

I'm The Devil

Chapter 71: Koguryō Realm

"Wait, can I also join you?"

They all turned to see Hestia running towards them, "I would like to join you on your vacation, I have been copped up here for all my life and I want to take a little break" said Hestia as she finally reached them.

Lucifer looked at her unsure of what her true reason for coming with them he just brushed it brushed it aside when he heard Aphrodite told her to hop in.

Together they all left the Greco Realm for a blissful Vacation.

Koguryō Realm

In a certain location of the Koguryō Realm, there gathered a crowd of people running up and down trying to put things in order, they are preparing for the Festival Of Awakening, a day where their God king opened his eyes after being so close to death.

They all thought that they would lose their God King, Sang Je that day but it so happened that he managed to survive.

He was brutally injured when trying to he wanted to make peace with the Realm of Greco during the reign of Ouranos but instead got betrayed by one of his one who wanted to prolonged the battle so that he can have the chance to become the God King after he dies.

But unfortunately for him and fortunately for Sang Je, he failed and was thrown into the prison to pay for his penance..

So after that day, the natives of Koguryŏ Realm has named the day Sang Je woke up as the Day of Awakening thus making it something worth celebrating.

Sang Je was in his palace overseeing all of these preparation when he felt an aura of a very powerful being. Explore more at

He immediately told each and every one of his gods to watch out for that person and not do anything to provoke or annoy that said person.

He quickly went out and looked from his balcony at the direction where he felt that aura.

Who he saw made him sweat but he calmed himself and flew towards the man who was surprisingly smiling as he ate from every stall he passes.

"I can see you like our ways"

A Few Minutes Ago

Lucifer and the girls just recently arrived in Koguryŏ Realm and what they saw left them in awe. The girls immediately left to explore and also save a spot for them while Lucifer took the Dragon to a stead meant for them.

After that, he left the stead and walked around, what he saw made him smile, he now know where the people of Modern Korea got their love for Noddles, Soju, Chicken and the other meats.

He could see how happy they were and missed the good old days back when he was still a human in his previous life.

He decided to try their food one by one and to say he was pleased would be had understatement.

"I can see you like our ways"

Lucifer turned around to see an old man with white hairs all over, he looks like those old sages in novels he read whenever he was bored.

"And you are supposed to be?" Lucifer asked the old man as he continued eating a very hot pork meat he just bought.

Shang Je smiled at the way Lucifer acted, truth be told, if he didn't know better he would not have believed that the man standing besides him is the famous Devil everyone has been talking about the Cosmos, he is very approachable.

"I am Sang Je, the Primal god and current God King of the Koguryŏ Realm, I have heard a lot about you and you don't live up to your reputation, is as if all those stories about are fabricated" said Sang Je as he also joined Lucifer.

"Aren't too old to still be the God King? Except you are like those old foggies who refuse to give up the throne because of greed which I highly doubt you have" said Lucifer as he couldn't sense any trace of greed from the man before him, it is as if he did not have any regards towards the throne and he seems tired also and just wanted to rest.

"My people refused to let me rest, saying I am a better God King, even my son seems to agree with them and no matter what I say or do, I will forever remain their God King" said Sang Je.

Lucifer shook his head and moves to another stall where they serve Noddles ordered two plates one for himself and the other for himself also, he has no intention of giving Sang Je anything.

Sang Je smiled at this and ordered one for himself "so what brings you here? I doubt you came for sightseeing" said Sang Je.

"That's what I am here for actually, you can say 'The Devil Is On Vacation With His Lovely Wives', which is true and since I met you, how about you be our tour guide?" Lucifer asked as he grinned at Sang Je and wanted to see his reaction.

"If that's really why you are here, then I will gladly be your tour guide" said Sang Je.

Lucifer brows furrowed together as he didn't get the reaction he was hoping for, he thought Sang Je would refuse and get angry at him for suggesting for him, a God King and a Primal god at that to be his tour guide but he got an entirely different reaction "interesting, I will be keeping my eyes on you" said Lucifer who laughed at how his stay here has gotten much more fun.

Sang Je also joined him to laugh drawing attention towards them but all they could see was two men having the best day of their lives.

"Why don't you come with me to my Palace, the Festival would soon begin" said Sang Je as he stood up.

"I will do just that, you can send your people to fetch my wives for me" said Lucifer as he created portrait of his wives and Hestia and gave it to Sang Je.

"Okay" Sang Je said as he took Lucifer back to his Palace.

Chapter 72: Koguryō Realm

The Divine Palace

The Divine Palace, the home of the Heavenly Father of the Koguryō Realm.

Lucifer and his wives and Hestia were all seated watching the Festivity from here with the Heavenly Father, Sang Je and his family.

"I wanted to make sure we have a better spot to sit but I didn't imagine we were going watch from the Divine Palace, how wonderful is that?" Said Amaterasu who was so happy right now.

"You are weirdly active this past few days, back in the Pangu Realm, you were so quiet and only speak when necessary" said Bast who have never seen the new Amaterasu as she was still at her Home Realm.

Amaterasu grinned and bite into her meat "back then, I had a duty and responsibilities because I was going to become the God King of my Realm but ever since I gave it up, I can be myself" she said to Bast.

Bast simply smiled before she turned her attention to the Festival.

"I have to see, you have eyes for beauties and they are incredibly powerful, I'm afraid I can't win against them in a fight" said Sang Je after seeing the four women who came with Lucifer.

"Yeah, and I am the only one who gets to call them beauties, but I'm willing to look the other way since we are bonding pretty well" said Lucifer with a terrifying smile.

Sang Je gulped really hard and pitied anyone who would make any silly comments about his wives.

After watching some performance from the people, Amaterasu dragged her man and his fellow wives to have fun and not sit around all day just watching people perform. This is a Festival and there are diverse other things they could do, like play games and all that and not moping around.

"Are you going to keep following me everywhere I go?" Said Lucifer to Sang Je who hasn't left Lucifer's side since he came to Koguryŏ Realm.

"I don't know what you are talking about, I am merely being your tour guide, you said it yourself" said Sang Je.

Lucifer sighed as he knew there was no way he get rid of Sang Je right now as he is very determined to stay by his side till he leaves Koguryŏ Realm.

He was afraid someone stupid would provoke Lucifer and that's not going to be good for him and the Realm.

He has made sure this Realm did not know what is violence for at least a millennium now and he is not going to let some stupid fool disrupt that peace.

"Fine do whatever you want, but I guess you are going to offend most of your fellow God Kings who are here to celebrate with you" said Lucifer as he followed the girls to their next destination.

The girls had a lot of fun throughout the entire day and could not wait for the next day as Lucifer had to call a time out for them as he was getting tired of being spied on by a certain someone.

Lucifer also had some fun but with Sang Je following him up and down like a pest, he had was not particularly happy.

Later That Night

After the eventful day, Sang Je called an emergency meeting with all the officials of his court.

"The reason I call this meeting is because we have someone here in our midst who we don't want to offend or even provoke" said Sang Je as he looked at everyone of the officials in their eyes, he cleared his throat and continued "the Devil is here in our midst and he is currently enjoying himself here in our Realm and I will like to keep it that way, I don't want you to go about acting all high and mighty around him, any where you see him, you humble yourself and give him the utmost respect you would give me, am I clear?"

"Yes, Heavenly Father" All the court officials all echoed in unison.

"Good, you are dismissed" said Sang Je.

"Heavenly Father, I have something to say" one of the court officials said.

Sang Je paused in his tracks and turned around to look who it was "go on" he said.

"Thank you for giving me the opportunity to speak, I just want to ask how long is the Devil planning on staying here? If he is going to stay longer even after the Festival, then maybe he can help us with our little situation" said the court official.

Sang Je sighed when he remembered recent attacks on the neighbouring Realm and how it was almost destroyed if not for some assistance by another Realm.

After investigations were carried out, they found out that, those attacks were caused by beings outside of their Cosmos and they knew that it was not Tue Devil or one of his peoples as these beings do not appear to be as strong as the Devil because a God King easily killed one of them during the face off.

But just last week, they heard another batch came and this time they easily destroyed that Realm before reinforcements could arrive and from the looks of things, they are next.

They have even supported suspicious activities at the boundary of their realm and given that they were a Peaceful Realm, they don't think they might be able to take care of this threat.

But with the Devil here, maybe he can be able to change the tide and save their from this predicament.

"I will see what I can do" said Sang Je before he left.

With that, the court officials all said their goodbyes and left as they still had a Festival to get back to.

The Next Day

"So you want me to help you with something like that?" Lucifer asked Sang Je who told him of what was going on "and you said a God King killed one if those foreigners easily and he is not even a Primal god?"

"Yes, I wouldn't have asked you to help but I don't think I can handle them only and due to the nature of my Realm, we lack the military power to defend ourselves" said Sang Je.

"You better start improving your military power after you survive this crisis" said Lucifer.

He was going to help them not because he wants to be a hero, no, it is because he is intrigued by what kind of people they were because he has no idea that his father has started his creation work for there to be some other beings other than the gods.

BOOOOOMMMM!!!!

Chapter 73: Angry Lucifer

BOOOOOMMMM!!!!

A loud noise sounded throughout the entire Realm.

Both Lucifer and Sang Je turned to look for the source only to find out that the explosion that caused the noise was actually coming from the Divine Palace.

"It is coming from your Palace and there is no way that those beings you talk about can easily infiltrate your Realm and your Palace without your notice, so that would mean, either your people have disrupted your peaceful lives or something else is going on, so spill" said Lucifer to Sang Je.

"Underneath that Palace is a personal prison I created for the one who betrayed me millenniums ago and I am afraid he has escaped" said Sang Je.

Without wasting anymore time, Sang Je flew to the Divine Palace while Lucifer went to look for his wives.

Divine Palace

It didn't take long for Sang Je to arrive at the Palace where he could see a large crater of hole down to the underground prison he built for the traitor.

He looked around and could not find a single soul around, he frowned and used his connection to the Realm to locate the Traitor "found you", Sang Je said as he flew back to the Festival ground.

Back at the Festival ground, Lucifer finally found his wives but before he could ask them how they were, he felt someone among the many crowds of people here who was not here in the first place and it seems he is at the same level as Sang Je which would mean one thing, he is the traitor that escaped.

Lucifer sighed as this was going to ruin his wives fun time, they are not going to be happy about it and he does not like when his women are not happy " stay here and have fun, I will be right back" said Lucifer as he turned around and left in the direction of the escapee.

After a few seconds, Lucifer saw a very jovial and cheerful man playing around amongst the crowd, it was as if he was not the one who just escaped, he was having fun right after he came out of prison, he must be up to something.

Before Lucifer could take another step, Sang Je already arrived and floated above the traitor "Seokga, stop your stupid charade and surrender yourself, you don't want to escalate things further, we all know how that ends" said Sang Je as he stared down at the traitor who turned out to be Seokga.

Seokga laughed out loud like a clown as he looked at Sang Je as if he was looking at another clown "I don't know how it will end without your little pesky pests, if you know what I mean" said Seokga as he disappeared from his current location.

The people around were shocked to find out that, the famous trickster was just here a moment ago and they didn't know, before they could Panick, Lucifer calmed them down through their minds as he did not want to disrupt the Festival to sadden his wives.

"Hey, get your Seokga guy or whatever out of here and deal with him somewhere else" said Lucifer as he turned around to leave only to stop as he heard another explosion and this time on the Festival ground.

BOOOOOMMMM!!!!

The entire Festival ground became chaotic as everyone ran away in fear of not being caught in whatever was going on, the entire Festival ground was thrown into disarray thereby disrupting the peaceful Festival.

"Oh, and he went ahead and did it himself, he is so dead" said Lucifer as he walked at the direction of the explosion where he could see Seokga sitting in an amusing manner with a smile on his face which greatly Lucifer "hey, I know we haven't met and you may not know about me given you were in prison all these while but I just want to let you know that you are going to die in the next five minutes, so just say your goodbyes to anyone but I doubt you have anyone"

Seokga grinned as he looked at the foreigner who came into his realm and acted all big and mighty "you said it yourself, I don't know who you are nor do I really care to now, so shuu before I make you lose your tongue" said Seokga as he wanted for Sang Je to arrive.

"Too bad you are going to die a little earlier than planned, so instead of five minutes, you have just a minute to say your goodbyes" said Lucifer.

Seokga frowned as the man before him was still so adamant to kill him despite being an outsider or is he not afraid of offending the entire Koguryŏ Real, "do you know where you are? You are currently in the Koguryŏ Realm and you are surrounded by all of the gods here, even if they want to kill me as bad as you do, this is our Realm's personal matters" said Seokga.

Lucifer was getting really pissed with this Seokga guy "you are annoying, another reason to kill you. Your time's up"

Lucifer said as he raised his hands and increased the gravitational force around Seokga forcing him down to his knees "you should have run away the moment you escaped, but you choose to stay and in that moment, your fate was sealed, don't worry I will say your goodbyes for you"

[DEVOUR]

A black like substance appeared on Seokga and devoured him at an extremely fast speed, not even giving him the chance to scream. After the body of Seokga was devoured, the black like substance flew to Lucifer's palm and then into his being.

As soon as Lucifer got rid of Seokga, Sang Je appeared on the scene but didn't find any trace of Seokga, he sighed as he knew what has happened to the traitor but what he did not get was where was the body "where is Seokga's body?" He asked the one person that can provide him with the answer.

"Devoured, he wasn't even that delicious. If you don't mind, I have to get back to my wives" said Lucifer as he flew out of there.

A/N

Your gift is the motivation for my creation. Give me more motivation! Have some idea about my story? Comment it and let me know.

Chapter 74: Meeting

A few weeks past since the escape of Seokga and his early demise after that.

Lucifer and his wives still stayed back as there Vacation was just getting started.

They explored the entire Seokga Realm within just two weeks without rest or break, they were that determined.

The girls also had Hestia open up about her feelings for Lucifer when he wasn't around and they decided to play matchmakers for her and their husband.

Present

Lucifer and Sang Je with the rest of the Court Gods all gathered in the Heavenly Palace to discuss about the foreign beings lurking around in their borders.

"It has been decided that we are now going to focus on our military power as we are very lacking in that department and we have seen the result of that during the Festival of Awakening where Seokga escaped from his confinement while in the meantime, Lucifer would take care of the otherworlders lurking around our Realm waiting to attack us when we least expect" said Sang Je to the Court Gods.

"That's a wise decision, but if we are now going to focus on increasing our military power, does that mean we are going to forsake our pacifist ways" said one of the Court Gods.

Sang Je shook his head while smiling "we are not going to forsake our ways, we are just merely going to protect ourselves that's why I am suggesting that our Army should focus their training on the use of Shields and Staffs, they are non lethal weapons, it also goes well with our nature" said Sang Je while creating a wooden spear and a shield.

Lucifer shook his head when he looked at this vegetarian Gods, when he gave Sang Je the idea to increase the Military Power of Koguryŏ Realm, he didn't expect him to suggest they fight with spears and shields!!

He was very disappointed but he couldn't do anything about it, it is the way they want to live their lives so he should respect their wishes.

But he have to say, their way of live has kept them from the brutal nature of war like the Titanomachy but that does not mean everything will always be like this, nothing is going to last forever, not even peace.

So he decided to help the Koguryŏ Realm train some of their war gods to become better fighters, terrors in the battlefield so that they can better protect themselves in time of need because being a pacifist ain't going to cut it for them in the grand scheme of things.

"I have a proposal for you so called pacifists, why don't you let me train your gods of war and turn them into a force to be reckoned with?

Just say the word and I promise you, no Realm in the ever expanding Cosmos would dare pick a fight with you, you can train your army in the use of Staffs and Shields while you have the Swords, the Spears and every lethal weapons out there" said Lucifer as he looked at every one of the Gods seated here before he continued "your Staffs and Shields can defend your Realm while the Swords can protect your Realm hidden behind all of those Shields.

So what do you say, 'o Heavenly Father'"

Sang Je fell into a contemplative state as he could see the wisdom in Lucifer's words but doing so will be going against what he believes and what he made everyone in his Realm believe in.

"I think we should take him on his offer, Heavenly Father" said one of the Court Gods.
Experience more tales on

The others also nodded as they very much liked the idea.

Sang Je sighed as he saw all of the Court Gods are officially on board with the idea so he decided to give it a go "okay, you can train the gods of war, they are getting rusty during the years also, they can stretch their muscles with you" said Sang Je as every god of war or those that have relation to wars were happy.

"You bet your ass they will" said Lucifer earning him a lot of stares from Sang Je and the Court Gods "oh, come on, can't I use this word also?"

"No you can't" said Sang Je.

"Fine, you all can go fvck yourselves, then" said Lucifer.

Ever since Lucifer stayed in the Heavenly Palace, Sang Je has prohibited him from saying certain words as it was not welcome here but Lucifer being Lucifer didn't listen and do as he pleases and this time he spoke it frequently just so he could piss Sang Je off.

Sang Je sighed and rubbed his forehead as he was about to have another headache "fine do as you please. But I was thinking of something, if you were to train the gods of war, then how are you going to face the otherworlders lurking around the Realm?" Sang Je asked as nobody even thought that far except him as he was the one to ask Lucifer personally.

When Lucifer heard Sang Je, he raised a brow in confusion and looked at Sang Je "when did I ever say that I was going to train anyone" he asked.

All of the Court Gods and Sang Je stared at Lucifer in confusion also as he was clearly the one who made the suggestion a few minutes ago and now he was going to change his mind? Or does he have a double personality?

"But you just said it yourself" said one of the Court Gods.

"Oh, that, sorry my bad, when I said about training you, I didn't mean me per say, come on, I Am The Devil, it will be degrading of my status if I were the one to train them" said Lucifer as he grinned at the gods who were just looking at him with death glares but that's all they could do.

"I actually have a person in mind who is going teach them, and he should be here right about now" said Lucifer.

As soon as Lucifer said those words, the door to the Hall opened and in came a red haired muscular man, carrying a huge sword behind his back.

"Hello, brother, nice of you to join us"

Chapter 75: Satanael Arrives in Koguryō Realm

Few Minutes Ago

Satanael and Susanoo were on their way to the palace of the Shinto God king after being summoned 100 years ago when Amaterasu decided to give up her claim to the throne for something they were not allowed to know.

When they both got to the Palace, they made their way towards the main hall where Izanagi and his wife, Izanami must be waiting for them.

The moment Satanael opened the door and took a step into the hall, he was immediately transported to a whole entire Realm.

Present Time

"Hello, brother, nice of you to join us" said Lucifer to Satanael who was confused as to where he was but knew it was the hand work of the Devil the moment he heard his voice.

"Lucifer" said Satanael as he looked at the ever smiling Lucifer which was annoying to him every much "where am I?" He asked.

Enjoy new adventures from

"Well, you are currently in his Realm, I just summoned you here" said Lucifer as he pointed at Sang Je before he stood up and walked to his brother while still having his smile "well, I brought you here so that you can give these Realm's gods of war some training, the one Michael taught you personally, train them that way"

Satanael widen his eyes when he heard what Lucifer said, he was talking about the special training Michael taught him, a training that could even turn a toddler into a fierce warrior, what was he planning? But he will have to disappoint him on this one.

"I can't, I can't do that, and that's not because I don't want to, and you know I won't but because the moment we were cast down to heal, Michael stripped everything I know about his special training from me, I can only use some few moves but that's that, I can't do anything other than that" said Satanael.

Lucifer looked at him carefully looking for any form of deceit from him but he found none "that bastard, always one step ahead" said Lucifer as he frown after hearing that "okay, then, since you can't train them that way, you should just train them your way then, after all you are my Michael here"

Lucifer said before going back to his seat.

"And why should I do as you say? I don't have any obligation to teach this brats and besides I have better things to do to waste my time here" said Satanael as he turned around to leave.

"Like building an army using your little protege, Susanoo?"

Satanael stopped in his tracks when he heard what Lucifer said.

"Oh yes, I do know about the little stunt you have been planning along but it isn't worth my time, you are beneath me and you will be, now train the brats while I'm being nice" said Lucifer as he appeared in front of his brother with glaring red eyes.

Satanael looked back at Lucifer creating tension in the air to the extent it even made the Gods uncomfortable.

"Fine you win, I will do as you say" said Satanael as he knew he can never win against Lucifer no matter how hard he tries. So he finally took the advice of that greedy bastard, Moronuel as he gave up every plan he has of rebelling against Lucifer since he was already outed.

Lucifer smiled and patted Satanael on the shoulder "good, this is how you should act, always listen to my word and we will all be good" said Lucifer as he turned to Sang Je and the rest of the Court Gods "this is my brother, he is going to be your new commander for the meantime, do well not to offend him, he is easily prone to anger but he is the best at what he does"

Lucifer said as he went back to take his seat.

"So who are the brats that I am going to train and don't tell me it is all of them here" said Satanael as he looked at the Court Gods.

The Court Gods frowned anytime they hear him call them brats. They are great grand parents for crying out loud and looking at Satanael he seems way younger than them to be calling them brats but they could only lament in their mind.

"So the Devil has a brother, I never knew and I thought you only have underlings" said Sang Je who immediately regretted what he said as he felt an insurmountable aura pressed unto him making him sweat profusely.

"Stop it Satanael" said Lucifer as he could see the state of Sang Je.

Satanael stopped releasing his aura unto Sang Je as he turned around "The brats who I am going to train should follow me and show me the training ground in the process and while we are at it, you should find someone who can reinforce the training ground because I am about to bring hell to you" he said.

Immediately he said that, the gods of war stood up and followed him and showed him the way to their training domain which has been closed down for millennium now.

"You heard him, get someone to starting reinforcing your training ground" said Lucifer to Sang Je as he smiled.

"Actually there is no need for that, we don't have a training ground here" said Sang Je while making an awkward laugh.

Lucifer eyes widened as he stood up "what? What did you mean by you don't have a training ground and you did not say anything and even allowed your gods of war to go with him? Do you know their fate when he finds out that there is no training ground and nobody told him?" He said pitying those gods.

Sang Je laughed out loud that it made the remaining Court Gods laughed also "you did not let me finish, when I said we don't have a training ground, I did not mean we don't have a place to train, we do and it is more of a Domain than a ground" said Sang Je.

Lucifer sighed and shook his head "you have a training domain and yet you are all a Pacifist, you all are bunch of fools" Lucifer said as the other gods all laughed.

Chapter 76: Brutal Training

"You guys go ahead without me, I have to take care of some few things here before coming back" said Lucifer to his wives and Hestia.

Continue reading at

After enjoying their stay here, the girls decided it was time to go home but they decided on a bad time as Lucifer still has a few things to handle like the Otherworlders and now Satanael who was currently training the war gods in the training domain, he can't just leave him here alone less he turned them into his own personal army.

"When will you be coming back then?" Aphrodite asked him.

Lucifer placed his hands on his chins and raised his heads as if he was thinking something "hmmm, let's just say I will be back before you even know it" said Lucifer as he kissed each and every one of his wives before seeing them off.

After they left, he went to the training domain to take a look at how things have progressed and also observe his brother, Satanael.

When he got there, he saw Sang Je also sitting and observing the training.

Lucifer appeared next to him and also sat down "so what do you think of the training, impressive right?" Lucifer said as soon as he sat down.

"Yeah, I have to say, your brother is really good at what he does, but it feels like you take his frustration out on them which they complain about every time they come back from their training" said Sang Je.

Lucifer smiled and didn't say anything, he could understand Satanael on this one, if it was even him, they would all be bleeding right now, doing something for someone whom you hate so much but can't refute them, it is very frustrating.

"I see you don't want to say anything but if you could please talk to him and make him reduce the intensity of their training, it is going to help a lot" Sang Je pleaded on the war gods behalf.

Lucifer shook his head "no can do, they are better off right now, if I give him anymore orders, then they would not even have the strength to make out words again with their mouth.

Sang Je dropped the topic as it seems there is no more hope for them anymore and they should just bare till they finish their training with him.

"You know, I have noticed several things these past few days and I can say that both of you look nothing alike and yet you say you are brothers, how's that?" asked Sang Je.

"Well, he is adopted so I guess that's the reason" said Lucifer who was grinning as he saw the way Sang Je nodded as if he has finally understand something. Lucifer could not hold it anymore and bursts out laughing "you should see the look on your face, it was really priceless"

"He isn't adopted, is he?" Sang Je asked Lucifer after realizing he was just played for a fool just now.

"Of course not, none of us were adopted, we are all our Father's children, it is just that we are our persons and not some mindless creature who should act the same way" said Lucifer still laughing.

Sang Je sighed after hearing what Lucifer said but something caught his interest, his interest was piqued the moment Lucifer said something about having a Father.

He didn't know the Devil had a Father, he thought he was a primal being just like him and the rest of the primordial gods but it seems that there are something more that he doesn't know.

But then again, he looked at Lucifer and wondered how he was these strong if he wasn't a primal being and if he has a Father, then how strong would He being.

"Don't bother to ask, he is incomprehensible even for us, his children" said Satanael who appeared and sat with them.

Sang Je gulped as he felt the suffocating aura emanating from Satanael.

"You should stop doing that and put it under control, we are no longer at home, we are among people who can't withstand your overbearing aura" said Lucifer as he stared down at Satanael.

Satanael raised his hands in surrender and control his aura.

Sang Je sighed in relief before looking at Satanael who looked back at him and he could swear he saw Satanael's lips move upward slightly which is significantly a rare sight to behold.

And that the training for the day ended and all the war gods dragged their tired body back to their home.

Ten Years Later

And that's how Satanael trained these gods for a total of ten years before they became really adept at fighting and even give Sang Je some hard time.

Today, Satanael and his trainees gathered at the training domain who had happy expressions on their face as they are finally getting rid of the Devil's brother today for good.

"Why I called you here is to say, congratulations, you have all passed the first phase of the training and now, we are about to begin the second phase of the training, so don't get too complacent, if you think back then was Hell, then I'm sorry to disappoint you, that was just you on your way to Hell, and what you are about to face is you getting closer to Hell" said Satanael.

The moment the war gods heard what he said, their happy faces immediately turned ashen grey as they looked at their Heavenly father and asked him for help but all they could get was just his pity looks.

Sang Je was have pity for his war gods but he can't stop them now, not after what he saw that it achieved, his war gods are now becoming a force to be reckoned with and it won't be long before he even create a secret group for them and have them as his ace cards, his hidden trump card in case of any emergencies.

"It is for the best, fighting" said Sang Je as he left after giving them a word of encouragement.

Chapter 77: Demon God

Spatial Boundary of the Koguryō Realm

After confirming that Satanael was in his best behaviour, he left to take care of the other matter keeping him here, the otherworlders.

"All Right, You All Can Come Out Now, I Don't Have The All Day To Be Standing Here Waiting For You To Attack" yelled Lucifer calling out the lurkers.

Everywhere was silent and nobody came out, it was as if Lucifer was all there by himself talking to himself like a madman. Explore more stories with

"Okay, Since You want To Play That Way, I Will Gladly Indulge You" said Lucifer as he grinned and disappeared from his current location only to appeared a few meters away from where he was and grabbed a shadowy figure hiding behind a huge huge floating there "you are busted"

Lucifer as he threw the person at another figure hiding around.

"I've got two of your people now, I supposed that should get your asses out, right?" he said as he looked at an empty space where he could feel an intense aura.

"Such a foul word from someone of your caliber and appearance, didn't your parents teach you better than that?"

The space around that area folded and out came a very breathtaking woman with slim build, very tall, white flowing long hairs, white pupils and a red lotus tattoo on her forehead.

Lucifer looked at the woman from her head down to her toes and wondered where they could have come from but he couldn't pinpoint where exactly but he knew that the way she appeared was very familiar to certain descriptions of some group of people, but during his years here, his memories of his past life has become foggy, he could only remember major things like the gods around him.

"And you are staring way too much, I'm afraid your parents must be disappointed to have a pervert as a son" said the woman while smiling.

Hearing that, Lucifer came back to his senses "and from the way you carry yourself, I can guess you have many people fawning over you that they completely forgot to tell you how rude you are" said Lucifer as he watched every movement.

"That's not how to talk to our senior sister" said one of the otherworlders who just appeared all over the place.

Lucifer frown when he heard the way the boy called the woman and instantly burst out laughing as he finally figured out what or who these people are "don't tell me you lots are cultivators" he said while laughing.

The woman frown as this was the first time the people of this plane knew what they were "yes we are and how do you know about that?" Said the woman.

Lucifer laughed as he shook his and looked at the stupid boy who raised his voice at him because he wanted to earn a brownie point from his Senior Sister, he raised his hands and aimed it at the boy like a gun and a red beam left his hands and flew at an extremely fast speed and pierced the forehead of the young boy, ending his pathetic life "headshot" said Lucifer as he smiled.

The other otherworlders all gasped as two of them went to hold the body of the boy who was just killed "what did you do to my brother?" One of the otherworlders asked as icy smokes came out of his hands.

Before the man could attack, the woman raised her hands stopping him from doing anytime anymore, they were facing someone even she could not get an accurate reading on.

Lucifer smiled at the wise choice of the woman "wise decision and here I thought given the nature if you cultivators, after I kill one of your own you all would attack me which would led to all of your deaths and while the last one who managed to hang on to the thread of life would look me in the eyes and tell, 'you have done a terrible mistake by killing all of us here, our Heavenly Lotus Sect will hunt you down for the rest of your life'.

But you managed to stop all of that with just a raise of your hands which makes me believe you have a very important position amongst these brats, which means you are also important to me now" said Lucifer as he pointed at the white haired woman.

As soon as the otherworlders saw who the hands were pointed at, they immediately went to cover her and were ready to take the hit for her.

"Relax, if I want to kill you all, I can just do that with just a snap of my fingers but I didn't which means something" said Lucifer.

The woman sighed and wondered who the man is, and she didn't realize it before but he does not appear to be like the people of this Plane they were about to explore , he seems different "who are you? And how did you know we are cultivators?

I have been in this Plane for a long time now to know that nobody knows about who we are not until you show up, it is either one of us here betrayed us or you are also a cultivator and a very powerful one at that to be able to make bold statements like the ones you said earlier" she said.

Lucifer smiled as he vanished from his spot and appeared in front of her causing the otherworlders to make a jump at him but they were unable to move "you were so rude to me earlier when you first arrived but now, you are acting all meek, which is boring to me to say, so why don't you go back to being rude" said Lucifer as he stared down at her.

"And what, do that you can have a good cause to kill me?" Said the woman as she also looked at Lucifer without blinking.

"Now this is what I am talking about, that look, that tone, this is the real you, and you should not change it just because someone is stronger than you, it just makes the person look down on you even less well that's people like me not some perverted bastards" said Lucifer as he walked around the woman "and as for your question about who I am, you can call me the Demon God"

Chapter 78: Getting Rid of Idiots

"and as for your question about who I am, you can call me the Demon God"

The woman raised her brow in confusion as she has no idea what Lucifer was talking about.

Lucifer could see the confusion in her eyes and wondered if they do not have any demonic cultivators in their world.

If what he thinks is true, then this is going to be so much fun.

"I have no idea who you are but I get it you are strong and we are not a match against you but you don't want to mess with the force behind us" said the white haired woman.

"Hmm, let me guess, if I kill you lots right now, then your sect will attack this Cosmos with full force just to avenge you" said Lucifer as he knew how all these cultivators act.

They prey on the weak, worship the strong, kill effortlessly and with no remorse but when someone kills one of their own, they act as if their whole world is dead and they will stop at nothing to get their revenge.

The white haired woman looked right into the eyes of Lucifer trying to discern what his motives are but she could not get a clear reading.

Lucifer could have just killed all of the cultivators here and be done with but he did not want to, he has another plan of his own. It is not everyday you get to see a cultivator especially in a Cosmos filled with countless gods and deities, he wanted a new adventure and they have just presented their selves to him.

"Well, I can spare your lives only on one condition" said Lucifer as he smiled at the white haired woman.

"What do you want?" She said.

Lucifer smile turned into a grin as he looked at all the cultivators she brought with her "I want them to become my servants and you, you are to stay by my side at all times until I say otherwise" Lucifer said.

"Ho dare you say that the Jade Beauty of our Petrea Empire? Do you have a death wish?" Said one of the male cultivators while glaring at Lucifer as if he could kill him with just a stare.

Lucifer frowned as he heard that brat, it seems he should show them why he called himself a Demon God.

"Honestly, I've changed my mind, I don't need all of you, I only want her, I just wanted to take you along as a gesture of goodwill but you all can die now, you are of no use to me" said Lucifer as he snapped his fingers.

Immediately Lucifer snapped his fingers, all of the cultivators were caught on on fire and not just any fire but Hellfire.

The white haired woman ran quickly to her two maidservants and her best friends to quickly put out the flames.

Her aura changed as she emitted a chilling cold from her body that even made the nearby space break due to the intensity of her icy aura.

She released a stream of ice particles at her maidservants trying to put out the fire.

But it was as if the heaven was mocking her, instead of the ice particles to put out the fire, it serves as a fuel for the intensity of the flames increased making the Maidservants scream in pain even more.

Seeing as her ice particles wasn't working, she switched to water, a natural enemy of fire.

But the results was still the same, with the water serving as fuel to the Hellfire.

Read latest stories on

Losing all hope, she turned to the one person that caused all of these to happen, the one who calls himself The Demon God.

"Please, I beg stop whatever thing you are doing to them, I will do anything you ask of me but please stop this madness" pleads the white haired as tears were already streaming down her cheeks.

Lucifer sighed when he saw her crying, if it was any other time, he would not have been compelled to listen to her but he knew if his wife, Amaterasu was here, she would have berate him for making a girl cry while telling him 'that's not a way to treat a woman', he just shook his head and looked at the white haired woman.

"Do you care about these brats so much that you even shed tears for them?" Lucifer asked her as he didn't understand why she would be crying for all of the cultivators here.

"Why should I care about those fools, I only want you to stop what you are doing to them" said the white haired woman as she pointed at her two maidservants to Lucifer.

"Ooh" said Lucifer as he finally understood what was going on here, it must be that those two girls mean a lot to her and she couldn't stand to lose them "well, I can do that but the other ones are dying" said Lucifer as he snapped his fingers once again and the Hellfire on the maidservants vanished.

The other not so lucky Cultivators turned to ashes as Lucifer decided to end their suffering.

The white haired woman immediately ran to hug her maidservants and sighed in relief that they averted that dreadful fate.

When they were on fire, she could see that it was burning their physical flesh but they were in so much pain that made her believe that those flames were not hurting their physical flesh but their very soul and that is the worst and most dangerous form of attack known to cultivators.

She turned to Lucifer and bowed "thank you for sparing them, I am forever in your debt" she said.

Her maidservants also joined her and thanked Lucifer for showing mercy.

Lucifer shook his hands and told them to raise their heads up "now that we were able to come to a mutual understanding, I think you should start telling me about your world or whatsoever you call it and when I say everything, I meant everything from the ancient history of your world to the present day".

Chapter 79: The First Cultivator

10 million years ago

A group of winged men and women fell on a vast expanse of land creating several craters.

They all stood up and looked around where they were when suddenly changes started to occur on their bodies.

All of the winged men and women all had their wings fall off their bodies, except for a certain two.

Their grace was stripped from them and they lost their celestial heritage. They now became normal mortals including the remaining winged man and woman.

"Where are we? And why have we lost our grace?" Said one of the women as she could feel that she could not even muster any bit of her strength and she was as weak as an ant. She could not even hold a single candle to her base strength back when she was still a celestial. Find exclusive stories on

"We have failed the rebellion, we didn't win and I'm afraid this is our punishment, being stripped from Father's grace" said another woman with white hairs, white eyes and a beautiful appearance which she still maintained even when stripped from grace.

The first woman frowned when she heard that, she was completely dejected as she fell butt hard on the ground "so what will happen to us? Where is Samael, he can tell us what to do now" the woman said as she stood up and immediately looked amongst the several fallens while yelling "SAMAEL, SAMAEL, WHERE ARE YOU, YOU ARE THE ONLY ONE WHO CAN MAKE SENSE OF WHAT'S GOING ON HERE"

The white haired woman sighed as she held the shoulder of the screaming woman "Ophiel, calm down, I don't think Samael is here" the white haired woman said after she scanned the entire crowd of Fallens but could not find Samael or her other 6 siblings, Satanael, Asmodeus, Bariel, Amiel, Coriel and Morunuel, she believed that their sentence were not going to be a light one but then why was she here and not there with them, she did not know.

"We should assess the situation and figure out where we are and what to do" said a man who was also like the white haired woman, despite being stripped of their grace, they still had a celestial appearance.

They were another two Archangels who sided with Samael in the rebellion.

They were fortunate enough to not end up in Hell just like the their other archangels siblings not that they even know.

"Exousia, you can't tell me to calm down, we have been stripped of our grace and thrown out into a Father forsaken place and Adriel, who told you, you could tell us what to do or have you made yourself a leader since Samael isn't here anymore" said Ophiel as she glared at the two Archangels.

Ophiel could talk back at the Archangels because she was also someone of a rank just a second to the Archangels, she is a Cherubim, someone of immense power that could even rival some Archangels (Seraphims) and come out as the victor.

Adriel, the male Archangel frowned as he looked at Ophiel "just because we have been stripped of our grace does not make us equals and I am not Exousia that would tolerate your nonsense, so shut up and let me figure out what's going on here" said Adriel as he walked pass Ophiel who was already clenching her fist to the point of cutting into herself as she began bleed.

Exousia held her and hugged her while stroking her head to calm her down. She could understand what Ophiel is currently going through, they have been stripped of their grace, the only thing that makes them children of their Father, now with that grace stripped, they have lost their identity, they are disowned by their Father and would never have the chance to ever go back home.

And that's how the Fallen Angels made a place for themselves in this strange land.

Thanks to their knowledge and the abundance of resources which they happened to come across after exploring the strange land after 27 years.

They decided to settle in that region and build a very large city which would later be known as the City of the Divines.

Due to their grace being stripped, they developed carnal desires for one another or so they called it and married one another.

They started a family of their own, expanded their city, created several advance stuffs could back at their home, they were building the exact replica of their home.

Exousia and Adriel became the leader of this new civilization but they did not get married to each other and just ruled side by side.

Everything went all like this until one faithful day when one of the angels stumbled upon a large mine filled with glimmering stones of diverse colours.

He was marvelled by this sight and wanted to know what's up with this stones, so he took a step inside, that single step created a whole new era to the people of the Divine Celestial Myraid Plane, The Emergence Era.

The moment the angel now mortal took a step inside, a burst of weird energies burst out of the mines and spread throughout the entire plane filling it with a new energy.

The people figured out that as they inhaled this new energy that has become the new air they breathe, they felt their body become stronger, they felt energized.

Exousia who was in her chambers meditating before this happened, experienced the full impact of this new atmospheric change.

As soon as she inhaled this new form of energy, she unconsciously distributed it into her 14 meridians causing it to open simultaneously while being filled to the brim one after the other until all fourteen were all filled up.

She opened her eyes as she noticed this change in her body. She closed her eyes once again as she wanted to examine her body when all of a sudden, her 14 meridians connected together and formed a small orb of Icy Ball below her belly button with and her entire visage changed to that of a Ice goddess.

She unknowingly became the first ever known cultivator to the people of the Divine Celestial Myriad Plane.

Chapter 80: Sea Of Chaos

After figuring what was up with her body and how she aged backwards, she became more stronger even though it was not like when she was an Archangel.

She decided investigate the source of this new found power.

When she first experience this change in her body was when she was meditating when a sudden burst of energy filled the entire atmosphere.

She believed that this sudden increase in her strength was because of the weird energy in the air.

She immediately stood up and went out of her room to see if there was someone else who experienced the same thing as her.

When she got out, she noticed that everybody was just going on with their day as if nothing happened but due to her recent breakthrough, she found out that she now could gauge the amount of that weird energy in everybody she lays her eyes on.

"What is this energy and why does my one centered below my abdomen whereas theirs is located around their 14 meridians" said Exousia who became studying the difference between her and the others.

And that's how she research this weird energy even tracking it to it's source when the man who chanced upon it reported it to her a few weeks after he has gotten himself enough of that glimmering stones.

The mine and the people around her and herself became Exousia's experiment on this weird energy.

It took her almost a year but she couldn't get anywhere with her research and decided to label the weird energy as Heavenly Energy.

During the one year, she has seen what this Energy could do. She sat down in a lotus position during one of her research to replicate that incident that led to all of these and found out that anytime she inhales this energy, she noticed that, that ball of ice was getting filled up slowly.

She was contended with the speed at which it gets filled, so she devised a new breathing method and noticed that the speed increase greatly.

When the ball of ice got filled up completely, she experience yet another breakthrough and felt her strength increased greatly.

She then came to a conclusion that this weird energy is like a new form of grace but instead from being from their Father but they can't grow in power when they had their grace but with this new found energy, she believed that it is only a matter of time before they surpass their previous selves.

That's how she not only become the First Cultivator but she became the Goddess of Cultivation as ushered in the new era.

She created techniques after techniques, suited for everyone as she found out that everybody has different elements that they are attuned to.

And that's how the cultivators came to be in the vast Cosmos hidden from even the gods themselves.

Present Time

"As time went by, the cultivation realms were named, sects were established, empires and kingdoms were built and that's not the only change" said the white haired woman as she looked directly at Lucifer who was seated on his throne in the Devil's Peak at the Pangu Realm listening to the origin of the Cultivators as he believes that they would not just magically appear.

"Continue" said Lucifer with a serious expression on his face.

The white haired woman sighed as she continued "when the first cultivators cultivated to a certain realm, they experienced drastic changes in both their appearance and bloodlines. They experienced what we call a Bloodline Awakening, a latent power that resides within certain cultivators, presumably the first cultivators as they have been the only ones to ever experience that.

After the Bloodline Awakening, some became Dragons, some Phoenixes, some Lesser Angels, some Spirit Beings, some Elves and many more.

As a result of this sudden changes, the different races built different empires in the continent but the major power of the Divine Celestial Myriad Plane is the City of The Divines where Exousia and Adriel, the first rulers currently resides" she said finishing her story.

Lucifer silently sat there as he processed everything this white haired cultivator just said. He just found out that his three other siblings are alive along with the one third of the forces of Heaven which changed everything he was believed.

He looked at the white haired woman and said "who is Exousia to you?" He asked.

"She is my mother, my name is Celestia, daughter of the Ice Dragon, the First Cultivator, the Goddess of Cultivation.."

Continue your journey on

"Shut up, I just wanted to know her relationship with you and not your title or Whatnots" said Lucifer cutting Celestia from speaking any further.

Celestia bowed her head in embarrassment as she saw that Lucifer didn't show any reaction even after he heard who her mother is.

"That explains why you look like her, but now I am curious about who your father is"

Lucifer said as he knew Exousia was someone who would not let a man touch her and now he heard that she has a daughter, of course, he would be intrigued to know the lucky dog who managed to win her heart.

"Alright, you lots would stay in the Palace for the time being while I take care of things around here before I tell you what to do next" said Lucifer as he immediately teleported out of the girls view.

"Miss, why don't we use this chance to escape, I highly doubt that he would notice" said one of the maidservants.

Celestia frowned and shook her head after thinking of the pros and cons if they should escape "don't even think about that, we can't escape from him, he is very much powerful, if we were to rank him based on the cultivation realms, then I'm afraid that he is at the same level as my mother, we don't want to take that risks and even if we do manage to escape, we are completely in a strange land, so it will only put us in more danger" she said as she sat on Lucifer's throne.

"If what you say is true, then why are you sitting on his throne, that's disrespect to him, you know" said the other maidservant.

Celestia chuckled as she ran her hands through the armchairs "at least I did not try to escape and I don't see any other chairs around, it is as if he does not want anybody to have the luxury to sit at his court" she said.

Meanwhile Lucifer who just left the Pangu Realm, appeared at a very empty area as he came to ponder in silence without any disturbances.

10 million years ago, when the Primordial gods were born, he thought that they were the fallen angels that were casts out of Heaven but now it seems that wasn't the case which means the Primordial gods are entirely new beings.

But what he didn't get was that, no matter how powerful his Father was, he will never focus on two different at a time unless it was of immediate attention but that was not the case here.

Which means the Primordial gods came to existence on their own or something what there was responsible for their creation, something at the same level as his Father.

"Something at the same level as Him, I can't think of anybody that's is at his level unless.." Said Lucifer as he paused as if he has gained an epiphany on the situation at hand. After a while, his face morphed into a frown as he looked at the direction where Nyx used to leave the Cosmos "Khaos, the Everlasting Darkness"

Lucifer finally figured out who or what could be at the level of his Father or even dare to stand their ground against him, there is only one person in mind and that is none other than Khaos, the Primogenitor of Discord, Disorder, the First Darkness, the Everlasting Darkness, the One Opposite to the Light, the One Who was there before the Light came, The Entity of Nothingness.

And he now know where that said entity resides, and it seems like he has just sent his sister and brother to their eventual death.

Without wasting anymore time, Lucifer willed his wings out and flew at light speed as he left the Cosmos within few breaths.

He appeared in the Sea of Chaos (Khaos) and spread out his range of perception to look for his siblings but found out that the moment he entered the Sea of Chaos (Khaos), his senses were numbed and he could only rely on his eyes to look for his siblings.

He did not waste another second as he proceeded forward, his siblings lives were at stake and he is not going to dilly dally for another second trying to get his perception power to work.

Elsewhere

In the very center of the Sea of Chaos, a woman with long flowing black hairs, eyes as black as the darkest abyss with a disheveled look, chained from all corners, she looked at a certain location as she smiled and whispered "finally he is here"