

I'm The Devil

Chapter 51: Prelude To The Titanomachy

It has been a month now since Lucifer returned to the Greco Realm.

A lot has happened since then and now the Olympians are now ready to face the titans and end their rule to usher in a new era.

Today, Lucifer, Amiel, Gaia, Rhea, Themis, Mnemosyne, Adamantheia and Metis with Zeus and his siblings and Epimetheus and Prometheus all gathered together to plan their next course of action.

"Why don't we all just attack the titans with full force, using the element of surprise to our advantage" said Poseidon.

Metis shook her head as that was not viable plan "we have already used the element of surprise on the Titans when Zeus rescued you, we won't have the chance or given the chance to surprise them anymore, they will be alert at all times. Even the mere birds flying in the sky is a suspect to them so I don't think we should do that" she said as she wait for any other person to voice out their opinion.

"What about you draw them here or you come out of your hiding telling them where you are, I bet that would kick start the war you all are desperately looking for"

Amiel said which surprised everyone as they thought she would just be a spectator just like her brother.

Amiel raised a brow as she was being stared at "why are you all looking at me like that?" She asked.

Lucifer smiled as he looked at his sister but didn't say a word and just focused back on the meeting taking place in the room.

"What she said is what I also had in mind, since we are planning to start a war with the Titans, then we have to come out and declare war on them" said Metis who got a frown from Amiel.

"If that's what you say then we will do just that, but how do we go about this?" Asked Gaia.

Metis and Lucifer both looked at Zeus who was confused as to why he was being stared at.

"Who do you think he hates the most right now?" Said Lucifer who drew all of their attention to him "he wants nothing more than to strangle you to death with his own hands and end this war before it even starts. So what do you think he will do when you announce yourself a ruler of Mt.

Olympus and the people who resides here, not following the ruled he sets and also have the full support of Tartarus and the Island of Crete behind you" Lucifer paused for a second as he looked at all the faces of everyone present here and seeing that they were not even blinking, he continued "he will take it as you challenging his rule and since you have out your self to the world, then he will send his army marching to Mt.

Olympus in a matter of seconds to have you all eradicated, that's what he will do as they can be no two kings under the same sky and that's the way you announce yourself to the world"

Lucifer finished as everyone present nodded as that was the best way to get Chronos to act and spark the beginning of the war.

"I guess that answers all the question, and since we don't have anything more to say, Zeus why don't you go announce yourself to the entire Greco Realm?" Said Rhea who was happy that everything is falling into place for her son.

Zeus nodded as he along with his siblings went outside to carry out the next phase of their plan, announcing themselves to the world and giving out their location to their father and take him out in one move.

"Wait, are you going to let them have the mountain? You can't do that, I was the one who found it" Amiel complained after the Olympians left to her brother, Lucifer after she figured out he was going to give them the mountain.

Lucifer turned to look at his sister "come on, do we have to do this now?" He asked to which she nodded, he sighed "you know very well that, this is not our home and sooner than later we will have to go back willingly or forced to, we don't belong here and we being here, interfering in their lives is unbecoming, so why don't we just let them have the Mountain if it is going to be empty in the nearest future" he said trying to make Amiel understand.

He knows he being here is already interfering with history and dear old Daddy will not be very pleased and he is even surprised that he hasn't sent any of the angels or Archangels to come tell them to go back to Hell, where they belong.

"Fine, if that's the case, then I will allow it but they must build a statue of me and tell their future generation that I was the one who led them to this mountain and made a home for their people and also helped them in winning the wars" she said as she stared at Gaia, Rhea, Adamantheia, Themis and Mnemosyne.

"Fine, isn't it just a statue? That's not hard but about the second part, I don't think that would be necessary" said Gaia.

"Fine do what you want but I want to see my statue before I leave and I don't want you to use your divine powers or whatever you called it as that would not be a worthy way to show my worth"

With that, Amiel left to meet up with her new friends, Aphrodite and Feng Huang.

Realm of Shinto

"Are you sure this what you want"

"Yes, father, this is what I want, I don't want to be a god King anymore, you can make Tsukuyomi or call back Susanoo, they are also fit to become god kings if given the proper training like me"

Ever since Amaterasu returned to the Shinto Realm, she has been looking for the right time to tell her father her decision to forfeit her claim to the god king title and her decision to leave the Realm and go be with Lucifer but she hasn't found the right time to tell him, not until today.

Izanagi sighed as he ruffled his hands through his precious daughter's hair "what made you change your mind. Last I checked, you were okay with being the god king of the Shinto Realm but now you are telling me that you are going to give up on that dream? There must be something you are not telling me, spill it out" he said.

Amaterasu took a deep breath as she was about to drop a bombshell on her father "during my stay at the Realm of Pangu, living with him, I have felt something that I thought I will never feel in my life, the sound of my heart beating the moment I see him. Father, I don't know how to describe it but all I know is anytime I'm with him, nothing else matters" she said with a smile plastered on her face.

Izanagi didn't even need anyone to tell him anything as he already knew who she was talking about "don't tell me you have fallen in love with that Devil, how did this happen?"

You were supposed to go see just what kind of person he is, whether he can be reasoned with or someone who is a threat to our Cosmos, not fall in love with him, why did you have to fall for his charms, why?" He asked her with a frown.

Amaterasu frown when she heard her father talking about the man she finally felt something for as if he was some kind of monster "first of all father, he has a name and it is Lucifer and second of all, he didn't place a charm on me, he is a nice person that shows compassion to his love ones and is ruthless to his enemies, he would do anything to protect me even if it means going against the entire Cosmos, that is just the kind of person he is.

Come on, you would also love him if you get to know him and when I say love him, I don't me that way. Just give him a chance, I can contact him to come right now if you want so that you can see just what type of person he is" she said trying her very best to convince her father into agreeing to allow her to be with Lucifer as she did not want to have a beef with her father.

Izanagi sighed while looking at his daughter who was usually quiet all the time but have said so many things just in the last few minutes of them talking just because of one man.

"Go ahead and call him, I want to meet the man who has my daughter wrapped around his fingers already" said Izanagi.

"He does not have me wrapped around his fingers" said Amaterasu as she closed her eyes and used the one time linking item Aphrodite gave to her to call on Lucifer whenever she was ready.

Immediately she did that, a blinding light engulfed the item and a man appeared in their view.

"That was quite fast, I was expecting something like a thousand year or so, but I guess I have won your heart already. Huh" the man said only to pause as he felt a presence of one of his siblings in this realm "what in the bloody Hell is he doing here"

Chapter 52: Prelude To The Titanomachy 2

"what in the bloody Hell is he doing here"

Lucifer said after sensing Satanael in the Shinto Realm and was curious but that's not why he was here, he is here because of someone else, he is here for Amaterasu.

"We should get going love, something is about to come up and I don't want to miss it" said Lucifer while offering his hands to Amaterasu who also took his hands.

But before he could leave, Izanagi held him back "hey young man, you can't just walk in here and take my daughter without acknowledging my presence" he said before turning to Amaterasu "is this the man that you say is won your heart?" He asked his daughter.

Lucifer turned to see Izanagi and frowned when he saw him holding unto him tightly "your hands would have been cut off this instant if you were not the father of Amaterasu" said Lucifer as he released himself easily from the grasp of Izanagi "and as a reminder, the likes of you can't call me a young man, I am by far old enough to the ancestor of your ancestor's ancestor if you had one in the first place but you don't as you are a primal god and as for acknowledging your presence, I think I have shown enough respect to you by allowing you to keep your life" he said before finally leaving the Realm of Shinto back to the Greco Realm.

Izanagi was shocked to see the attitude of Lucifer and how powerful he was to be able to easily released himself from his grasp and the aura he exude just from him looking at his eyes a moment ago.

"Just who the hell is this guy and how did he manage to win the heart of my daughter?" Said Izanagi before summoning his servants to call Tsukuyomi and send someone to fetch Susanoo, it is time for him to return home so that the battle of god king could commence.

The Greco Realm

"That's a bit harsh, don't you think" said Amaterasu after they arrived at the Greco Realm.

"That's because he is your father, if it was someone else, then that would mean one less Primordial god" said Lucifer while smiling at Amaterasu who just sighed in relief that Lucifer spared her father.

Amaterasu looked around her and wondered where they were "where are we currently" she asked Lucifer.

"Mt. Olympus, and I see my brother has brought another woman to his family, I wonder how many Queen of Hell we are going to have"

Amaterasu turned to look at Amiel who was flying in the air with her wings out as she looked at Amaterasu back.

"And you are?" She asked as this is a new face to her.

Amiel smiled and flew down and put her wings back as she stood in front of Amaterasu "I am Amiel, his sister" she introduced herself to Amaterasu.

Amaterasu raised a brow as she did not imagine her to be his sister but one of his women while looking at her beautiful appearance but it seems that she was wrong and she has to say, beauty indeed runs in the family from what she has seen so far.

"If you are done, Amiel, I have to show her around" said Lucifer as he took a hold of Amaterasu's hands walked away from Amiel who simply smiled and continued in her way.

After Lucifer shown Amaterasu around and told why they were here and the other people who inhabited the place with them, he led her to his Palace, their Palace where she met up with Aphrodite and the two went away to have their girlish talks while Tiānkōng, walked up to him and attended to him.

And that's how the days turned into days and days turned into weeks and the day where Zeus along with his siblings would announce their whereabouts to the world finally arrived.

Rhea walked to her children and hugged every one of them before getting to the turn of Zeus "are you ready for this" she asked clearly worried as after this, a bloody war would ensue.

Zeus nodded "I'm ready, I was born ready mother" he said as he kissed his mother on the cheek before letting go of her as he made his way to the edge of the mountain.

"All Inhabitants Of The Realm Of Greco, I Am Zeus, Son Of Rhea, And The Grandson Of The Primal Goddess, Gaia, And I Am Here To Tell The Whole Greco Realm That I Am Now The New Ruler Of Mt. Olympus And I Am Not Under The Jurisdiction Of The God King, Together With My Siblings, We Will Usher In A New Era And You Are Welcome To Come Join Us If You Want, You Know Where To Find Us"

Using his Divine voice, Zeus gave out that small speech as he released his Divine aura to the entire Greco Realm together with the rest of his Siblings so that Chronos might easily be able to track them.

After they all did that, they made their way back to the meeting area and discuss their next plan.

Opening the meeting is of course the strategists, Metis "with this event, we have successfully achieved two things, one drawing Chronos attention to us and two, we will have other gods coming to join us which would aid us greatly in the upcoming war" she said.

"Hold on" everyone looked at Amiel who raised her hands up "I don't see any reason to accept anymore of those trashy beings who claims to be gods just like you, no offence but we all know you are not gods but that's not what I was going to say, you see, in times of war like this, taking people from the outside is a very risky move, you don't know when your enemy would use that as an advantage and tried to join your ranks, so all I'm saying is that, it is not advisable to allow anyone to join you on your rebellion" she said.

Metis nodded as that was Amiel said was very true but they are low on numbers against the many forces of the god King "but taking your advice, we would not be able to make up our numbers because Chronos would not just come with the main Titans and gods but everything that he has, and we don't have that" said Metis.

Amiel smiled and simply summoned one of her pets out.

Seeing this, Metis got what she was getting at, who needs a some gods to fill out their numbers when they have an insurmountable amount of this creatures to aid them.

"Isn't that the demons Shiva used to summon?" said Amaterasu as she recognized the dark creature behind Amiel.

Amiel frown when she heard Amaterasu called one of her pets a demon "oh come on, why do you lots always name yourselves or something of yours after us, first you call yourselves gods when clearly you are no gods and now you are calling them demons? come on" she said.

"So who are the demons now?" Asked Rhea as she clearly never heard of a demon in any of the stories related to Lucifer.

Amiel pointed at herself and Lucifer "we are the demons and not just any demons, we are Arch Demons and the first of our kind" she said with a triumphant smile.

Confusion was vivid on the faces of everyone present except from Gaia, Aphrodite and Amaterasu who knew from Aphrodite about Lucifer's history.

Lucifer sighed when he saw the confuse on their faces "you all know that we are Archangels and a fallen one at that, well after we fell, we were stripped off of our grace and became Arch Demons but we were still able to retain our angelic powers despite that" he explained to them.

They nodded after getting a clearer picture "so now what are we go to call them, your pets" said Hestia who was another silent woman.

"What about Daemons, they have a nice ring to it and almost have the same pronunciation just like you and given that you are now the only one able to summon them" said Metis who knew what they were called from her many visions.

Amiel nodded as she liked the name "yeah, we'll call then that" she said as she unsummoned the daemon as it faded away from her back.

They talked about a few things before calling it a day and going back to their respective palace to rest.

Palace of The God King Of Greco Realm

Chronos sat on his throne with a frown while contemplating on his next course of action after finally knowing where his children were but also the fact that they dare challenge his rulership by telling his subjects to join them which is something he cannot tolerate.

He called out to his servant standing outside his throne hall who quickly came and bowed to him.

"Go tell Coeus to get our forces ready, we are going into war"

Chapter 53: Titanomachy 1

"They are here"

"That's good, then the fun part is about to begin. And as for the other gods who came earlier, you should build a place for them at the base of the mountain and don't let any of them up the mountain, if they so much as overstep their boundary, you know what to do right?" said Lucifer to Tiānkōng his now personal assistant.

"Yes my lord" said Tiānkōng who left to carry on the order of her master.

Lucifer on the other hand got dressed and went out to meet the other gods who were all ready for the war ahead of them or should they say already at their doorstep.

"This is the day you lots have been waiting for, the day to engage your father and his forces, the day one of you was born to see to it, and from everything I have seen so far, I have to say that I am pleased with everything and I know that you are ready to face him and come out victorious" said Lucifer to the six Olympian gods who stood like soldiers listening to their commander, Lucifer turned to look at the Cyclopes who understood what he meant and stepped forward each holding something covered in clothes "I together with the Cyclopes, fashioned weapons that would aid you greatly in the war"

Lucifer took one of the covered weapons from the first Cyclopes "this is the great Thunder Bolt, crafted and imbued with the power of thunder and should be wielded by the one who commands the sky" Lucifer said as he handed the Thunder Bolt to Zeus.

Zeus bowed and took the Thunder Bolt and felt a connection to it "thank you, I can tell you put so much effort into making this, so I will wield to accomplish great things" said Zeus.

Lucifer nodded before he took the second covered weapons "this is the great Trident, imbued with the power of the ocean and seas, and the one who wields it have complete control over the water bodies and all that resides there" said Lucifer as he passes the Trident to Poseidon who for a brief second felt something different about him like every ocean, every sea and all the water bodies are at his beak and call and he could do anything and control everything within them.

That's because Lucifer has given Poseidon the title, God of the Oceans and Seawaters, making him a Domain god.

Lucifer didn't want for Poseidon to thank him as that would take a long time, he took the last weapon and presented it to Hades "this is the Helm of Darkness, once worn, it will bring terror and despair to the enemy" said Lucifer as he passed the final weapon to Hades "these are all Celestial rank weapons and the only ones in the entire Cosmos, well expect from the one I made for Bor.

These are very powerful weapons that can even destroy a Realm if it falls into the wrong hands, so use it wisely" said Lucifer before turning to the girls.

Without waiting for her name to be called, Adamantheia stepped forward with tray in hand.

"Hestia, Demeter and Hela, step forward" said Lucifer to the three goddesses.

At his command they all stepped forward, Gaia also came forward and opened the tray that was covered and three golden apples could be seen on it.

"These are the fruits produced from the Tree of the Nymphs, it will grant you an insurmountable power and diverse abilities which you won't be able to grasp in such a short time but it will be enough for the battle ahead and after that you figure out the rest yourselves, now step forward and take one for yourself" said Lucifer as the three sisters came forward and took a fruit each for themselves and ate it.

Immediately they did that, their entire being changed, their aura became intense and was about to get out of control but they quickly stabilized it. They became dignified and full of power.

They felt that they could even destroy the Realm they were in with just a sneeze but that was impossible as that was just the feeling of getting a power boost as they are far from being able to do something like that.

"Now with everything all ready, go out there and give me one hell of a show, I have been bored these past few months" said Lucifer as he turned around to go back to his room where he will watch everything as he has no plans of interfering any further than he has already done.

The only reason he even made the Celestial Weapons was because he sensed that Erebus was going to interfere after the Russ he pulled with Tartarus by shifting it to connect to Hell which he had no idea of that going to happen but it seems Erebus would not just sit by and be robbed of his home and he knew Hades was the new Ruler of Tartarus when that happened so Hades must have known who was behind it all and he is here to find out who even if it meant joining the war alongside the Titans.

His two wives also joined him as they left the others.

"Please, make sure you take care of yourselves, I don't want anything to happen to either one of you but I know you have to do this so that you can finally be free from your father, so make sure to look out for one another" said Rhea as she hugged each and every one of her children.

Themis also did the same to her two sons but she told them to roughen up their father a little when they see him for his transgressions to which the two Titans laughed.

They too were given some power ups to aid them in the battle.

After everyone said what they want to say, the Olympians, Prometheus, Epimetheus, the Hekatonkheires and the Cyclopes, Feng Huang, several warrior Nymphs and last but not the least, Amiel who was going to provide support with her Daemons all gathered together as they are the ones going to the war.

Gaia came forward and gave the key players in the war large chains "use these to capture them after they are down, I will handle the rest later, go and come back victorious" said Gaia.

Metis then reminded Zeus of his promise qto spare her parents to which he nodded and with that they all left to confront the Titans and their armies at the borders of Olympus.

Elsewhere

"This is the place, should we send the scouts to look around in case of any traps which we should be aware of before proceeding any further" said Coeus to Chronos who has transformed into his true Titan form.

When Zeus made the announcement and outed himself to the outside world, Chronos immediately mobilized his forces and called everyone of his siblings to lay waste to Mt. Olympus.

And after weeks of preparing, he finally arrived at the mountain with multitude of gods and lesser gods alike that look like ants when look from afar as they surrounded the entire mountain creating a siege.

Chronos was very determined to get rid of his children that he did not hesitate to even receive help from his uncle, Erebus who also wanted almost the same thing, to get rid of one of his children.

Chronos looked at Coeus "why should we be afraid of traps?

There is no trap, I would have told you to be careful if there was one but there is none and given you thought that brat called Zeus, I doubt they would resort to that trickery, instead what we should be focused on right now is when those brats will arrive" said Chronos who was getting impatient to be waiting for this long just to have his children at his feet.

Coeus nodded and stood beside him and waited for the Olympians to arrive and get rid of Chronos while he gets rid of them.

Oceanus on the other hand just shook his head as everything turned out to be this way. He wondered if this is the curse of their Realm to have their children kill their father for the throne or having a paranoid father that would even try to get rid of his children just because he was afraid of having his throne taken from him which led to them actually doing so.

Nothing knowing what to do anymore as Chronos refuse to listen to reason, he just have to accept the outcome of it and hope for the best.

While waiting for the Olympians, a blinding light appeared in the sky, thunder roars could be heard all around them as if announcing to them that its ruler has arrived.

The oceans waves became uncontrollable and the beast of the water all came out with a man holding a Trident as they all bowed behind him.

Their surroundings became eerily quite and they all felt chills down their spine as a man covered in a dark robe emerged from the shadows with Bident.

They are the three brothers, Poseidon, Hades and Zeus as they made their appearance on the battlefield.

"Showoffs"

Chapter 54: Titanomachy 2 : Hades vs Erebus

"Showoffs"

Everyone present all heard the voice of Amiel who appeared with the rest of the others.

Chronos looked at the lineups of his children and their friends and chuckled "is this suppose to be a joke? Don't make me laugh, if you have anymore hidden card anywhere, then you better reveal them because after this, you won't have the chance anymore" he said as he stared deep into the eyes of Zeus, the bastard who started all of this.

Amiel frowned when she heard that, she flew down and landed in front of Hades "I don't like you and this is just our first time meeting, I wonder how Rhea was able to endure you long enough to birth you six children, if it were me, I would have killed you long ago.

So let's not get into any small talks, and let the Titanomachy begin" said Amiel as her shadow expanded and a large swarm of Daemons came out of different kinds and rushed at the opposing forces, the Titans.

With that, Zeus and the others also launched their attacks beginning the Titanomachy.

Chronos didn't expect them to just attack like that and did not expect to encounter someone unexpected, like Amiel who could summon battalions of these Daemons leading his forces into disarray.

But he quickly stabilized his forces and made a counter attack of his own meeting the invading Daemons head on using the lesser gods and he along with the Titans faced the Olympians and the others who sided with them.

While Erebus just quietly appeared in front of Hades after Amiel left to assist the Nymphs armies to take care of the other gods that came with Chronos.

"I see you were also waiting for me, that's good, so just tell me or no scratch that, undo what you did and everything else will be overlooked" said Erebus who was radiating darkness that corrupt the spot which he stands and the nearby surroundings.

Hades just raised his Bident which he made from the Scythe and pointed it at Erebus "you are a Primal god, you can always find another place to live or even create one for yourself, so why are you so hellbent on getting Tartarus back or do you just want to bully a third generation god or are you just so bored that you want some action, either way, I am ready to indulge you" said Hades as he rushed at Erebus.

"Foolish child" said Erebus who dissolved into the darkness to avoid the incoming Hades.

Hades struck an empty space as Erebus was already out of the way.

He turned to look for him only to find out that the entire area has been shrouded in complete darkness impairing his vision.

"You should know not to confront a Primal god head on" out of the darkness came the voice of Erebus from all direction confusing Hades "you killed my son and I did not do anything about it as I believed he was too weak for you take him out and maybe Tartarus was not a place meant for a weak god like him letting you live but as if that was not enough, you went ahead and relocated the entire Tartarus and evicted me from my home and you expect me to just turn a blind eye, I don't think so"

After he said that, Hades felt a suffocating aura descend on him causing him to fall to the ground.

Out of nowhere, a sword flew and pierced him on the chest "you should have had a backup plan when you made up your mind to confront me, child, that was a mistake on your part" said Erebus as he appeared to deal the finishing blow on Hades.

Seeing Erebus appear, Hades looked up at him and smiled "who said I didn't have a plan?"

Before Erebus could say anything, he felt something bite into his flesh and lifting him into the air and flung him to the corner making to the fog of Darkness he created to fade giving Hades his vision back.

Hades stood up and removed the sword from his chest and threw it away "good one boy, now let's finish a Primordial god together and I will treat you with something really special after this" said Hades who got on the back of Cerberus who he summoned from Tartarus.

After Tartarus merged with Hell, he gained the ability to summon Cerberus to him anytime and had a unique control of a blue flame to which Lucifer told him to be the Flame of Tartarus after the merge with Hell and only he could control that flame.

Erebus got up from the ground and saw Hades sitting on a three-headed dog and felt it was familiar to him "I see you came prepared, but if you think that would be enough to stand a chance against me, then you are wrong, it will take more than you and a dog to fight me" said Erebus who threw several large balls of Darkness at Hades.

Cerberus moved out of the way and spewed a blast of blue flames at Erebus who just turned into a mist of Darkness and the flame passed through him but what he didn't expect was the flames still had an effect on him forcing him out of his mist state which caused him to get burned by the flame.

Without wasting any time he vanished into darkness and appeared far from Hades, "what's that flame, it could even hurt me in my mist state, just who the hell is helping you?" He questioned as he tried to buy some time for him to recover.

Hades obviously knew what Erebus was planning and he wouldn't let him have his way so he sent another blast of blue flames at him while whispering one name in a terrifying way which made Erebus's soul shake in fear "The Devil"

Hearing the chilling tone of Hades which was amplified because of the Helm of Darkness, Erebus was rendered paralyzed and unable to move.

Hades used this as an opportunity and struck him with the Bident laced with the Flame of Tartarus.

"That's the end of the line for you"

Chapter 55: Titanomachy 3 : Father vs Sons

After the defeat of Erebus, Hades rained devastating attacks on the lesser gods which led to the dwindling of their numbers.

The Hekatonkheires and the Cyclopes, threw rocks at the Titans and their forces causing confusion in their ranks giving the Olympians armies a fighting chance despite being outnumbered.

Chronos watched all of these from the sidelines and was not very happy about it.

Everything he planned for this day was all for nothing as he was being outsmarted by his own children, he couldn't take it, he can't let them make a mockery of him.

He turned to look at one of the Titans beside him "you are the Titan of strength and endurance, now put that strength into good use and change the tide of the battle for me, boy" he said to him.

The titan bowed and jumped from the ground propelling himself into the midst of the Daemons crushing them with his feet.

"Feel The Might Of Atlas" he roared into the sky as he destroyed every Daemon he laid his hands on as if they were a piece of paper.

"Look who decided to join the party"

"Our bastard brother, Atlas"

"What do you say brother, should we roughen him a little before we get to father?"

"If you mean, beating him to a pulp, then I'm in"

Atlas saw two Titans just like him arrive in front as they looked at him with a menacing smile.

They are Prometheus and Epimetheus, the two sons of Themis and the Titaness who hated him the most because of his father having an affair with his mother and him being the result of their one night stand.

"Are you here on the orders of your mother to get rid of me" said Atlas as he squashed a Daemon by the head.

Prometheus laughed when he said that "what makes you think my mother would even have the time to think about a bastard like you when there are many things she could do with that time. We are just here to have some brothers bonding time, isn't that right, Epimetheus?" he said.

"Of course brother, we miss our little brother and would like to spend some time with you but I guess that's not going to happen if you don't trust us" said Epimetheus smiling at Atlas.

Atlas couldn't contain his anger anymore after being played by his two hateful half brothers repeatedly "let's stop this stupid charade and fight" he said balling his fist and glared at them.

Prometheus smirked as he saw that they have gotten under his skin "with pleasure" he said as flames burst out of his hands.

Epimetheus brought out his sword and grinned at Atlas who was burning in anger "let see how thick that skin of yours is when I cut into it" he said.

But before the the three brothers could clash, someone appeared in their midst "you would seize this nonsense now" said the man.

The three brothers looked at the newcomer who turned out to be their father, Iapetus "how kind if you join in the fray, father, saved us the time to go look for you ourselves" said Prometheus as he readied the chains given to them by Gaia.

Iapetus sighed as he knew that these two children bore to him by Themis are very hard to control "Atlas, leave, this is not your fight, I will handle them, go ahead and do what the God king asks of you" he said as he was ready to beat some sense into his children and maybe ask Chronos to lessen their punishment after this is all over.

"Sending away your bastard son, father? Don't die out there, we still have some unfinished business to handle, bastard Brother" said Epimetheus as he waved bye bye to Atlas who ignored him.

"The both of you have chosen to side with the rebels and the wrong side, but you can all find redemption if you go to the god king now and tell him everything you know about the rebels and how we can be able to get rid of them, then maybe he will show you mercy" said Iapetus trying to speak sense into his two children.

Prometheus and Epimetheus looked at each other and acted as if they were considering his words only to burst out laughing the next second "you are truly funny father, can't you look around you? You are the one who should come over to our side not that it would even matter.

The god king walked into a losing battle from the very beginning, the winner has already been decided the moment he was born and all of these is just a formality, after this war, Zeus will be the new ruler of the Greco Realm and he will bring about a new age, so don't try to make us change sides cause we won't do the same to you" Prometheus said as he threw the chains at Iapetus who was in dazed after digesting what Prometheus said.

Feeling the chains on him, he quickly came out of his daze and broke free from them and lunged at his two sons "even if the winner has been decided by you, the same cannot be said for us as there is only one King, and that's Chronos and he will remain so for as long as the Titans breath" he said while landing a clean hit on Prometheus and kneeling Epimetheus.

"Even if I have to beat some sense into you, then I will gladly do so as your father" said Iapetus as he held Epimetheus who was close to him and punched him repeatedly until his hands were held by Prometheus.

"I don't care whatever you say, but if you join to support a child eating bastard as the god king, then Epimetheus and I will have to treat you like the enemy and not our father, so please as long as this war continues, you are not our father" Said Prometheus whose eyes was burning with a first fire and his hands were on fire burning Iapetus hands.

Epimetheus punched his father on his stomach sending him flying upward.

Epimetheus stood up and stood beside Prometheus with his sword out "oh, he forgot to much something, mother said we should send our regards to you" said Epimetheus as he and Prometheus engaged their father in battle.

Chapter 56: Titanomachy 4: Retreat

Boom~Boom~Boom

The entire battlefield was in disarray as the WO sides clashed.

The Titans that were with watching the ongoing confrontation between them and the Olympians were actually surprised to find out that they were the ones being dealt with despite having more numbers than them.

Chronos was furious when he saw these, he thought that they should have dealt with the Olympians by now and go back to Mt. Orthos by now but it seems his children had thought this through.

"It is these dark creatures that's giving us a hard time, they keep on coming even after they are destroyed as if there is an endless amount of them some where" said Hyperion after observing the situation on the battlefield.

Coeus shook his head and pointed at Amiel who was laughing like a mad woman on the battlefield after killing of gods after gods effortlessly "I say she is our problem, she was the one who summoned this dark creatures just like Lord Shiva of the Hindu Realm and also wrecking havoc on our forces, she is the one that needs to be taken care of and I doubt we could do anything to her, this is where Erebus comes in and I can't seem to find him anywhere" he said after assessing Amiel and knew that she is a Primal level threat from her display of powers.

"I doubt it, I can take care of some woman, we don't need Erebus for this, Erebus is here just in case that Lucifer guy shows up" said Hyperion as he flew to the area where Amiel currently is.

Chronos looked around the battlefield and could not find the trace of Erebus anywhere, he turned to Coeus "send someone to find Erebus now and tell him we have a situation that needs his attention" he said before focusing back at the battlefield.

Coeus immediately left to carry on the order of the god King.

All these while Oceanus was just busy watching how his brothers were handling things which was so saddening to him but who was he to say anything. Nobody has taken his words seriously since the beginning and he doubt they would start now.

Meanwhile, on the Area where Iapetus and his two sons battle it out has become a barren land as they destroyed everything on sight even allies and foes.

Iapetus was at a clear disadvantage against his two sons as they seem more powerful than before but they lack experience which is why he was still standing for this long.

"You are quite durable, now I see where the bastard got his durability from" said Epimetheus as he walked out a large crater where he was flung to by his father.

His clothes all torn and his hair disheveled like a mad man, he has several bruises and some minor injuries, same goes for his brother, Prometheus.

Iapetus glared at Epimetheus for disrespecting his brother by calling him a bastard "he is your brother and I am your father, you will not speak of him that way" he said as he released a beam of blazing light at him.

Epimetheus got out of the way before it even came close to him and appeared several meters from the beam of light, he smiled as he looked at his father "you should give it up now, if you continue fighting you will die before you even know it which Granny would not take likely" said Epimetheus while sneakily looking for Prometheus who was with the chain met to hold their father down.

"You should be the ones to give it up, there is no way I can go down like this, not by the hands of my children" said Iapetus as he readied another attack.

Epimetheus sighed as he still could not find Prometheus, so he had to put his father down with killing him and that is very difficult "this is going to be an hassle" he said as he transformed his sword into a spear and infused divine energy at the tip of the spear before throwing it at his father "go to sleep, old man"

The spear traveled in an uncanny speed that even Iapetus found it difficult to follow especially in this weakened state.

Before he could come up with a counter attack of his own or even set up his defense, the spear had already pierced him through his stomach coming out of his back.

"Prometheus Now Is The Time You Show Up" Epimetheus said using his divine voice to call out to his brother.

As if hearing the call of his brother, a chain came from below Iapetus and wrapped around him tightly, not giving Iapetus to escape from it anymore.

"Sorry brother, father trapped me underground, it was until I heard your voice before I could find my way out" said Prometheus as he appeared besides his brother.

"Now what, we have done exactly what she said, use this chain to tie them down and I will handle the rest, but he is still completely fine and with time he is going to" Before Epimetheus could complete his sentence, the chain lit up in a blinding gold light that affected the entire battlefield creating confusions everywhere before fading.

After everything came back to normal, Iapetus was no where to be seen "I guess that's what it does, let's get some rest first before heading back into the battlefield" said

Prometheus as he sat down there, Epimetheus also joined him as he was also exhausted from the confrontation with his father.

Meanwhile throughout out the entire Battlefield, The forces of the Titans, began retreating after the recent appearance of that flash of light.

"Hey, come back and fight, the fun was just about to begin, don't go, come on" said Amiel who had her fun cut short by the retreating Titans.

Before she could follow them, she immediately stopped and frowned before turning back while grumbling.

On the other side of the Battlefield, Chronos looked at the Olympians forces with pure unfiltered anger before he also turned his back and left..

Chapter 57: Titanomachy 5

Mr. Olympus

After the retreat of the Titans, the Olympians and their allies all went back to the Mountain to recuperate and get ready for the next clash with the Titans.

"Why did you tell me to let them go, Lucifer? We could have finished this stupid war in just one day and you just let them walk away?" Yelled Amiel at Lucifer who just sat on a chair as if he was not the one being yelled at.

Not getting a response from Lucifer frustrated Amiel even more as she threw a vase at the wall "Answer me Brother, why did you tell me to come back?" She questioned him once again.

Lucifer sighed and stood up walked to the door before turning to look at Amiel "I did not tell you to stop your advance because there is a reason but because you need to stop interfering, you assisting them with the Daemons is already enough but you still went ahead to fight with them personally, that's the problem so do yourself and I a favour and refrain from taking things personal in the next battle, I don't want to come there and beat you up" he said before leaving the room.

Amiel angrily sat down and poured herself a glass of wine "what are we supposed to do here if we can't even have a little fun, it is better to just stay in Hell than come here and have to listen to all these rules" she said before she went to her bed and just fall on top of it and closed her eyes as she thought of what to do now since she has been ban from her only source of entertainment.

Elsewhere

BAM

A loud sound of someone hitting a table could be heard throughout the entire campsites.

Chronos has been so angry since they arrived here and it seems there is nothing he could do about it.

His children bested him in today's clash, he has lost one of his brothers and trusted commander to them and he did not get anything from them except the loss of his men..

Even Erebus he took to change the tide of the Battlefield was nowhere to be found, it was as if he disappeared into thin air..

He looked at the sky and roared madly at it because it reminds him of his father everytime he looks at it "even in your death, you are still trying so hard to make sure I don't succeed, isn't it?"

Well you are winning because ever since you placed that stupid curse on me, I keep failing at everything, and now I can't even get one on my children and it seems they could see my every move and prepare a countermeasure against me" he said as he smashed another table "but I won't be brought down by the likes of them and I won't be deterred by you, because even if you are against me, remember I killed you once, I can do it again"

In the nearby tent, Oceanus was sipping a hot tea when he heard Chronos shouting like a mad man "he has finally lost it, well that's what he gets for letting his emotions cloud his judgement" said Oceanus chugging the remaining drink into his mouth.

The Next Day

"Iapetus was battling with his two sons and they finally defeated him by tying him up with some chains and the next thing a flash of light engulfed the entire battlefield and when it subsided, he was nowhere to be seen, he disappeared from there" said Coeus who saw everything while looking for Erebus.

It was his idea to retreat so that they can be able to figure out what or where Iapetus is after he disappeared but they could not seem to feel him anywhere, all the connections they have to him is completely lost.

"I think it must have something to do with mother, she would not want to see her children come to harm, so she might be up to something, and that chain is her doing" finally Oceanus spoke which surprised the remaining Titans greatly as he has always remained silent all these while.

"Then I suggest we don't go into battle yet until we figure out what mother wants or how to counter her chains" said Hyperion who was greatly injured from his encounter with Amiel and that was she going very easy on him.

"So we just send the lesser gods and higher gods to go out to battle without anyone of us there to provide support and assistance in case the children of Chronos decide to join the battle and slaughter them all?" Crius said.

Chronos agreed with what Crius said and could not just send his army to battle without any form of assistance, they can not be the cowards here "one of you should go, also take Atlas and Menoetius with you, we should be able to deal a blow to them with this lineup" said Chronos as he stood up and left the meeting room back to his room.

Everyone waited to see who was going to volunteer to go to the battlefield today but nobody did "seeing as no body wants to volunteer, I suggest we put out to a vote" said Coeus.

"Forget it, I will be going, there is no need for that, and maybe in the process broker peace with them" said Oceanus who stood up and left.

Coeus looked at him disgustingly as he left "broker peace my ass" he said before he also left.

The rest if the Titans also left to take care of other things especially Hyperion who needed a well deserved rest to heal from his injuries.

Mt. Olympus

Lucifer was sitting over a cliff as he thought of the ongoing war and wonder what he was going to do after that when he heard Amaterasu walking towards him.

She hugged him from behind and snuggled her head under his arm "what are you thinking of so intensely, love" she said with a hint of blush on her face as this is the first time she has ever called him that.

Lucifer smiled seeing like that and just placed a kiss on her lips "just thinking about the future, where do you think would be a good place to visit after the war?" He asked her.

Amaterasu thought for a while before she remembered a place where they could go for sightseeing and she heard that Realm was quite a place for Vacations "I think the Realm if Koguryō, I heard it has nice foods and beautiful places to die for" she said with worship in her tones.

[So Korean] thought Lucifer with a smile and eyes full of genuine interest.

Chapter 58: Titanomachy 6: A Year Later

Mt. Olympus

Lucifer stood at the top of the mountain as he overlooked the entire battlefield from there.

It has been over a year now since the Titanomachy began and things has been going as plans except the Titans have become a little wiser.

Since the capture of Iapetus by the hands of Prometheus and Epimetheus, they have not appeared on the battlefield, only their to supervise and never take part in the battles.

Now today, there is an ongoing clash between the Titan armies and the Daemons as both sides refused to take part for a long time as they gather their strength.

"Sigh, this is getting a little brother" said Lucifer who snapped his fingers and the Titan Armies were all obliterated, he turned to go back to his palace as there was nothing for him to watch anymore.

He wanted a battle not a skirmish between them, he wanted to see Titans go head to head with the Olympians but it seems the Titans are cowards who just wait for the right moment to strike.

On the other side of the Battlefield, Oceanus did not show any sign of shock nor surprise when his Army was completely wiped out as this was not the first neither the second or the third and he was getting sick of it instead.

"We should head back now, we are done sacrificing our men today, we should go prepare the other one" said Oceanus to the two bastard sons of Iapetus, Atlas and Menoetius as he made his way back to the Camp.

"Why are we not taking the fight to them, we have always been the one to suffer losses while they gather their strength, increase in numbers as ours decrease, is it when we are clearly outnumbered and weakened, that's when we are going to fight back?" said Menoetius as he walked beside Oceanus.

"Listen to me boy, I don't have the time or luxury to answer your question, so you come with me quietly or I make you" said Oceanus clearly angered by the question.

He has been trying very hard to make Chronos understand that the path he is treading on is very wrong but it seems he is too blinded by his quest to eliminate his children to see that and so he gave up and maybe he was just going to have the Olympians take him just like they did to Iapetus.

Menoetius kept quiet and like that they all went back to the camp in silent.

Reaching the camp, they were stopped by Crius who stood by the gate with a gloomy expression "another failed operation?" He asked Oceanus to which he nodded "sigh, let me handle this tomorrow, I will take my Zodiacs and engage in the battle personally, we can't continue like this"

Crius said and left without waiting to hear what Oceanus has to say.

Oceanus sighed and went to report to the god King, Chronos before going back to his tent to rest.

Mt. Olympus

The Olympians gathered with their allies to come up with a way to invade the enemy camp since they've decided to hide like cowards and refuse to show themselves.

"We go by nightfall, they will not see us coming, we go there cause chaos in their ranks and come back, that would make them want to retaliate " said Epimetheus to the group.

"Or we wait and see if they are going to keep using the same method over and over again until they exhaust their troops and we strike with full force taking them out in one fell swoop" said Zeus as he looked at Epimetheus to show that he disapproves of his opinion.

"Zeus is right, they are clearly in a losing game and I doubt they will not have more troops positioned in the camp expecting this, you all have to remember that Chronos is the Titan of Time and he knows when his life is in danger and will always be at alert" said Metis agreeing to what Zeus said.

Epimetheus smiled nervously while looking at his brother for help but all he got was gloating from him.

"But we can't just continue like this also, what if the more time we waste sitting here and making plans and strategy, we are giving them the time to plan something even bigger like getting help from another Realm" said Poseidon.

"I know that, that's why we have a trump card that they would not be expecting if they did that" said Metis while smiling when thinking about what she prepared in store "what do you think I have doing this past year?

I have gone to every Realm Lucifer stepped on or had influence in and requested their assistant in case something like this happened and they were willing to help, well not all of them at first but with a little convincing, they all obliged"

The past year, Metis consulted the help of Aphrodite to assist her in getting help from Lucifer and all she said was to go to the Realms Lucifer has been to or has a connection to or one who is indebted to him like the Hindu Realm and asked them for help saying it was for the Devil and they will help her and so she did and it turned out well.

Zeus laughed when he heard how she meticulously planned all of that without them even knowing while patting her on the head which made her blush without control.

Everyone Present looked at them strangely especially Metis who rarely show any expression on her face.

"Ahem"

Zeus stopped patting her head as he realized what he was doing and where he was while Metis embarrassed, hid her face with her cloth.

"Now that that is sorted, can we leave now, I have something to take care off, dead souls to take to Tartarus" said Hades as he has not gotten a keeper or a guide to take the souls of the dead and damned to Tartarus which is no longer a prison for the living but a place for only the dead.

Cough~Cough, Metis coughed before taking the clothe of her face "sure, you can go, we are done here" she said as she immediately stood up and left..

"What a lovestruck fool" said a jealous Hela.

And with that, they all dispersed and went to their various palace.

Chapter 59: Titanomachy 7: Crius Attacks the Olympians

The Next Day

The Battlefield

Crius, the god of the Constellation, along with his Zodiacs and the the Armies of the Titan forces all arrived on the Battlefield as they stood against an already positioned Daemon Army and the Nymphs Army when they saw the line up today.

"Gods Of Olympus, I Am Crius, God Of The Constellation, Come Out And Face Me" using his Divine Voice, Crius said calling out to the Olympians.

Despite Chronos refusal for him to engage in battle, he still did so as he can't be there watching his army all die when he can do something to help them but he didn't because he was following the orders of a mad man, a MNA blinded by his greed for power.

He can't do that, even if he side with just because they are brothers and he is the god King, that does not mean he is going to let anyone die on his watch.

Mt. Olympus

"I see they have changed their ways, no more hiding like cowards" said Prometheus as he played with a ball of flame which he created.

"I hear Crius is one if the stronger Titans, his Divine Ability to draw upon the power of the stars to his aid makes him a formidable enemy to face" said Metis as she stood beside Zeus and told him all she knew about the Titan of Constellation.

"Then we won't draw the battle to nightfall, we have to end it as soon as possible" said Zeus as he readied himself to face the Titan.

Metis shook her head "that's what you don't get, the stars that you see in the sky at night are not the only stars in the Cosmos.

We are talking about every planetary body, the sun, the moon, they are all stars, so what you are thinking is not going to happen, instead, we must find a way that will weaken him long enough to use the chains or something to distract him if not, we are talking of you battling Crius for a very long time" said Metis.

Zeus fell into contemplation as he heard that "hmm, that's going to be a problem, but thanks for the information, we are going to use it well" said Zeus as he along with Prometheus and Epimetheus left to face the enemy.

While this was going on, Lucifer was watching all of these from his room with sleeping naked goddesses by side side "Titan of Constellation, that power would be very interesting, having the power of the stars in my hands would be even more interesting" said Lucifer smiling while he focused all of his attention on Crius.

Back to the Battlefield

The two armies have already clashed and the Titan army was surprisingly getting the upper hands as they tore through the ranks of the Nymphs and Daemons easily.

This was all thanks to Crius as he empowered them with the power of the stars making them formidable in battle and also had the assistants of the Zodiacs on their side.

BANG

A loud sound of someone landing on the ground reverberated throughout the Battlefield and created a lot of smoke hiding whoever it was that just arrived.

Out of the smoke, a sword flew and pierced one of the lesser gods immediately taking his life.

After the smoke was cleared, Epimetheus could be seen grinning from ear to ear as he held another sword "oh, this is going to be fun" he said as he engaged with the Armies of the Titans after taking the sword he threw at the lesser god, heads falls everywhere he passed through.

"You must be Crius, I have heard so much about you and I was wondering why you are still a lackey to Chronos" said Zeus who appeared with a zap of thunder above Crius.

Crius looked at Zeus above him and he had to said, he bore an uncanny resemblance to their father, Ouranos "you are just like the carbon copy of my father, your grandfather, and you also happen to have an affinity with the sky, I see why Chronos is so desperate to get rid of you, he believes you to be the reincarnation of our father and I don't blame him for that.

I mean, he killed his father only to have him curse him and now one of his sons looked like him, I would have taken the same action honestly" said Crius with smile "but I am not here to talk or exchange pleasantries, I am here to get rid if you so that this pointless war would end"

Lightening flashed in Zeus eyes as the sky roared with the sound of thunder "Try As You May, You Can Never Get To Me, You Can Never Defeat Me Because It Would Take More Than The Likes Of You To Be Able To Defeat Me" said Zeus as his voice became the roar of thunder echoing throughout the Battlefield.

"Then So Be It, I Didn't Expect You To Beg Either" said Crius as he grew into his Titan form and towered over Zeus "but if you think you are some one big powerful being to look down on everyone you coke across, then you are in for a big surprise"

Crius said as a terrifying aura burst out of him pushing Zeus several meters back.

"She was right, this Crius guy is not to be taken lightly with, good thing I listened" said Zeus as he looked at a far side of the Battlefield where the Hekatonkheires and the Cyclopes are hidden and waiting for his signal.

He gave them the signal and they fired large boulders at Crius who sensed something aimed at him, he looked at where he could sense it from and saw large boulders flying towards him with incredible speed "all the big talks earlier and now resorting to trickery, I don't even know how you made it this far" said Crius as he destroyed the boulders before they could even get close to him.

"This is going to be one heck of a fight"

Chapter 60: Titanomachy 9: The Olympians Attack Back

Five Months Later

The Olympians arrived at the camp of the Titans a month ago and they had a few skirmish between them once in a while as they try to assess their strength but today, they are going to engage them in an all out war.

"This is is the day we take the fight to them, this the day that will mark the beginning of a New Era, today is the beginning of the end to an Old Era, today we make history" said Zeus as he stood at the forefront of the the Nymphs Army, The Daemon Army and the rest of their allies "bring down that wall"

Zeus said to the Hekatonkheires and the Cyclopes as they rained down stones on the wall of the camp trying to bring it down.

Titans Camp

"We can't wait any longer, the Olympians have decided to attack with all their forces, they are bringing the war to us, we can't just sit by and wait for the reinforcements from the other Realms" said Oceanus as he stood in Tue midst of all the Titans and faced Chronos..

BAM

Before they could say anything, they all heard the loud sound of something presumably a rock or a stone hitting their walls "they have already started, we can't wait anymore, we must go to war" said Oceanus.

Chronos sighed as he wasn't expecting things to escalate this soon but it seems that all of his plans are for naught "we go to war, but we have to send someone to go to the Realm of Kemet to ask for them to hasten their troops" said Chronos as he stood up and outside to confront the Olympians.

Oceanus nodded and followed him while sending one of his trusted commander to go deliver Chronos's message.

Meanwhile on the side of the Olympians, the Hekatonkheires and the Cyclopes has already broken the walls of the camp paving way for the armies to enter the encampment.

Zeus rained down lightening from the sky on the camp ripping the lives of many lesser gods.

Poseidon flooded the entire camp drowning unfortunate gods that were unable to swim or fly their way out of the water.

The gods who flew to avoid getting drown had Zeus to face which didn't end well for them.

The Olympians wiped out the entire armies of the camp in one fell swoop.

Chronos and the other Titans were surprised but now is not the time to dwell on that as they also have to face the Olympians.

Continue reading at

"You truly thought this through, you didn't even waste anytime and wiped out my Army, that's impressive, but if you think that it will be this easy, then you are wrong" said Chronos as he raised his hands and everything around them started going in reverse, the flesh of the gods that died to the assault of Zeus and Poseidon all were all heal in a reversal as they came back to live, the flooded camp went back to the way it was before Poseidon flooded it.

All the dead gods of the Titans were back as if they did not die in the first place and full of strength and ready to fight without any idea that they just died.

Zeus saw all of these and sighed but he was wasn't worried, that's why the Nymphs and the Daemons are here, to handle them "I wonder for how long you can be able to continue using this power of yours" said Zeus as his eyes sparkle with lightening and the sky roared as Zeus engaged Chronos in battle.

"You have no idea how things are going to turn out for you after now" said Chronos as he clashed with Zeus causing a massive shockwave that spread throughout the camp.

Somewhere around the camp, Lucifer, Aphrodite, Amaterasu, Amiel, Gaia, Rhea, Themis, Mnemosyne and Adamantheia were all speciating the war from the a space created by Lucifer as they stayed hidden.

"It won't be long before the reinforcements Chronos asks for would arrive, what are we going to do then" asked Adamantheia.

They saw when Oceanus sent his man to go tell the reinforcements to hurry up as things did not go according to plan.

"That's why Metis is not here, she left since a month ago to ready her ace plan, I reckon they should be on their way by now" said Amaterasu snuggled in the arms of Lucifer who stroke her hair.

Adamantheia sighed in relief before focusing on the battle taking place.

Oceanus was currently facing Poseidon as they used this medium to battle for the control of the oceans and other water bodies.

Hades faced off against Coeus and the injured Hyperion who despite the long period of time he spent on recuperating, he could not fully heal no mater what he did, it just as if the would has a life of its own.

"What are you doing with the two you capture, I doubt you would do anything like imprisoning them" said Zeus to Gaia who was focused on the war.

"They are in my domain sleeping peacefully, I plan to talk some sense into then after the war" said Gaia without taking her eyes off the Battlefield.

"You know one of them are going to die, right" said Lucifer as he looked at Chronos exchanging blows with Zeus or rather beating the crap out of Zeus thanks to his control of Time.

"I won't lose any of them" said Gaia.

"I beg to differ, by the time Poseidon are done with Oceanus and the other two Titans, they will join hands with Zeus to fight Chronos and I doubt he would let them use any of the chains you prepared for him" said Lucifer as he smiled as he saw Zeus finally land a blow at Chronos.

Gaia smiled also "you think I haven't thou of that? I did and I have something in store, they can go ahead and kill him"