Chapter 1401

Nigel took the small gold bracelet with his brows furrowed together. He thought about it and shouted to Chester, "Wait here!"

After saying that, he quickly crossed the front hall and went straight to the backyard.

At this moment, Philip and the eight Dragon Warriors, as well as some of Nigel's men, were discussing the next steps.

Nigel walked over and respectfully said, "Young Master Clarke."

Philip turned his head, looked at Nigel, and asked, "What is it?"

Nigel handed the small gold bracelet in his hand to Philip and said, "A visitor in the hall said that he knows the whereabouts of the young miss. This was given to me by him. He said you'll understand when you see this."

Philip took the small gold bracelet. With just a glance at it, he stood up immediately. His body radiated chills, and his face was stern!

This was Mila's small gold bracelet!

"Who's the other party?" Philip asked in a cold voice, unable to suppress the anger inside him!

Since the other party had this with them, it meant one of two things!

Chester glanced at Nigel with a big sneer at the corner of his mouth. He turned around and left with his men.

It was not until Chester had left that Nigel said anxiously, "Young Master Clarke, I'll send someone to follow him now. I'll definitely bring the young miss back safely!"

Philip shook his head and said, "No, since he dares to show up at your doorstep personally, it means that he's prepared. We're out in the open while he's operating in the dark. We need to reconsider this."

Then, Philip looked at Nigel and said, "Tell me everything about Chester Ludwig."

Nigel wiped the cold sweat from his forehead and explained all the information he knew about Chester.

Philip listened silently, his frown getting deeper and deeper.

At first thought, this Chester Ludwig was not a guy to be messed with. There had to be someone behind him.

The man dressed in a jacket said coldly, "This person is called Dan, the leader of the four. Master Ludwig thinks that this person is not reliable and will screw things up. But he's someone who has followed Master Ludwig, after all. Master Ludwig doesn't want to take things into his own hands, so you'll do it for him."

Kinley took the photo, glanced at it, handed it to Sidney, saying, "Do it according to Master Ludwig's instructions and make it clean. Leave no traces or clues behind."

Sidney nodded repeatedly before leaving the suite.

In the suite, only Chester and the rest were left.

"Master Ludwig, can we really get rid of Philip in one go at the Imperial Jade Quarry three days later?"

Kinley was still a little skeptical and said, "As far as I know, Philip is not an ordinary person. He's also a Dragon Warrior and this is Cloudside. If something really happens, it might alert that supreme."

It was not unreasonable for Kinley to be so worried.

Cloudside City shared borders with three countries.

The environment here was extraordinarily complicated.

Moreover, the supreme overseeing the Dragon Warriors was stationed at Southridge.

Hehe, was Chester Ludwig trying to outsmart Kinley Wes?

Dream on!

At the same time, seven or eight men shrouded in black raincoats arrived at Serene Town, which was a mile away from Cloudside!

It was a small town with a population of just over 100,000.

In the town, two black vans quickly stopped at the entrance of a hotel with flashing signs.

Swoosh!

The car doors opened and eight men in raincoats stepped down, each having long daggers wrapped in newspapers hidden in their arms.

The group of people looked at each other. The man in the lead wore a mask and had very sinister eyes!

The other three looked at Dan, gritted their teeth, and said with a bow, “Dan, we’ll leave them to you!”

After saying that, all three men turned around and rushed downstairs.

As for Dan, he carried Mila and followed a few meters behind them.

Coincidentally, at the stairway of the third floor, Dan’s men saw the other six men coming out from the room and rushed straight at them!

Dan took the opportunity to run down the stairs!

Behind him, miserable screams rang incessantly!

Dan’s heart seized and he paused briefly, but he soon continued running downstairs without turning back!

As soon as he reached the main door on the first floor, he saw two men smoking while guarding the door.

He immediately turned to his side. The fat woman at the front desk saw him and was about to yell when she saw Dan taking out a wad of money. He anxiously said in a low voice, “Sister, please help. My enemy is after us. This is my daughter. Please escort us out.”

The fat woman was dubious but glanced at the wad of money on the table. There were at least thousands there.

At this time, the door was pushed open and a man who was not burly but still somehow looked sturdy came in. His pants and shoes were already wet.

Upon entering, he respectfully stood in front of Kinley, knelt on one knee, and said, "Master Kinley, something went wrong. Dan escaped with that little girl."

"What?!"

Hearing this, Sidney was shocked and could not help but exclaim. His face looked very tense and his breathing became rapid!

Kinley still maintained his composure and asked, "What happened?"

The man said, "Our men arrived at the hotel and dealt with three of them. Dan drove away and his car later overturned, sending it crashing down the mountain road. I've already sent our men down to search for them but they couldn't find anyone. There were only bloodstains. I presume he's not dead but is hiding in the forest with the little girl."

This night seemed to stretch on endlessly.

In the luxurious suite, Chester was sitting on the sofa and sipping on warm tea. He would check the documents in his hands from time to time.

At this time, a subordinate walked in through the door and said respectfully, "Master Ludwig, Kinley Wes requests to see you."

Chester frowned slightly before stretching. He then said with a smile, "Let him in."

After a while, Kinley appeared in the suite with a walking cane while smiling. He respectfully greeted, "Master Ludwig."

Chester smiled, motioned Kinley to sit down, and said, "I just brewed a pot of tea. Try it."

Kinley did not decline the hospitality. He picked up the cup, took a sip, and exclaimed, "Good brew, fragrant and citrusy. It must be the specialty Earl Grey tea of Cloudside."

"Oh, are you aware of this special blend too?" Chester asked with a laugh.

“Haha, to tell you the truth, I visited Cloudside a few years ago and stayed here to recuperate for a while. Only the Earl Grey here is suited to my taste buds.”

Chester raised his hand and said, “No need. For now, the old man won’t dare to do anything to me yet. Whether his Wes family can survive or not is still up to me. You just need to get more people to keep a close eye on the movements of the Lambert family and the Wes family.”

“Understood, Master Ludwig,” the jacketed man responded.

Then, Chester’s expression changed. He glanced at the photos on top of the table and said, “Also, send some people to Serene Town to check on things. I want to confirm that these four charred bodies belong to Dan and his men!”

The jacketed man looked at the photos and said with a nod, "Understood."

The scene shifted to Kinley. When he returned to the suite, Sidney ran over in a hurry. While supporting his father, he asked anxiously, "Dad, how did things go? Did Chester suspect anything?"

Kinley sat down, took a few breaths to calm his emotions, and said, "I'm afraid he's suspicious. Quickly notify the men in Serene Town and ask them to move as soon as possible. They should remember not to stay in one place for too long. Also, deal with the staff in the hotel from the boss to the front desk receptionist. Prevent them from talking nonsense. If they dare, just deal with them!"

"Okay, I'll do it right now." Sidney did not delay, knowing full well the importance of this matter.

Meanwhile, a group of men and women were having fun in a private room of a clubhouse in Serene Town.

All of them were comrades and this reunion was a very emotional one.

When this team appeared in the Lambert family's hall, Nigel shuddered. From their outfits, it was not difficult to guess that these people were the warriors guarding the borders of the country!

Such a group of people had suddenly appeared in the Lambert family. By the looks of it, they were also on very good terms with Philip.

In a flash, Nigel could guess most of it. His respect for Philip intensified!

Philip Clarke was really not an ordinary person!

The group of people just stood there while the person in charge spoke to Philip.

“Teacher already knew about it and sent us here to support you.”

The man in the lead was called Charlie Hash and his position in the Dragon Warriors was not low. His skills and experience were definitely at the forefront!

Even if Josh Clancy fought with him, he would lose.

Philip nodded and motioned for them to sit down and rest. It was pretty tiring to stand and talk.

“Charlie, is the teacher near Cloudside now?” Philip asked with a smile.

“Young man, your injury is serious and the little girl also has a high fever. Are you sure you don’t want to go to the hospital?”

The old man asked anxiously.

Dan shook his head and thanked him. Then, he took out a few wet bills, handed them to the old man, and said, “Can I ask you to invite the village doctor over?”

The old man did not take the money but said, “I’ll go now.”
