

THE ELITE ASSASSIN BECOMES A FLAT AND UGLY NERD!

Chapter 11

Getting First Place in the Year

Only a passing grade? Shan Yue thought. Did she look down on her that much?

With a serious expression, Shan Yue crossed her arms and said with extreme confidence, "What if I get first in the grade?"

"First place in the grade? Heh." Sun Ling sneered as if she had heard a huge joke. She looked Shan Yue up and down. By now, she was basically certain that Shan Yue was mentally unstable. How many marks did a bottom student get for the exam?

Unwilling to talk nonsense with Shan Yue anymore, Sun Ling spat and said, "If you can be the first in the grade, I'll give you all my belongings. I'll even cut off my head and let you kick it like a ball!"

With that, Sun Ling glared at Shan Yue again and turned to leave. As she walked, she cursed in a low voice, "This damn girl is really crazy. I'll have to call the mental hospital to pull her away one day, but I'll have to pay to send her to the mental hospital. Damn it, why did I give birth to such a thing..."

During the weekend, Shan Yue did not stay idle. She left early every day and returned late every day. First, she jogged a few kilometers to warm up. Then, she went to the park near her house to practice her combat skills and try to regain her former feeling.

After gradually adapting to this body, Shan Yue discovered another extremely useful combat method. That was to make good use of her weight advantage. Although she could not punch or kick hard, she could crush her opponent to death just by relying on her huge weight!

During this period, Sun Ling and Shan Xing had also attacked and mocked her many times. However, when they realized that Shan Yue was unmoved no matter how they scolded her, and even had no reaction at all, they gradually lost interest. They only used Shan Yue's matters as entertainment when they were bored, but Shan Yue did not take them seriously at all.

Shan Yue's father, Shan An, still worked hard at the construction site to support the family. When he returned home, he fell asleep immediately. Therefore, at home, the person who interacted with Shan Yue the most was her younger brother, Shan Chen. After several careful lectures by Shan Yue, Shan Chen became more and more impressed by this elder sister and became closer to her.

Hence, Shan Yue actually found Shan Chen waiting at the door when she left the room with her bag to go to school on Monday morning.

"It's so late. Why aren't you out yet?" Shan Yue looked strange. She took a bottle of milk and walked forward.

Shan Chen followed closely behind Shan Yue like a little stalker and whispered, "I-I'll go to school with you!"

So he wanted to leave with her! Shan Yue understood. In the Shan family, Shan Chen was the family member she liked the most, so she tacitly agreed to his actions.

The two of them squeezed onto the bus to school together. As it was the morning rush hour, there were many people on the bus. Shan Chen was thin, so he quickly walked to the back of the bus. His sharp eyes caught a glimpse of an empty seat, and he quickly called Shan Yue over. "Sister, here!"

"Hey, I'm here!" Shan Yue was still struggling with the crowd. When she heard Shan Chen's voice, she quickly responded and squeezed over.

Shan Yue felt a trace of warmth in her heart. This brother of hers looked a little silly, but he was still very caring. He actually understood that she was fat and could not stand for long. He even helped her save a seat.

However, just as Shan Yue was about to squeeze in front of the empty seat, an auntie carrying a basket of vegetables squeezed past Shan Chen and sat down.

“I took this seat for my sister. What are you doing?” Shan Chen’s eyes widened in confusion.

After all, Shan Chen was still a high school student and had never experienced the dangers of society. Just as he was about to stammer and call out to the auntie, the auntie pursed her lips and said loudly, “There’s no one in this seat. It belongs to whoever sits first. Could it be that your name is written on it?”

“But...” Shan Chen still wanted to argue with the auntie. Weren’t these seats given to whoever needed them more? His sister, Shan Yue, would be panting after standing for a while and might even faint. But this auntie was full of energy. She almost pushed him down just now!

“Forget it.” Shan Yue had witnessed the entire process and did not want to argue with the middle-aged woman, so she stopped Shan Chen and gestured for him to stop talking.

They didn’t want to argue anymore, but the aunie wasn’t one to stop.

The auntie rolled her eyes and saw the fat Shan Yue beside Shan Chen. She immediately smiled maliciously. “Yo, so this is your sister? She’s even fatter than the big sow I saw at the market this morning. This seat can’t even fit half of your sister’s butt, right?”
