

The First Heir 1951

Chapter 1951

Philip felt a little amazed when he saw Fulton.

'Even Fulton is here? What is his father doing?'

'Was this pompadour really necessary?'

"Why are you here too?" Philip asked with a frown.

If he understood Fulton's words correctly, all members of the Shadow Squadron were here as well?

This was in addition to the Dragon Knights from just now. What exactly was his father going to do, sending so many great characters to a small Uppercreek?

With a respectful look on his face, Fulton replied, "The lord has ordered us to escort Young Lord back to the island. The Dragon Knights have taken the lead to place the entire Uppercreek under martial law. All the members of the Shadow Squadron are gathered outside the hospital at this moment, waiting for the young lord and young lady to return to the island at any time."

Philip's face tensed. He was just about to speak when Martha stepped forward from behind him and pointed at Fulton as she exclaimed, "I've seen you before. Weren't you the person beside the old man in the wheelchair? Hey, why are you here again? Wait, what did you call him just now? Young Lord? You must be kidding, you psycho!"

Martha

Martha was startled.

serious about backing could react, the tall Fulton was in front of her. He had a cold face and was staring fixedly

he said that, Martha felt a gust of wind in front of Smack!

slap resounded throughout raised his hand and slapped Martha who spun around twice on the spot before she staggered back and use his full strength, or rather, the strength he used was akin to the size of this slap could have killed

"Argh!"

A miserable scream followed.

the entire ward fell silent for an instant.

except for

The First Heir

Chapter 1952

Wynn felt her head aching as she said with a pale face, "Mom, can you stop making a fuss..."

Martha saw the situation and still wanted to say something when Philip stepped forward with a frosty look on his face.

Seeing Philip's expression and the look in his eyes, Martha's heart thumped as she dodged, asking, "W-What do you want to do? Don't do it. I'm your mother-in-law. I'm Wynn's... Hey, don't touch me!"

Martha wanted to continue shouting when Philip got close, grabbed Martha by her hair, and yanked her out the door. He said coldly, "My wife needs to rest. You should get out for now."

Charles and Wynn were stunned at that scene. Charles immediately ran out and shouted, "Philip, be gentle. Give her a break"

Wynn glanced at the scene with tears in her eyes. Then, she looked at the child in the incubator beside her as an inadvertent blissful smile appeared on her lips.

On this side, Philip yanked Martha's hair and threw her out the door.

before falling to the floor, looking disheveled like a beggar on the street. She was furious as she smacked her thighs attracting the attention of all the nurses and doctors. However, everyone just looked around the one. Her daughter was bleeding heavily from premature birth and all she thought about

Such

of mother is really one of very shameless, so and said unhappily, "What are you doing? Why angry and shouted, "Why should I stop? Look at what he did just now. Is it appropriate? I'm the words left her mouth, Philip took a step forward. His move scared just had a spiteful mouth but was panicking

"Philip, don't be impulsive. She's just confused. I'll go back and teach said, "Charles, I told you a long time ago to take care of your wife. If

Chapter 1953

It was an island...

This sentence kept repeating in Martha's mind.

'What the heck? What island?'

“Philip, are you crazy? What nonsense are you talking about? Your home is an island? Are you kidding me?”

Martha almost went crazy with anger. She pointed at Philip’s nose and flung all sorts of curses at him.

This damned son-in-law dared to spout such ridiculous words!

‘An island?’

Did he think she was uncultured and easy to deceive?

She was not a foolish young girl of 18 who would believe anything!

with a trace of disdain and said, “Do I need to

and the look in his eyes caused Martha’s heart

Could it be?

home was really be a fisherman in the coastal area. I heard that some fishermen have been living on the island for generations. Alas, I heard that the living conditions of those fishermen are very poor. They don’t even have a decent house on the island. I’m realized and snorted

head and said blandly, “Feel free to that said, Philip was about to away, I’ll go with you. I just want to see for myself what a sh*tty place this island of said, “I hope you won’t kneel and beg me to let you stay on the island when the kneel and beg you? Hehe! Let me put it this way. If I ever kneel and beg you to let me at Martha earnestly and said,

Philip no longer paid attention to Martha and turned around to enter the back, smacked Charles several times, and shouted, “Charles, what was up with you just now? Am I not your wife? Why didn’t you stop Philip when you saw him treating me as he stood with his hands behind his back. He shook his head helplessly and said, “You’re really asking for it this time. When Wynn gets better, I’ll

“What are you saying? You want to divorce me? How dare you turn your back on me?! How have threw his hands

Chapter 1954

After some arrangements from the hospital, Wynn was pushed out of the building in a hospital bed.

Theo and Victor informed their men at the first opportunity and immediately guarded the entire vicinity of the hospital.

Philip accompanied Wynn with Mila in his arms. Two subordinates slowly pushed the hospital bed and the baby incubator. The group slowly walked out of the hospital.

Martha and Charles followed closely. In fact, Martha did not agree for them to go home now, but she dared not refute Philip's decision. She could only grumble at Charles at the back, saying that he was useless and good-for-nothing. He could not even control his son-in-law.

As they stepped out of the door, the afterglow of the evening sun shone on them.

In front of the hospital, black Mercedes vehicles with double headlights on were parked on both sides of the spacious road. These cars stretched all the way to the street outside the hospital and continued with no end in sight.

least

the hospital, 32 members of the Shadow Squadron stood solemnly behind Fulton in two rows. They were dressed in black robes with a golden dagger embroidered on the collars and black masks on their faces dormant aura on their bodies seemed to penetrate the sky. Cold, grave, resolute, stood upright like

Swish!

an instant, these 32 people flicked their robes behind them, rustling waves of black. They knelt on one knee and said solemnly, "32 Shadow Guards welcome Young through the entire hospital. Despite there only being 32 people, the imposing momentum sounded like the roar of thousands of troops, making people boil fell into the

Everyone was dumbfounded!

was shock. Lydia was also full of amazement and

'Who is he exactly?'

The First Heir

Chapter 1955

Charles was also full of trepidation. He was shocked speechless by the scene in front of him. "I don't know either," Charles replied. With eyes full of surprise, his gaze fell on Philip's back.

Was this his true side and strength?

No wonder these people would surround him. Fortunately, he noticed it before and did not offend him much. Otherwise, this family would be finished.

Martha was now full of disbelief, her wide eyes constantly sweeping over Philip.

Was this loser really not a loser?

Were these people not paid actors?

This was simply too exaggerated!

Although Martha was excited, she still could not believe it and felt that Philip was doing this to scare her. However, the endless rows of Mercedes vehicles with double headlights flashing still had an impact on Martha.

What if they really belonged to Philip's family?

the lead was

car was not a small gold statuette but a golden dragon that seemed to soar to the sky. The body sight of this car alone was enough to shock the audience speechless.

was too freaking extravagant and overwhelming made of pure gold was a customized Rolls-Royce with sterling silver inlaid and dazzling diamonds. The entire body of the replaced by a car was engraved with the pattern of a hundred birds worshipping the phoenix, Shocking! Truly astounding!

two customized Rolls-Royce gradually were eight customized Rolls-Royce vehicles and a customized luxury RV imprinted with a golden in the world stopped in a row at the front entrance of the hospital just like breathing became rapid. Her eyes were here to pick

These luxury cars...

The First Heir

Chapter 1956

Instantly, the men in black suits standing in this area, as well as the black suited bodyguards next to the black Mercedes vehicles along the street, bent over and shouted in unison, "We welcome Young Master and Young Madam home!"

Like the surging waves of the ocean, this shout resounded within this ten mile radius. Astonishing!

Martha could not stand still any longer. Her knees went weak as she stared at the old man in front of her with wide eyes, screaming in shock, "Aren't you the richest man, George Thomas? Why are you here? Also, what did you call him just now? Young Master?"

All of a sudden, Martha's brain spun rapidly. She instantly pieced together rrrany of the previous coincidences in her mind.

At that moment, she suddenly felt her IQ soar, and she also had a clear realization of many things that she did not understand before.

George turned his head, smiled slightly, and said to Martha, "Madam Yates, Philip Clarke is my young master. I'm just a servant by his side."

Crack!

completely exploded in due to excitement and thrill, react and he hurriedly stepped forward to support Martha. He asked with concern, "What's wrong with

I do something wrong? Am I dreaming? Philip is not a loser. He's really a young master. He... I used to treat him like that. What should I do now?" Martha was already incoherent harsh on Philip, beating and scolding him. Now that Philip's identity and strength were fully displayed in front of

Philip retaliate

Everything was over now!

coldly. For the Clarke family, everything in front of them right now was just the tip of the iceberg. If they really arrived on the hospital bed, shed tears of excitement and surprise under strength of her husband?

in South River like George Thomas was merely a servant by her husband's side. Yes, she should have thought of

to easily resolve any

The First Heir

Chapter 1957

Philip glanced sideways at the anxious Martha and asked with a sneer, "Didn't you refuse to go back with us? Why do you want to go with us now?"

Martha felt her cheeks burning with embarrassment. She looked at those customized Rolls-Royces and RV with uncontrollable envy and excitement. These were all luxury cars. Would it not be awesome if she could sit in one?

“Oh, my dear son-in-law, I’m just old and muddled. I was blind and ignorant when I treated you badly in the past. Just forgive me this time. Wynn is very weak now and needs her mother to stay with her.”

Martha said boldly as she forced an ugly smile.

Philip frowned and snorted. He took a step forward and scared Martha into taking two steps back.

“With my strength, do you think I still need you to take care of Wynn?” Philip asked coldly.

Martha’s eyes flickered at his words. She did not know what to say.

“Philip, I’m just...” Martha was just about to speak when Philip interrupted her coldly.

Johnston household, you’ve never treated me well. In your eyes, I’m just a useless kept man. Do you think I’ll let you into the car just my dear son-in-law, I was just blinded in the past and didn’t realize what an outstanding man you are. It’s all my fault. Can saying that, Martha even smiled kindly. It was as if everything she had the sky. Then, he stared at Martha coldly and asked, “Back then, when I was doing the laundry, cooking, and mopping the floor in the Johnston family, why didn’t you see me as birthday and you

Master Yates’ birthday banquet, why didn’t rocked the entire heart. Every sentence made Martha take a step back. Her face flushed wronged you in the past. Who told you to conceal your identity at that time? If you had told me won’t happen again. I’ll treat you and Wynn well in the took a deep breath and sneered, “Martha, you’re really a forgetful person. Do you want me to remind you what you once did to me not step forward as a mediator because he knew that his wife needed a

The First Heir

Chapter 1958

Philip lowered his eyes, coldly glanced at Martha who was trembling on the ground, and said grimly, “I hope you know what to do, and this is my last piece of advice to you. I’ll be taking Wynn back. If you want to go with us, then take some practical actions!”

After saying that, Philip walked around and away from Martha.

At that moment, Martha was dumbfounded. Many thoughts crossed her mind as she thought about all the wrong things she had previously done.

Was she really wrong?

She did that all because she wanted Wynnie to have a good husband. Who knew that Philip had such a background and his family was so rich?

conceal it for such him well like her son, perhaps the outcome would be different now. Suddenly, Martha got up and shouted

her strength

at her. Philip stood by the after, in everyone's astonished and shocked gaze, Martha bowed

I shouldn't have treated you that way. I on the ground and Wynnie for the mistakes I made before. I'm not human. I'm not worthy of being a mother.

head on the ground until there was her any attention, Martha bit the bullet and started slapping herself fiercely while saying, "My son-in-law, I was wrong! I'm willing to repent! As long as you say so, I'll change! Please take me back

Smack!

The First Heir

Chapter 1959

Charles was anxious and hurried to Philip's side, saying nervously, "Philip, why don't you just forgive your rrrorn? She has already admitted her mistakes. It should be enough."

Philip did not speak but glanced sideways at Charles coldly. Charles was taken aback and quickly lowered his head without speaking.

Then, Philip glanced at Martha who was kneeling and knocking her head on the ground while slapping herself.

He got into the RV without looking back.

At this moment, Wynn was lying on the special care bed. The RV was extremely luxurious with a lot of space, adorned with diamonds everywhere. Just the furniture and equipment alone were estimated to be worth hundreds of millions. Two special postnatal nurses were inside. George had spent a lot of money to get them from abroad.

At this moment, Wynn sat up on the bed with difficulty. She looked at Philip who walked in with a hint of pleading in her eyes and asked, "Why don't you let my mother come in? After all, she has raised me for more than 20 years. She knows my temper and habits best."

Philip sat by the bed, looked at Wynn, and asked, "Are you sure you want her to go back with us?"

thought about it and said with a nod, "Yeah, think of it the guards standing at the door, "Let her was good to take Martha back so that she could really see what an affluent family was like. Only after extreme trauma could a person be destroyed

"Yes, Young Master."

on

Hearing this, she legs were numb and she stumbled, almost falling. She rushed to the

the door and got into entered

car was completely adorned with diamonds like the starry sky, and it was so shiny that any woman could not walk away after seeing stepped on the treatment that the wealthy was a loser for more than three years, had such a rich and powerful family. She got a

The First Heir

Chapter 1960

Lydia also got into the RV with Mila in her arms, but as Wynn needed to recuperate, they were arranged to sit in the customized silver diamond-encrusted Rolls-Royce.

In the RV, there were two postnatal care workers, a doctor, a nurse, Martha, Nelson Clarke in the incubator, and Wynn.

Philip got down from the RV. Fulton had been standing by the door of the Rolls-Royce with gold-plated dragons.

"Young Lord, it's almost time, we should depart," Fulton said.

Philip looked at the members of the Shadow Squadron behind him wearing black masks that concealed their appearance. Then, they left.

The afterglow of the sunset covered the entire Uppercreek, especially the ten mile-long street at the hospital entrance. It looked very magnificent and shocking. Black Mercedes vehicles with double headlights flashing were parked on both sides of the street.

Many civilians gathered at the roadside with mobile phones in hand.

How exciting!

was

the hospital, “We

like a wave

next to every black Mercedes-Benz all

was shocking

the bodyguards in black suits opened the doors and got into the cars neatly and uniformly. Deafening countless people held up their cell phones, taking pictures and videos of the hospital entrance and shouted, “Look,

Rolls-Royce of pure

a Rolls-Royce with sterling

Tire ones behind are of the two completely went into an uproar. Everyone could only curse incessantly, not because they were uncultured but because there was simply only RV in the world that’s