

The First Heir 1711

Chapter 1711

Hearing this, the crowd looked sideways and could not hide the fire in their eyes. It turned out there was such an opportunity tonight. In other words, if they obtained the favor of Sheryl Larson, they would have one foot in the Nonagon.

This was a decisive opportunity!

Many descendants of large families present at the venue initially had little hope at first and were merely trying their luck. However, when they heard about this, all of them rushed enthusiastically to Sheryl, uttering all kinds of flattering words.

Sheryl dealt with them one by one, appearing very gracious.

Philip sat in the corner alone, watching all this indifferently, A sneer of realization appeared at the corners of his mouth.

Good for Sheryl Larson. It seemed she had been setting up a trap for him.

A special guest enforcer?

Interesting.

Philip's eyes were slightly cold as he stared at Sheryl who was surrounded by the crowd. The other party seemed to have seen him as well. She signaled her subordinates to push the crowd away. She strutted toward Philip with a gentle smile and said, "You're here, quite on time too."

Philip chuckled, sipped his drink silently, and replied in a cold tone, "Is this your purpose?"

"Miss Larson, you must take a good look. This kid is just an ordinary person. He's nothing! I'm the head of the Seed family in Uppercreek, and I'm willing to pay 500 million dollars! I only ask Miss Larson to recommend me to the enforcers."

At these words, the crowd raised their hands and shouted.

"The Wood family will pay 800 million dollars. I hope Miss Larson can put in a few good words about me in front of the enforcers."

"The Sutton family will offer one billion dollars!"

"1.5 billion dollars from the Leeds family! The Leeds family will definitely get the spot in Miss Larson's hand!"

For a moment, the hall suddenly turned into an auction. Countless people started bidding and even came to blows!

However, Sheryl only smiled lightly and said to the agitated crowd, "I appreciate your kindness, but the Larson family has already selected the most suitable candidate."

When Sheryl heard that, her body shuddered slightly as she mumbled, "I'm not hiding anything from you."

Seeing Sheryl's evading eyes, Philip chuckled and pushed Sheryl away. He was about to walk out.

At this time, Sheryl panicked. She quickly chased after him and clutched Philip's arm, saying coquettishly, "Don't be in such a hurry to leave. Since you're already here, don't you want to meet the people from the Nonagon?"

Philip turned around, raised his eyebrows, and said with a snort, "Sheryl, what exactly are you up to? Do you really think I'll help you?"

Sheryl let go of Philip's arm, crossed her arms over her chest, and said, "You will because I have a secret that you want to know."

Philip frowned and asked, "What secret?"

Sheryl replied, "It's about your mother's accident Don't you want to find out something?"

"Are you threatening me?" Philip's face turned grim, the chill in his eyes absolutely frightening.

However, Sheryl seemed unperturbed. She smiled and said, "This is a cooperation. As long as you accompany me and become the person recommended by my Larson family, I'll tell you a clue about your mother's accident."

Sheryl smiled sweetly and said, "You don't have to worry about that. I have my own arrangements. I can get you into the Nonagon safely. As for whether you can pass the final selection of the Nonagon and successfully enter the door, it depends on your own strength."

"Hehehe..."

Philip sneered and said, "As far as I know, the Nonagon is filled with a bunch of freaks. Do you think I can find what my mother left me and take it out under the noses of that bunch of freaks and the Five Pavilions? Besides, it's been so many years. Why do you think I can find something that even the Five Pavilions can't?"

"Sheryl Larson, this lie you've made up is too unreliable. Even if you want me to work for the Larson family, there's no need to tell such a lie."

Philip said suddenly, his eyes looking icy cold.

Sheryl smiled as if she had expected Philip not to believe her. She said, "If you don't believe me, you can meet the people from the Nonagon with me and listen to what they have to say."

The atmosphere in the entire hall became somewhat cold and awkward.

Who was this kid to talk to the people from the Nonagon like that?

Did he know the kind of people he was dealing with? These were the four enforcers of the Nonagon! Moreover, that sturdy man exuding chills was the most belligerent, malicious, and vindictive among the four!

After that, he turned around and returned to the side of the coquettish woman. The four of them sat down.

Sheryl was extremely frightened just now. She quickly got up and asked with concern, "Philip, are you alright?"

Philip shook his head and breathed a sigh of relief. The tremendous pressure he felt from Venom had disappeared at this moment.

A person in the hall angrily and abruptly slapped his palm on the table. Then, with a face full of chills, he pointed at Philip and shouted sternly, "How dare you?! Who told you to interrupt? Do you know what this place is? Do you know who the person you're talking back to is?"

"Miss Larson, is this the person chosen by your Larson family? I think he's just an ignorant young man! How dare he question the decision of the Nonagon? Is he tired of living?"

The man turned his head angrily and shouted at Sheryl. The coldness in his eyes could not be hidden!

He was already angry and jealous of Sheryl for becoming a special guest enforcer. Now, the person she chose actually dared to question the decision of the Nonagon on such an occasion.

No, he was questioning the four enforcers in front of him!

The murderous aura that radiated from Venom's body filled the entire hall!

Everyone could not help but tremble all over, their legs and knees going weak!

Was this the strength of the people from the Nonagon?

How terrifying!

Without doing anything, just Venom's intensity and words alone intimidated people!

Everyone's eyes fell on Philip at this moment. They wanted to see how this young man would solve the current dilemma. At the same time, they also looked forward to Venom making a move and outright killing this person chosen by the Larson family!

That way, their families and the forces behind them would have one less competitor! Even the other three enforcers were staring at Philip with searing eyes, waiting for his reply.

After saying that, the coldness emanating from Venom's smirk grew more intense. He moved at top speed to slash Philip's arm with the dagger in his hand!

With that slash, Philip's arm would definitely be ruined! When Sheryl saw this scene, her expression crumbled and she hurriedly shouted, "Stop, no! You absolutely can't hurt him!"

Hearing that, Venom glanced sideways at Sheryl and asked curiously, "Why not? Isn't he just an ordinary person? Doesn't your Larson family have another candidate for the selection?"

Sheryl was panicking at the moment. If Philip was harmed in any way, the Clarke family would definitely not let the Nonagon off!

The Clarke family and the Nonagon had been at peace for decades. If anything happened at this juncture, it would be bad for both parties.

Moreover, Philip was the heir of the Clarke family. If he was injured by someone from the Nonagon, Roger Clarke would certainly be furious!

Not to mention the four enforcers but even the Five Pavilions of the Nonagon might not be able to bear the wrath of the Clarke family!

However, Philip's identity had made things very awkward. It was because the Clarke family was at odds with the Nonagon. They were just like enemies. Neither party could tolerate each other when they met.

If Venom and his gang learned about Philip's identity, how would they handle it?

This was too exaggerated!

Then, Fennel's bland and disdainful words were heard. "So noisy! The hell with being an ant! In my eyes, you're nothing but an ant."

Such audacity!

Who could have imagined that this person from the Nonagon, one of the four enforcers of Uppercreek who acted so high and mighty before this and was a guy rumored to have a body impenetrable by knives could be slapped away just like that?

Moreover, Venom lay on the ground for half a minute before he recovered his senses!
