

I'm The Devil

Chapter 16: Susanoo and Satanael

Realm of Shinto

A man with black hairs and a beard held a sword as he faced a red haired man with a flaming sword with Red wings that came out of his back.

"Who are you and what are you doing in my home"

The man with black hairs asked the red haired man while brandishing his sword at him.

"Put that down, you don't want to go down that route, boy, What is wrong with you kids anyway? You are all prone to anger and attack someone without confirming his identity anytime whenever you chance upon them, is that how you are made or something you learnt along the way? If so, you have to learn new things or you are going to get yourself killed quickly"

The red haired man said as he flew into the man's home before retracting his wings into his body.

The black haired man was furious as how he was disregarded by a complete stranger in his own home.

The black haired man is Susanoo, the second son of Izanagi and Izanami, brother to Amaterasu and Tsukuyomi of the Shinto Realm, he was recently banished from his Divine Domain by his father due to his destructive nature and mayhem he causes in the Divine Realm.

He was sent to lowest domain of the Shinto Realm where he built a new home for himself but now, an intruder has invaded his home and treats him like air, he will not be called Susanoo, the god of storm and destruction if he let this man walk over him. Susanoo destructive aura spiked up as he rushed at the red hair and strikes him with a devastating blow which just pushed the man forward a little.

"You shouldn't have done that boy"

The red haired said as he turned to look at Susanoo who was in shock to see the man still standing despite receiving a powerful blow from him.

"You are not a Kami, what are you? what are you to be this strong? Forget it, I don't care, I don't need to know a dead man's name"

Rooooaarrrr

Susanoo said as he roared to the sky and the roar of thunder resounded in the sky, bolts of lightening flash through the sky as it answered the cark of Susanoo.

Susanoo's eyes flashed with lightening including his body as he held his sword that was infused with the power of Lightening.

"I don't know who you are or what you are, but you made a big mistake of coming into my home and disregarding me, Susanoo, the god of storm and destruction"

The red hair watched the show Susanoo put up and just sighed at his arrogant display of power "why are you shouting and making flashy moves just to get your ass kicked? You should stop your silly show of power and keep it down, I want to have some rest before I move on from here"

The red hair said as he ignored the pissed off Susanoo and walk into the house of Susanoo who became incredibly pissed.

Susanoo moved with the speed of light that seems like he teleported from his previous location and appeared in front of the red hair and struck at him with a lightening infused blow causing massive damage to their surroundings.

Smokes and debris, destruction on a large scale were seen every where and Susanoo stood proud as he looked at handiwork "there is no way he would survive that, even Amaterasu and Tsukuyomi would not be able to come out unscathed" Susanoo said before he turned around saw that his house was in a pretty bad shape which made him sigh "unbelievable, now I have to rebuild it once again, damn it, I wish I could get my hands on that bastard and beat the hell out of him for making go through this again"

Susanoo cursed at the red hair before he walked into his home only to find a red hair sitting there looking at him.

"I have to say, for a kid like you, you really know how to pack a punch, you might be able to take on most of the lesser angels with that but you are mistaken if you think that's enough to leave a scratch on me" the red hair stood up and balled his fist as he instantly appeared in front of Susanoo as he whispered in his ears before delivering his punch "let me show you what true strength is"

Susanoo was sent flying several meters before he regained his balance only to be sent flying once again.

"You are someone with similar nature to mine which is why you are still alive, with someone like you, I can groom you into a perfect being capable of creating chaos for me and I can grow stronger from there" the red hair said before he appeared behind

Susanoo and held him "what about I teach you what a true god of storm and destruction is?"

The red hair said as he raised his hands towards the sky and the entire lower domain shook which was a testament to the man's power, heck even the lower domain would have been destroyed entirely if the man didn't control his power.

Susanoo was scared silly when he felt the terrifying power that the red hair exudes and wondered who the heck he was.

Susanoo thought he was going to be done for when surprisingly the red hair stopped whatever he was about to do or so he thought.

"I have gotten my desired effect from you and I have to say, it was pretty satisfying. Now you know what true destruction is and your's is just a drop in the vast ocean, but don't worry, I am here because of that, I here because I saw a potential in you, a potential to be a herald of Wrath" the red haired said as he offered Susanoo a hand up before teleporting both of them back to his house "well, I can't help you with the reconstruction of your home, so you will have to do that yourself and by the way, I am Satanael, Satan for short, I am one of the seven Lords of Hell, the holder of the sin of Wrath and your new master"

Satanael said to Susanoo before looking for a place to lay down for a bit. Meanwhile Susanoo was having a mental breakdown anytime he thought iof the earlier outburst of Satanael. He hoped this was all a dream and that he will just wake up any moment from now but he didn't because this was not a dream but reality.

Divine Domain of the Realm Of Shinto

A man with long white hairs sat across a bright yellow haired girl.

The man is Izanagi and the girl across him is Amaterasu, the first child and daughter of Izanagi and Izanami, the two Primordial gods of Shinto Realm.

"You have heard of the news, right?" Izanagi asked his daughter who he is currently grooming to replace him as the Godking of the Shinto Realm.

Amaterasu nodded and said "yes, father"

"Good, get ready, you will be the one to go with me to the gathering, that can also help you to learn new things, I want you to be ready before ascending to be the Godking, I don't want to be half cooked, you get it?"

Amaterasu nodded to what her father said before she left her father who was happy for his choice, his choice of who will replace him as Godking while he lived his life with his wife.

Chapter 17: Council of God kings

Realm of God kings

In a vast open space that contains several golden large thrones in a circular formation where the God kings of the different realms will gather if something required their attention.

In this vast space, a shimmering portal appeared at the center of the thrones and a colossal giant covered in snow and ice and he constantly generate intense cold from his body, accompanying him is one of his children, Trúegelmir, also a giant like his father but had none of the snow and ice skin like his father but that of a steel, a testament to his Titanic strength.

Ymir scanned everywhere and found out that he and his son were the first to arrive which did not surprise him as it was a normal routine for the gods to always come late to something like this, especially the usual host, Ra.

Ymir and his son went to their usual spot and sat down as he wait for the other gods to arrive.

A few minutes passed and another portal appeared and another giant like beings but pale in comparison to Ymir came out of the portal, they are Chronos and Oceanus, the Titanic Gods of Greco Realm.

Ymir seeing who it was scoffed and said "so the rumors are really true, a son killing his father for his seat of power, you are really something, hope none of your children do the same to you, as you know every well, your father believed in Karma"

Chronos frown when he heard the words of Ymir and wanted to refute but stopped when he felt the hands of Oceanus on his shoulders.

"You know he is strong and this is not a place for any dispute, you must remember you killed one of the people the primal gods thought of as a sibling so we will be a scorn and a threat to them. So keep yourself calm and don't lose your cool" Oceanus whispered in his brother's ear before facing Ymir and continued "it is a honour to finally meet you, Ymir, one of the Primordial godking of the Nordic Realm" Oceanus hailed Ymir who just looked at him coldly before taking his eyes from them.

Chronos and Oceanus looked for their seats and sat down when Chronos looked at his brother and said "well, that went well"

Oceanus didn't listen to his brother and just closed his eyes shutting everything from his surroundings.

After a while, the other gods also started appearing one after the other until they all come and had their seats while waiting for the host, Ra, who always likes to arrive last just to spite Ymir who dislikes lateness.

It didn't take long for Ra to come and alongside him was Bast, his eyes as he usually calls her.

Ra looked around and saw that all the God kings are present and one of them isn't particularly pleased with him as he had a frown on his face which made Ra smiled.

Ra took his seat and the meeting of the God kings commenced.

"You all know why we are here, right?" Ra was the one to first speak as he looked at Chronos and Shangdi, especially Chronos who killed his father, he cleared his throat and continued "we've lost two primordial gods, which to most of us are like siblings to us, one was killed by a foreign and unknown individual while the other, I can not even go into details on that, but that's not a secret as we all know what happened, but still, that's not why I called this meeting, why I called this meeting is because we have someone who can kill a primal god in his own realm backed by multitude of gods and coming out on top unscathed without any backing of his own. What do you think of such a being, a being capable of such power and yet none of us have heard about him. Shangdi, you were there when it all happened tell us what you can from your encounter with him"

Ra called out to Shangdi, who was accompanied by Bixia, his current wife.

"The man who killed my father and the other gods called himself, Satan, the lord of Wrath. He has a long straight red hair and red eyes, he can only fly with the help of two red wings which he will to appeared on his back and vice versa, he has immunity to flames and also great control over any type of flames. He is also arrogant and looked down on my father, calling him a lesser being. That's all I can say about him, oh, he is also extremely handsome" Shangdi said as he described everything he knows about the man who kill his father and his followers, destroying their previous realm.

All the Primordial God kings and the new God kings and their escorts were silent when they heard what Shangdi said, they did not know or heard of someone like the one he just described in fact they have no idea where to even start from.

Ymir seeing the panic in the eyes of most of the god's sighed at how pathetic they were "why are you all panicking? Are you all that pathetic that you are scared of someone who might not even be as strong as how he is described by Shangdi boy there and won using tricks which I would say is a pathetic method. Even if he is as strong as Shangdi said, he would still be defeated one way or another, so don't act like some whimpy dogs and let's find out where he might currently be" Ymir said and smiled which is rare for someone as cold as him as he saw the desired effect of his words.

The gods morale was raised as they took the words of Ymir into heart and started discussing among themselves if they have seen someone like the one Shangdi described.

"I think I might be able to help with that"

Everyone stopped what they were doing and looked to the person who said that who turned to be Amaterasu, the daughter of Izanagi, the God King of the Shinto Realm.

Seeing as she has gotten the attention of everyone to herself, Amaterasu continued "recently, there was a sudden disturbance in our realm. Many Kamis or gods as we generally call them would attribute it to my younger brother, Susanoo, but the truth is Susanoo can never shake the entirety of the Shinto Realm but this one shook the entire Realm and the cause of it still remains a mystery, but we could start our search from there"

The Primordial gods were pleased with Amaterasu for her foresight and her opinion towards to the matter which earned her praises from the primal gods and an unexpected one, Ymir.

This act made Izanagi proud of his daughter and he decided to hand over his seat of power to her immediately he returns.

"Any other suggestions, if not I would like to go back since I have a banquet to host" Buri who has been silent this whole time spoke, he too have had the thought of giving up his seat of power to his only son Born because he believes that their era as God kings has come to an end and the new generation is ready to rule and when he saw Shangdi and Chronos, and Amaterasu who would become the God king very soon decided to teach his son the ways of a Ruler, that's why he didn't even have any thought to participate in the meeting.

Ymir frowned when he saw the nonchalant behavior of Buried who he shared a realm with and also the husband of his daughter shook his head "I expected better from you, but looks like the year of partying has clouded your judgment and responsibility as a God king" Ymir said before he faced Ra "we should call it a day and send some of our best to assist the Shinto Realm gods to look if there is someone as the one Shangdi described and also look around your realm if there is any strangers there, even if they are not like the one described, they might be related, so you must pass it to the council and we decided how to approach the matter"

Ra nodded "very well said my friend, very well said, and also Shiva, we will need your little servants to assist in this search" Ra said as he looked at a blue skin being with a third eye on his forehead, he held a Trident, he is one of the three Primal gods of the Hindu Realm, Lord Shiva, Lord Vishnu and Lord Brahma. Lord Shiva is said to be the strongest of them all which made him the God king of the Hindu Realm.

"It shall be done, my friend" Shiva nodded and said.

After assigning tasks to the different gods, Ra closed the meeting and they all left to their various realms immediately to carry on their tasks.

Back at the Greco Realm

Chronos and Oceanus are back to their realm and Chronos is already seated on his seat as he is graced with the presence of his mother and his other siblings and wife.

He explained everything that transpired in the meeting to them before he asked his mother a question "what should we do with this Lucifer guy? Don't you think we should tell the council of God kings about him?"

Gaia immediately shook her head "you will do no such thing, if what you say is true, that there might be others that came out of nowhere like him, then he might not be alone and doing something as reckless as outing him to the council might even be the end of us, so don't take part in what the council is planning, we don't know what we are dealing with"

Gaia dissuaded her son from doing anything that might endanger their realm before she left to her domain leaving the Titans with a gloomy face.

Chapter 18: Birth of Zeus

"Argh, Arrrggghhh"

"Please make it stop, I can't bear it anymore"

A woman laid on a bed with her legs spread apart trying push something out of her, she was screaming as she was in pain from trying to push out something inside her.

This woman is the goddess of fertility, childbirth, motherhood and comfort and good living.

She is currently giving birth to her sixth child and probably the last as she could not go through what happened to her other five children before this one again.

Gaia and the Nymph, Adamantheia were the ones helping her to the childbirth and also the ones who would help her hide her child from her husband. "You have to remain strong, you are the goddess of childbirth for crying out loud, this should be easy for you"

Gaia held Rhea's hands and said while releasing some of her energy into her.

Adamantheia smiled while looking at the baby that was about to pop out anytime soon, she looked at her friend "you just have to push a little more and everything will be over"

Adamantheia said which gave Rhea a renewed hope and strength as she gave out a final push and scream which shook the entire Greco Realm at the birth of a new god which all the gods of the realm knew that the child will not live to see the next day.

Adamantheia held the child before passing it to the pining mother who held her child with love and a trace of pain in her eyes.

"It is a boy, just like the last two" Rhea smiled as she saw the clear blue eyes of her baby boy "I will not let him suffer the same fate, that's why I am entrusting my boy in your hands, Adamantheia, give my child a sanctuary at your Island as that is the only place Chronos can not spy and please tell Lucifer to guide him, teach him so that he can one day release his siblings from their fate. I will visit from time to time so as not to arouse any suspicion from Chronos"

Rhea said while shedding tears of both joy and pain, joy because her son will survive and not suffer the fate of his older siblings and pain because she will once again be separated from her son.

Gaia sighed as she saw the pain in her daughter's eyes and could understand what she was currently going through as she has been there before. She remembered when Ouranos had to imprison her children because of their deformity which greatly angered to the extent she had to get rid of him.

She is even surprised as to how Rhea managed to keep her sanity all these well and still went ahead and keep producing offsprings for Chronos who do not even have any ounce of love for his children as he devoured them to prevent his father's curse from taking any effect in his life.

"Are you not going to name the child, Rhea" Gaia asked her as she gathers some rocks from around them and arranged it in such a way that Chronos would think that the child Rhea bore is the rock she was going to give him.

Rhea didn't think about that and wanted to give Adamantheia the child. She looked at her boy and smiled once again "he shall be called Zeus, for he is born to be a ruler. Take him Adamantheia"

After she named the child, Rhea passed the baby, Zeus to Adamantheia who transformed into a large eagle and flew to the direction of the Island.

Gaia saw that Rhea was on the verge of tears and moved to console her "don't worry dear, one day, you will be reunited with your son and the rest of your children as one happy family and trust me, he is in good hands in the Island and he will grow to be a fine strong man one day, so don't worry about that, what you should think about is how to give Chronos the rock without him finding out"

Rhea finally listened to her mother and calmed down and took the rock cast an illusion to generate the sound of a baby crying.

Rhea looked at her mother "I think these should be enough to fool him, with this, I hope Lucifer can really help my son to be strong enough to stop Chronos like you said, Mother" said Rhea, she remembered her mother was the one who suggested they give Lucifer the child to take care of for them but when they asked Lucifer for his opinion, they almost swore they didn't as Lucifer just looked at them like morons and how they thought he was a better fit to take care of the child, what is he, a babysitter? Lucifer refused and said he can only show some guardians to the young child and give him pointers at anything he wants to know but to babysit the child, he couldn't do that, that is demeaning his status.

"Trust him, he will always do what he says he will do. Now go, Chronos must be waiting for his meal" Gaia said as she always believed in Lucifer because he never goes back on his words from the years, she knows him.

Rhea left the room and walked towards the portal leading to the God king plane to get to Chronos.

Island of Crete

Adamantheia with baby Zeus arrived in the Island where they were welcomed by Lucifer, Aphrodite, Cynosura and the rest of the Nymphs.

Lucifer saw the white hair and the clear blue eyes of baby Zeus who was looking at everything and everyone around him which should be uncommon for a child his age but he was no normal child either, he is the son of a God king, the grandson of two Primordial gods.

"So this is the child Gaia and Rhea wanted me to take care of in their stead, Zeus, the son of the God king, Chronos" said Lucifer while thinking about the wonders the child before him would do and of course some foolish things.

Adamantheia was surprised as to how Lucifer knew the name of the child when she hasn't said anything "how did you know the name of the child?"

"Come on, I'm the Devil, of course I would know such trivial things" Lucifer just based it on his awesomeness.

Adamantheia sighed as she knew Lucifer would not say anything "okay, don't say anything and I don't care. If you don't mind, I am going to excuse myself, I have a child to raise since a certain someone bailed from it" said Adamantheia as she took Zeus to her chamber with some Nymphs following behind her.

Aphrodite saw the way Adamantheia conversed with Lucifer and she would not be the goddess of love if she did not know that there was something different with the way she spoke to him "oh Lucifer, you have finally made her fall in love with you, haven't you?"

"Well, that's not my doing, I'm just too handsome even for my own good" Lucifer said as he held Aphrodite disregarding the presence of Cynosura who was looking at the shameless couple with disgust.

Chapter 19: Lucifer And Zeus

"This realm is becoming quite boring, maybe I should visit some other realm, but which realm should I visit?" Said Lucifer who was currently floating in the air as he watched young Zeus training.

It has been ten years since Zeus was born and brought to the island to be raised by the Nymphs.

Rhea and Gaia visit him from time to time but Zeus did not know that he is related to them and just thought they were friends of Lucifer and Adamantheia.

Zeus has grown fond of Lucifer and looks up to him as a father figure with Adamantheia as his mother even when he knew the truth that they were not his parents and Lucifer reminding him times without number.

Currently, Lucifer decided to give the young Zeus who is like a young adult despite being just 10 years old a few pointers to kill his boredom as he waited for Gaia to come.

"Hey, Lucifer, am I doing it right?" Zeus who was done with a set of exercise asked Lucifer if he did it right only to see that he was not even paying him attention which was a normal occurrence when he is being trained by Lucifer, the young Zeus just sighed and shook his head before he continued "oh, come on, when are you going to pay attention when you are training me? LUCIFER"

Zeus shouted the name of the Devil which brought him back to reality.

Lucifer saw that Zeus was sweating profusely and knew that he must have finished his exercise "you did well, you can go rest up now" Lucifer said as he turned around and wanted to go back to his chambers but stopped as Zeus shouted once again.

"I WASN'T DONE, I JUST FINISHED A SET, JUST A SET, LUCIFER, IF YOU WERE PAYING ATTENTION, YOU WOULD HAVE KNOWN" Zeus shouted with a trace of lightning flickering in his eyes as he also unconsciously used his divine voice as it spread throughout the Island and would have gone beyond there if not for Lucifer's gift to the Nymphs which also serves as some kind of barrier to prevent anyone or anything from entering and leaving the Island without permission from Adamantheia except from Lucifer of course.

Lucifer frowned when a boy of just ten years old shouted at him like some kind wastrel or one of his servants. He knew Zeus has some kind of Anger Management Issues and maybe that's because of his nature as the god of thunder as he is beginning to show it looking at his eyes but he is not going to just let it go, he was being looked down upon by a mere ten years old for crying out loud, he have to teach him a little lesson.

Lucifer aura immediately changed as his eyes turned to a darker shade of red.

Zeus whose eyes were still flickering with lightening immediately fell to the ground by an invisible force as his eyes lost its spark and he was gasping for air as it became difficult for him to breath.

"Next time you speak to me, you watch your tone because you might lose your ability to speak the next time you raise your voice at me" said Lucifer while adding more pressure on Zeus.

Zeus coughed out a lot of blood as the pressure he was under was too unbearable even for a god like him, but he endured it as he was taught by the same man never to show any weakness in any situation whatsoever.

"Oh you are actually listening to my teachings, I'm impressed" Lucifer said, he was indeed truly impressed that Zeus was catching on most of his teachings even though it was just him rumbling some nonsense due to his boredom from having to preside over Zeus's training, but now he might have found a way to relieve himself, the suffering of Zeus "why don't we make this another part of your training? Let me see how you will fare from 0.001% of my aura pressure"

"You Will Do No Such Thing"

Lucifer sighed as he was being looked down upon so often in just one day and that's from a mother and child pair.

Rhea who followed Gaia to coke and see her son but when she came to the Island, she heard the voice of Zeus resounding throughout the entire Island and knew hell was about to be unleashed when she found out who he was raising his voice at.

She immediately ran at her full speed to at least save her child as he is now her only hope.

When she got to the scene, what she saw made her felt a pain she hasn't felt for a long time. The body of her son laid on the ground and blood spilling from his mouth but what made her happy was that even at his worst moment he didn't succumb to his pain and didn't show any weakness which will help him greatly in the future.

She immediately went to his side and brought him to his feet while giving Lucifer a death glare.

Lucifer seeing staring at him like that just shrugged it off and turned around to leave the mother and child pair for his abode but not without giving Rhea a warning "you should be thankful to your mother, Gaia, that's the only reason I'm overlooking your disrespect, but this is will be your last warning, there won't be a next time"

After saying that, Lucifer flew to his abode where he knew Gaia would be, together with Aphrodite.

Rhea sighed while looking at Lucifer flying away until he disappeared from her view. She then turned to Zeus who was still catching his breath "hey, it's going to be alright, okay, you are a strong boy, this is nothing to you" Rhea tried to comfort Zeus while also releasing her aura which was warm and fill with a mother's love to calm him down.

"I'm ok, mother, he is just trying to see if I can handle his pressure, he does not mean any harm" Zeus said to her without realizing he just made a blunder by calling Rhea mother.

Rhea on the other hand did not listen to any of Zeus's words after he called her mother as her mind was blank.

Zeus waved his hands across her face as he could see that her mind was not here with him before he remembered what he called her a moment ago "shit"

Lucifer's Abode

"You know that you aiding Zeus may lead to the eventual death of most of your children and grand children, Gaia"

Gaia and Aphrodite turned to see Lucifer standing by the door with an apple in his hands.

Gaia has just arrived a few minutes ago as she believed Rhea was going to handle the issue with Zeus. She was having a small talk with Aphrodite when they heard Lucifer's voice.

Gaia sighed as she thought of the future and the carnage that will occur with the lives that will be lost "I know, that's why I will try to minimize the level of destruction to the bare minimum as much as I can" said Gaia who has already planned a lot of things to prevent many deaths the day Zeus will confront his father.

Lucifer smiled as he knew that what she planned might not even work as the war will spam years instead of a day she imagined, "well, at least, you will get a replacement on the ones you will lose, because he is going to need allies as he is but just one man facing an entire kingdom" Lucifer gave Gaia a hint on what Zeus might do to gather his own forces.

Gaia hearing what Lucifer said immediately thought of her children that was locked up in Tartarus "are you certain he is going to do that?" Gaia asked Lucifer as she does not want to get her hopes up once again.

"Of course, who do you think will help him in fighting against the God king if not for the siblings he abandoned. And if you were thinking I will assist him, then I will have to burst your bubbles, lady, I don't intend to interfere with your family matter and me joining the fray, would be like an elephant bullying a colony of ants"

Lucifer said as he took a bit of the apple in his hands before turning to look at Gaia who was coming up with another plan with the new information she just got.

Aphrodite also saw her like that and just sighed "now, what is she cooking up in that head of hers"

"She is cooking up ways to protect her children and not lose any of them in the upcoming war"

Lucifer was the one to answer Aphrodite.

Aphrodite nodded her head after knowing why Gaia was like that, she looked at Lucifer and asked "so are you really not going to interfere?"

Lucifer opened his hands wide and smiled "of course, I won't, that will be pretty overkill and I know Zeus will win, he even have me to teach him, so there is nothing to worry about"

Before Aphrodite could ask another question, Gaia stood up with full force as she finally figured out a plan.

She looked at Lucifer and Aphrodite and smiled "I know what to do"

Chapter 20: Empty Hell

"I heard you called Rhea mother, so how long have you known, Zeus?"

Adamantheia and Zeus were together having a meal when Adamantheia remembered what Rhea told her earlier in the day as she couldn't shut up about it.

Zeus sighed as he was trying to avoid this question all day long but it seems he couldn't escape his fate.

"I'm 10, not stupid, I will know she is my mother from the moment I see her, I mean, it is so obvious and only a fool would not know something that obvious"

Adamantheia was surprised to find out that Zeus figured out who is mother without no one saying anything to him but she still did not get the answer to what she asked him.

"I know you are smart but that still doesn't answer my question, how long have you know that Rhea is your mother?"

Zeus sighed again, he was starting to get frustrated with the questioning session but he knew he will have to answer him or he will not get any peace of mind "I knew from the moment she first visited, when I was seven. You always say that you were not my mother but just a caretaker and their has not been any stranger that comes to the Island except from Gaia who I knew was related to me but she is not my mother as I could not feel that parental bond from her but something else, so when Rhea, I mean Mother came to the Island, I could feel that bond between a mother and a child with and the way she looks at me, I knew she is my mother. So that's how I found out about her"

Adamantheia was impressed by Zeus's intuitive ability "I'm truly impressed by your intuitive ability and I have to say you will be a force to reckon with when you are old enough from what you have shown so far" Adamantheia praised Zeus for his ability to discern things without proof or evidence "now, let's talk about the recent stunt you pulled today"

Zeus felt a headache as he saw the sudden change on Adamantheia's face when she said that, he knew he was going to have an earful from her.

"What were you thinking of yelling at Lucifer like that? Huh, do you know he can snuff the life right out of you with just a snap of his fingers and all your mother can do is just cry her eyes out without being able to do anything to him. Do you know that even Gaia, one of the most powerful Primal goddess ever known is mindful of what she says in his present, that shows how strong and powerful he is to be able to do that and you, a boy of ten years have the guts to yell at the man everyone is afraid of, what was wrong with your head at that moment?" Said Adamantheia who had a serious expression as she questioned Zeus on how he got the courage to talk to Lucifer like that, even she would think twice and still not be able to talk to him like that.

Zeus just kept his head down and remained silent as he did not know how to answer that question, all he knew was that he was overcome by this inexplicable rage if being ignored by Lucifer during the training and he had to let it out which he did but he did not expect things to escalate to that extent.

Adamantheia sighed when she saw Zeus like that, she walked up to him and ruffled his hairs "it's okay, we all make mistakes from time to time but know this is one you should never repeat or else, according to what he said, he will obliterated you"

Zeus chuckled when he heard that, he knew Lucifer would not do that, he is just going to make his life a living hell for a while, what he was truly worried about is his mother, she might not get a second chance in case she slips up.

Adamanteia seeing that Zeus laughed smiled and gave him a peck on his cheeks "you have seven days to rest and after that your training begins and Gaia, your grandmother has a new plan for you Aphrodite will also be teaching you from now on and I have to warn you, don't look at her indecently or else you want to lose your eyes" said Adamanteia before she left Zeus alone and went back to her chambers.

Adamanteia sighed when Gaia brought up the new plan and worried for the safety of Zeus as one of his teachers is going to Aphrodite and they all know that she is the wife of Lucifer which would not be good for someone like Zeus who she has noticed has a trait of checking out the women in the Island and she could see lust in his eyes when he looks at them and now, the most beautiful woman in all of the realms is going to be his teacher and worst of it all, she is the woman of Lucifer, a man no one wants to offend.

Zeus sighed as he looked at the fading back of Adamanteia which to him was her busty butt.

Zeus quickly came back to his senses and made sure to not do the same to Aphrodite because he heard stories, and the stories he heard did not end well for whoever was the cause of it, so he decided to focus on his responsibility and goal in his life which is to get rid of his father and release his older siblings or whatever was left of them as he believed that they cannot survive that long in their father's stomach even if they were gods.

Zeus just placed that behind him for now as he has been through a lot today and he deserved some rest. He went to his chambers and call it a day.

Hell

Coriel, the only one who remained back in Hell and slept since then, finally opened her eyes when she felt the sudden call of one of her siblings.

She frowned at the sudden disturbance to her rest "now what does she want now?" Coriel said after finding out who was reaching out to her.

Shadows wrapped around her as it covered her entirely and with that, the last of the Arch Demon left Hell, leaving it empty.

Realm of Hindu

Amiel was surrounded by blue skin bipedal beasts that numbered up to millions all swarming towards her.

The beast are the creations of Lord Shiva who noticed the appearance of Amiel, so he created a special kind of duplicating demon and had them attack Amiel.

Amiel destroyed them effortlessly at first but before she could revel in her victory, she was swarmed by another set of the never ending beasts.

The more she kills, the more they attack her, seeing as she has no hope of getting rid of the pests disturbing her, she had to call on her lazy sister who could use her intelligence to good use instead of sleeping in Hell.

After she called Coriel, she unleashed a devastating attack which destroyed all the beasts but she did not let her guard down as she knew that there are more of these pests.

"Come On, I Know There Is Someone Behind This, Why Don't You Show Yourself And Stop Hiding Behind Your Little Pets"

Amiel shouted to the void and demanded for whoever was behind her attack, but she didn't get any answer, the only answer she received was the roars of the incoming waves of beasts.

Rooaaarrrr~Rooaaarrrr~Rooaaarrrr

Amiel sighed and got ready for another round of obliteration.

"I would like to know why I was disturbed from my sleep,