Chapter 41

Chapter 41

The moment Lance finished his piece, the meeting room plunged into dead silence

It seemed like everyone hadn't quite grasped the meaning behind Lance's words

Maybe everyone was wondering if Lance had said something wrong

Being a Director of R&D meant not reporting to anyone, right?

Who in this company would dare to mess with the Research & Development Department?

What on earth was this extra line hinting at?

After a while, everyone looked at each other, eventually casting their gaze at Chloe

The answer was as clear as day

Chloe showed a moment of surprise, then her face returned to its usual calm, a slight smirk tugging at her lips

On her beautiful face, this tiny movement revealed a hint of sarcasm

Who was the Director of R&D?

Chloe!

Who was the Leader perfumer of the Olson Group?

Chloe! novelbin

The meaning behind Mr. Olson's words was undoubtedly a diss at Chloel

This

“Mr Olson, you’re not kidding, right? Chloe’s ability and strength are clear to see! And all these years, she’s been managing the Research & Development Department. No one knows it better than her!”

“Yes, there’s no need to overthink this if Miss Keira endorses our products, there’s no problem at all! But her being a department director and Leader perfumer, how can that be convincing?”

At this point, Tristan, the Human Resources Department Manager who had entered with Chloe also chimed in “Yeah, Mr Olson, this is a bit unfair There are so many outstanding employees waiting for promotion opportunities in the company! Miss Keira is stepping directly into the most important department in the company and taking two positions at once. She is busy enough acting and endorsing in the entertainment circle, how would she have the energy to manage the company’s affairs? Not everyone is our Ms. Summers”

Tristan’s last sentence unintentionally revealed a hint of disdain, clearly he highly recognized Chlor

Once he said this, everyone in the meeting room shook their heads in disagreement

The room instantly erupted into chaos again

Keira looked at the chaotic meeting room, biting her lip, a hint of distress appeared on her beautiful face

She looked up at Lance, her distress mixed with a touch of helplessness

Lance’s brow furrowed, anger and solemnity flashing across his handsome face

“I made this decision for a reason!”

“But Mr Olson, don’t we deserve to know what that reason is? For someone who entered the company without reason, all we know about her is that she’s a star in a different field, and we don’t know anything else, how do you expect us to trust her, and work with her?”

Someone raised an objection again, almost everyone was in support of Chloe
Lance's lips tightened, obviously holding back his anger

At this point, Annanie, who had been by Chloe's side all along and was the Deputy Director of the Research & Development Department and one of Olson's Cosmetics R&D engineers, calmly said

"I also participated in the Fragrance Frenzy International Contest last year, I've met Miss Keita, and I remember the judges calling Miss Keira Rosanna

Keira gave an embarrassed smile, "This is not worth mentioning, I only came in fourth place, it's quite embarrassing to talk about"

Chloe, who had been silent all this time, her eyes lit up

Chapter 42

Chapter 42

Meanwhile, at the 88th floor of the Harper Group

In the CEO's office

Nate handed over the recent workflow to Damon, who was behind his desk.

He then stood still, thought for a bit, and said.

Boss, Miss Chloe quit her job at the Olson Group today Should I send someone to look after her?"

Damon stopped going through his papers, looked up, his deep black eyes revealing a sense of nobility and elegance

He pondered for a second, then slowly said,

No need. She can handle this on her own."

He paused, picked up the document Nate just handed him, and calmly added,

"Don't worry

Nate paused

How did the boss see his worry?

He was just he thought Damon liked her?

As his secretary, of course, he had to care about her

If the boss was happy, he could feel relieved

And this sudden reassurance was weirdly comforting and rare

Since the boss said so, he'll leave Miss Chloe alone for now

"Boss, the meeting starts in ten minutes" novelbin

"Alright"

Over at the Olson Group, the noisy meeting room gradually grew quiet

Keira was Rosanna?

They knew the name Rosanna!

The Fragrance Frenzy International Contest held in F Country every two years, a hot topic for everyone in the fashion world

And two years ago, Rosanna participated in this Fragrance Frenzy International Contest for the first time and achieved an excellent fourth plac

Although she didn't make it to the top three, and didn't have a chance to stand on the international podium, she was the only local with an achievement in this international competition in recent years.

In their country, no one else had surpassed her fame

Although there was a rumor that the consecutive champion of the Fragrance Frenzy International Contest, Star, was also local

But Star was too mysterious and keeping a low profile, and they didnt even know if this rumor was true or false

They didn't dare to dream of seeing that mysterious Star anyway Seeing Rosanna now was already more than enough

Star was still too far from them

Who would've thought, Keira participated in the international fragrance competition last year and even got fourth place

Looked like, she'd been planning to take her place at the Olson Group two years ago

Chloe can't help but sneer in her heart, laughing at herself for being the stupidest person in the world

Two years ago

Or maybe earlier, Lance had already betrayed her

And she, like a fool, had no idea at all

Seeing everyone who just opposed her quiet down, Keira smiled triumphantly

Looking at Chloe, she felt elated

She'd said it before, Chloe will always be the loser in front of her

So far, Keira joining the Olson Group was almost a sure thing

Chloe just smiled, the sarcasm in her eyes deepening

Annarie seemed to have a lot of dissatisfaction with Chloe She'd been suppressed by her for many years. Now that she had this opportunity, she won't let it slip

Even though Chloe's position and the identity of Lead Designer had been revoked, she was still not satisfied. Looking at Chloe's still calm face a flash of malice crossed her eyes, and she said.

"Sor years ago in the International Design Challenge in our country our Ms Summers was disqualified for plagiarism, and even expelled from school, right?"

Chapter 43

Chapter 43

Annane's words had just been spoken when Chloe's face suddenly turned pale. Her hands clenched tightly together. Plagiarism, revocation of student status Her life was almost ruined. Seeing Chloe's expression, Annarie felt very satisfied! She mercilessly continued to poke at Chloe's past pain, "I heard she even stole Keira's fragrance formula because they lived together."

"Shut up!" Lance suddenly sternly shouted, interrupting Annarie's words. Annarie's face changed, and her lips closed tightly. She turned her head and stopped speaking Anyway, she had said what she wanted to say Seeing Chloe's stimulated expression, nothing could make her happier.

"Lance" Keira was startled by Lance's sudden shout, and she called out his name softly, but her face was full of agreement.

"How can she say such things

Lance did not respond to Keira but instead looked at Chloe from afar. After a moment of silence, he said in a deep voice, "Chloe, you used to manage both the Research & Development Department and the Public Relations Department alone, which was very hard. Now that Keira has joined, she will share some of your workload, and you will only be responsible for the Public Relations Department. Because Keira has just started, she may have some difficulties adapting. Moreover, she won't be in the company most of the time since her main focus is still on entertainment work, so you will need to help her more in the future. Although your position has been revoked, you will still

"Huh

Chloe suddenly let out a clear, sarcastic laugh, making everyone in the conference room look at her Chloe's cold face was full of mocking smiles as she stared at Lance and said, "Lance, what is the reason for revoking my position? Is it because Keira is Rosanna, or is it because of the plagiarism incident from years ago?"

Lance frowned, looking at Chloe with a sad expression, but he didn't say anything.

Not saying anything? What did that mean?

Perhaps because both reasons counted!

She had known for a long time that Lance had never believed her! novelbin

Chloe suddenly began to laugh again, closing her notebook and standing up, placing her hands on the table.

“You revoked my position for no reason and even want me to take care of her and help look after the Research & Development Department? Isn’t this just trouble for me? You have the qualification to tell me to share the workload? Lance, who are you to say these things to me?”

Chloe’s words caused a commotion in the entire conference room. No one had expected Ms. Summers, who had always behaved appropriately, to say such things. Moreover, she said them to Mr. Olson, in front of all the company’s top executives, leaving him in an awkward position.

As a result, Lance’s face completely darkened

He had never expected Chloe to be so impolite and embarrass him like this in front of so many company executives.

“Chloe, you have always been very smart. You should know that the name Rosanna, even if it is only a nominal position in the Olson Group...”

Chloe did not let Lance finish his sentence and interrupted him with a wave of her hand.

Chapter 44

Chapter 44

Chloe directly cut off Lance mid-sentence, not giving him a chance to finish.

“Make your own decision. I got no right to interfere, and I don’t want to. I never planned on staying here anyway”

As she spoke, Chloe look out her resignation letter that she hadn’t given to the Human Resources Department manager from her notebook on the table and threw it in front of Lance

“Let the Public Relations Department find someone else! I’m out!”

“Ms. Summers!”

“Ms Summers”

As soon as Chloe spoke, all the executives in the meeting room started discussing

They were all shocked and tried to convince Chloe to stay immediately

Work experience and ability were important, and they all knew Chloe’s years of work. They didn’t have time to think about the past, they just wanted to keep someone capable

Ms Summers, think it through”

“Ms Summers, you’ve been working at The Olson Group for so many years, managing all sorts of things. You suddenly want to resign, this...

“If you’re unhappy about Keira joining the company, we can report this to the Board of Directors and have them help you, but you can’t leave The Olson Group!” Lance glanced at the resignation letter Chloe threw and suddenly felt very uneasy, more accurately, even panicked.

He clenched his fists, realizing his hands were shaking, and he didn’t even have any strength.

He used to be used to Chloe’s obedience and understanding.

She always considered him and always prioritized him

But now

If he agreed to let her go, the company would definitely go through a period of turbulence

In the end, Lance compromised.

“Chloe, you should understand, my decision wasn’t against you...”

“I don’t know if you’re against me, but I know if others are. But that’s not important, what’s important is, I came to resign today.”

Chloe said, closing the notebook in her hand and tossing it to the Human Resources Department manager, Tristan.

“Best of luck to The Olson Group”

Chloe said coldly, then left her seat

Lance felt panicked and was angered by Chloe’s attitude

‘Chloe, you don’t have to be so stubborn. You know I didn’t mean for you to leave the company!’

Chloe, who had already reached the door of the conference room, suddenly stopped, turned to look at Lance, and her icy gaze made Lance’s heart sink again

“Stubborn?”

Her voice was icy cold full of mockery. “Lance, how could you label me like this? Are your decisions always right, and I, Chloe, always the clueless one?”

At this moment, Chloe’s hand was on the conference room door, speaking coldly

“You can think of me however you want, but whether you agree or not, you have to accept the resignation letter today! Don’t try to hold me back. I never signed any labor contract with you when I joined The Olson Group!”

Chloe finished, completely ignoring the shock and panic on Lance’s face, and opened the door.

The other executives in the conference room hurriedly got up to stop her.

“Ms Summers *

“Ms Summers, please wait.

A loud bang!

It was the sound of the conference room door being slammed shut by Chloe. Her departure was decisive and firm.

The conference room was in chaos

After Chloe left, everyone felt as if the sky were falling

No one was happy about Keira's appointment, but instead, they felt anger and blame

If it weren't for her. Ms Summers wouldn't leave her

Keira was shaking with anger, her beautiful face turning ashen

Chapter 45

Chapter 45

Chloe's resignation news spread like wildfire within The Olson Group company

As she made her way back to her office, a bunch of people surrounded her, trying to get her to change her mind.

But she was determined, not taking anyone's advice

Of course, some folks mocked and ridiculed her, but she didn't really care.

By the time she went through all the trouble to get back to her office, Keira and Lance were already in there.

Keira stood next to Lance, whispering instructions to the employees to clear out the office

"I don't need this desk or the cabinet. I want brand new perfume materials, old files reprinted, and books repurchased."

Then she turned to Lance, smiling. "Sorry, I'm just not used to using other people's stuff"

Lance smiled back, "No problem, everything will be done as you wish"

Chloe watched them coldly feeling that Lance and Keira's behavior was a bit off today.

It was a noticeable estrangement

"Are you daydreaming? Get moving" Lance looked at the hesitating employees, frowning and scolding them softly.

The two employees glanced at each other, undecided novel bin

"You guys

"Sean" A calm voice came out.

Everyone in the office turned to the door, where Chloe had walked up to Sean

"Ms Summers

"Do you have a lighter? Chloe asked expressionlessly.

"Yes" Sean handed her a lighter.

Chloe took the lighter, opened the cabinet, pulled out a folder, and walked up to Lance

"These are the perfume recipes I've researched over the years. They're all here, including the discarded and unused ones Do you see them?"

"What are you trying to do Lance slightly narrowed his eyes, watching Chloe cautiously

Chloe stared back at him, and in front of Lance, she lit all the files on fire

The flames reflected on their faces, making the scene particularly solemn

When the papers turned to ashes, Chloe returned the lighter to Sean, saying

"It's my right to deal with my stuff, so nobody else can mess with it"

She finished, casting a cold glance at Keira, her face was gloomy

Chloe turned to Sean, Throw everything in the office away, so it doesn't get dirtied by others."

"Alright!" Sean hesitated but agreed.

After that, Chloe picked up her coat and bag, and calmly left the office.

Lance watched her determined figure, thought for a moment, and followed her out. He caught up with Chloe at the staircase and grabbed her hand

“Let go “Chloe frowned, her expression cold.

Lance tightened his grip on her hand instead.

“Chloe, do we really have to part on such bad terms?”

Chloe quickly withdrew her hand, stepped back to keep some distance from Lance, her face filled with indifference and mockery

“Do you mean not letting me interfere with you and Kera?”

Chloe drove straight back to her apartment, her thoughts racing as she went

She remembered the incident from six years ago that Annarie mentioned today. She was infamous back then.

Her eyes flickered, not wanting to recall the past. She took a deep breath, sped up, and her black car sped through the city streets.

As soon as Chloe entered her apartment, she took a shower

Granny Harper was right, she didn’t need to dwell on those filthy matters.

There really was nothing worthy of her lingering

But she had to take responsibility for her past She couldn’t let her past be too wronged

There were some things she couldn’t completely let go of and one day she’d prove her innocence for her past self

She suddenly thought of Granny Harper and a handsome face flashed through her mind

She remembered what he said yesterday

Chloe, wearing her nightgown, came out of the bathroom and sat on the couch. She took out her phone and checked it

No new messages

Till be busy for a few days You rest well, and I call you”

His voice was unforgettable, full of captivating charm

She expressionlessly pursed her lips, feeling a bit down. Maybe he was really busy

Then she suddenly froze

Why was she expecting his call?

She helplessly shook her head, put her phone on the table, and stood up.

As she got up, her gaze fell back on the phone. She picked it up again and walked into the bedroom.

On the 88th floor of The Harper Group's top-level.

The spacious conference room was exquisitely decorated, exuding a luxurious atmosphere

The tension was intense and stifling!

Chapter 46

Chapter 46

All the top executives were so tense that they didn't even dare to breathe loudly, their whole body strung tight like a guitar string, focusing all their attention on the department reports they were about to present. Each tiny issue could be hiding a massive problem.

On Friday, the new CEO of the Harper family group. President Harper, would officially start working, and all the departments had to report at this meeting

So far, the meeting had already gone on for two hours, and all the bigwigs in their fancy uniforms were sweating buckets, their clothes soaked through

The man sitting in the top seat was young, but his presence was just too damn strong!

The Administration Department's minister had finished his report and was now standing there, anxiously waiting for the president's evaluation, possible questions, and potential oversights

Then, an icy stare swept over the room, making it feel as cold as a fridge.

But after waiting for a long time, Damon still hadn't said anything

The whole room fell silent, and the Administration Department minister's legs began to tremble as he shot a pleading look at Nate, who was sitting next to Damon. Nate bit his lip gently, stood up, and walked over to Damon, whispering a reminder.

"Sir"

Damon glanced at him, and Nate was immediately shocked

It was the first time he had seen the boss looking somewhat dazed Was something bad about to happen?

In his shock, Nate quickly said "Mr. Collins has finished his report."

Damon frowned and flipped through the Administration Department's files before saying in a deep voice

We need to raise the performance assessment standards. Regarding the company's execution expenses, I hope the Finance Department can provide a detailed account of the Administration Department's annual expenses for verification"

Damon didn't say anything else, didn't tell Mr. Collins to step down, and didn't say to let the next department continue reporting

Poor Mr. Collins stood there, not knowing what to do

After a while, Damon finally made a move.

Everyone's eyes were on him

He raised his slender hand slightly and waved at Nate.

Damon tilted his head slightly, his handsome face carrying the usual coldness and seriousness.

He glanced at Nate, his eyes shimmering with a mysterious light. novelbin

This was the side of him Nate was most familiar with.

Nate immediately walked over and asked, "Sir, is there anything you need me to do?"

Damon's voice sounded in Nate's ear, "How is it doing?"

Nate was stunned.

Who was he asking about?

He knew the boss's words were usually cryptic, but as his secretary for so many years, he shouldn't be clueless, right?

Nate didn't respond right away, so Damon looked at him again, slowly sizing him up, sending shivers down Nate's spine.

Since the boss asked like this, they must have discussed this issue before.

He racked his brain to remember

Who could it be?

Was it "it"?

Was it "him"?

Or was it "her"?

Her?

Suddenly, it clicked in Nate's mind

It was her!

That was night!

It had to be her! It was her! It must be her

Chapter 47

Chapter 47

Miss Chloe, for sure!

But

Earlier, the boss said she could handle everything by herself and told him not to worry about her.

So why was he asking now?

He didn't know how Miss Chloe was doing.

'Boss, this

This was the first time Nate felt lost in front of Damon.

How should he respond?

This was his first time dealing with a "woman" alongside his boss.

He was really clueless!

Damon slightly frowned

Nate lowered his head even lower, feeling terrified.

"Or should I check on her after the meeting?"

Damon glanced at him, and Nate immediately changed his words.

Ill check night away!"

"Alright."

Damon finally relaxed and continued reading the documents in his hands.

Nervously, Nale turned around and quickly headed towards the conference room.

After this incident, Nate decided that he must closely monitor everything about Miss Chloe, except for her eating, sleeping, bathing, and going to the bathroom!

At this moment, he recalled their conversation about Miss Chloe before today's meeting.

Was the “no need to worry” meant to reassure Damon himself?

Nate couldn't help but chuckle in his heart.

He really wanted to ask his boss, how's it feelin'?

Ten minutes later, Nate returned to the conference room with a gloomy face.

The atmosphere in the meeting room was heavy, and it felt chilly as soon as he walked in.

Obviously, the boss had found some issues

Nate sneaked in quietly, and whispered a few words to Damon

He briefly reported Chloe's assertive resignation to Damon

After Nate finished speaking, the solemn and indifferent expression on Damon's face eased slightly. novelbin

There wasn't much change, but the atmosphere in the whole conference room became more relaxed instantly.

Everyone exchanged glances in secret. Although they didn't know what Nate said to Mr. Harper, they finally had a chance to catch their breath.

Nate was also secretly surprised. Did he find some sort of trick?

He had never thought that someone like his boss, who didn't like dealing with women, would actually be interested in them.

Damon looked down at the documents in his hand, and everyone thought the meeting would continue. But a few seconds later, he stood up and calmly said, “Meeting adjourned,” and left

What on earth was going on?

Since Mr. Harper returned to the country, every meeting was followed by an hour-long lunch break and then resumed in the afternoon.

Now it was not even eleven o'clock, and the meeting suddenly ended?

Nate didn't leave with Damon but stayed behind to tidy up the documents on Damon's seat.

Seeing Damon leave the conference room, everyone gathered around Nate

"Nate, did you just sign a multi-billion dollar contract

"To make our Mr Harper so happy, the contract amount must start from billions, right?"

Which company are we doing business with?"

Nate put away the documents, gently tapped on the table, and straightened up after organizing them. A meaningful smile appeared on his serious face. Seeing this, everyone moved closer, wanting to know the result

And Nate just said calmly

"It's not really a company deal, strictly speaking it should be considered a 'sole proprietor kind of thing."

Chapter 48

Chapter 48

"To be precise, we're not really a company, but more like a 'sole proprietor."

Dead silence

Sole proprietor?

Everyone was dumbfounded How could this be possible?

They, as the Harper Group, were actually going to do business with a sole proprietor?

Although it wasn't impossible, this kind of thing usually happened at the grassroots level. How did it reach the CEO?

Looking at the CEO's reaction...

"What kind of deal does Mr. Harper want to make with a small-time sole proprietor?"

Nate smirked even more

What kind of deal?

Love, of course!

What else could it be?

“Yeah, even a big deal would only be worth a few million, right?”

A few million?

That was hard to say!

How much was Miss Chloe worth in the CEO's heart?

But even if others didn't know, Nate was well aware

The CEO attended every meeting. Which meeting wasn't important?

The value of every minute at the Harper Group's senior management meeting was immeasurable.

Even a small mistake in a department's report could result in losses of not just millions, but perhaps billions.

Now the CEO had ended the meeting early because of Miss Chloe. If you really had to put a price on it. Wait a second?

Miss Chloe had already successfully completed her task, so the CEO shouldn't have to worry.

Why did he suddenly end the meeting?

Nate didn't answer everyone's questions, he just turned around and left the conference room.

The president's office exuded a low profile yet elegant atmosphere.

At this moment, Damon stood in front of the large floor-to-ceiling window, his tall figure adorned with a natural air of nobility. He simply stood there, his imposing figure radiating strength.

Damon had an aura that made people instinctively want to submit, impossible to resist or question

When Nate walked in, he only glanced at Damon's back, and all his previous misunderstandings vanished instantly

Damon had his back to Nate, so Nate didn't notice the black cell phone Damon was holding

Just as he was feeling guilty about his earlier mockery of the president, Damon put the phone to his ear

Chloe could finally relax. After staring at her phone for a long time, she had unknowingly fallen asleep

Sleep had always been a luxury for her due to her high-pressure job. novelbin

Now that she could finally relax, her mind wasn't occupied with thoughts of a fancy meal or shopping, but rather an instinctive desire to sleep.

Just as she was dozing off, the phone suddenly rang

Chloe woke up almost instantly, sat up, and looked at her phone. It was an unfamiliar number

But the last four dots were sinking 1111.

Her heart raced as she stared at the numbers for a moment before pressing the answer button

"Hello"

She had just woken up, and her voice was tinged with a lazy, not-fully awake softness that sounded especially gentle.

Damon's dark eyes narrowed slightly, and his eyebrows furrowed

Such a voice was indeed very attractive

"It's me" His voice was a bit cold, but he deliberately lowered it

His tone was as if he was afraid of startling the other person

Nate, who was silently reflecting on his actions, couldn't help but twitch the corner of his mouth

Chapter 49

Chapter 49

Nate, who was off to the side, couldn't help but twitch his mouth in silent contemplation.

He didn't mean to rebuke his friend, not really

It was just that his friend had changed

Changed to the point that he was unrecognizable

Who would have thought that just moments ago in the meeting room, he merely sat there, his gaze alone enough to make people shudder, and then he turned around and answered the phone so gently?

Someone so cold hearted, could actually be gentle

Now that was a sight to behold

What about those women who were smitten by him?

Chloe, upon hearing his voice, didn't think there was anything amiss

She pulled off her covers, slipped into her slippers, and got off the bed. She stood by the window, her hand draped in front of her looking at the new outside. Her gaze inadvertently landed on the tallest building in the city that stood out in the distance

One person stood in the highest floor of the city, another stood in an inconspicuous corner of the city

One in uniform, another in pajamas

Two people who were worlds apart, now stood by their windows, facing each other across the bustling city Just woke up"

Yeah Chloe paused before responding

"I heard you quit your job today"

Nate didn't say anything beside him.

He already knew the outcome, yet he acted like he didn't

What a sly fox

That phrase suddenly popped into Nate's head, startling himself

Such disrespect!

Chloe remembered mentioning this to her grandma that day, and Damon was also there

It was only normal for him to know

"Yeah, I quit

Damon still smiled slightly. "That's good"

Chloe didn't say anything

"Had lunch? Damon asked after two seconds of silence

Chloe glanced at the clock on her bedside table, eleven o'clock

I haven't eaten yet"

"I'm buty

Nate's eyes even widened this time

The office was large but quiet, the voice from the phone was very clear.

What kind of answer was this?

she hadn't eaten, you said you were busy?

This was not how you get a girlfriend taken aback by Damon's words, she stammered for a few seconds before quickly saying "Then you on me

But you said you were busy”

“Are you planning to have lunch at home?”

a little tired, unable to keep up with this man’s thoughts

I’m not planning to go out

anything at home

The

A while later

Chloe paused before

entering a long silence

Then, she set down her phone, and ended the call

the call

first ‘

Nate silently straightened up

Damon ended the call, and turned around. Nate was expressionless, as solemn and serious as ever

“Sir, the mall construction in the north is almost complete. Many international brands have applied to set up shop here. The person in charge of our leasing department has already submitted some of the brand information. Also

Damon looked up at Nate, his deep and cold gaze made Nate feel a sense of confusion, gradually stopping his speech

His instincts told him that now was not a good time to talk.

Chapter 50

Chapter 50

Chloe hung up the phone and took a deep breath, feeling utterly drained from chatting with Damon.

She didn't consider herself a fool. After so many years in a competitive society, she had learned to be cunning.

So why did she always struggle with communication when it came to Damon?

She had been waiting for this call since before she went to bed. Regardless of the content of the call, now that it was over, Chloe suddenly felt like her upcoming time was all blank

What was this feeling?

It felt like there was nothing left to look forward to.

Apparently, she didn't like having free time.

When busy, she felt like she lacked nothing. When idle, she felt like she had nothing at all.

This emptiness was unbearable

She sighed heavily, quickly glanced at the time, walked from her bedroom to the living room, and randomly switched on some news on the TV. She felt extremely bored.

Just waking up, she sat cross-legged on the sofa, elbow propped on the armrest, forehead resting on her hand, eyes half-open, about to doze off again. Had it not been for the doorbell waking her up, she would have probably crashed right there on the sofa

But who would be looking for her at this time?

Rose?

She knew Rose was extremely busy, even a phone call was a stretch.

Was it a wrong door knock?

She ran her fingers through her messy hair and walked to the door, puzzled.

But when she opened the door, seeing who was standing there, she was immediately shocked.

Nate was holding two bags, with some green things vaguely visible inside, probably fruits and vegetables.

Nate looked at her, smiling stiffly, which Chloe found a bit scary.

She had met Nate a few times, and his expression was always poker-faced, like he had Bell's palsy

This was the first time she saw him smile, and it was a little hard to take

Nate, however, had a lot more to say but couldn't spit it out

Before he came, he had already abandoned the idea he had in the boss's office, which was that he would never get a girlfriend.

He was wrong!

There was nothing his boss couldn't do in this world

He just didn't want to do it before!

Although Miss Chloe didn't seem to be easily won over as his girlfriend, seeing the boss's actions, he felt that it wouldn't be long before he could get the girl

The boss's actions these past few days had even moved him, a man.

Seeing the future wife of his boss staring at him weirdly, Nate awkwardly nodded and respectfully said:

"Good afternoon, Miss Chloe."

Chloe also felt a bit awkward, but still politely nodded back.

Then, she slowly shifted her gaze to the side-

Damon's tall figure stood at the door, dressed in an expensive uniform, exuding an aristocratic aura

His jade-like eyes were mysterious, and his handsome face was expressionless novel

The moment Chloe opened the door, her heart fluttered like waves, yet there was a hint of coldness in his deep gaze.

Damon's appearance took Chloe by surprise.

However, the gloominess in Damon's eyes made her feel a bit down.

Did she do something wrong?

Why was he suddenly looking at her like this?

An indescribable feeling welled up in her heart

Was she being disliked by him?

"Why are you here?" she asked.
