymphs.

Lucifer seeing the confusion in her eyes smiled as he may have gotten what he needs to get inside the island "and if you are wondering how I knew about your little island, then you are in for a big surprise as not only do I know but the three Primordial gods know about it especially Gaia and it is only a matter of time before the new Godking knows about it and what do you think will happen when he does, do you think he will just sit back and let you live your lives outside of his rules? I don't think so, but I can help you with that, I can be your shield and stop Chronos from ever having thoughts about this island, that's if you are willing to let me in, I won't force you" Lucifer raised his hands as he said that.

The nymph didn't even wait for Lucifer to persuade her any longer as she ran up the mountain to tell her senior sister about the guests at their door.

"She is very easy to manipulate when you know what to say to her" Aphrodite commented on how the nymph was easily persuaded.

"Nah, that's just because I was the one, if it were to be someone else, I guarantee you, she will not budge" Lucifer knew that the nymph was not someone who would easily give in to just that, it was because he knew what they were desperate about and he used it, if not, they will have to say goodbye or resort to force.

They waited for a while before the nymph came back with another nymph who appears to be older than her.

"Greetings guest, my name is Adamantheia, I am the eldest nymph here and also a leader figure here, I heard from my little sister here that, you can help us with a problem, why don't you come with me so that we can discuss it properly"

The older looking nymph whose name is Adamantheia said to Lucifer and Aphrodite who followed her as she led the way up the mountain and into the island.

A few moments later

Lucifer and Aphrodite passed through the mountain and came upon a sight which left them slightly stupefied.

Adamantheia smiled when she saw their expression "welcome to the Island Of Crete"

"The Island Of Crete, I knew it, it has to be this island" Lucifer laughed and said before he turned to look at Adamantheia "don't worry, what I said before stands but I will be staying here for the meantime [after all, this is where a new era was born]"

A/N

Thanks for reading. And comment, drop power stones and reviews if you are enjoying it. Thank you.

Chapter 14: Meeting of the Nymphs

Island of Crete

It has been a week since the Nymphs had two guests, Lucifer and Aphrodite who created a barrier to shield them from the watchful eyes of the Godking and his underlings.

Adamantheia has told the Nymphs to not in any way anger Lucifer and Aphrodite and must do whatever they were told. Ever since she first saw Lucifer, Adamantheia has had this feeling that he is not to be taken lightly of and must always be on guard around him.

But with that wariness came a lot of benefits as they are now independent but Lucifer still gave her an advice to not remain hidden and show her face to the outside world from time to time so as to gather allies and not depend on him entirely which helped her as she has made a friend with Rhea, the wife of the Godking, which most of the Nymphs didn't take quite well.

"What are you going to do when she oust us to Chronos? What will happen then?"

A very attractive Nymph who has an usual resemblance to the Nymph that blocked Lucifer and Aphrodite when they came close to the mountain.

"Cynosura, that will not be a problem as Rhea can be trusted, she will never betray us, also Lucifer vouched for her, so there is no problem there" Adamantheia said to her younger sister Cynosura who is untrusting towards Rhea as she didn't even trust any Titans.

Cynosura scoffed as Adamantheia made mention of Lucifer, how can her sister be so foolish enough to trust the words of a man she didn't know well enough "you trust that guy, that guy that calls himself the Devil. Just at the mere mention of his name, you would know that he is nothing good and you are going to take his words. We don't even know if this is a ploy for him to take our Island, our heritage from us, and you are just playing right into his hands, come on sister, you are better than this, don't let yourself be fooled by them"

Cynosura tried to speak some sense into Adamantheia's head and get her to see that she was being fooled by the people she trusted.

Adamantheia just sighed at the headache coming her way as she did not have anything to say to her sister, Cynosura who is adamant on her opinion against Lucifer and Rhea.

"If you don't trust him, what about me"

The Nymphs turned to see Aphrodite walking into their meeting room with a smile on her face but only a full would think that the smile on her is friendly smile.

Aphrodite came not long ago to give Adamantheia something from Lucifer when she overheard what Cynosura said.

Aphrodite didn't give a damn about what she said about Rhea but what she said about Lucifer, her man.

She knew Lucifer is a man of his words and when he says he is going to do something, he meant it, and now someone is slandering his name, so what if he is the Devil, does she even know what the word Devil mean?

"I know where you are coming from, I know you hate the Titans because they were the ones who killed Ouranos who could also be considered our father as we were born from him, but that doesn't give you the right to talk about Lucifer like that, he is someone who takes his words seriously and I will not take it lightly with you just because we could be considered siblings, if you say anything bad about Lucifer one more time, I will be coming for you"

Aphrodite warned Cynosura who was a little shaken by her threats.

Aphrodite seek the desired effect on Cynosura smiled before she turned to Adamantheia "Lucifer said to give this to you, I don't know what it is nor do I care, but he said it will be beneficial to you" Aphrodite said as she handed Adamantheia a box which contains what Lucifer prepared for her.

Adamantheia took the box from Aphrodite's hands and kept it away for now "thank you for delivering it yourself and also thank Lucifer for the gift, we appreciate his generosity and please don't be offended by what Cynosura said, she was just being protective of our kind, that's all"

Adamantheia pleaded in the place of Cynosura who was looking at Aphrodite with a little trace of anger in her eyes.

After Adamantheia received the item, Aphrodite turned around and walked away only to stop at the door "you know, Cynosura, if Lucifer wanted to take the Island for himself, he wouldn't even waste his time negotiating with you and coming to a deal, he could have just taken over with just a snap of his fingers, that's Lucifer for you and that's what he should have done"

Aphrodite said to Cynosura before she walked out of the room leaving the bewildered Nymphs.

Adamantheia sighed after Aphrodite left, she was having a headache currently as her sister do not want to listen to reason and now she has offended Aphrodite and that's not going to fair well for Cynosura, in fact all of them.

"Cynosura, see what you've done? I told you to let the matter go and let's focus on other things but you refused and now Aphrodite heard what you said, do you know what she would have done to you if not for the promise Lucifer made not to harm any of us as long as they stay here? Why don't you just listen for once, I can't let you continue like this, so as a punishment, you will have to serve Aphrodite and make her forgive you because if you think that all is forgiven the moment she walked out of that door, then you are mistaken, she is just waiting for the time to strike when you least expect, so this isn't a punishment instead it's a way for you to redeem yourself. I hope you've learnt your lesson and you now know when I do something, I do so for a reason, you may leave now"

Cynosura had her head down as she was too ashamed to even face her sister after what she did.

Adamantheia left the meeting room with what Aphrodite brought for her from Lucifer.

Elsewhere

In a golden castle, a man sat on a throne radiating a blinding light like that of a sun, he is Ra, the Godking of the Kemet Realm.

He is bothered by the recent death of two of their kind, a Primordial god and he knew it was not going to end with just them as he too has received a vision from one of his gods that he is going to be overthrown by a new god, so that made him know that their era as Godkings is coming to an end and a new era is about come upon them.

"Bast, go to the different realms and pass a message to the Godlings that it is high time we gather together and have a meeting, something big is about to happen"

Ra called Bast, his eye and also his messenger and daughter.

"Yes, father"

Bast said as she vanished from his sight.

Ra looked at the empty space and sighed "things will get very chaotic soon, I must make sure I secure my position, no one can take my position as the Godking, no one"

A/N

Thanks for reading. And comment, drop power stones and reviews if you are enjoying it. Thank you.

Chapter 15: Mysteries

Island of Crete

In a non-disclosed part of the Island, Adamantheia, the leader of the Nymphs was standing in front of a spring with a little box in her hands, the one which Aphrodite gave to her from Lucifer.

Adamantheia opened the box and took out a seed "let's see what's special about you" Adamantheia said as she willed the soil to open using her control over nature and planted the seed close to the spring.

After she did that, she watered it and immediately she did that, the whole Island shook as the seed grew into a sprout, but it didn't end there, the sprout grew into a seedling, from a seedling, grew into a sapling and a mature tree before everything calmed down.

Adamantheia looked at the huge tree in front of her and wondered what type of tree was it, she moved closer to feel the tree but she was pushed back by an insurmountable force which would have killed her if not for someone who protected her.

"Are you mad, can't you see the tree has not yet finished its transformation? Do you want to get yourself killed?"

Adamantheia turned to look at the man who held her and saw that it was Lucifer shirtless.

Adamantheia immediately left his hold before clearing her throat "I did not know about it, I just thought that since everything was calm after the phenomenon from planting it, I could see what type of tree it was, but I didn't know that it was still in a process of transformation. But what kind of tree is that?"

Lucifer sighed "it is something that will grant you the power to protect yourselves as you don't expect me to do that for you" Lucifer said as he disappeared from there leaving the confused Adamantheia.

Adamantheia didn't dwell on the matter and just stared at the tree which was changing from a normal tree to one with an indescribable aura filled with life energy.

Adamantheia marvelled at the sight of the tree but it was taking long for it to finish its transformation, so she decided to go and come back another time.

Adamantheia didn't know that what she just did, the seed she just planted which caused such a strange phenomenon throughout the plane, did not just affect only the plane they currently reside but throughout every realm across the cosmos and the primordial gods were the ones who felt it more especially the ones that resides in the Greco Realm.

Elsewhere

Lucifer laid on a bed with Aphrodite beside him as they just finished having a session.

Aphrodite ran her fingers around the perfectly sculpted body of her husband, Lucifer when she remembered something he said a few weeks back when they were still at Gaia's domain.

"You said something about me being your second wife, I'm curious about who is the first woman to catch the eyes of the oh mighty Lucifer Morningstar, one of your sisters?"

Aphrodite asked Lucifer as she had been curious about who his first wife given him being the one of the first beings to be created and how he regarded the other Archangels as his siblings to how he was confined in hell for 10 million years, so he could not have met another woman apart from his angel sisters.

Lucifer was caught off guard by the question as he remained silent with no way of having an answer for her. Even he himself do not know why he said Aphrodite was his second wife instead of the first one, all he knew was that when Gaia asked Aphrodite what god she was, he subconsciously said she was his second instead of his first.

Lucifer sighed and looked at Aphrodite "I myself do not know the answer to that question as it remains a mystery to me, in fact a lot of things are a mystery to me, but you must know you are always going to be mine and nothing will separate us, not even the first wife"

Lucifer said as he has also accepted the fact that he has a first wife even if he did not know of her, he just believed it has something to do with his Father, so he does not care, for all he knows, he might not even meet this first wife in his immortal life.

Aphrodite nodded as she saw the conviction in Lucifer's eyes when he said she will always be in his heart no matter what and knew that he was saying the truth "I will also stand by you even if the whole cosmos is against you because you are mine" Aphrodite said as she planted a kiss on his lips.

Lucifer responded with kind as she kissed are back which turned him so on that he groped Aphrodite and they had another love making session.

The Godking Plane

Chronos was seated on his throne and he was not in a good mood as he got words from Rhea that she is pregnant which did not go well with him as he was still afraid of the curse his father placed on him before his death.

"If you are thinking about what father said, then you have to remember what mother told you, you don't have to worry about something like that, how can a child fight against its father, there is no way, so I will have to tell to not dwell on it that much and be happy that, you are going to be a father"

A blue haired man styled in a wavy pattern and eyes like the deep blue sea, he is Oceanus, the Titan of the River water, the first born of Gaia and Ouranos.

He was here when Rhea brought the news of her pregnancy to Chronos who should be happy, instead he had a gloomy expression which Rhea did not take kindly and left.

Oceanus seeing this knew that something bad will happen if Chronos do not overcome his fear of what their father said with his dying breath.

Chronos looked at Oceanus "what do you mean by 'how can a child kill its own father?' Have you forgotten that we did exactly that to our own father? So what's stopping mine from doing the same? It wouldn't be far fetched to say that it actually runs in the family" Chronos said to Oceanus before closing his eyes and think of ways to avert his fate.

"Well, I had nothing to do with that so I didn't think about that, but just because you did that to father does not mean your child will do the same, if I were you, I would heed the words of mother and not do anything about it because seeing as you are now plotting something, I have a feeling it wouldn't be good and that might be the cause of your demise, so please brother, don't dwell on the matter too much, I'm leaving" Oceanus said before turning into a puddle of water leaving the Godking plane.

Chronos didn't listen to what Oceanus said and continued to think of ways to get rid of any obstacle in his way.