

The Enticing CEO's Chosen Bride Novel

Chapter 30

Hannah's face showed an awkward expression as she whispered softly into the old lady's ear

The old lady caught on and also seemed a bit embarrassed

'I meant to ask, why haven't you gone to rest yet? How come you're already downstairs?"

Damon pursed his thin lips, speaking as he walked

"My room's been taken over, how am I supposed to rest?"

"The bed is big enough for two people the old lady blurted out without hesitation.

The whole living room fell silent for a moment.

At this point, Chloe came out after changing her clothes, just in time to hear Alyssa's complaint, her pretty face showing a hint of embarrassment. *Alyssa "

Seeing the figure that appeared behind her young master, Hannah felt helpless.

Alyssa always acted like a child in front of her two grandsons

Alyssa regretted it and turned to look at Chloe upstairs.

Her gloomy face instantly broke into a smile, waning at Chloe.

"Chloe, you're awake, did you sleep well? Were you disturbed by Damon?"

Chloe had used Damon's bathroom, worn Damon's bathrobe, and even slept in Damon's bed!

She now understood that this was all arranged by Alyssa on purpose, but faced with such a loving face, Chloe couldn't possibly have too many dissatisfaction emotions.

In fact, how could she have any dissatisfaction emotions towards this rare affection?

She smiled slightly, nodded, and walked towards Alyssa.

"I slept very well, Grandma"

"That's good."

Alyssa pulled Chloe to sit on the sofa, and

Damon was right beside her.

The collar of his white shirt was slightly open, but still neat without any wrinkles

He was leaning against the side of the leather sofa, slightly lowering his head, not knowing what he was thinking about. A faint smile played on his lips, making him look lazy and exuding a unique aristocratic temperament

He sat quietly throughout, seemingly just listening to her and the old lady chat

It had to be said that his presence was extremely strong and Chloe couldn't completely ignore him.

At one point, Damon suddenly sat up straight, stretched out his long arm, and his fair, beautiful hand chose from the fruit plate on the coffee table.

Finally, he picked up a big apple

His hand was big, holding the apple with one hand, and the other hand picked up a fruit knife.

Chloe couldn't help but glance at him, only to see his back straight, focusing all his attention on his hands, carefully peeling the apple

Chloe was a bit surprised, not expecting this man to peel apples himself

Alyssa couldn't help but look at Damon again, such behavior was rare in her eyes

But she didn't want to deal with him now, she had already sent Chloe to his bed, and he still didn't take advantage of the opportunity

So annoying!

Alyssa frowned unhappily, glanced at him, then turned her head to hold Chloe's hand and asked

"Chloe, what are you doing for work right now?"

Chloe hesitated for a moment. I am developing perfumes and also managing a small public relations company left by my mother"

Alyssa was slightly taken aback, holding her hand tighter

"How can you be so busy? Managing a company isn't easy," Alyssa asked.

"Yeah, the Olson family's company before."

Thinking of Lance, Chloe's words suddenly stopped

She lowered her head and changed the subject

"I plan to quit my current job, but my friend needs help, so I plan to help her after being discharged from the hospital"

"What does her company do

Damon finally spoke up, and at the same time, he handed a peeled apple to Chloe
