

I'm The Devil

#Chapter 31 What Do You Think You Are Doing? - Read I'm The Devil Chapter 31 What Do You Think You Are Doing?

Chapter 31 What Do You Think You Are Doing?

"I know you are thinking of getting rid of some pest but first, let's enjoy what this Fánhuá place has to offer"

Walking hand in hand, Lucifer and Aphrodite explored the Fánhuá Recreation Ground. A place where gods could relax and hang out from time to time with their lovers.

While they were busy having fun, someone covered in dark aura and wore a cloak covering their features were staring at Lucifer intensely which did not go by Lucifer but he just shove it at the back of his head as nothing can faze him, not from these low level gods.

Noticing that they had been discovered, the person quickly left that area and looked for another place to hide and observe it's target.

"Thought he wouldn't leave"

Lucifer said which caught the attention of Aphrodite "who was that?" She asked looking at him with concern.

Lucifer smiled as he pecked her on her lips "just a cheap rip off of my personage. No one worth mentioning" said Lucifer after he separated from her.

Aphrodite didn't dwell on the matter and continued with their fun night, she can't let anything ruin her evening.

Elsewhere

"Shit, I almost got caught. Right now I don't think I can continue to follow him anymore, I have to lay low for now"

A man with a stature built like that for a bull and also had a horn like a bull.

He is the first being born from the darkest and hideous place of the Pangu Realm hidden from even the prying eyes of the Emperor.

He calls himself the Bull Demon King and a self proclaimed leader of the Demons born from the darkest pit of the Pangu Realm.

He always wanted to visit this side of the Realm and today, he finally did it without being noticed but someone caught his eyes, a man filled with a baleful aura that drew him and he decided to investigate who that his but the only thing he got was one word 'The Devil'

Not getting a satisfying answer he decided to look him up himself which almost got him discovered and from what he heard from the local gods here, he did not want to get on his bad side yet.

"I don't know what was it that was drawing me to him, but I must make sure to uncover it before going back to the Netherworld"

The Netherworld is where he and the rest of the Demons were born.

Devil's Peak

The Envoys arrived at the Devil's Peak and requested an audience with The Devil but were told by the Servants that their master is out and won't be coming back anytime soon, and they can either wait for him or go back and come back another day.

This pushed Sekhmet to the edge as she has never been this disgraced and looked down upon since the day she was born but since she arrived on this stupid Realm, she has been disregarded twice.

She threw her scepter at the servant who spoke, piercing her heart and ending her life making the other servants move back.

Sekhmet walked to the dead servant and pulled out her scepter and looked at the other Servants "now, you will tell me where your master is or even better, call him here or you lots will be falling one after the other until he gets here" she said while pointing the scepter at them.

"You must stop this madness sister" said Bast who appeared in front of Sekhmet and glared at her.

Some of the other Envoys also shook their heads at how Sekhmet handle things while others were hoping she could show this Devil guy his place.

Even if the servants were afraid of dying, they didn't let it show on their face and stared down at Sekhmet as if telling her to do her worse.

Seeing the way the servants react even in the face of death, Tezcatlipoca knew that they have complete faith in their master to avenge them even if he can't come to their rescue which made him have second thought of this Devil being and began checking his options, he might be smart but what can his brain do in the face of absolute power, so he began making ways to speak to the Devil without offending him.

"Get out of my way sister" said Sekhmet without even looking at her sister, Bast.

Bast didn't back down either, she did not want a conflict between them and this Devil person.

They all have heard about how these new beings were, they are incomprehensible and nobody knew the depth of their power but one thing they all know is that they are not to be messed with.

"Put your weapon down, don't cause unnecessary disputes. That's not why we are here"

They all turned to see the person who just spoke and it turns out to be Amaterasu, the future God king of the Shinto Realm.

"Say that for yourself, I have no problem causing dispute. That's my nature" Sekhmet said unwilling to let go of her anger.

"So are you going to kill them all just so you could satiate your anger? If so, I'm afraid I will have to stop you before you make a bloody mess here"

A bulky and tall man with so much hair on his head and beard stepped out of the Council Members and stared down at Sekhmet and said.

He is Bor Burison, the son of Buri, the Primal god of the Aesir Domain.

Before he came here, to this Realm, he has been warn by his father along with his friend, Bariel who apparently is the brother of the Devil to be careful not to do anything to provoke him, instead do anything he could to get on his good grace so that he might come back with his life in tact.

Seeing an opportunity like this to get on the good side of Lucifer, he couldn't let it pass him.

"Oh, I've always heard a lot about you Aesir gods, always eager for a challenge especially you the only son of the God King. While I would love to indulge you, I have other pressing matters and people to kill, just you will have to excuse me"

Sekhmet was so adamant in dealing with the servants that she completely ignored Bor's challenge even if she wanted to, that's how pissed off she was with the servants.

But, Born would not just let her do as he pleases, if she didn't want the challenge, then he will have to force her to it "I did not say you had any choice to begin with" he said as he rushed at her with his twin blades ready to rip her life if need be.

The other Envoys made way for the two battle gods to face off.

"Go and get the Master here, tell him that intruders are causing havoc on the Peak, also our sister is dead" an older servant who assumed the leadership of the Servants of the Devil Peak said to another one who didn't waste any time and went to fetch her master "these arrogant gods are going to know why he is The Devil"

The Envoys didn't notice this expect from Bast, Amaterasu and Tezcatlipoca who were paying attention to the servants.

Amaterasu sighed as she had a feeling that things are about to go south "just hope things don't get completely out of hand even if the Devil might be pissed" she said as she looked for a corner to sit and wait for the Devil.

Bast and Tezcatlipoca just stared at each other and sighed before focusing in the fight in front of them.

"Don't beg when I put you under my feet and make you my footstool"

Sekhmet said trying to provoke Bor.

"Say that to yourself child"

Bor also did not disappoint as he also made a comeback of his own which greatly infuriated her.

"YOU HAVE A DEATH WISH"

Sekhmet shouted as she charged at Bor furiously.

The two gods clashed off trading blows after blows even to the extent of almost causing damage to the Devil's Peak if not for some smart gods who created a dome around Sekhmet and Bor preventing any attack from affecting the surrounding areas.

The clash between the two gods span for a long time with no intention of ever stopping keeping the other gods entertained as they wait for the Devil.

Only three gods were worried for their safety as they kept looking around them to see if they could catch a glimpse of this Devil somewhere.

Another hour passed and the two were still at it with Sekhmet receiving much damage as she was going up against a god older than her and also a God King candidate.

The Envoys were so emersed in the clash when they felt a very suppressing aura that brought them to their kness, each and every one of them including the two gods facing off against each other.

"What do you think you are doing?"

Chapter 32 Show of Power

"What do you think you are doing?"

The Envoys heard a very cold and terrifying voice that sent chills down their spines.

They were afraid to their core that even if Lucifer were to lift the pressure on them, they would be unable to move much less being able to talk.

Getting no response from the Envoys, Lucifer increased his pressure on them making weaker gods cough out blood.

"I will ask again. "What in the Bloody Hell do you think you are doing?"

Terror and despair was what the Envoys felt, most of them were already regretting why they even came in this suicide mission while some were cursing at Sekhmet for not controlling herself and acting wantonly.

"I believe you have deprived them their ability to speak, Love"

Aphrodite appeared besides Lucifer stunning the entire Envoys of her beauty.

Lucifer raised a brow at the gods before seeing them gasping for air and some of them were already at death's gate.

Coming to a realization, Lucifer released his pressure from them "you lots are not Primordials and you still dared to act all mighty in my peak? Are you all insane?" asked Lucifer when he noticed that they were just new generation gods and they are not even God Kings like Shangdi to be able to withstand his pressure and manage to hold his own against him.

After being released from that overbearing pressure, the Envoys gasped for breath and those who were on the verge of death just collapsed and did not want to get up ever again until they were out of this mess.

After regaining her strength, Amaterasu came forward and bowed to Lucifer "my name is Amaterasu, the first daughter of the God King of Shinto, Izanagi and the Primal Goddess, Izanami. I am here today with the rest of the Envoy from the myriad Realms to meet up with you and build a relationship with you" she said with her head still down.

When Lucifer heard the name Amaterasu, he thought of where he had heard something like that but no matter what how hard he tries to remember, he can never pin point it.

He quickly put that at the back of his mind and focused on the woman in front of him and he have to say, she is also a rare gem and she seem well mannered and behaved.

With that attitude, she might be the only one to survive out all the Envoys or what they called themselves.

"I have heard why you are here, but what I want to know is who killed one of my own and why? Your answers might guarantee most of your lives"

Lucifer said as a red glint passed through his eyes.

All the Envoys became silent when he said that. Nobody wanted to get on the bad side of the Mad Goddess, she always resort to violence anytime nothing goes her way and if they did point at her and he did nothing, then they are better off living the rest of their lives here rather than ever going back home.

Bast knew what the other Envoys were thinking and sighed, she was conflicted on what to do. She wanted to protect her sister while on the other hand, she wants to out her sister and be done with but she did not know what will happen to her.

She was still contemplating on what to do when she heard a voice helping her do what she should have done.

She looked up and saw Tezcatlipoca with Lucifer and Aphrodite.

"It was Sekhmet here, she was just teaching most of the servants ways to speak to one with status such you and myself" said Tezcatlipoca with an aura of regality as he believes that those servants were beneath them and Lucifer may also see from that angle.

Hearing the words of Tezcatlipoca, Aphrodite sighed at the fool. He clearly saw how pissed off Lucifer was when he said that someone killed one of his own and here he was acting all here and mighty and looking down on the servants.

Amaterasu looked at Tezcatlipoca with a brow raised and wondered what was wrong with him [and here I thought he was the most smartest amongst us or has his brain been fried from the pressure earlier?] Amaterasu thought as she moved back from Tezcatlipoca when she saw the crazed smile Lucifer gave him.

Placing a hand on Tezcatlipoca's shoulder, Lucifer laughed and looked him in the in eyes "you know, you are someone born with everything you ever desired and not struggle to get anything. You look down at your fellow gods because they don't have the status and strength you wield and call them lesser because of that. But that is going to change today, because I will show you what power can do in anyone's hands, power can even make an ant defeat an elephant and you are nothing close to an elephant because you are just another ant" Lucifer said these words slowly making it sink into the head of Tezcatlipoca who was now sweating profusely and knew that he had messed up big time.

Without even waiting for Lucifer to ask, Aphrodite had already called for one of the servants to come.

The new head of the servants came as she stood besides Lucifer and Aphrodite.

Lucifer placed his other hand on the servant's forehead and granted her some of Ouranos powers he had from devouring him.

As soon as he did that, the aura of the servant changed as her entire being glow, her turned pure white.

She became the new goddess of the Sky.

After her transformation was complete, she opened her eyes that makes one who stare at them to think they were looking at the starry night sky.

Lucifer smiled at his masterpiece "I think you have to show this arrogant second generation god what true power is" said Lucifer as he gave the servant the go ahead to take care of Tezcatlipoca.

"With pleasure" The new Sky goddess said before walking towards Tezcatlipoca to test out her new power.

"No, no, don't you dare touch me, I swear if anything happen to me, my father would not sit idle and let it slide. He will raid this Realm and bring it to the ground so stop when I tell you to or you won't like it" Tezcatlipoca said as he moved back frantically from the advancing goddess.

"Let them come, they will have the same fate like you, which is death"

The goddess didn't take the threat of Tezcatlipoca seriously as she knew that it was just the words of a dying man.

Seeing as there is no way he can talk himself out of this, Tezcatlipoca immediately turn around to flee but he was held down by Bor.

"Sorry mate, you should have think before you started speaking. Thought you are the smartest amongst us but I think today ain't your day" Bor said as he held down Tezcatlipoca while looking at the new goddess.

"Now this is quite interesting, who are you?"

Lucifer said when he saw Bor manhandle Tezcatlipoca and from the way he was dressed made him know where he might come from but not who he is.

Bor gave Tezcatlipoca to the goddess who has already arrived at their location immediately straightened himself and bowed "I am Bor Burison, son of Buried and the next God King of Aesir Realm, I am here on behalf of the current God King and my father to invite you to my third son's nafnfesti and also you are our honorary guest, you can come to Aesir anytime you like, My lord"

Lucifer was surprised at the way he is being treated by the Viking gods even when he had never had any altercation with any of them which leaves him with only one answer.

"One of my siblings is there with you, am I correct?"

"Yes, my Lord. The Lord Bariel is also with us and will very much like to reunite with you that day"

Lucifer burst out laughing when he figured out why they were friendly with him.

It looks like Bariel might have roughened them a bit but not to the extreme as they seem to respect and treat him as a Lord which is very rare among the Viking gods.

"Argh, Arrrggghhh"

Lucifer and Bor's attention were drawn to the screaming Tezcatlipoca who was being played around by the new goddess as she inflict devastating injuries after injuries without trying to kill him.

"Just end him so that we can go to the next target, new goddess of the Sky" said Aphrodite who was getting tired of the drama around and just want to end all the Envoys and be done with it but she refrained from doing so and let Lucifer have his fun.

Hearing the word of her mistress, the Sky goddess ended Tezcatlipoca's life.

After she killed him, Lucifer appeared and used his [DEVOUR] ability and absorbed Tezcatlipoca's body leaving nothing behind.

Bor was surprised to see that Lucifer using the same ability as Bariel as he never thought someone else could use it as he said it was his exclusive ability after he asked him to teach him.

"Wow, that was so-so, now for the next course"

Lucifer said while turning to look at Sekhmet who surprisingly was not afraid and just stared at him and readied her weapon for a fight.

"Wow, that was so-so, now for the next course"

Lucifer walked towards Sekhmet who was gripping tightly on her weapon and ready to attack to defend her life against Lucifer.

Lucifer smiled as he saw how determined Sekhmet was to fight him "I would have loved to see how you struggle but I don't have all the time in the world to do that, so why don't we skip all these charades and talk about your funeral"

Lucifer said as he raised his hands to end Sekhmet and be done with.

"WAIT"

"Now what, if you don't give me a good reason both you and her will have the same fate"

Lucifer angrily said as it seems that they have been taking him for granted since he still let some of them live and not just ending them all.

He turned around to see a woman similar to Sekhmet but she has this mysterious aura around her and a hidden strength in her unlike Sekhmet that exudes bravery and courage to face anything in her way even when she knows she cannot come out of it victoriously.

"I am Bastet, Bast for short. I am a daughter of Ra, the Sun god and also a twin to Sekhmet. On behalf of the entire Kemet Realm, I beg you to show mercy to my sister, she is always blood headed and do things on impulse. That's her nature, so if you let my sister go, I promise the Realm of Kemet will grant you anything you desire and more" said Bast pleading on behalf of her sister.

Aphrodite snorted when Bast finished speaking. Do they take him for a joke to think he would let someone who killed one of his own in his home for something he can get with just a snap of his fingers? She is dreaming, Lucifer just had someone killed just because his servants were being looked down upon, what's stopping him from ripping the life right out of Sekhmet.

Lucifer smiled when hearing what Bast had to say "you know, your proposal is quite tempting but not to someone like me. You see, I believe in the saying "a life for a life".

She killed one of my own and it is befitting if I end her life to make my servant rest in peace, don't you think?" Lucifer asked as he appeared in front of Sekhmet and took her hidden blade in a speed the Envoys couldn't follow and stabbed it straight at her heart ending her life to never be mentioned in the history books.

Bast sighed as she saw that she couldn't get Lucifer to change his mind. Well, she believed she tried her best but Sekhmet just couldn't be Sekhmet for a moment and now look what it got her.

Bast didn't say anything anymore and just stood there just looking at the lifeless body of her sister.

What happened next surprised everyone including Aphrodite as she did not expect something like that from Lucifer.

They all saw Lucifer bend down and touched the body of Sekhmet and immediately he did that, the body of Sekhmet disappeared and in her place appeared two twin blades of extraordinary appearance with extricate engravings of a fierce lioness jumping on her prey.

Lucifer took the blades and motioned for Bor to come.

"Since you stood in defense of my home, I will entrust this Blade to you, you can do with it as you see fit" said Lucifer as he handed the Blades to Bor who took it.

The moment Bor took hold of the Blades, he felt another consciousness inside the Blades which is the first of all the weapons in the entire Cosmos.

Bor admired the Blades and wondered if the blacksmith of his Realm could make something like this.

"Thank you my lord for this extraordinary gift and for this, I can never pay you back so I would like if you do the honour of naming my son on his nafnfesti"

Bowing down on both of his knees, Bor expressed his thanks wholeheartedly to show how much he truly loved the Blades.

This act brought scorns on the faces of the Envoys but they couldn't say or do anything and if they were in his shoes right now they would do the same heck they would even lay down on the ground to express their thanks but since they were not Bor, they let their jealousy and envy look at him like a bootlicker and dog kisser.

"I see you are pleased with the Blades but why don't you name it. You know Blades like that deserves a worthy name"

Hearing the words of Lucifer, Bor looked at the blade and fell into a deep contemplation. He could feel the very consciousness of the Blades and he have to say, he had fierce aura just like the one it was made from, ready to destroy anything that stands in its way and face anyone or anything that opposes the one who wields it.

"After much thought, I think it deserves no other name than The Blade of Sekhmet" Bor said while putting his blades away from the greedy eyes of the Envoys.

"Good, now since we are done here, except from these three, the rest of you SCRAM!!!"

Lucifer said as his eyes turned to a glaring red sending shivers down the spine of everyone who looked at him making them flee from the Devil's Peak and leaving the Realm of Pangu as a whole and never to return in their lifetime.

Bast and Amaterasu were confused as to why they were still here with Bor while he chased the others away.

Lucifer smiled when he saw how the Envoys were running helter skelter "gosh, I have always wanted to do that and I got to do it, pretty amazing, right? I know you two are wondering why you are still here.

Well, that's because you both have caught my eyes and u would hate if I were to send you away without getting to know you" said Lucifer as he appeared behind Amaterasu and ran his hands through her hairs.

Bast seeing the way Lucifer was flirting with another woman in the presence of his woman was clearly disgusted by the sight "if you are thinking of taking me as one of your woman, then I hate to disappoint you but I am already spoken for" said Bast not wanting anything to do with Lucifer.

Hearing her, Lucifer appeared behind her giving Amaterasu a chance to catch her breath and calm her mind down as this the first time a man has gotten that close to her and that from someone of his caliber.

"Well, I like something about you, that mysterious aura around you, the way you hide your strength making your opponent disregard you giving you an advantage in a fight, all that is what makes you an ideal woman and I want that, I don't care how long I will wait to will your affection but I know one thing you are nothing going to get along with that Ptah guy, he is not worthy of a woman like you and I am" Lucifer whispered these words to Bast as she had her eyes wide open at how he knew all that.

Bast having regained control of herself after her momentarily daze from having Lucifer being so close to her moved away from him.

Lucifer didn't pursue her and just simply snapped his fingers and they all appeared in the Hall of the Devil's Palace.

Meanwhile the servants outside and the new goddess took their dead friend and went to perform a burial rite for her.

In the Devil's Palace Hall

Lucifer sat on his throne as he looked at Bast "you can go back to your true form, nobody is here to see you" said Lucifer as he knew that Bast feline look is nothing but a disguise to hide her true appearance.

Seeing the surprised look on her face, Lucifer sighed and said once again "yes I know, I know that you desert gods always hide your true appearance with animals that you represent and that's not a secret to the higher ups of every Realm, so if those guys know, then why won't I know about it?"

Bast looked around her and saw that the two besides her aren't surprised as she expected them to be which means they also know.

She sighed and reverted back to her true form, a beautiful black woman with green eyes and long black straight hairs and had a mysterious aura that says 'don't mess with me'.

"I knew you would be this beautiful, I never doubt my instinct. But I won't bother you anymore, you call all go take your rest, the servants would show you where your rooms will be, you can feel at home"

Lucifer said before he also stood up only to stop when he heard Bast call out to him.

"You know, my father won't sit by when he gets the news that his daughter is dead"

"Well, if he wants revenge then he is welcomed to which would only lead to his untimely death.

Lucifer said before walking away leaving a contemplating Bast.

Realm Of Kemet

"HE DID WHAT?"

A furious voice of an angry man reverberated throughout the Throne room where the God King of Kemet was addressing a lesser god that escorted the Envoys from the Kemet Realm to pay a visit to the supposed Devil.

The lesser god was shaken by the sudden loud roar of the angry Ra when he found out that one of his daughters was killed and the other one was being held by the Devil.

Ra bang his hands on the arm rail of his throne nearly destroying it if not that it was made by the well renowned creator god of Kemet, Ptah.

"How dare he do that? He killed my daughter for a mere servant and even have the right to hold onto my other daughter. Does he not fear that I will make the Council band together to stop him?" Said Ra while looking at the lesser god who was shaking in fear from the aura he exudes. Ra excused the god so that he can have the room to himself.

After the god left, Ra sighed "I must find a way to get rid of this Devil, hence he will become a thorn on my side but he has the Aesir domain on his side, the Hindu for helping Shiva and those people always repays their debts and the Pangu realm where he resides which leaves me with the Greco Realm, the Aztec Realm for also killing their own, the Shinto Realm and the Celtic Realm.

I could have asked for help from those fuckers but all they know is all about pleasure and nothing more but even with that, I still have the greater number and if the other Realms do not back down, then the first ever war of the Cosmos will ensue"

Realm of Aztec

"Send for Huitzilopochtli, we are going to war. No body kills my child and go scot free, not even if they are the most feared beings in the entire Cosmos" said a man which eyes screams rage and the aura from him even affect the space around him to show how angry he was.

He just found out that his son, Tezcatlipoca, how could he not be angry? He adored this son of his for his wisdom and how knowledgeable he was and would have made him the God King of the Aztec Realm but he was too arrogant for his own good which would cloud his judgement when it comes to decision making, so he opted for his first son.

But now he was being told that his favourite son has been killed by some stranger called the Devil? How could he just sit by and let it be? He has to show that nobody can mess with him and go free. He will have to show this Devil that there is someone who is not afraid of their kind for he is the great Primal god of Life, Ometecuhtli.

"Father, I'm here"

Ometecuhtli was disturbed from his monologue by his son Huitzilopochtli, the god of war and the sun of the Aztec Realm.

"Oh, you are here. Good, you know your brother was sent to the Pangu Realm to meet someone called the Devil, correct?"

Huitzilopochtli frown when he heard the name of his brother and was a little glad when he found out that he was dead but he didn't let it show on his face.

He never liked that kid, always bragging and boasting about how nothing can be hidden from him and how smart and intelligent he was and never put anybody in his eyes because he was being highly regarded by his father and the rest of the God Kings .

He would have loved to even shake hands with the one who killed him but that's impossible so he has to pretend as if he was actually pained to lose his brother.

Getting no answer from Huitzilopochtli, Ometecuhtli continued "I know you and your brother have your differences but you must know that he is still your brother and since you are the strongest of your siblings, you must gather up our armies and prepare for war as I believe Ra would not sit by also, so we would be joining the people of Kemet to avenge your brother, do you understand?"

"Yes, father" Huitzilopochtli said before turning around and leaving his father and carry on his orders when also being happy in his heart that he has finally been freed from a thorn on his side.

Ometecuhtli just looked at the fading back of his son and sighed as he knew that Huitzilopochtli never liked his brother and they would never have gotten along even if he was still alive, so he didn't even bother and just let everything play out for itself but fate was too cruel to let that happen.

After sorting out everything, Ometecuhtli proceed to bury his son without his body which he would never forget.

Realm of Pangu

While all these were going on, the perpetrator of the all thing was just chilling in his bed with his woman with any regards of the consequence of his action.

Aphrodite on the other hand had something bothering her every time she thinks about it. She could not understand how Lucifer could alleviate a low level god to a Primal god and even go as far as creating a weapon that is way out of the ordinary and he did not even break a sweat.

She knew Lucifer to be strong and powerful but she believed that it was within the normal scope of things they could do as gods not to the extent of what he did.

What she didn't know and what the other gods of the Cosmos did not know is that Lucifer is far beyond what they could call normal and only he knew the limit of what he can do and he knows that the only limit is what Michael, his twin could do and Michael's limit is what he can do. They are the two halves of God, their Father.

Lucifer can create anything living with intelligence but not from nothing, he would need something like a material to be able to do that but non - living things are just like him making Tea in his last life whereas Michael has the power of Absolute Destruction and can destroy anything with just a mere glance and what he destroyed cannot be saved, recreated, resurrected and only the Father can counter it and also he can create anything out of nothing but cannot come to life and only Lucifer can willed it to life.

Aphrodite was not able to sleep that day not that she even needed one as she tried to comprehend the the mysteries surrounding Lucifer which she brings her to a dead end and makes her look dumb.

Of course, Lucifer knew what was going on in her mind but he did not bother to explain as she already knows what she can comprehend not something as complicated as what he can truly do.

The Next Day

In the dinning of the Devil's Peak, the three gods were all seated with some plates of food in front of them but the two goddess refused to dig in leaving Bor happy as he can have everything for himself.

Bor didn't even care about where he was and ate and drank everything that was on the table leaving the two goddess wondering if he was not afraid of there being poison in the foods.

"I can't believe that you would think of me poisoning your meals"

Everyone in the hall turned to see Lucifer walking in with Aphrodite besides him with a devilish smile on his face.

Bor immediately stood up and bowed to Lucifer until Lucifer told him to get up before he stood up and continued his meals.

The two goddess looked at each as if asking who should answer the Lucifer until Bast just decided to answer "ahem, it's not that we fear you poisoning the meals, it's just that we are not hungry. If you must know, we gods do not get hungry and only just eat for leisure and I don't take meals this early" She said hoping Lucifer would buy it.

Lucifer didn't say anything as he knew that even if they did not need for to survive, they were lying about the reason they refused to eat the meal he provided them, so he just walked up to his latest creation, the new Sky goddess and also will be the protector of the Devil's Peak.

"You shall be called Tiānkōng, for you are the embodiment of the Sky, you shall be the guardian goddess of the Devil's Peak" Lucifer said as he he also shared some of the powers of Tezcatlipoca as he found them interesting and it will be beneficial to his new guardian goddess.

"Now that we done here, Bor why don't you lead the way to the Norse Realm?"

Devil's Peak

"I don't understand why we are going on this stupid, whatever it is called with you. I want to go back home, to my family. You know that the longer you keep me here the greater your chances of going to war with my Realm, but if you let me go, I promise I will talk to my father to forget about going to war with you, I can broker peace between you two. So please let me go home"

Bast was busy ranting on how she did not want to go to the Norse Realm for the nafnfesti of the son of Bor.

(Nafnfesti - Vikings naming ceremony)

Meanwhile Amaterasu just kept silent as she sat at a corner watching Bast rant to Lucifer who apparently wasn't even paying attention to her and just closed his while whistling and waiting for Aphrodite who was getting ready for the occasion.

After ranting on and on for a long Time, Bast out of frustration took a statue standing close to the wall and threw it at Lucifer.

The statue flew through the air as it made its way towards Lucifer who was unbothered and still had his eyes closed.

Before the statue could even get closed to Lucifer, it was cut into two by the unsuspecting Bor who like Amaterasu remained silent throughout.

After making sure that nothing touched Lucifer, Bor pointed his blade at Bast "the lord fancies you, that's why you are alive right now" he said before going to sit at the corner minding his business once again.

Bast could swear she saw the way Lucifer looked at Bor after he said that and knew that if he had made any move or spoken beyond what he should have said then, there would be another god to die by his hands.

[Does he truly care about me? But he has never met me before or knows anything about me so how could I just catch his eyes in the first day we meet? There got to be something like how did he even know that I am supposed to be with Ptah? Does he really want me to be his woman, me and Amaterasu and he is not making any advances and just wants time to take it course?

Sigh, things are becoming complicated]

Bast fell into a contemplative mood as she questioned if truly Lucifer had a thing for her and Amaterasu and something she never thought that she would think about this early was if she should give him a chance to prove himself but she quickly discarded it and let time take it course.

After a while, Aphrodite walked out with no changes on her making Amaterasu raised a brow at her as she could find no changes whatsoever on her.

Before she could ask, Bast beat her to it "I don't see anything different about you which brings me to the question, what were you doing all these while inside and making us wait outside for you?" She asked Aphrodite.

Aphrodite smiled at the question but did nothing to answer it and just walked over to Lucifer and sat besides him.

Seeing the arrival of Aphrodite, Bor stood up and got ready for the command from Lucifer for him to take them to the Realm of Norse.

"Wait, before we go, are you not going to talk about us. We have a family, I have an inauguration ceremony coming up in a few weeks and I suppose to attend it but I can't because I would be with you.

And you all know that, that would make my father join arms with her father to go to war with you and I don't want that" said Amaterasu who do not want any bloodshed between her Realm and Lucifer as she was sure her Father might not survive given what she has seen Lucifer do throughout her stay here and honestly speaking, he is not that bad also.

Lucifer opened his eyes and stood up before he looked at Bast and Amaterasu "you both can leave after the nafnfesti of his son.

I never intend to keep you here anyway, it's just that you both seem to have never had fun in your entire lives and I wanted to give you a little bit of break from all that daddy stuffs but what I said about me having taken an interest to you two is true and I want you to remember that and I would not do anything to jeopardize my chances of being with you.

So if you feel like I am keeping you here against your will, be free to go back to your Realm, I won't stop you but I will not also stop my advances on you both"

Lucifer said as he waited for the two goddess to make their decision before he would give the go ahead to Bor.

After hearing what Lucifer said, Bast and Amaterasu were silent and became shut of words.

They knew what Lucifer said was true as during their stay here, he had never mistreated them in anyway instead he tried to make sure that they were satisfied but they were blinded by their image of him in their head picturing him as their captor, holding them against their will while he just wanted them to be happy for the moment.

Bast just kept her head down in embarrassment and just shook her head trying to convey to them that she is not going back to Kemet instead she was going to join them.

Amaterasu also joined making the Devil's mouth curve upward slightly.

Aphrodite just snorted at the women's sudden change of heart but glad that they finally had started thinking clearly.

Without further ado, Lucifer signalled Bor to take them to the Norse Realm.

After getting the confirmation, Bor raised his hands and face upward and wanted to shout something or call someone but he immediately felt that his voice was gone.

"What are you trying to do?"

Bor turned around to look at Lucifer who was the one to ask him the question and surprisingly he found out he could speak again "I was just trying to call the protector and watcher of the Aesir Domain to take us there" he said.

Lucifer looked at Bor with wide eyes when he remembered one of the movies his brother used to watch back in his past life something called Thor where they usually called someone to transport them to anywhere they want to go back and forth through something called Bifröst and he knew that if that were to happen, then his Palace would be destroyed and he can not let something like that happened.

He looked at Bor and pointed his fingers at him "you are trying to call Heimdall to take us with the Bifröst. Are you out of your mind, are you trying to destroy my home? You should know better than to do that, son of Buried. Now if you would please"

Lucifer said while changing the trajectory of his finger pointing at the door.

Bor scratched the back of his head when he realized what he was about to do and where he was. He didn't waste any more minutes as he quickly dashed outside trying to get out of the embarrassment and escaping from Lucifer as he completely forgot about Lucifer knowing most of their secrets.

The others also filled himself where they saw him do the same thing he did inside before Lucifer shut him up.

"HEIMDALL, TAKE US HOME"

Bor shouted as a beam of light engulfed them all taking them away from their location leaving behind a circular and complicated rune like drawings on the ground.

In the Heavenly Jade Palace

Shangdi who was in his room with Bixia saw the beam of light appear and disappeared which made him guess that Bor was gone since that's their way of transportation.

He relaxed after finding out that it was not a threat when he felt something, something that he immediately brought him back on his feet, the disappearance of Lucifer and his Woman, Aphrodite.

Not only him, even Nuwa felt it from her mountain.

They did not waste any more time as they all got dressed and immediately went to check on the Devil's Peak to make sure that he was gone.

The first to arrive was Nuwa who was surprised to see her son also on his way with his wife.

"Mother, you are also here" said Shangdi as he bowed to his mother slightly as a show of respect towards her.

Nuwa just glanced at her son while nodding. After that, she turned to the male servants at the base of the Mountain "is the Devil gone or is this all just temporary" she asked wanting to get some answers.

"He is just gone for a while, there is nothing to talk about there again"

Nuwa, Shangdi and Bixia turned around to see a woman walking down the stairs slowly.

Bixia furrowed her brow as she never knew any one like that since her birth in this realm, so she was naturally confused "and who are you?" She asked.

"How rude of me, I am Tiānkōng, the guardian of the Devil's Peak"

Domain Of Aesir

"Welcome to the Norse Realm and precisely the Domain of Aesir"

Bor introduced the group to his home with smiles on his face.

Before they could even revel in the awesomeness of the place, they heard someone shouting.

"LUCIFER, BROTHER, YOU ARE FINALLY HERE"

"LUCIFER, BROTHER, YOU ARE FINALLY HERE"

The group turned to see an extremely handsome man that can make all the Realms go to war for him.

His beauty is on par with only Lucifer who might even surpass him.

"Try to keep your charm at minimal, brother you might end up causing war between all the goddesses in the Realms" said Lucifer while looking at his brother who was still smiling like nothing matters to him other than seeing his brother again.

Bariel ignored the stares directed at him and hugged his brother whom he haven't seen in many years.

"Okay, get off, stop acting like a child, you are billion of years old and yet you still act like a kid. I wonder what Uriel would say when she sees you like this" said Lucifer while trying to get Bariel to come off him.

When Bariel heard the name Uriel being mentioned, his face changed for a brief seconds but quickly came back to normal.

Bariel released Lucifer from the hug and looked at him with a smile "you know I miss you the most, say, how has the years been on you, I never got to hear anything about you through the years while I've heard of what Moronuel and Satanael had been up to which is not surprising given who they are but I thought you would be the one to make the most impart but you proved me wrong and went AWOL.

How have you been big brother?" Said Bariel completely forgetting the people that came along with Lucifer.

Aphrodite looked at Bariel, the last of the Archangels siblings and also the one who adored Lucifer the most and another of the siblings, Uriel.

When Lucifer proposed the rebellion against their Father, he quickly agreed and tried to convince Uriel to join them in the rebellion but she refused but decided not to say anything about the rebellion to anyone and keep it to herself leaving him disheartened.

On the day of the rebellion, a broken hearted Bariel faced off against his beloved sister trying to get her to change sides at the last minute that Lucifer wouldn't mind but she refused making him inflicting a very deadly injury on her but he could not bring himself to end her so he left her with there lying in a puddle of blood.

"Hey, so Lucifer is the eldest, huh?" Said Bast to Aphrodite who picked up the last part of the sentence Bariel said which was calling Lucifer big brother.

Aphrodite turned to look at Bast surprised she was starting to show interest in the life of Lucifer "you know, when you accept to become his woman, then you will know all that you want to know, until then, you can find it out by yourself which will lead you to a dead end" said Aphrodite as she smiled at Bast who was already regretting asking her any question.

Of course Aphrodite isn't going to just give Bast the answer easily, she had to earn the right to know the truth about Lucifer including the silent one listening to their conversation.

Without wasting anymore time, Bariel and Bor lead the group to the Palace of the God King of Aesir.

During their trip there, Lucifer and Bariel had had small talks leading to Lucifer introducing the women to his brother.

Bariel turned to the beautiful Aphrodite who just minded her business "I see why my brother took fancy of you, you are truly exquisite and if Asmodeus was here then he would have done everything to get you to be his but too bad for him Lucifer got to you first. I am Bariel by the way" said Bariel as he introduced himself to Aphrodite while complimenting on her beauty.

"I know who you are, Lucifer has mentioned about you on some occasions, Bariel, one of the Lords of Hell" said Aphrodite who had a smug look on her face .

Bariel smirk while looking at Aphrodite who was feeling herself right now. After that, he turned to look at the other two women walking side by side and saw they they were as beautiful as Aphrodite but paled in comparison when it comes to the seductive aura Aphrodite exude as it could make any god fantasize about taking her to bed and have her for the night.

Bariel wondered what these two women were on that they rejected someone as Lucifer who even if Michael was considered his twin, he was inferior to Lucifer when it comes to their charms "I don't know how you were able to resist Lucifer but that was an impressive feat but that's just a waste of time as you would eventually fall for him, that's who he is, his pride would never let him let you go" said Bariel to the two goddess who started looking at Lucifer in another light.

It didn't take long before they got to the Palace where they saw Buri standing at the gate with another man and one kid. They are the children of Bor, Vili and Vé and the one that had the nafnfesti was with their mother which was not here. Vili was the oldest of them all, followed by Vé.

Vé ran and hugged his father when he saw him as it has been long since he last saw him.

"I see you are back in one piece which means you took our advice and you must be the Lord Lucifer, I've heard so much about you from Bariel here. I am Buri, the God King of the Aesir Domain and one of the Primal gods of the Norse Realm, I welcome you and your companions to my home and also to the nafnfesti of my grandson"

After Buri said that, he led them inside where they were a lot of extravagant meals lined up on a very long table with wines lined up the same way.

Lucifer wasn't surprised by this as he knew the Viking gods for being partyholic which would be why Bariel would stick around for so long as he was in his element.

While Lucifer was not surprised, the same could not be said about the women with him especially Aphrodite. Bast and Amaterasu had heard about the people of Aesir and how they party and also one of the most beautiful place in all the Realms to visit but they haven't gotten the chance to visit the place for them selves as they were very busy.

"Come brother, don't just stand there, these are all for you, I specially saw to it that they were to your liking" said Bariel beckoning Lucifer to the table.

A smirk formed on the face of Lucifer when he saw the delicacies on the table. Since he became the Devil, he hadn't eaten anything better as he only had fruits for as long as he can remember and now there is such a delicious meal prepared for him and because he also bears some of the powers of the sin of Bariel, he could not wait to dig in.

Without wasting anymore time, Lucifer sat down and started eating ignoring the people around him as he devoured a plate of food one after the other.

Amaterasu raised a brow as she never thought Lucifer, the one they all called the Devil would have such a side to him.

Even Aphrodite was slightly surprised but she did not know that Lucifer has been craving for something like this since the day he reincarnated to this world even though he could not get hungry, he still missed the taste of such delicious meal.

Bariel smirk when he saw his brother before he remembered that there was others who came with Lucifer, he turned to them "what are waiting for?"

Go ahead and join him, after that the nafnfesti ceremony will begin and I will tell you this, if you don't have anything to eat know then you will never get to have anything because the people of Aesir are very gluttonous" said Bariel to the three goddesses.

When they heard that, they did not waste any time as they do not want to miss the opportunity to even have a taste of the Aesir Special.

Bariel also joined in the fun alongside Bor, Buri and Vili while Vé went to his mother to tell her about the arrival of his father.

A few hours later

Lucifer and the others finished their mini party and await the main event of the day.

"After having a taste of these meals, I don't think I will be able to leave this realm without taking some of the cooks for myself, what do you think brother?" Said Lucifer who couldn't get enough of the meals.

Bariel also smiled and thought it was a nice idea but he turned to Buri if he would agree to it "what do you think?" He asked.

Buri thought for a while before he nodded "I will pick then for you when you are ready to go" he said before calling the servants to clean the table and prepare it for the nafnfesti.

"Lord Lucifer, I would like to have a word with you"

Lucifer, Bariel and Buri left the hall and went outside to have a private discussion.

When they arrived outside, Lucifer looked at Buri who called him and wait to see what he had to say.

Buri sighed and cleared his throat because he was about to say something that Lucifer might find offensive, he looked at him "I received a message from both the Kemet and Aztec Realm" he said before sighing once again, he removed his gaze from Lucifer as he gazed at the sky and continued "they are preparing for a war.

They are gathering allies from the other Realms not associated with you to go to war with you, The Devil for killing and abducting their children and they came to me to ally myself with them but obviously I rejected to help them, the same can't be said for Ymir.

Also from my recent findings, two Realms would not go to this war and they are the Hindu and Pangu Realm but I'm afraid that the other Realms would join in this war"

When Lucifer heard this, he did not have any change in his expression and just only looked at the beauty of the Aesir Realm and he have to say that he was impressed, they are truly an artistic people.

Noticing the indifference Lucifer showed when he was told about the upcoming war against him, Buri just shook his head as that was the reaction he was expecting from the brother of Bariel.

It wasn't a surprised to him that Lucifer would react this way, he has been with Bariel for so long to know that nothing seems to phase their kind and they view all the gods, even them, Primal gods as ants that do not pose a threat.

After a while, Lucifer turned to Buri "if that's what you have to say, then I guess we are done here, why don't we go attend the the nafnfesti, I would hate to miss the beginning of the event" said Lucifer turning around and making his way to the hall but was stopped by Buri.

"Actually, there is something I would like for you to help me with" said Buri while looking at Lucifer nervously, he sighed and continued "Ymir has been acting strangely recently, he is always quick to anger which was is normal to him but he has been getting physical lately, I heard from one of my associate there that, he is even thinking of having the entire Norse Realm for himself which we divided as we are not going to have each other rule the other and this is the only peaceful outcome but I don't think that's going to continue due to his recent ideology.

After looking at the situation, I have noticed that Ymir is not in his right state of mind but someone is pulling the strings somewhere, someone is telling him what to do because the Ymir that I know, is a man of his words and he will never take back what he says.

Whoever is making Ymir like this, I'm afraid I cannot face them as they might be too powerful for me to handle and maybe it has something to do with one of your siblings"

Buri hoped Lucifer and Bariel can maybe help him with this little problem of his as he has helped them.

"We can't help you on this one, this between you and that Ymir guy and if indeed, there was someone manipulating him behind the scenes, then I assure you that there is nothing to worry about as none of my siblings that are in your Cosmos would do that. Also if the person pulling the strings do eventually shows up and they are beyond what you can deal with, then I assure you that we will help you"

Bariel was the one to answer that as he believed Lucifer would also help given the recent kindness and loyalty they showed him.

Lucifer remembered something from one of the movies he used to watch with his younger brother about frost giants and Asgard, present day Aesir, having a long term war between them and also from the mythologies of the Norse culture where Odin and his two brothers slew Ymir the Primordial giant using him to create the world.

Maybe, all those events were a result of this, it might all have started with the corruption of Ymir.

Lucifer turned around and faced Buri "there is nothing that you can't handle, infant, your grandchildren might even take care of it for you" he said before finally walking away followed by Bariel.

Buri was left confused by what Lucifer said, what did he mean by his grandchildren might be the ones to handle it for him? He sighed and look at the direction of jotunheimr, the home of the Giants.

Back at the Hall

The gods of Aesir have all gathered to witness the naming of their young prince as they had ate and drank with laughter and smiles on their faces.

When there is a celebration like this, it is normal for one or two fools to act irrationally and provoke someone who they should not provoke and who would be better to provoke than the three new beautiful goddessess in their midst.

Aphrodite, Bast and Amaterasu were sitting at the place Bor kept for them while he went to check on on his wife and mother and get them to come down for the nafnfesti.

One of the Aesir gods who could not control himself when seeing beauties of such caliber approached them "hey beauties, I see you are not from the Aesir Domain nor from the Norse Realm, I am Vördrörirr, a local and well known god here, I can be your tour guide here in Aesir, that's if you want" said the god while looking at them lasciviously.

Aphrodite just looked at the god whose aura reeks of lust towards them and snorted at him for his poor attempt at trying to get them to his bed "you would have to try better than that if you want a dog on your bed" said Aphrodite who did not offend look at the pig a second time and just focused on the events.

The man's face contorted with rage, anger for being looked down and treated like a dog by a foreign goddess inside his own home. How dare her, he must show this young goddess that he is not to be trifled with, and not in his own realm.

Without wasting anytime, he raised his hands and aimed it at Aphrodite to strike her. His hands moved at an unnatural speed and straight at the face of Aphrodite but before he come land the slap, he found out that he had lost control over his hands, in fact, he could not even feel his own body.

"What do you think you are about to do?"

The man and the rest of the Aesir gods and goddess turned to see a man that could make both the men and women go crazy and behind was also another man of the same caliber but they were already familiar with him as he as been with them for a long time now.

"Who is he? Is he another one like Bariel?"

"How can a man be so handsome and beautiful at the same time. Hah, I just wished I could have him for myself"

"Even his angry face is so charming and intoxicating"

The goddesses's heads were just filled with immoral thoughts about Lucifer and did not even think about the atmosphere.

Meanwhile the men were dreading the fact that there is someone like Bariel in their midst. They haven't gotten eid of one but another one came.

If one Bariel is bad enough, then what about two Bariel? And from the looks of it, it seems Bariel respect this new fellow very much.

They just hope that they do not get on his bad side just as they had done with Bariel all these years.

Lucifer ignored all the stares and voices of the goddesses as he focused in the mab who was about to hit his own women.

"You dare try to hit my woman, have you no fear? For your insolent, your punishment is death and suffering in hell"

Lucifer said as he looked for Bor but did not find him anyway, so he decided to do it himself.

Lucifer willed his powers as the King of Hell as he ripped the soul of Vördrörirr from his body making his fleshy body fall on the ground.

He sent the soul of the man to Hell, to the region filled with Lava to be tormented for all of externality there with no way to escape his fate.

The other gods were stunted to see something like that and the way the new man effortlessly ended the life of one of their own.

"What are you all standing there like a statue, come on, we are here to party and party we shall, don't let such a small mishap ruin the mood" Bariel immediately said as the place has become so lifeless after the little charade just now.

"Are you alright" said Lucifer to Aphrodite while caressing her cheek.

Aphrodite smiled and nodded before saying "I'm fine, you made sure of that"

The other two goddess looked at Aphrodite and to say that they were not jealous, then they were lying, they want a life just like hers and now they are determined to get.

They both looked at Lucifer and wondered if he was going to do the same for them when they are his.

Aesir Domain

"Thank you everyone for coming to the nafnfesti of my third grandson. It is an honor to have you all here to celebrate this wondrous day with us. Once again, thank you"

The whole room was filled with the sound of clapping after Buri gave his little speech.

With that, the nafnfesti officially began.

Everyone present avoided the three goddesses and Lucifer with his brother, Bariel. They did not even dare to make eye contacts with them, they even went as far as to tell the ones arriving late to avoid them so as not to get on their bad side.

Bariel saw how even his long time drinking buddies were avoiding him because he was close to Lucifer, he sighed inwardly and shook his head "with this new development, I'm afraid I will have to come with you brother. I can't stay here anymore, they are afraid to even approach me after what just happened earlier" said Bariel while looking at Lucifer.

"Suit yourself and that idiot had it coming when he started making moves towards my women and worse the moment he dared raise his hands against them.

He should be thankful that I ended his torture quickly if it were other times, he would be the one begging me to end his pathetic life" said Lucifer while clenching his fist tightly as anytime he remembers the earlier event, he just feels resurrecting the fool and like ripping the life off of him again.

Bariel didn't say anything anymore and just took a sip of his drink as he could clearly see that Lucifer was still pissed by that stunt Vödrörirr pulled.

Bast and Amaterasu were looking at him in a whole other light and they felt something they never thought would happen to them in their lifetime, they felt their heart beat anytime they look at Lucifer and whenever he returns their gaze, it becomes intense.

Of course all of these were not hidden in the watchful eyes of the goddess of Love, Aphrodite who could smell the new scent of love oozing from Bast and Amaterasu.

So she made it her personal quest to help them come to term with their new feelings for Lucifer before it is too late but that's for later as today, they were here to just relax.

The ceremony continued with no other problem which made Bor and Buri sigh in relief. After a while, they called for the mother and the child to make their appearance to the people and to announce the name of the child.

A petite woman with a tall stature came with a child in her arms, she is Bestla, a frost giant, one of the descendants of Ymir.

The crowd cheered when the mother and child appeared in the hall as this is the first time they have seen the mother and child since when Bestla put to bed.

Bor took the child from her and faced the cheering crowd for them to see him clearly "this is my son, and I can never be anymore proud to be the father of such a cute little boy from the most beautiful woman in all of the Realms.

From the moment I held my boy, I knew he was going to be a fine warrior and he will one day lead the people of Aesir to glory and after pondering for a while, for a child like him, he deserves someone worthy to name him and there is no one other than the one and only Lord Lucifer who was gracious enough to attend this ceremony" said Bor smiling while looking at his son.

When the crowd heard who was naming the child, the entire hall became silent as they never expected something like this to happen, they thought it would be one of their own or even the God King but now they were hearing that a complete stranger who be the one naming the child.

They were furious, angered and felt indignant but they could not do anything about it as they saw or heard what the man did to one of them and he did not show any resistance when the man took his life.

Hearing the name of his brother, Bariel clapped for him when no one else did followed by Aphrodite and then Bast and Amaterasu also followed suit.

Lucifer walked to the stage amidst the gaze and glare he was receiving from the crowd. He did not care what they think or thought as he didn't even give a crap about their existence, to him they were just cannon fodder that he could end anything he lifts his fingers.

When he got to the stage, he took the child from Bor and looked at the child then he looked at the other children of Bor whose names are Vili and Vé and he knew that there was supposed to be an Odin amongst these children and seeing as there is no one answering that yet, he knew this child his Odin, so he decided to name it as such "this child will be called Odin.

Odin Borson, the son of Bor" he said leaving Bor and Buri surprised as that was exactly the name they had intended to name the child.

"Indeed he was destined to be called Odin" said Buri with a smile.

Before he handed the child back to Bor, Lucifer decided to gift the child something so as to make this day even memorable.

Odin was known to be a very wise king and has diverse knowledge about the Cosmos but that all came with a price, the price he was willingly ready to pay for wisdom, the price was one of his eyes so Lucifer wanted prevent that from happening not because he felt bad for him, no, it was that when he devoured Tezcatlipoca, he got a very useless divinity, that's to to him but a priceless treasure to all, the divinity of Knowledge and Wisdom and something that might satiate the thirst for knowledge in the live of Odin.

A white glow shrouded Odin which made all the people of Aesir to become alert and attack in case Lucifer was up to something as they believed that even if they can't face him one on one, it is a different story when they all attack him together.

But before they could do anything, Buri stopped them as he didn't sense any malicious and evil intention from Lucifer rather it might even be his gift for the child.

Lucifer was done, everything went back to normal. He handed the boy back to Bor "he is a nice lad, he might bring about a new age for your people" said Lucifer as he walked back to his people.

Bor took Odin back to his mother and stood besides her and his children.

"Ahem, Ahem, can I get everyone's attention, please?"

Everyone turned to look at Buri who was still on the stage and wondered what he has to say.

After getting everyone's attention, Buri smiled while looking at the beautiful face and handsome faces of his of his people before looking at his son and said "I have a very important announcement to make" he paused and saw how everyone was just listening attentively to him before he continued "after giving it much thought, I think it is high time I step down as the God King of the Aesir Domain and let my son, Bor step in.

I have been saying this for a long time now and I think this is the right time to take action, so from today onwards, I Buri, the Primal god of the Aesir Domain and Norse Realm, hereby renounce my title as the God King of the Aesir Domain and appoint my son, Bor Burison as the New God King"

Silence reign through the entire hall as they never expected this sudden news. They thought today was just the nafnfesti of the son of Bor but now it turned out to be also a transfer of ruler ship to Bor.

But amidst this surprise, they were happy as they all cheered for him after they came out of their shock.

With that, the ceremony went on normally and it spam for three days and three night and they were not even in the slightest bored from partying that long to show how the people of Aesir love to party.

Three Days Later

"So when am I going to see you two again?"

"Oh, don't tell me you are already missing us when we haven't even left yet"

Bast and Amaterasu were about to leave to their respective realms directly from Aesir using the Bifröst with Aphrodite seeing them off.

Aphrodite scoffed when Bast said that "you wish, I was just asking to know so that I can tell Lucifer when he ask or do you perhaps want him to waltz into your Realms to pick you by himself and we all know that there won't be anyone that can stop him and if there is even someone to stop him, you both would willingly follow him" she said knowing fully well that they have already fallen for Lucifer.

Amaterasu had a red shade on her face when she heard that "I will contact him after I tell my father that I will not be ascending the throne anymore" She said as she turned to Bast waiting for her answer.

Bast sighed when she thought of her situation which is already complicated on its own
"tell Lucifer to come get me"

With that, Heimdall activated the Bifröst sending Bast first before Amaterasu.

Haha ~ Haha ~ Haha ~ Haha ~ Haha

The sounds of laughter filled the entire throne hall of the God King of the Greco Realm.

The Titans all gathered together as they held a feast to celebrate the years Chronos has ruled them.

The Titans also known as the children of the Primal gods, Gaia and Ouranos alongside their children sat close to the God King, Chronos as they watch the lesser gods present gifts to Chronos who took what he likes and discards what he view as garbage.

Among these lesser gods, was an old man with white hairs and frail body.

With his frail and sickly mountain, he climbed up the mountain of Othrys shocking his onlookers as he was very determined to meet the God King today as times like these are rare.

Mt. Othrys, is where the God King resides and also the most scared places in the entirety of the Greco Realm where Only the Primal gods can visit anytime they like but other than them, anyone who trespasses into Othrys without prior notice or being summoned by the God King is as good as dead as soon as they are sighted.

So today when all the restrictions on the Mountain is lifted, everyone wants to come see what this places is all about and also pay their respect to their King.

After strenuous hours of climbing to the mount of Othrys, the frail old man finally got to the peak of the mountain where the Palace of the God king is.

He was directed to the palace by the guards where he could the Titans and their family looking at lesser gods like him with disdain which he did not mind as he believed that those with greater power gets to make the decisions or dictate your life.

He waited for his turn to speak face to face with the God King as they were so many lesser gods ahead of him who wanted the same thing.

After an hour of waiting, it finally got to his turn. He moved forward coming face to face with the God King who towered over him, he was like an ant in the presence of the man.

He came out of his daze and cleared his throat before he looking upward "greetings, great God King of the Greco Realm, my name is Haeus Arisis, one of your loyal subjects, it is an honour for me to be able to see you and step foot on your home. So to show my appreciation, I brought this special wine, specially made by the wood nymphs, it contains the essence of life blessed by the Mother Earth.

Costs me my entire fortune to be able to acquire this bottle so that my Lord could be able to have a sip of this legendary wine" the man said as he presented a bottle of wine to Chronos.

Chronos observed the frail man before him and the wine he came with but he found nothing suspicious and even felt the aura of his mother from the wine confirming the word of the man.

He took the wine from him and opened it, taking a little sniff from it. When he did that, he felt as if a whole new world has been opened to him, he felt very powerful, he felt full of life.

As he was intoxicated by this new feeling of power, he had a vision about his downfall, where he saw figures standing behind another man as they looked at bleeding to his death.

The man in the lead walked to him and bent to his level and said "you never saw this coming, did you father?"

Immediately the man said that, the vision was cancelled and he could not help but frown because he did not understand the vision as he had already gotten rid of his children, all of them.

Looking at the wine in his hands which made his powers go haywire, Chronos wanting to know more about what he saw and how to prevent it chugged down the entire bottle making him hold his stomach in pain.

Everyone, including the Titans, the lesser gods and also the frail man was surprised at the sudden action taken by Chronos.

"What did you give to him? Speak before I end your frail life"

Oceanus said as he appeared before the frail man with a sword made from water placed at his neck to stop him from doing anything stupid.

Haeus, the frail old man was terrified by the aura pressure of Oceanus on him that made him shriek back in fear almost costing his life if not for Rhea who stopped Oceanus from separating his head from his body.

"What do you think you are doing? Can't you see that it was Chronos who decided to chug down the drink on his one. He might have gotten greedy after sniffing the scent from the wine that he just did not want any of us to have and maybe he is just suffering from the side effect of taking a potent wine like that" she said as she held the frail man and tried to calm him down.

Oceanus backed down not without glaring at Haeus still not trusting him.

Before he could do anything to Haeus, everyone present heard a blurbing sound and turned to see Chronos vomiting a rock like the size of a new born baby making everyone even more surprised.

Before they could even register the scene before their eyes, they saw him throw up a fully grown man and after that, another one came and it continued until five fully grown adults were vomited out of Tue stomach of Chronos.

Nobody knew what was going on as they did not expect something like this.

Meanwhile the Titans were confused as to where the fully grown young gods came from and why were they vomited by Chronos until it dawn on them that they might be the children of Chronos whom he told them that he had gotten rid of as he did not want what they father said before his death to come to fulfillment but they didn't expect him to swallow them.

While everyone were confused, they did not see Rhea sneak up on the weakened Chronos.

"This is for all the years that you made me a mother but also robbed it from me"

She said as she stabbed him with dagger laced with poison given to her by her mother, Gaia, weakening him even further to give her and her children enough time to hide from him as they cannot go to the Island of Crete as that would be the first place he would search.

"Argh, Arrrggghhh"

The scream of Chronos drew everyone attention back at him where they saw Rhea stabbing him with a dagger.

Everyone was confused by the series of event going on one after the other. They were not even done digesting what happened previously but another one rises.

Haeus approached the disoriented adults that were just vomited out of the stomach of Chronos as he transformed into a very tall man like 8ft tall and muscular. His clear blue eyes that had arches of electricity dancing inside them.

He is Zeus, the last of the children of Chronos. He helped his siblings up "this is no time to be in daze, right now, we are in the enemy's territory, so we should get out of here very quickly" he said as they complied, using every last ounce of strength they could muster and started making their way out of the mountain.

But things did not go as plan as the other titans and their children blocked their escape route.

"Now what"

One of the female sibling asked her supposedly brother what's the way forward.

Zeus sighed when seeing this but good thing they had Metis and Themis on their side.

Out of nowhere, a burst of light shone causing the Titans to be momentarily dazed and giving Zeus and his siblings chance to escape.

"This way"

The siblings saw Metis with another Titan, one of the children of Themis, Epimetheus calling out to them.

Zeus and his siblings immediately went to them and together they made their way towards the edge of the mountain where Rhea, Themis, Mnemosyne, and Prometheus another child of Themis who caused that blinding explosion temporarily blinding the Titans making it easier for them to escape.

Seeing all her children together, Rhea could not be any more happy as she ran to hug her six children together crying as she has finally been reunited with them after so many years.

"Come on, sister, we don't have the all day, we have to move before they arrive" said Themis who didn't want to spoil the happy moment in her sister's life but now its not the time for it as they were still in enemy's territory.

Rhea released her children from her grasp and cleared her face "let's go"

"We are here"

In front of the group was a large tall mountain that had overbearing and imposing aura, a place fit for a king.

Metis brought the rebels which include her, Themis and her two sons, Prometheus and Epimetheus, Rhea, Mnemosyne, Zeus and his siblings.

This was the mountain she saw in one of her visions, a temporary base of operation and after the war, a new home for the Olympians, the Mt. Olympus.

Without wasting anymore time, Metis led them to the mountain.

At the peak of the mountain, stood a woman with a celestial appearance watching the new intruders that were trying to come to her mountain where she needed to rest.

"Now who are this bunch of wastrels again? I thought I got rid of the last badge but I guess I was wrong. But from the looks of things, this wastrels are better than the last ones, maybe they might be able to give me entertained for a while before getting rid of them completely"

The woman said while she raised her hands to the sky making to go dark.

The woman's shadow started getting larger and larger, covering over a big distance. From her shadows, demon like creatures of different species came out.

"Why don't you go greet our new guests? My little pets"

The woman gave out the command which made the demon like creatures roar as they charge to the base of the mountain.

"This better be fun"

The woman laugh so loudly that he sounded throughout the Island.

"oops, I hope she does not wake up"

The woman said before running away from there with her hands on her mouth.

Back at the base of the mountain

Metis sensed something was wrong the moment the sky darken and now they were hearing an ominous laughter coming from the peak. There is something really dangerous up there and she knew going further might cost them their lives but they have to get to that mountain so that they can begin making arrangements and come up with strategies on the upcoming war between Titans and the Olympians.

She never doubted for a second that they would not use this mountain as even know she could see the future and she herself standing on the peak overlooking the lesser gods on the base of the mountain.

So she could not back down now, not when she has come this far "everyone be careful, we might not be the only ones on this mountain" she warned the others before going on the defensive.

Mnemosyne knowing she won't be of any help if eventually a fight breaks out looked for the closest person to assist so that their chance of survival increase and that person happened to be Zeus.

They arrived at the mountain and was about to go up the mountain when some dark creatures attacked them from different angles but good thing they were on their guard after the warning from Metis.

Zeus channeling the already cloudy sky, he called upon terrifying lightening bolts which he used to rain attacks on the creatures, dwindling half their numbers.

His siblings weren't left out either, Poseidon, one of the brothers of Zeus called upon the water bodies flooding the creatures drowning them in the process. Hades using his control over the power of death effortlessly destroy the connection that made this soulless creatures have a hold on the living which happened to be a core located on their left chest where their heart used to be.

The three brothers effortlessly took care of this badge of dark creatures with the help from the others to show that they will be formidable team together.

"I pity Chronos, he does not know what is coming for him" said Themis who was watching Rhea whose face was full of smiles.

Mnemosyne also nodded but now is not the time to think about that right now. She might know who was attacking them and if her guess was right then maybe Chronos might have help coming from outside the realm which for them is not good as they don't even have what it takes currently to go against Chronos only.

"Hey, I don't know what that is but if my memory serves me right and we all know it does, then I have to tell you this that we have to get mother here as we might not be able to face who sent that creatures here" said Mnemosyne getting the attention of everyone.

Rhea frowned when she saw Mnemosyne like this which rarely happens as she is also a strategist and a very good one for that matter due to a very perfect memory and also how she has the power to manipulate the memories of others. She can implant false memories, remove any memory and do whatever she wants as long as it has something to do with memories.

She even went as far as manipulating Chronos into thinking he had a vision immediately he drank the wine Zeus gave to him which contains Emetic, that's why Gaia and her did everything to get her on their side and now she might know something that might help them through this current situation with these dark creatures "what is it, sister?" She asked while approaching her.

Mnemosyne sighed and looked at the peak of the mountain "I think we facing Lord Shiva, the God king of the Hindu Realm. He is the only one who can make these dark creatures, he calls it demons and they never back down until they have achieve whatever their master ask of them making them an extremely and annoying pests to fight with" she said.

When Themis and Rhea heard her, that's when they recalled an event many years ago where Lord Shiva visited their Realm and had an altercation with their father, that's when he let loose these demons annoying their father greatly.

It has been many years that they have even forgotten about it but Mnemosyne still remembers which is a testament to her perfect memory.

"This is not go, we have to get mother here, there is no way we can be able to face a Primal god on our own, talk less of someone like Lord Shiva" Themis said.

Rhea nodded as she closed her eyes and felt the wind around her, the earth beneath her, the waves singing in the seas and every living creatures living in the Realm as she tried to connect to her mother, the goddess of Earth, Nature and the Primal goddess of the Realm.

This is the advantage someone who has the Mother Gaia as their birth mother, you can always contact anywhere you are no matter the distance between you two as she is the air you breath, the earth you walk on, the water you drink and the fire that keeps you warm. She is ever presence.

It didn't take long for Rhea to call out to her mother who immediately responded "she is on her way, but she says we should continue our journey as there is no way Lord Shiva will attack us as that would be demeaning himself and as for his demons, they are just small fries, we can handle" Rhea said as she looked at the peak of the mountain before looking at her family and allies.

They all nodded their heads before making their way up the mountain while looking around them for sneak attacks which reduced their speed to the peak as they have to watch their backs and not in an haste to face Lord Shiva.

At the Peak of the Mountain

The woman saw how her new guests managed to defeat her pets she sent their way and nodded as she can be entertained for a few days before they are out of stamina.

"Sigh, when will she wake up, I am getting bored here, I bet those bastards are out there having fun whilst I am here making sure her lazy ass sleeps uninterrupted. Sigh, I don't blame her, I was the one who asked for her help anyway and now I have to face the consequence but why can't she just go back to hell, nobody will disturb her there"

The woman complained bitterly but she can't do anything right now and just resign to her fate.

But she had new toys, I mean guests to play with and get rid of her boredom.

The woman watched Zeus and his companions fight their way through her pets as she calls them so easily to the point that she felt so bored and wanted to release her stronger pets but she restrained herself as that would create so noise that would disturb her sister and she is not ready to face an angry Coriel.

"Maybe I should go myself. No, that would be demeaning of me and Lucifer would call it bullying the weak which I hate so much.

But from another angle, I am just trying to have some fun and not picking up a fight with them, just stretching my old bones and maybe copy most of their powers for myself" the woman said but before she could go to see her guests, she felt an even more powerful individual coming her way "interesting, forget it, I am just going to face off this newcomer and it won't be called bullying as she is also strong like that guy from before"