

The First Heir 168

Chapter 168

“Mom, I didn’t. Maybe Wynn’s just exhausted.” Philip explained.

However, Martha did not believe him. She looked at him with the corner of her eyes and her face was as cold as stagnant water. She pointed at Philip’s nose and started shouting, “Do you think I won’t understand the daughter I gave birth to? Philip, don’t say that I never warned you. A man like you is not a match for my daughter at all! If you’re smart, you should divorce Wynn as soon as possible. Stop hindering Wynn from marrying into a rich family!”

Philip was helpless when he was faced with Martha’s arrogance and bossiness.

Martha was not the only one who was annoyed. Philip was feeling frustrated as well. After being accused by Martha, Philip’s tone became slightly awful.

“Alright, I got it. Can you stop nagging? This is between me and Wynn. We will take care of this,” Philip replied coldly. There was no warmth in his eyes. Martha was shocked by that ominous glint in his eyes.

Martha was enraged. How dare he talk to her like this. Did he want to die?

“Philip, how can you talk to me like this? So you don’t even respect your mother-in-law anymore? Alright, how amazing. Philip Clarke, you’re really something else. Get out of my house now! Out!”

Martha started pushing Philip out of the house.

The world had turned upside down. A son-in-law was yelling at his mother-in-law!

Philip was annoyed. He swung his hand and pushed Martha aside.
