

I'm The Devil

Chapter 41: The New Occupants Of Mt. Olympus

When Gaia got the message that her children might be facing the Primal God king of the Hindu Realm, Lord Shiva. She immediately left her domain and made haste to the Mountain without even thinking.

She flew at her highest speed and hoped that her children took her advice and not engage with that guy.

She knew how dangerous Shiva was, he is Primal god and a God king, which even boast his powers further.

Not to mention his annoying little demons that he uses in his fights making everyone steer clear of him.

"What does he even want. I thought he left for his domain after they brought him here to meet Adamantheia for a cure to his injuries he received in fighting a sibling of Lucifer. And I don't remember Chronos making arrangements with him, so why is he still here and also attacking my children?"

She asked herself as she wondered what Shiva wants that made him stay behind secretly but this isn't the time to be a detective as she has other priorities, the survival of her children.

After a while, the view of Mt. Olympus appeared in her line of sight. She saw the darken sky and knew that truly, Shiva was here and this is going to be a very tough battle.

"SHIVA, SHOW YOURSELF"

When she arrived at the mountain, Gaia used her divine voice and called out to Shiva.

"What the heck lady, why are you so noisy? My sister is trying to sleep here and who the hell is this Shiva you speak of?"

A sweet feminine voice sounded through the mountains making the dark creatures battling the young gods and the titans to an halt giving them a breather.

Gaia eyes opened widely as she did not expect what just happened. She thought she was going to face Shiva but she did not know that she was about to face something or someone more dangerous than Shiva.

Who appeared in front of her was none other than a winged creature, with a celestial appearance that would even put Aphrodite to shame and the only one she knew would have features such as these should be the Archangels Lucifer speaks of, his siblings.

"Who are you? I know you are one of Lucifer's siblings but not your name" said Gaia wanting to know who this is and maybe avoid any clash between them and come to an agreement.

The woman frowned when she heard the name Lucifer "how did you know my brother and if he is here somewhere, why hasn't he come to us yet?" She said as she did not understand how her brother did not even come say hi to his sisters when he was in the same realm as them.

They were supposed to look out for each other as they were the fallen ones, the castaways and the others would not even bat their eyes their way because they were disgraces so she could understand why he did that.

Gaia saw that the Archangel before was getting sad and angry at the same time "hey, Lucifer is no longer here, it has been so long since he left but I promise you that he would be here soon, so you will get to meet him but right now I need to know who you are so that I might send him a message telling you are here while in the meantime can you let my family reside in this mountain, they are currently in a bit of a situation and I can't be seen with them right now, so I ask them to come here but then you happened so I had to come here immediately but seeing as we have a mutual friend, I hope you could grant them a stay here until everything is sorted out" said Gaia trying to see if she could convince the woman before her.

"You can call me Amiel and as for your family" the woman who turned out to be Amiel, turned to look at Zeus and his companions who was also looking at them from below "I can let them stay but they should not go to the palace situated at the edge of the Peak of the mountain, that's where my sister resides and she does not like when one disturbs her rest and this stay, how long are we talking about"

"Ten years, just ten years and after that we will be out of your hair"

The one to reply was Metis who knew that the Titanomachy was going to be a ten year old battle and it's going to be a fierce one.

Speaking of the Mountain, she knew that this was going to become their new home even after the war so she was not bothered about where they would go after the battle even if she says that they were going to get out of the Mountain after the war.

"Hmm, I can do with that, you are welcomed to the Mountain but remember, you must not go to the palace I mentioned before if you do not want to keep your life that's it" she said to Zeus and his companions before turning to Gaia "and you, tell my brother that I'm here and I will love to see him. Coriel has been killing me lately with boredom"

After she said that, she recalled her pets and left to her own palace far away from Coriel's.

Gaia flew down to her family as she could see the relief in their eyes after they got pass this hurdle "you all have gone through some much this past few hours, you deserve some rest" she said as she created some palaces for all the gods and Titans present here "you can use that for the meantime and take some rest before you begin the next phase of your plan, you hear me?" She said the last part to Zeus who nodded and went to choose a palace for himself.

She looked at her other grandchildren and smiled at them "Chronos will be bedridden for a few days, you can use that period to get to know them and tell them their names before the real war begins, Rhea" she said to Rhea because as soon as the war starts, there won't be time for them to get closer anymore so now is the right time to get to know her children better.

With that, Gaia left them as she went back to her domain coming up with cures for Chronos while also buying time for Rhea.

That's the burden of Gaia, trying to make sure all her children come out of this alive even if it means offending the other.

After Gaia left, the others also went to their respective palace to rest for the day as they were tired from the craziness the day had to offer.

Meanwhile at the Palace situated at the edge of the Peak of the mountain, Coriel who was asleep on this while opened her eyes when she felt the presence of other beings at the mountain.

She frowned as she was certain this place was empty when her sister and her came here few weeks ago and knowing Amiel, she would not let anyone reside in the mountain with them and on top of that without asking her so they must have some kind of connection to her but that's also where there was a problem.

This was the first time Amiel has come to this particular Realm so she says and there is no way that she would have a friends here ruling out the fact that they were here for her.

Which leaves her with the only reasonable hypothesis, that the people on the mountain has something to do with her other brothers. Now the question is which of the brothers.

"Satanael? No, she would throw them out the moment she knows that they have something to do with him. Moronuel? No, she would might even kill them just to spite him after his recent stunt with that guy.

Asmodeus, no, that bastard would not have anything to do with men and Bariel, he would have come with them so that leaves Lucifer and she would not want to mess with him, that's why she let them stay without him even being present"

Coriel immediately figured out why Amiel did not ask her of her opinion before letting others on the mountain where she was resting.

She sighed as she too would not want to anger Lucifer but she needed her peace and she can't go back to Hell after just coming here without even seeing Bariel first.

"Well, I guess I have been too cooped up in this place, I should go take some air and maybe get to know the new tenets"

Coriel stood up and yawn loudly while stretching to get rid of her ever present sleepiness.

After a few minutes, she walked out and inhaled the sweet fresh air the outside world had to offer.

"HEY, THAT PLACE IS OFF LIMIT"

Chapter 42: Rhea Tells The Archangels

"I'm sorry, I didn't know that you were the one there and I lash at at you without even thinking, please forgive me"

"It's okay, I would have done the same if I were in your shoe, so you can get up now. All I want to know is where is my brother?" Said Coriel to Epimetheus who yell at her recently after seeing her in the off limit area imposed on them by Amiel.

Fearing to face the wrath of Amiel this soon, just after stepping on the mountain, he did not even think twice and just yell at her.

His shouting alerted the others including Amiel who immediately appeared besides her sister and wondered what she was even doing outside given how much she loves her sleep over anything else.

After figuring who she was, Themis immediately had her son go down on his knees and beg Coriel to forgive him for the disrespect.

That was what led to the current side now.

"Lucifer is not in the Realm currently and we don't know where he is but I might be able to get you someone who may know something" said Rhea while thinking about a little kid who came to Crete a few months back and calling the name of Lucifer and fruit which Adamantheia surprisingly understood.

After the kid was given the fruit, she immediately transformed into a giant flaming bird known as the Phoenix after getting a bite of the fruit.

When she transformed back into a human, she no longer had the appearance of a little kid anymore but that of mature busty woman in a late twenties and radiating with hotness.

She could even speak more properly after her transformation and introduced herself to be Feng Huang, a celestial pet of the Devil, Lucifer Morningstar but disclose nothing of his location.

She even went as far as guarding the tree which Lucifer made Adamantheia planted saying that this is also her master's and she does not trust anyone other than herself to protect it as even she herself only said two words and they let her have a fruit from the tree, so imagine she was someone else and was not associated with Lucifer, they would have just given someone else such power.

Rhea had a bitter smile when remembering that day as she has never seen Adamantheia so angry like that day.

Coriel shook her head "forget it, if it requires anything like leaving this mountain, then I will just have to wait until he comes himself" said Coriel as she was too lazy to be going anywhere and would very much just stay on the island rather.

Amiel laughed out loud knowing how lazy her sister was and would not even move an inch from her resting place if not because of the new guests that's will be going to stay with them on the mountain for a while.

Amiel looked at the people in front of her and found out that they were not complete as expected as the others must have gone to rest due to their strenuous journey "you lots can go get some rest also, I can see the tiredness on all of your faces" she said before she and Coriel walk off leaving them there on their own.

After the two Archangels left, Themis glared at her son, Epimetheus for being so foolish that he had almost gotten himself killed.

If not that the two Archangels were friendly and welcoming, his head would have been rolling on the ground right now and there is nothing that can be done about it since they are not strong enough to do something about it.

"You, go to your palace, I don't think I can stand you right now"

Themis said as she was holding herself from punching him unconscious.

Epimetheus didn't want to make his mother even angrier as he knew that she was only looking out for him and was afraid something would have happened to him earlier that's why he obediently walked to one of the palace his grandmother made for them.

The others also went to their respective palace and decided to call it a day.

The Next Day

Amiel gathered all the new gods and the Titans so that she could know their reason for hiding here and in the process relieve her boredom but what surprised her was that Coriel was also present which was unbecoming of her.

Amiel looked at her sister weirdly [I wonder how long she is going to sleep after this. Probably a billion years] said Amiel in her heart as she could not understand what her sister was up to.

She is weirdly invested in this particular group of people even to the extent of sacrificing her sleeping time just to be here with them.

Has she seen something that she has failed to see? Or does this have something to do with Lucifer but Amiel was known for not pleasing anymore, not even their Father as she believes there are better things worth doing rather than flattering someone which at the end of the day might not even look at your face.

Seeing as she is not going anywhere with her detective skills, she decided to just shove the matter to the back of her head and hope time would tell what her sister is up to and focus on what brought her here "so what is your story? Why are you on the run? And why are you preparing for some war?" Asked Amiel who just asked all the question without even letting her entertainers even answer one.

This made Coriel slap her forehead and sighed "you should let them answer one question before throwing the other one, sister" she told Amiel who just looked at her as if she did not know what she just did.

Coriel sighed once again when looking at her sister's oblivious act before she turned to Rhea "so what my sister is trying to say right now is, what happened to you to make to flee here"

Since Amiel would not admit what she did, she decided to take matters into her hands and became the questionnaire.

Feeling the gaze directed at her, Rhea knew that she was the one being asked, so she straightened herself and cleared her throat "it all started after my husband, Chronos and some of my brothers joined hands together to take down my father, Ouranos on the behest of my mother for having her children cast to Tartarus just because of their deformity.

With the help of my mother, Gaia, Chronos and my brothers were able to take down my father but my father believed Chronos to be the perpetrator of the whole rebellion against him, so my father with his dying breath cursed Chronos to also have the same fate such as him, making Chronos paranoid and had to swallow all his children everything I bore one"

When Amiel and Coriel heard that, they frowned as what that Chronos guy did was too extreme, how can a father even have the heart to swallow his own children just because of some stupid curse of a dying man.

Even their Father did not kill or destroy them when they rebelled and only threw them to Hell and from what they have known about their father from the many years with him, might have even know that they were going to rebel against him even before he created them, yet he still went ahead and made them because he knew that he is going to come out on top as his authority can never be shaken not by the likes of them.

And here someone who was so strong and has an aspect of the cosmos as his divinity still was foolish enough to not to know how powerful he was to be threatened by his children but because of his greed, his judgement became clouded and the only thing he could think of was just to get rid of his own blood so that they cannot pose any threat to him or his throne.

After that, They went back to listening to the story of Rhea while thinking of ways to make Chronos suffer and wondered what would have happened if their Father was like this Chronos.

"After the fifth child, I could not let him have his way anymore so with the help of my mother, friend and Lucifer, we his my sixth child, Zeus here in the island and was trained there so that one day he may be strong enough to face his father, the same thing he so dreaded to even get rid of his own bloods.

With meticulous planning, Zeus with the help of Metis and Mnemosyne finally got closed to Chronos and fed him the wine laced with Emetic provided by my mother, Gaia which caused him to vomit all of his swallowed siblings" said Rhea finalizing her story while looking at her six children with smiles on her face.

Coriel felt bad for Rhea as she can never imagine a mother without their child for even a day and yet this woman before her had to be separated from her children immediately they were born just because of an insecure man..

The air around them grew chilly as Coriel couldn't hold her anger anymore "I will make sure you have our full support when the war begins, a man like that should not even be allowed to see the next day" Coriel said surprising everyone seated and the one even more surprised was Amiel as all she could only think of right now was if her sister was possessed.

Chapter 43: Planning To Break Into Tartarus

It has been a week now since Rhea, her sisters, her niece and nephews and her children arrived at Mt. Olympus and during the course of that week, Rhea and her children have bonded and she gets to name them.

She named her eldest daughter and firstborn, Hestia, her second born, Hades, the third, Demeter, the fourth, Hera and the fifth, Poseidon.

The six siblings also became closer with Zeus telling them about his early life and how it was his mission to usurp their father, Chronos to which they all agreed.

Now today, the three boys of Rhea, Zeus, Hades and Poseidon are about to venture into Tartarus, the domain of the Thanatos and two Primordial gods, Nyx and Erebus to rescue the Hekatonkheires and the Cyclopes and in the process, send a message to Chronos.

"You have to know that Tartarus is under the watchful eyes of Thanatos and the Primal gods, Nyx and Erebus.

Now the Primal gods won't interfere even if you kill their son but I will advise you against that, you don't want to go down that route, so you must make sure you have the upper hand against Thanatos by using the element of surprise and take him out of the equation, for example, immobilize him, then the rest will be easy for you all" Metis, the master strategist of the Olympians said as she laid out her plans to the brothers who are venturing into a very dangerous place.

"Wait, so you are saying that they can't get rid of that Thanatos guy in fear of his parents but the guy can kill them?" said Amiel who looked at Metis who nodded at her to answer her question "that's bullshit, I say if he tries to kill you, fight back with the intent to also kill, what's the worse that can happen?"

Amiel didn't like the idea of not killing someone who would try to kill them as an ideal plan, she did not care of any consequence whatsoever.

Rhea sighed when Amiel said that, they were not from here that's why she was saying that, so she decided to explain the situation to Amiel "while Erebus and Nyx won't do anything even if their son was killed because they will deem him as weak especially Erebus but that's not the same for Nyx, she would use that as an excuse to keep one of them back at Tartarus, to rule in the stead of her son and there is no way any of them are going to reject her offer as that meant death.

She does not take no for an answer because she won't leave Tartarus without a ruler" she said to Amiel who still didn't get why they should not kill Thanatos, so if it is someone who could replace him then let them replace him.

"You still don't get it.

Many believed that our father, Ouranos was the one who made Tartarus but the truth is, Tartarus is not just a prison but the first and most precious child of Nyx, Tartarus is more than a prison, even Thanatos does not know that because Nyx would not let him know and the only way we know all these was because our mother told us when she came to us to help her, Tartarus is a place for damned souls, a place for the dead.

It is is not somewhere someone would want to stay, even the current ruler, Thanatos wants to get out of that damn place but he can't because he is fearful of his mother's wrath and nobody wants to get on her bad side not even her consort, Erebus and not even my mother.

Nyx is the personification of night, the first Primordial goddess to be ever born, she is feared among all the realms, she is that powerful and there has been no one who I can say managed to stand against Nyx and made it out in one piece.

So if they kill Thanatos, then someone is going to take his place, she made Tartarus and she made the god of death, so killing the current god of death means becoming one and I don't think anyone would be willing to become one and stay in that hell"

Mnemosyne explained to the two Archangels making them understand why nobody would want to offend Nyx or try to kill Thanatos so as to avoid the fate awaiting them.

Coriel didn't even listen to Mnemosyne said when she heard that Nyx was the personification of the night.

She knew that there was something drawing her to this particular group of people but she did not know about that until now.

What drew her to them was this being Nyx and she is going to find out what's so special about her and what is their connection to her.

"Why don't I go with them, I can help deal with this Nyx lady and they can do whatever they want in that Tartarus place" Coriel said looking for a way to go to Tartarus and meet up with Nyx.

Rhea, Themis and Mnemosyne looked at each other and were at lost for words, even Amiel was surprised by what her sister just said.

"Hey, what did you do to my sister?

She would never volunteer for something like this and would rather much sleep" Amiel said while bringing her face close to Coriel trying to figure out if her sister was possessed or has a split personality, but the way Coriel looked at her, sent chills down her spines making her back away "yeah, you are Coriel, I get it, so please stop looking at me like that anymore"

The Titaness and the new gods were all dumbfounded when they say how fearful Amiel is of Coriel making them believe that even among the Archangels, there are some who are stronger than the others.

Rhea and Zeus even wondered if Lucifer was even stronger than this Coriel given the way Amiel ask for Lucifer to come meet up with them.

"We can work with that, I can even hold off Thanatos on my own while the rest of you can free the Hekatonkheires and the Cyclopes" Hades said bringing the others attention back to their meeting.

"Okay, I will also go with them" said Amiel getting a side eye from Coriel "what? Didn't you hear that they have two Primordial gods residing there and you want to face off against one of them and obviously the other one would not just sit by and let you do whatever you like which would put the odds against you, so I'm coming to even that odd"

Amiel said gaining approval from the others but Coriel shook her head "you can't and I believe I can handle two children" Coriel said shocking everybody.

A Primordial god is a child in front her, then what are they, ants. Even Lucifer was not like this making them believe that Coriel might be stronger than Lucifer.

Amiel just stood up and walked out of the gathering not because she was angry but because she knew that she can never change Coriel's mind, so why waste her time when she could use it for something else.

Zeus looked at the back of Amiel as she was walking away, his eyes filled with lust and he dreamed of having her as his own but he was quickly brought out of his dreamscape by

Hera who tapped him on his shoulder while glaring at him for spacing out when they were in an important meeting.

Coriel saw all these and sighed "you should not have any foolish thought about her, given your nature, you would die if you ever make any advances on her" said Coriel to Zeus trying to save him from digging his own grave.

Everyone knows that Amiel is an envious person and would never share what's hers with someone else talk more of a man she is in a relationship with who still has other women, that was something she would not only so instead of letting him make his advances and eventually have Amiel fall for him while he is still chasing other women iring the wrath of Amiel, she should just stop him right now.

Hearing what Coriel just said, everyone's attention were drawn to Zeus who just smiled awkwardly from embarrassment.

Rhea even went as far as smacking him on his head as she has warned him time without numbers to control himself especially in the presence of the Archangels but he did not listen and now one of them knew that he was checking out the other one.

Rhea apologized for his behavior and promised to talk some sense into her some.

Coriel waved her hands "that's not necessary, what is very important now is for your sons to get ready, we have a prison to break" she said as she stood up and left to also get prepared.

Chapter 44: Tartarus

"This is the entrance to Tartarus?"

Poseidon asked Zeus who held the map of Tartarus since he is the only one who knows his way around here and grew up outside of his father's stomach and in the Realm.

Zeus looked at the entrance in front of him and the map in his hands and nodded "yes, the moment we pass through that portal, we are inside Tartarus, so we have to proceed with caution" he said while looking at his companions.

"You lots should proceed with caution because whatever happens inside, I will not interfere unless, it involves the Primordial, Nyx, since she is the reason why I am here" said Coriel who was lying with her eyes closed on a flying cloud she made for the journey.

Hades, Zeus and Poseidon just nodded before looking at one another and walked inside the shimmering red portal leading to the place of the damned souls, Tartarus.

As soon as they went in, their vision changed as they felt a chilling sensation in the air as if someone is watching them them as soon as they just arrived.

"She is watching, I can feel her gaze upon us"

Coriel said as she opened her eyes and looked below her as if looking at someone who was also looking back at her.

In the very Depth of Tartarus

A woman with a long flowing black hair and black eyes as dark as the night could be seen looking upward when she felt the presence of three new gods and a very powerful being who also knew of her spying on them.

She is Nyx, the first Primordial being and the goddess of the night, the mother of Thanatos, the god of death and Tartarus, the place of the damned souls.

"I wonder what they are doing here. Well, I just have to wait and see"

She said as she focused her gaze on the intruders on her turf.

Back to Coriel and the three brothers

Zeus looked at the map in his hands "this way, we can avoid some of Thanatos's minions if we go this way" he said as he pointed at the path to their left.

With that they navigate the hellish place called Tartarus, evading the minions and lesser gods there as they made their way to the prisoned Hekatonkheires and the Cyclopes without alerting Thanatos.

Coriel on the other was just surprised to see that the place have some similarities with Hell. The cold and eerie atmosphere and the smell of brimstone, it just seem like Nyx took inspiration directly from Hell when creating Tartarus which should be impossible since she was never there.

Coriel couldn't wait anymore for Nyx to show herself, she needs answers and so she was going to get her answers her way.

"Hey, you lots continue without me, I want to have a talk with this Nyx person" said Coriel who immediately dissipated the flying cloud on which she laid and willed her wings to come as she flew away without even waiting for the brothers to say something.

"Sigh, why are they always like that, they just say whatever they want and do whatever they like without even considering the other party, not that they would even take anything we say either" said Zeus who also knew Lucifer to be like this sometimes.

He will do whatever he likes without even asking if the other party I'd okay with it or not, as far as the end result is beneficial to his cause, he does not give a damn about it.

Now, Coriel is also doing the same thing and ruining their plan "we are on our own here, so we have to tread even more carefully" said Zeus to his older brothers.

With that, the trio continued their journey without Coriel.

After a long time of walking and avoiding the minions in Tartarus, the trio finally arrived in the prison area where they came face to face with Thanatos and his minions waiting for them.

"I knew it, it was damn to easy, since we arrived" said Poseidon as she glared at Thanatos for playing them.

Thanatos ignored the glare and all the different kinds of look thrown at him as he looked at the trio with a smile "I knew the moment I heard that one of the children of Chronos has managed to make a move against their father sparking a war between them.

So I began thinking what someone without any political power or forces behind him would manage to fend off against a God King and that's when it hit me, you were never alone, you had someone to help you, your mother, Rhea, the two missing Titaness, Themis and Mnemosyne, and the wise and famous Metis, daughter to the right hand man of the God King and most especially, the Primordial goddess of the Earth, Gaia, they were the one who helped you and is still helping you because they were the one who would give you the information about the Hekatonkheires and the Cyclopes, the damned children of the last God King Ouranos and Gaia" said Thanatos.

"So since you know who is helping us and what we are here for, why don't you just let us do what we are here for and just leave, nobody needs to get hurt and everybody wins" said Hades hoping that Thanatos would refuse and engage them in a fight and let them get rid of him.

The moment he heard about someone like Thanatos, he did not like the guy, he did not know why but inside him, he feels like there can be no two same people under the sky and one of them must go.

Thanatos shook his head when he heard what Hades said, he too did not like Hades as he sees him as a threat to his reign and life and wanted to get rid of him, so the only option he has left is to fight them and in the process get rid of him.

"I would have loved to but I won't, you see, you are not the only with a Primordial goddess behind them, as a matter of fact, I have two, so I will have to decline your offer. So the only way for you to get to your Hekatonkheires and the Cyclopes uncles, is over my dead body"

Thanatos said as he brought out his weapon made by the Hekatonkheires and the Cyclopes imprisoned here.

Since he found out that they were good blacksmiths, he did not have the desire to release them ever again even if the Primordial goddess of Earth were to ask herself not to talk of some third generation gods who know nothing about life.

"I'm guessing they were the ones who made that for you. If there is a rank for weapons, I'm pretty sure that would be a god rank tier weapon, I can see why you would not give them away but we are going to take them with us, even if it means offending a Primordial goddess"

Zeus said as his eyes were filled with sparkling blue lightning. Lightning also danced around his body as he raised his fist accepting the challenge of Thanatos.

"No, leave him for me, you guys can handle the lesser gods and the minions, I will handle him"

Hades said, his eyes turning into a darker shade of black as his aura changed giving him a dreadful vibe. He brought out two sets of daggers given to him by Gaia to boost his powers even further as she knew that he might be facing the god of Death, Thanatos given his affinity to the domain of Death.

"Oh, I see why I dislike you, you are a new god of Death and there can be only one of in this Realm and I would very much be that person" said Thanatos as he rushed at Hades.

"Me too"

Hades said as he also moved to meet Thanatos head on.

Zeus and Poseidon faced the lesser gods together with their minions giving their brother's battle with Thanatos no interruptions.

At the Depths of Tartarus

"Hah, so the fighting has began and a new god of Death is also here, hahahaha, this sis going to be interesting. I wonder where the other one is"

Nyx said while watching the ongoing battle after she took her eyes off it as she made sure that Erebus do not interfere the affairs of the children.

While she was so fixated in watching the unfolding battle, she did not know when someone intruded in her private area.

Coriel just arrived as she also heard the sound of the trio engaging with Thanatos but she did not pay that any heed as she was not here for that but for something else, and that something is in front of her.

"I thought they say you are the strongest of you lots out here but I guess was wrong. So Nyx, the Primal goddess of the Night, what's so special about you that draws me to you"

Chapter 45: Coriel And Nyx

"I thought they say you are the strongest of you lots out here but I guess was wrong. So Nyx, the Primal goddess of the Night, what's so special about you that draws me to you"

Hearing someone else's voice in her domain that does to not belong to Erebus or any of her children, Nyx was shocked since she did not even feel the presence of the person until they spoke.

She turned around to see the woman who was with the three brothers in front of her devoid of any emotions on her face.

She found her to be weirdly familiar but she knew that she has never seen her before nor have any encounter with her and given the way she speaks and act, she is not from her Realm, maybe even the Cosmos, she must be one of those strangers that her fellow Primal gods were talking about.

"Are you one of the strangers from another Cosmos?" Asked Nyx who do not want to engage in any form of battle without knowing who she was going to face.

Yes, she was the strongest and most powerful Primordial but she also knows how to pick her battles and her instincts are telling her to run and never engage her in a battle.

Coriel raised a brow at her because this is not what she was expecting from Nyx "I thought you would have attacked me by now given I intruded into your domain but I thought wrong.

So let me introduce myself, you have earned at least that, my name is Coriel, one of the Arch Demons/Archangels and Lord of Hell, the Sin of Sloth and I am here because I felt something drawing me to you and I have come to find out what it is. Can you help figure out what that is?" Said Coriel as she appeared in the face of Nyx who just stare wide eyed at her.

The woman before her was so otherworldly beautiful even to the extent of making her look ugly in her presence.

The purple hair, the purple pupils each compliments one another adding to her true beauty.

But what truly caught her eyes is the pure black Raven wings that was on her back.

It was as black as the darkest of nights and the abyss or something even she the personification of the night would not compare to, the sea of Chaos.

Chaos, something outside the Cosmos, a place where no one would dare to venture into because how terrifying it is which made them unable to leave their Cosmos as they are surrounded by a sea of Chaos ready to eat them alive the moment they step into it.

But one day she tried to see what was inside this sea of Chaos and decided leave her Cosmos. The moment she stepped out of the Cosmos into the sea of Chaos, she felt a terrifying presence inside as if beckoning her to come to them but she immediately turned around but was engulfed by a terrifying darkness which made her lose her consciousness.

Later she woke up inside her home without any recollection of how she got there in the first place and then she found this weird pendant clutched tightly in her hands, another mysteries she is trying to solve till this very day.

But after that incident, she felt herself become even more powerful than when she ever was making her the most powerful Primordial and a force to be reckoned with in the entire Cosmos but no body knew what she suffered from every waking second of the day, the trauma of venturing into the sea of Chaos scared her for the rest of her life.

And today, she felt that same feeling from Coriel the moment she saw that wings making her afraid.

Coriel could see the way Nyx was sweating buckets the moment her wings appeared wondering if one of her siblings has met her and did something terrible to her scarring her for life.

She immediately put away her wings and looked at Nyx in the eyes before she felt a presence, an aura she thought she would never come in contact with again, the aura of her Father. No, that was not his, this is someone else's, if her Father's aura was like a calming sea, then this one was like a raging ocean, like it was out to destroy everything that stands in her way.

She traced the presence and saw the source of that aura, it was from the Pendant Nyx wore around her neck.

"Where did you get that from?" Asked Coriel as she ran her hands around the Pendant.

"Outside the Cosmos, in the sea of Chaos, I don't know how but I found it on me after I woke up from falling unconscious in there"

Nyx said after calming down and saw that Coriel was also interested in the Pendant. Maybe with her help, she might find out what really opened to her in there and get rid of her trauma and having her old life back.

Coriel frowned when looking at the Pendant as she could feel that something or someone's consciousness is clearly hidden in the Pendant and they are the one calling out her, drawing her towards them the moment Zeus and his companions stepped forth on Mt. Olympus.

"I will be holding on unto this" Coriel said as she took the Pendant from Nyx and turn around to leave since she has gotten what she came here for, she see no reason to hang around anymore.

"Wait, I just can't let you take what's mine, I either come with you or you stay here with me, either way I am not letting my eyes off that thing, I need to know what happened to me in there, so what do you say?" Said Nyx without taking her eyes off from the Pendant.

Coriel sighed when she saw how stubborn Nyx turned out to be without even knowing what she was dealing with, even she herself just wanted to take the Pendant and give it to Lucifer to help her figure out how this Pendant is linked to them and their Father because she was still getting that same vibe she gets anytime she was in the presence of her Father.

Coriel put away the Pendant "if you want to come, then suit years yourself but the moment you step out of line, I will snuff you out and have either Bariel or Lucifer have you for breakfast" she said as she turned around to leave followed by Nyx who was having goosebumps when she heard she was going to be dinners to two people if she did not stay in line.

[I'm being threatened, damn it, this is a first but as soon as I get out I want I will be out of her hair. I won't be looked down upon by her anymore]

With that, Nyx joined Coriel as they made their way out of the depths of Tartarus.

Back to the trios

Clang~Clang~Clang

Thanatos and Hades were exchanging blows after blows with Thanatos coming out on top as he was the better and more experienced fighter than Hades who was in his father's stomach all his life.

But Hades did not give up and still continued his exchange with Thanatos even when he knew he was not getting the upper hand but with every passing second of their altercation, he knew he was getting better and with time he would have the upper hand against Thanatos.

Thanatos also knew this that's why he wanted to end this fight with a decisive blow but Hades would not let him have the chance.

"For a new god, you are really annoying" cried Thanatos as he was getting frustrated with Hades.

Hades didn't answer and dodged the attack coming his way.

Zeus and Poseidon were also having some difficulties as they are outnumbered but they are having it pretty well compared to Hades who was facing a second generation god.

Hades bent low when Thanatos threw a large blast of deadly energy ball towards him destroying what was behind him.

Hades with a burst of speed rushed at Thanatos who has let his guard down after he launched his last attack and stabbed him in his torso before getting away from him.

"For an old god, you are easily predictable" said Hades who smiled as he saw the injuring he inflicted on Thanatos getting bigger and deeper, one of the effects of the dagger.

"What is that dagger you have there?" Cried Thanatos as he could feel the pain from his injury getting intense with every passing second.

Without answering Hades disappeared from the sight of Thanatos and appeared behind him but he underestimated the god of death if he thought a small injury like that would weakened him and cloud his sense of reasoning.

The moment Hades appeared, Thanatos also turned around and held him by his neck bringing him down to the ground really hard creating a crater underneath him.

"I don't know what that blade of yours is but when I'm done with you, I will have it for myself" he said as he raised his scythe high and aimed for his neck.

Zeus and Poseidon seeing this wanted to move to help their brother but was blocked by the lesser gods making them unable to advance.

"This is what you get for underestimating me"

Thanatos said as he brought down his Scythe at a speed in which lesser gods could not follow as it moved to rip the life of Hades.

Chapter 46: God Of Death

"This is what you get for underestimating me"

As the Scythe was about to cut through the neck of Hades, a large chain from nowhere hit the Scythe making Thanatos lose the grip he had on it.

"Who dares?" Said a furious Thanatos who turned around to see who was bold enough to disrupt him.

Hades used this opportunity to get away from Thanatos and created a considerable distance from him.

Another large chain came from one of the cells straight at Thanatos who dodged it but know he knew who was attacking him.

"Oh I see, helping your nephews know, isn't it? But too bad for you, you are imprisoned and cannot help they"

Thanatos said as he looked at the cell where the Hekatonkheires and the Cyclopes are imprisoned.

Nobody answered him instead more chains were thrown from the cell as they lunged straight at Thanatos who was now having a hard time evading them due to his ever expanding injury and the never ending chains lunged at him.

Hades on the other hand saw this as the perfect opportunity to strike as Thanatos is occupied and distracted and he won't pay much focus on him.

He took the Scythe, the weapon of the god of death and disappeared into the shadows, waiting for the right moment to strike.

"You relentless fools, give it up right now or else when I have dealt with your nephews, I will make sure I torture you for all eternity"

Knowing that he is getting weakened as the time passes, Thanatos shouted at the Hekatonkheires and the Cyclopes threatening them but it did not have any effect instead, his attackers increased their games.

As if the chains were not enough, the Hekatonkheires and the Cyclopes started destroying their cells, collecting the large stones that fell from it and threw it at Thanatos making the go almost run mad in anger.

"You will not live to torture them"

A chill voice entered the ears of Thanatos who immediately turned around but he was too late as Hades has already used the Scythe to server him into two parts ending the current god of Death.

Panting heavily, Hades feel to the ground and let go of the Scythe, he used almost all of his strength to wield that weapon and enchanted it to be able to kill a god like Thanatos with one swing.

The Hekatonkheires and the Cyclopes retracted their chains back and stopped throwing the stones after the death of Thanatos.

A black crystal like rock left the mutilated body of Thanatos and flew towards the weakened Hades lifting him into the air as he absorbed it granting him the control and power of the god of Death and of Tartarus.

His aura changed as it became strong and potent after becoming the new god of Death, the Scythe on the floor also flew into his hands, the lesser gods also stopped attacking Zeus and Poseidon and bowed to Hades after feeling the potent aura of Death coming from him.

The Entire Tartarus shook as if announcing its new ruler.

After a while, everything subsided and Hades opened his eyes as he landed on his two feet, he felt powerful and full of strength, the Scythe that gave made him used most of his strength to wield feels like a kitchen knife to him, he felt a connection to Tartarus and saw that it also has a consciousness of its own.

He then looked at the Mutilated body of Thanatos, and spoke one word "arise"

As soon as he said that, a large shadow engulfed the body of Thanatos and after sometime, a large creature with three heads that shares one body appeared in their sight.

It has the body of a dog and the three heads were also that of a dog, it is so large that it might even towered a Titan. It has black skin and reddish orange eyes.

The three heads all lowered their heads at Hades who was confused as to what happened, he thought he was going to raise Thanatos as his death servant, he did not expect to have an entirely new creature, but he didn't mind as he could still see that it was so powerful just like the old god.

"I shall call you Cerberus, the sentry of Tartarus" Hades said to the three headed large dog who wag his tail at him liking its name.

Zeus and Poseidon walked to their brother congratulating him on his new ascension to a god of a domain. Now among the three of them, only Poseidon is left without a domain for him to preside as he has Oceanus to contend with, if he wants to the god of the oceans and seas but with the upcoming war, it will only be a matter of time before he became one.

"Now, let's go release the Hekatonkheires and the Cyclopes, that's why we are here in the first place"

Said Zeus as the three brothers went to the cell of the Hekatonkheires and the Cyclopes only to see why they were locked up.

They were truly hideous but Hades did not think so as, he thinks they were unique in their own way while Zeus and Poseidon did not let their disgust show on their face as they needed their help.

The Hekatonkheires are three creatures with hundred hands and fifty heads as their name implied, they are Cottus, Briareus and Gyes.

The Cyclopes are a one eyed being as their name implies, they are masters of blacksmith and are physically very strong just like their Titan siblings and Hekatonkheires siblings. They are Argos, Steropes and Brontes.

The brothers released them and brought them out of their cells.

The Hekatonkheires and the Cyclopes were happy to be able to finally leave that hole that they were locked in for almost their lives by their father for something that they did not have control over, anger flashed past their eyes as they swore to confront their father the moment they leave Tartarus.

They turned to their saviours and bowed to them as a show of gratitude.

"Thank you for what you did for us, we will forever be in your debt but first, who are you?" Said Brontes, one of the Cyclopes as they did not know anything of the outside world since they were trapped here.

"You did not know us but yet you helped him, that's something someone in their right mind would normally not do" said Poseidon as it was a common knowledge that even he picked up after he was released from his father's stomach.

This is a world where people only look out for themselves as they don't know who was going to back stab them anytime.

What if they were fighting Thanatos so that they could have the chance to kill them and Thanatos was trying to protect but yet they helped them, that's how they would have ended up dead.

One of the Hekatonkheires, Briareus looked at the three brothers and saw that they have a resemblance to Ouranos and also have a kind of connection to him "you have a connection to our father and that god called you our nephews, now I don't know what that word means but what I do know is that we are connected somehow and given that we are still alive, I say you were here to release us from our bounds.

We might have been imprisoned for all our lives but we are not fools not to notice details such as this boy" he said as he looked into Poseidon's eyes.

"Okay, that's enough, we are not here to have a friendly banter or released you just to have a fight with you, we freed you because we want something from you"

Zeus said as he explained everything to the Hekatonkheires and the Cyclopes from the moment where Gaia used the help of Chronos and his siblings to overthrow Ouranos and killed him and how he caused Chronos with his dying breath making him paranoid and even after becoming the God king, he still didn't feel at rest.

Zeus then narrated how Chronos swallowed his children after they were born in fear of the curse coming to pass and how Rhea couldn't take it anymore, so with the help of Gaia, she took her last child to her friend in an island to hide and prepare him for his confrontation with his father.

He went ahead and told them how he got his siblings out of his father's stomach and the events that led them to Tartarus which is to ask for their help in dealing with the Titans.

"Hmm, if mother was the one who asked you to come, then I see no reason to refuse to help you but we can't just trust you blindly, what if after we help you, you won't have us thrown in here again?"

Argos, one of Cyclopes said as he won't just trust the words of this New gods, given the way their family had a way of not keeping to their words.

"You have my word as the New god of Death and the Ruler of Tartarus, that you won't be sent here anymore as prisoners"

Hades said as he exercise his powers and control over Tartarus as he destroyed the previous cells of the Hekatonkheires and the Cyclopes.

"Then you have yourself a deal"

Chapter 47: What's Coriel Up To

Realm of Shinto

Lucifer, Bariel and Aphrodite just arrived back at Shinto and was about to go inside the Devil's Palace when Tiānkōng ran out to welcome him.

"Greetings master, welcome back from your travels" she bowed her head along with the other servants and after that, she raised her head and brought out a letter and handed it to Lucifer "this letter was delivered by a lesser god from the Greco Realm, said it is from the Primal goddess, Gaia" she said after giving him the letter.

Lucifer took the letter from Tiānkōng "you can go now, I will send for you when I need your assistance" he said and with that, Tiānkōng left them along with the servants "I wonder what made her write to me this early"

"There is only one way to find out, why don't you open it brother?" Said Bariel as he was wondering who this Gaia could be and what is her relationship with his brother.

"You are right, brother" said Lucifer as he opened the letter.

Lucifer, I am writing to inform you that the war between Zeus and his father is about to start but you told me not to inform very early and only when the war has fully started but something came up and I had to write, you see, two of your sisters that go by the name, Coriel and Amiel are here in the Greco Realm and they had already arrived in Mt.

Olympus long before we arrived and had to make a deal with Amiel, the one present at the time before they could stay there, and now I have heard that Coriel has also made dealings with Nyx, someone who is feared in the entire Cosmos, I don't know what is going on but we require your presence here, you are the only one who can deal with all of these. Gaia

Lucifer sighed after reading the content of the letter and turned to look at Bariel "I thought you said Coriel was still in Hell, so what the hell is she doing here and interacting with the people here?" He asked as he was told by Bariel that Coriel remained in Hell after they all left and now he just found out that she was not there and from the looks of it she has made a friend for herself " and I thought she was the lazy one"

Lucifer said as he walked into the Devil's Palace as he thought of what to do next.

Meanwhile Bariel on the other hand took the letter Lucifer threw away and read the content of it with a shocked look "I thought she was suppose to be the lazy one. How did she have the time to be making friends? She should be sleeping" said Bariel as he passed the letter to Aphrodite who was looking at him confuse.

After reading the letter, Aphrodite threw it away and looked at Bariel "isn't Bariel supposed to be the sleeping beauty? I thought you said she was in Hell, so what is she doing here?" She also asked what everybody was asking.

The reason why everybody was like this is because Coriel, a Arch Demon/Archangels and the sin of sloth was always lazy even before she became the lord of sloth and never bothered to do anything in Heaven rather than sleep and sleep which made the other Archangels and Angels alike complain about her to their Father but he did not and just turned a deaf ear to them.

But this did not go well with Coriel as she feels that the murmuring and the gossips flying around Heaven is disturbing her precious resting time so, she always devise a plan to get all the Angels talking behind her back to stop and what she did was something nobody should ever speak of and that's when everyone knew to never mess with her again.

So when Lucifer proposed the idea of rebelling against their Father, she accepted knowing that they were not going to succeed and their Father would not destroy them rather send them away, cast them to another plane so that she can have her quiet time and just as she expected, it happened and she along the rebel Archangels were cast down to Hell where she was even given a sin that compliments her nature.

She told Bariel all these who in turn told Lucifer who already knew from the memories of his predecessor that Coriel is someone that is always hundred of steps ahead of her friends and foes alike, she is unpredictable and that's why he kept her by his side all this time.

But now she was here and he did not know about it and worst of it all, she is now friends with Nyx who was also another thorn in the ass.

But he is Lucifer Morningstar, the Devil, and he knew that Coriel is not vying for his title but something that has to do with Nyx and he would very much like to know what that is which means it is time he goes back to the Realm of Greco and catch up with his sisters.

"Get ready, we are going back to the Greco Realm"

Lucifer said as his voice traveled to the ears of Bariel and Aphrodite who were outside and thinking about what Coriel was up to.

"Well, I guess we are going to find our answer soon" said Bariel to Aphrodite as he walked inside and picked a room for himself and kept some of his souvenirs from the Domain of Aesir before coming out to see that Lucifer and Aphrodite together with Tiānkōng waiting for him.

"Let's go" Bariel said as he walked to them and they were all teleported out of Pangu Realm.

The Heavenly Jade Palace

"Huh, that was fast, I thought he was going to stay a little longer before he leaves" said Shangdi who sat on his throne currently in a meeting with his court when he felt the presence of Lucifer disappeared not long after he arrived.

"Anything the problem, Emperor Shangdi?" one of the Court officials asked when he saw him zone out for a bit while they were having a meeting.

Shangdi came to his senses and smiled "no, there's nothing to worry about, what were you saying earlier?" He said before thinking in his heart [I guess something urgent came up for him to leave immediately, I wonder what that is and I hope it keeps him there for long]

"The God King Ra has asked us to join him and the Realm of Celtic as they march against the Devil" the Court official from before said drawing Shangdi's attention back to the room.

"No, we are not going to join them, I don't want more problems than the one we can handle and if they ask the reason, tell them we have a crisis of our own to deal with" said Shangdi while thinking of the beings coming from the Dark Domain, a place hidden from his eyes.

The beings from the Dark Domain has been spying on them for years and has form their own system taken from his own and now they want to have a say in his Court but he can't let them in as he did not know what their agenda is.

"Yes, Emperor"

Realm Of Greco

After the successful of rescue of the Hekatonkheires and the Cyclopes, the entire Greco Realm has been in turmoil as the God King has turned everywhere upside down just to look for where his children has been hiding and get rid of them before they become a problem.

"Have you found them yet?" Sitting on his throne he asked Oceanus who was in charge of everything concerning finding his children and also his daughter, Metis.

Oceanus took a deep breath and sighed "we have searched everywhere and we always end up with nothing, I don't think they are even in the Realm anymore. Have you asked mother? She should be able to help" said Oceanus.

Chronos snorted when he was asked about his mother "I think mother has no intention of helping us, she has forsaken me and she has every right to since I didn't hold up my own end of the deal and now my children has done what she always wanted, it would be no surprise that she has even began helping them" Chronos said without even looking at his brothers.

Hyperion, Coeus and Iapetus were also here with him, they were also racking their brains together to figure out where the hell is their sisters and Iapetus's children, Prometheus and Epimetheus who supposedly choose to follow their mother to rebel.

Coeus as if having an idea on where they might be raised his head and looked at Chronos "for all of our searches, we have always overlooked one particular place because of welcoming they are but what if that's where they are hiding and there is more to the place than meets the eyes, what if we are seeing just what they want us to see and we fell of their trap and you all know where I am talking about" said Coeus as he smiled triumphantly.

Chronos interest was piqued as he also thought of that place and he remembered that Rhea also has a friend there that goes by the name Adamantheia.

"You mean the Island of Crete"

Chapter 48: Back to The Greco Realm

Island of Crete

"We are being surrounded by the god King and his brothers together with their forces and we are just going to sit here like it's nothing? They are attacking us for crying out loud"

Cynosura, the Nymph who was so against trusting Lucifer which didn't fair well for her said as she looked at Adamantheia who was just as calm as a calm ocean.

It has been almost an hour now since Chronos, the god King arrived on the entrance of the island and demand they out Rhea and his children or tell them where they can be found if they were not here or else he would raze their island to the ground.

But Adamantheia didn't even say anything and just sat on her throne as she created a projection of what was going on outside watching as Chronos and his brothers try to break the impenetrable shield that surrounded the island thanks to the tree that was planted here long ago.

Adamantheia looked at Cynosura and sighed, she just like to complain about little things and it is getting on her nerve "will just shut up for once? Don't you know that a shield was erected the moment that tree matured and nobody can pass through that shield unless I allow it and nothing can destroy that shield as long as it stands.

So I see no reason to panicked, instead they should be, they are going disturb her with their noise and we would see what would happen to them" she said while thinking of a certain Phoenix woman who was meditating at the forbidden area of the Island, where the tree is planted.

"But what if the truly impenetrable shield was destroyed, what are we going to do then? Wait for our death" said Cynosura who would not her hope on some stupid shield.

Adamantheia sighed once again as she knew Cynosura was a lost cause and there is nothing she can do about it until she sees it for herself.

Outside the Island

Chronos could be seen floating in the air as he stares down at the Island.

He was furious that someone under his rule dares to challenge him. It is like he has now become a joke to everyone recently and nobody takes him seriously and it all started because of that stupid son of his, he should have killed them all the moment they were born, now they all pain in his ass, including his mother and wife.

But he would not let them have their way, he is Chronos, the god King of the Greco Realm and nobody, not even his mother can end his reign.

"We have not been able to even leave a scratch on that invisible shield, instead it seems to be getting stronger and stronger every time we rain attacks on it brother, I think we should just give it up and find other ways to get to them" said Oceanus who could see that this is all a fruitless endeavor and a waste of their time.

"I highly doubt that, I don't believe that, that shield can not be destroyed, maybe we are not just hitting it with enough power or there is something we are overlooking, like a weak point in the shield" said Coeus who also came to the side of Chronos.

Oceanus looked at Coeus and knew what the bastard was up to, trying to win Chronos's trust and later use it against him and this is what Chronos would like to hear at times like this because he just wants to look for his children and get it over with. So he would listen to what is going to help him achieve that easily even if it is a lost cause.

Chronos looked between Coeus and Oceanus "Coeus is right, we are not just hitting the right places and with enough power" he said as he looked at Oceanus "tell those lesser gods to stand aside, the titans are going to take it from here"

Oceanus nodded his head and turn around not without giving Coeus a side eye.

He went and gave the command of the god King to the lesser gods and titans, their offsprings.

Without any delays, the Titans all went to work, punching with their fists, throwing energy blasts of different elements all in other to destroy the shield but even with the combined effort of the Titans, they were still unable to destroy the shield.

Chronos was not willing to give up, so he turned to Iapetus "where is your son, Atlas, bring him here, he should be able to get rid of this pesky shield" he said.

Iapetus and Oceanus both had their eyes opened wide, what is going on with Chronos, does he not know that Atlas has been forbidden from ever coming close to him by Themis after she found out of his infidel with his mother, Clymene.

Chronos was expecting Iapetus to be on his way right now but he was still here which made him frown and remembered what Themis did "if you are already about what Themis did so that you cannot see your son again, then I have to remind you that she is not here with us and I have already taken care of it, so nothing would happen to your son, so go get him" said Chronos as he watched Iapetus leave.

Oceanus couldn't take the madness anymore and just left Chronos to his own devices since nothing he says was even getting into his heads anymore, so he is of no use here.

Chronos didn't stop him and just let him go, all he had on his mind is how to break that shield and go into that Island and strangle that woman, Adamantheia and raze her island to the ground.

In the forbidden area of the island, a woman with a red hair and a strand of black as if it was on fire opened her eyes as she gazed beyond the walls and saw what was happening outside. She frowned and stood up and walked out of the room which houses a huge tree.

When she got out, she didn't even speak to anyone and just walked to where Adamantheia was but paused when she saw her and transformed into her Phoenix form and flew away from the island.

The Titans and the lesser gods were terrified when they saw a giant bird caught on fire coming there way.

"BRACE YOURSELVES" shouted Chronos as he raised a shield around himself.

But what happened next left them speechless as the bird did not attack them but flew right pass them and headed in another direction.

Adamantheia on the other hand was confused as she knew that Feng Huang was coming to ask her what was going on but suddenly transformed and flew away.

"Let me just deal with Chronos for now before I think about that stupid and arrogant bird" said Adamantheia as she flew to the other side of the shield facing Chronos.

"Why don't you come outside and talk to me? Why are you hiding behind your shield and acting all tough? Come out and FACE ME, Adamantheia, I will give you a painless death after I get the information I want from you, I assure that"

Chronos said furiously while looking at the face of Adamantheia who still appeared calm even in a situation like this.

"I'm not here to listen to your threats, I'm actually here to give you a warning, leave here while you still can because once she comes back from wherever she went to, I assure you that you are going to meet your doom and another piece of advice, this island is under the protection of Lucifer Morningstar and you don't want to get on his bad side, I assure you that"

Adamantheia said before she turned around and left Chronos who was clenching his fist in anger.

Even a mere Nymph is talking to him this way, is that how he has been looked down upon.

"HOW DARE YOU"

He shouted at the top of his lungs making the lands quake, the air became violent and the oceans and the seas went into rage telling everyone in the Greco Realm that the god King is very, Very Mad.

"Calm Down, we have to leave right now, we don't want to mess with the Devil, brother" said Hyperion.

Before Coeus could persuade Chronos to not listen to Hyperion, he got the I dare you look from Oceanus making him take a step back.

Chronos reluctantly left with his forces and sent someone to tell Iapetus to forget about getting Atlas as they could not get anything from here anymore and he was now sure that, Rhea and his children are not here.

Meanwhile, Adamantheia saw all of these and smiled "knew he will fall for it"

Mt. Olympus

Four figures appeared on Mt. Olympus and looked around and found out that it was weirdly quiet.

They are Lucifer, Aphrodite, Bariel and Tiānkōng.

Lucifer closed his eyes as he felt the life force of people on the mountain.

"I guess we came to a deserted part of the mountain"

Lucifer said as he led them to where the others were when he felt a presence flying at their direction with extreme speed.

"She came really fast"

As Lucifer said this, the group saw a giant burning bird appeared in the sky and slowed down as it got closed to them.

The bird transformed to human and landed when she finally got closed to Lucifer with her head bowed "welcome, Master"

Chapter 49: Amiel Meets The Girls

100 years ago

"I would like to know why I was disturbed from my sleep, sister"

Amiel turned to see Coriel beside her with a frown on her face hinting at how she did not like he w she was disturbed.

Amiel smiled sheepishly as she pointed at the hordes of dark creatures rushing at them "I'm sorry but I kinda need your help with them. I don't know why they keep coming at me even when I destroyed them over and over again" she said as she readied herself for the next confrontation with those pesky dark creatures that refuse to just let her be.

Coriel sighed when she saw this "and you choose to call out every other choices you have" said Coriel before snapping her fingers and all the incoming creatures fell unconscious, then she turned to look at Amiel "also don't you know that there is someone sending these creatures to attack and all you have to do is locate the person doing this and get rid of them and your problem would be solved"

After she said that she turned around and wanted to leave when Amiel heard her hands "why are you trying to leave, since you are here, why don't you see to the end of it? Come on it will be fun, you and me, together fighting a bad guy, how many people could say that?" Amiel said while smiling at Coriel who did not fall for her nonsense.

Amiel also did not give and still persuaded Coriel for a long time even went as far as making a deal with her so that she can stay back and join her.

After much begging and persuasion, Coriel finally relented "fine but you owe me one after this" said Coriel as she looked at Amiel who was all smiles.

Amiel nodded before cracking her knuckles and traced where the dark creatures might be coming from through their energy signature and found out that it was not that far from where they currently are.

"Gotcha, let's see how you can be able to his now" said Amiel as she made her way to the location followed by Coriel who has already created a cloud on which she sat on.

Meanwhile in a location not far from Coriel and Amiel, a blue skinned man sat with his legs crossed together.

He opened his eyes as he sensed that he has been discovered. He quickly stood up and summoned countless dark creatures and surround him.

"I wonder how she found me this quickly, but I do not need to panic, together with my demon army, I should be able to deal with her" he said as he also brought out his weapon and got ready.

It didn't take long for Coriel and Amiel to arrive and saw the man surrounded by the dark creatures from earlier but this ones appeared to be stronger than the last.

"Hey, blue skinned man, how do you want to die? I promise I will grant you exactly what you wish and I can also make it more grand as a bonus for attacking me without any reason using your pesky creatures for that matter" said Amiel.

Even though she seem funny when saying that, the blue skinned man and Coriel could see the trace of anger in her eyes showing that she was clearly annoyed by the man.

"What is your name?" Coriel asked.

"Shiva, and I don't plan on dying today nor any other time" said the blur skinned man who turned out to be Shiva, the primal god King of the Hindu Realm.

Amiel did not understand why Coriel asked the blue skinned man his name nor did she care, all she wants is to get rid of him and be done with.

Without wasting anymore time, she released an energy blast that destroyed all the dark creatures with exception of Shiva who anticipated the attack and created a shield around himself.

But even with the shield, Shiva was not without injuries to show how serious Amiel is to destroying him.

Amiel smiled when she saw that the blue skinned man survived her attack "you are quite resilient, I wonder how long you will last" she said as she released yet another blast at him.

Seeing the energy blast coming his way, Shiva quickly summoned his demons to use as cannon fodders and buy him time to prepare a attack of his own.

Coriel did not want to interfere but she told Amiel she would help so she has to do so. So she restricted the movement of Shiva after he summoned his dark creatures to prevent him from leaving making him take the energy blast head on.

"Cough, cough"

Shiva coughed out a mouthful of blood after being on the receiving side of that blast [I never thought there would be two of them, and the second is very proficient in hiding her presence which makes it hard for me to detect her.

This is going to be a problem, I should call for backup, I can't handle the two of them alone] Shiva said in his heart as he used his mind link he has with his brothers and asked for help.

"Tsk, tsk, tsk, you and this your puppets, don't you have anything else other than to summon them but I have to say, I envy your ability to summon this dark creatures, they do come quite handy sometimes but not in your hands, which is why, I will be taking it for myself" said Amiel with a craze smile on her face as she appeared before Shiva and dug her nails into his chest as she absorb his divine power to summon those dark creatures and also robbing him of ever creating those dark creatures again in the process.

"Argh, Arrrggghhh"

Shiva cried out in pain as he was being stripped of something he was created with, something that was within his very soul and should not have been possible to be separated from him but someone is doing just that to him and it was extremely painful.

His cries filled the void which to Amiel was a pleasing sound and a tune to dance to.

After a while, she was finally done, she felt a new found power within her and instantly knew how to use it, she smiled as she looked at the broken down body of Shiva that was floating right in front of her "now that's the state I want you to be" she said as she condensed a ball of pure demonic energy into a ball and pointed it at Shiva "you picked a wrong day and a very pissful way to mess with me"

And with that, she sent released the ball of demonic energy at Shiva who was defenseless and too worn out to do anything.

But to the surprise of both Coriel and Amiel, the attack did not get to Shiva like intended but disintegrated into thin air before it could get to him.

"Sorry, sister, I have use for him and I cannot let him die just yet"

The two sisters heard a familiar voice from above them, they both raised their heads to see Moronuel, the greedy bastard of a brother.

Before Amiel could react, both Moronuel and the body of Shiva disappeared greatly infuriating her.

"Damn You, Moronuel, I Will Skin You Alive When Next We Meet"

Amiel shouted at the top of her lungs as she could not have her fun in peace.

Coriel sighed "let it be, you have already done enough and should just let it go" she said as she closed her eyes to get a good sleep as everything has been finally resolved.

Amiel quiet down but was still burning with rage inside her and will never forgive Moronuel anytime soon.

Back to the Presence

"And that's how we came here not too long ago after roaming for a while" said Coriel who narrated to Lucifer how they ended here and together.

"So where is Coriel right now?" Lucifer asked as he could not find her anywhere.

Amiel pointed at her palace "she should be there together with her new boring friend. I just couldn't sit around and let them just talk about a stupid pendant and frown at me whenever I try to bring up something fun to talk about" said Amiel as she took a look at Aphrodite and Feng Huang who stood side by side besides Lucifer, she looked at Bariel "who are these two?" She asked him.

"Don't ask me, ask him, they are with him. I will be going now" said Bariel as he escaped from Amiel's questioning.

"This is Aphrodite, my wife and that is Feng Huang, she is my celestial pet, a Phoenix. You guys could hang together, I will go check up on Coriel"

Lucifer introduced the two girls beside him before he made his way towards the palace of Coriel.

Chapter 50: Tartarus Merge With Hell

"Why are you so fixated on this pendant. To me it's just another piece of jewelry" said Nyx as she played around with the pendant that she woke up to find in her possession.

Coriel walked up to her and took the pendant from her hand "you don't know what this is, that's why you are so nonchalant about it.

The aura coming off of this pendant is familiar and I am trying to figure out why it is so, first I thought it was from my Father it can not be his because my father doesn't even stand up from his throne talk less of going into this Sea of Chaos you speak of" she said as she placed the pendant in a safe place.

"So what you are saying in essence is that there is someone in that Sea of Chaos who is on the same level of power as your Father?" Asked Nyx who had her eyes wide opened .

From the stories she heard from Coriel, the only capable of putting her and the rest of her siblings in their place is their Father and from what she has seen and heard about the otherworlders, they are extremely powerful enough to subdue a primal god without breaking a sweat.

And now, she is saying that someone who is capable of birthing this beings has someone who is on par with Him.

This is ridiculous.

While they were discussing about the pendant, Bariel walked inside "hello sister and you beautiful too. So what's keeping you so busy that you even forgot your sleep" he said as he looked for a comfortable place to sit.

"I'm guessing Lucifer is also here given that you are here" said Coriel.

"Yeah, we just arrived not long ago and he should be on his way here pretty soon"

As soon as Bariel said that, Lucifer walked in and saw Coriel who was holding something in her hands and Nyx who was just sitting and looking back at him.

"Ahem, goof to see you little sister. How have you been?"

Lucifer said as he also took a sit while looking at the hands of Coriel "what's that in your hands and why does it feel familiar?" He asked.

Coriel handed him the pendant she kept away "so you sensed it too, what do you think of it?" Said Coriel.

"Reeks of chaos and destruction, a baleful aura opposite to that of Father. Where did you get this?" Said Lucifer after examining the pendant carefully.

Coriel turned to look at Nyx who sighed and explained everything that happened till the time she woke up with the pendant.

"Interesting, there is such a place and I did not know about it" said Lucifer who gave Coriel the pendant back and stood up "I would have loved to explore this Sea of Chaos right now and find out the secrets it holds but I am pretty occupied now.

So Coriel, why don't you take Bariel and Nyx with you and go check out what this place is but if you sense anything unusual, you call me, you hear me?" He said while looking at Bariel and Coriel with a serious face on.

"Duly noted, so when are we going to this trip, sister" said Bariel as he turned to his sister.

"How about right now? I don't have anything doing right now" said Nyx.

Coriel sighed as she wasn't expecting them to take the matter seriously, so she thought she would maybe rest a little before going to the Sea of Chaos to look into it but now everything changed which is very frustrating "fine, but no talking during the trip, I would need all the rest I can get" she said as she together with Nyx and Bariel left Lucifer as they made their way outside.

Lucifer also left and went to tell Amiel about Coriel and Bariel leaving for sometime.

Lucifer walked around the mountain while taking in the fresh air when he found a dark haired young man with a dense aura of death coming from him.

He walked up to him and looking at his features, he knew who he is "you must be Hades, the new god of Death. I have heard how you managed to defeat Thanatos and made his domain your own which is an incredibly impressive feat given you spent your whole life in a stomach" said Lucifer.

Hades turned to look at the stranger with his brows raised "and you are?" He asked.

"Oh, my bad, I am Lucifer, you must have heard of me from your mother or your brother, either one of them but that's not why I am here" said Lucifer.

A hint of recognition flashed past Hades eyes when he heard who was talking to him but remained confused at what he said "so what brought you here?"

Lucifer smiled as the god of Death didn't act like the others when they heard his name "you know, you are really an interesting individual. Some people cower at the mention of my name but you still remained standing. Is it that you don't know who I am or you just don't care who I am" Lucifer asked as he continued to observe Hades.

"I know you, I have heard tales about you since after gaining my freedom, you are Lucifer Morningstar, the one and only infamous Devil. Am I supposed to cower at your feet, if so, then you have to kill me cause I am not doing any of those nonsenses" said Hades without even looking at him.

Lucifer smiled "actually I do not want you to do any of that nonsense but seeing how arrogant you are, I have to put you in your place so that you would know who the boss is"

Immediately Lucifer said that, Hades was brought down to his knees and have difficulties breathing under the pressure of Lucifer.

"This is only just a tip of what I can do, so while we are still on the topic, you are now the god of Death and have a domain of your own and I am also something of death god myself not that I am one, so after thinking for a while, I would like you to work under me, be one of the few rulers of Hell, my home, the one where I preside over and in other for that to happen, I am going to have deal, where you will serve me unconditionally and in return I will grant you power that even your grandfather, Ouranos never dreamed of having.

So what do you say, Hades?"

Lucifer said while Hades was still down on his knees and gasping for breath.

"Ok then, I will be taking your silence as a sign of you agreeing with me, so I will begin now" said Lucifer as he extended his hands towards Hades and a wisp of his soul flew out from him and Lucifer caught it "now you are ruler under me, don't worry, what I say about you having powers even Ouranos didn't dream of was true, you should be feeling it right about now"

Lucifer said as he released Hades from his suppression and walked off to look for Amiel.

Hades finally freed breathed heavily as he felt his knees weakened and just fell to the ground.

While he was like that, he felt a new wave of energy surge into him, he felt renewed and the part of his soul that Lucifer took was filled up as if it was always there but he knew that that was just the feeling he was getting from receiving the powers Lucifer promised.

After the transformation, Hades stood up with a renewed energy and felt himself becoming more powerful than before and if he were to face Thanatos now, then he would not break a sweat.

But he was not happy for becoming this strong as he is also a slave to someone for it.

While Hades was here contemplating what to do with his life, now that he has become a slave for life, Tartarus was going through a relocation, all residence of Tartarus, prisoners or not, all of them were being thrown out except for Cerberus, who is the sentry of Tartarus.

The entire Tartarus disappeared from the Realm of Greco as it merged itself to Hell, the home of the Master of its master, Hades.

Erebus who was resting inside Tartarus, found himself outside with some of the prisoners and some who took up residence there.

"What is going on here?" He asked clearly furious.

One of the lesser god immediately came to him and bowed "I think the new god of Death chased us out of Tartarus" he said.

Nobody expected what was about to happen next, the head of the lesser god was detached from his neck without Erebus even moving "what do you take me for?

Do you think I am like you fools, I am Erebus, the Primal Darkness and the likes of Hades cannot pull this on me" said Erebus as he believed that even if Hades was strong enough to kill his son, Thanatos, he is not strong enough to evict him out of Tartarus, because there is nowhere he could be this strong unless someone is helping him.