

The Enticing CEO's Chosen Bride Novel

Chapter 2

Pain was etched deep in Chloe's eyes

She couldn't swim and had been underwater longer than Keira Since she just woke up no matter how pissed she was, she couldn't muster the strength to vent it You truly despicable"

Keira chuckled.

But without me doing this, you'd never get what it means to sacrifice for others, right? You're the one who wouldn't leave Lance Olson alone! Keira said

"Kelta, everyone knows Lance is my fiance! You think everyone is a fool Chloe asked

Keira laughed, swaying with laughter.

"Even now don't you think everyone is indeed playing the fool?"

Chloe was speechless, just giving her a cold stare

Keira was right, everyone was indeed acting like a bunch of fools!

They kept believing her unquestioningly despite her dirty tricks

So stupid, damn stupid!

Including Chloe herself

What? Still not convinced? Then

Suddenly, Keira's face changed. She looked helplessly at Chloe and reached out to grab Chloe's arm

"Chloe, it's all my fault

Don't touch me"

Sensing her approach and sudden change of expression, Chloe felt utterly disgusted

She swiftly raised her hand to block Keira's touch

But Keira stumbled, dropping her thermos. It hit the ground with a thud

Water splashed everywhere!

Her voice rose,

"Ah! It hurts""

"Chloe, what are you doing?

A stern voice suddenly came from behind.

Chloe whirled around. A figure at the door was racing towards them

She only caught a glimpse of Lance's ruthless eyes before he shoved her aside

Chloe, already weak, was pushed against the railing, and pain shot through her waist

Her face turned even paler She gripped the railing behind her tightly to steady herself

She watched the scene before her, feeling incredibly stupid

She knew Keira would use all means necessary, yet she kept falling for her tricks!

She also knew Lance was no fool, but he

"Lance, it hurts so much"

Keira said

Lance stood up at her words, looking even more heartbroken.

“Hang in there. Til take you to a doctor”

He said, bending down to pick up Keira. He glanced at Chloe, who was watching coldly from the side, and said sternly.

“You go back to your room first. I’ll come to see you later!”

Chloe scoffed, her eyes full of sarcasm

After Lance had left with Keira, Chloe let out a cold laugh.

Under a nearby tree, an old lady in a wheelchair watched the scene quietly

“Hannah, did you see what just happened?”

The old lady spoke, her eyes sharp as she stared at Chloe in the distance

The lady next to her, seemed in her fifties, respectfully asked, “Have you seen it clearly, madam?”

“Hmph, that girl, using such stupid and despicable tricks” The old lady scoffed, speaking angrily

“But doesn’t this just prove the other girl is even more foolish? Can’t even handle such simple and crude tricks? The other lady said.

The old lady shook her head, wisdom sparkling in her eyes,

“Hannah, you got it wrong”

*Please enlighten me” The other lady said.

The other girl is too upright. She’s reluctant and disgusted to do anything beyond her moral bottom line and against human ethics! So she can’t imagine that there are people in this world who would do such things.” The old lady said.

Hannah nodded. “I understand”

The old lady stared at Chloe for a while, saying, “However, there are some issues”

She paused, then continued,

“Her temperament and nature are good Call her over, I want to take acloser look at her”

Hannah’s servant was a bit hesitant,

“But ma’am, your grandson is coming soon if he sees a stranger here”

“What can he do to me?”

The old lady pouted as she spoke sternly, her voice full of affection for her grandson

Hannah smiled, “Alright, I’ll call her over night away”

Just then, the gate between the two trees next to them made a few noises.