

The First Heir 170

Chapter 170

Wynn was crying from frustration. She stomped her feet and went back to her bedroom. Then, she slammed the door.

Martha was stunned, but she shook her head while feeling pleased with herself. Then, she looked at Charles as if she was showing off. She stood up with a devilish grin on her face. She happily brought everything back to her room.

After that, Martha remembered that there was something off about Philip.

Miss Sommerset gave them so many expensive gifts for no reason. Plus, judging from Wynn's reaction, they must be hiding something from her.

"Charlie, what do you think is wrong with Philip? Why did Miss Sommerset send so many expensive things to us?" Martha asked.

She was constantly thinking about Miss Sommerset.

Why would a normal friend send them so many expensive things?

It seemed that Philip and Miss Sommerset's relationship was not that ordinary.

Charles was studying his calligraphies. He answered, "You should ask Wynn. She might know."

Martha pressed her lips together and walked out of her bedroom. Coincidentally, she saw Wynn walking out of her room. She called out, "Wynn, where are you going? I have something to ask you."

Wynn ignored Martha. She pushed the door and walked away.

"That stupid girl is getting more and more out of hand. She must be getting influenced by that good-for-nothing."

Martha rolled her eyes in anger and mumbled.
