

The First Heir 1961

Chapter 1961

All the civilian onlookers were shocked at this scene. Everyone wondered who these people were escorting. They looked like Jedi Knights as they were full of chills.

The convoy slowly drove forward. All the black Mercedes vehicles parked by the roadside also followed the convoy closely, flashing double headlights the entire way.

At the forefront, Philip who was sitting inside the golden dragon Rolls-Royce asked indifferently, "Did you bring Connor Clarke and the rest along?"

George Thomas, who was sitting in the co-passenger seat, immediately turned his head with a respectful look on his face and said, "Yes, they're in the back"

Philip nodded and looked out the window at the view.

The street was full of people taking pictures with their phones.

Meanwhile, Connor, Allen, and Levi were locked inside a black Mercedes that looked like a giant box at the back of the convoy. Levi leaned back on the seat, his head still wrapped in bandages. His face looked a little haggard.

hands, his

"Damn it!"

a big commotion just to welcome

Shadow Squadron had been dispatched. What exactly won't Philip make it back to the island safely?" Allen sat on Connor's side an opportunity to make a move. Find an opportunity to inform the people we've arranged. Tell them to get ready to make a move on Philip at the Arcadia Island customs or at sea! No matter what it takes, no matter the cost or means, we must stop him before he a number. He commanded coldly, "Pass my order down immediately.

phone and glanced at Levi who looked miserable on the

was the hope of the entire branch family but he the conversation between Connor and Allen. He sat up with difficulty. With a face full of pain and resentment, he said, "Grandpa, we must kill him! If we let him go back, everything grandson and said with a nod, "Don't worry, I've made arrangements. The Clarke family will definitely belong to our branch family in the future! Philip is not worthy to lead the Clarke family to glance and nodded

Chapter 1962

Wynn thought about it for a while, frowned slightly, shook her head, and said, "No."

When Martha heard this, her eyes went taut as she said with a frown, "That's weird. He's so rich, but why did he hide it from us?"

After saying that, Martha looked around, got up, and said to the two postnatal care nurses, "You two may go out first. I have some private affairs to discuss with my daughter."

The two nurses looked at each other, then at Wynn who was leaning against the head of the bed.

"You may go out first," Wynn said.

"Yes, Madam."

After saying that, the two nurses left.

After they left, Martha even made a point of closing the door. Then, she quickly turned around, sat back down again, and took Wynn's hand. She asked, "Wynn, has Philip not given you anything all these years?"

taken aback and asked,

and said, "Things like gold and silver jewelry, little confused about what her mother meant, but she it?" Martha was excited. If it was given lot of money on that

"It's

at home. She hurriedly said to Wynn, "Wynn, listen to me. It's not that I want to pretended to cry before she changed the subject and said, "When you go back this time, you have to tell Philip clearly that you should get half of his family's fortune. Even if not half, I think one-tenth should be enough. This kid is so rich and loves Wynn finally understood what Martha was thinking and said anxiously, "Mom, what are you thinking? Are you saying that I should get a share of Philip's assets?"

mother was still the same. She was even thinking of Philip's family it. He kept this from us for so many years, so what else is he capable of doing? A man is bound to commit mistakes. You must secure your future in advance. If Philip commits a mistake in the future and kicks you and won't happen. I trust your thinking. Listen to me, I have experience in such matters. just do as I

Chapter 1963

The wind blew sluggishly on the street.

These dozen people were dressed in strange outfits and full of killing intent.

Onlookers on both sides of the street took pictures with their phones and chartered incessantly.

“Holy sh*t, is this a TV series or a movie? There are even killers?”

“No wonder the appearance was so flashy. This crew has spent a lot of money!”

“Awesome! I’ll definitely watch this show when it airs!”

With the comments from onlookers, Fulton’s eyes grew colder. Looking at the dozen or so people in front of him, his eyes that were full of killing intent and a hint of disdain landed on Luca Mode. He said, “You’re not my opponent.”

Hearing this, Luca laughed loudly and said, “People say that Battle God Hash is peerless and has amazing combat power. I have no other wish in this lifetime but to spar with you.”

death, do you still want light, his domineering arrogance was inadvertently released sentence caused the scene to so people behind him looked Hash. Your indomitable attitude is really second to none. However, you shouldn’t underestimate me. At any rate, I’m a person made the first move. His body surged with an endless manic aura as he stomped on the ground. His entire body was like a rampaging truck of murderous intent. A trace of disdain appeared in them. At this moment, he crossed his arms over his chest. When Luca got close to him and his fist

Boom!

air current surged

Hiss!

Everyone was shocked.

see how Fulton made the move. They only saw the burly man aggressively raising his fist to punch Fulton. Before he got close, his whole body ten meters away. He spat a mouthful of

Pfft!

Chapter 1964

Hiss!

Everyone gasped aloud. This scene was too impactful. Had film-making reached this level nowadays?

Were those special effects not supposed to be added post-production?

Almost everyone had the same expression. It looked like these people had rushed up but soon fell to the ground while bleeding from their seven orifices. It was exactly like special effects added post-production.

Click, click!

All the flashes started. The unsuspecting onlookers even raised their arms and cheered, "Awesome! This is amazing! Where's the director? What film is this? We'll give our full support!"

Back to Fulton. He lowered his eyebrows and glanced at an assailant by his feet. Judging from the black tattoo of a palace on his neck, he could determine their origins. Disciples from Country M.

'Hehe, the 12 Sacred Halls of the West have also taken action.'

Of course, this sudden attack also made Philip, who was sitting in the car, frown.

It seemed that his journey back home would not be a smooth one.

time, George turned his head and said, "Young Master, the plans that Connor has made against you have started

Since he had decided to bring Connor Clarke and the others pinhole camera. Every move that Connor, Allen, and Levi made was all in Philip's knowledge. He did this just to no need to make a big fuss just to deal with Connor and the gang. Just send some people to deal with it. I don't want too much to happen on the responded, "Yes, Young Master, had already walked to the door of the car. Philip rolled down the car window, glanced "Disciples from Country M. They're from the 12 Sacred Halls of frowned and asked, "Why this grudge, the people from the 12 Sacred Halls of the West have been taking small actions against the Clarke family much trouble will there be around, there won't be any trouble. The Dragon Knights are already waiting to welcome you at the Uppercreek exit. At this juncture, I'm sure those forces within the country won't jump out so." With that said, Philip the same time, Ethan got out of the Rolls-Royce at the back lying on the bed, "Wynn, my brother is at Ethan, smiled gently, and said, scratched his head innocently and sat at the doorway, leaning against the door frame and playing Connect the Dots. His only purpose was to protect Wynn. Although there were Shadow Guards and many Clarke family's bodyguards outside,

The First Heir

Chapter 1965

All of them were equipped with dragon sabers on their waists and plumes on their heads, their faces rigid and serious. Moreover, the person in the lead held a golden scroll high in his hand like a holy decree.

The appearance of this group of people shocked the crowd so much that they dared not make a sound. Then, they knelt on the ground.

Everyone along the ten mile-long street just knelt like that.

Worshipped by the people!

Only the Imperial Preceptor!

Swish!

The man in the lead walked up to Fulton and stopped five meters away. He opened the golden scroll in his hand that was embroidered with gold dragons and said loudly, "By order of the Imperial Preceptor to all forces around, anyone who obstructs the convoy will be deemed as opposing the order and become an enemy of this country. Those who dare to breach the order will be executed!"

At the announcement of the golden order, the entire scene fell silent.

The kneeling crowd trembled at this moment. It was not from fear but excitement!

was the Imperial glory of the eight kingdoms by himself. He was a god and the great leader same time, those forces mixed in the crowd also made phone calls one lurking in Uppercreek at this moment ordered a retreat been ten years. The Imperial Preceptor's Golden Order

Who dared defy?

looking for

Imperial Preceptor but the rumors and international reputation large French window. He watched the Imperial Preceptor's personal guards white martial arts uniform. His figure was tall. He had a youthful and ruddy a split hem. She swayed her hips enticingly as she walked to the side voice as loud as a tolling bell. He laughed while saying, "No need. Roger Clarke has played this move well. By using the Imperial Preceptor's below. She said, "Alliance Leader, will the branch Clarke family give

Chapter 1966

The woman with a hot figure bowed and watched as the old man left.

Then, she swayed her hips, walked to the large French window, and watched the scene on the street below. A sinister smile appeared on her fiery red lips that made people jittery. This woman was extremely dangerous.

After that, she took out her mobile phone and dialed a number. Her red lips parted slightly as she said, "Bernard Johnston, you may start doing what you were told before. This time, don't let me down."

Back to the scene downstairs, the man with a dragon saber taking the lead handed the Golden Order holy decree in his hand to Fulton.

Fulton took it in his hand, glanced at the group of people, and asked, "Does the Imperial Preceptor have any orders?"

The man in the lead replied, "The Imperial Preceptor said that your journey this time should be unimpeded. If anyone crosses the line, we'll kill!"

Fulton did not say anything. He took the Golden Order and shouted, "Depart!"

The convoy set off again. The streets had long been cleared.

As expected, accompanied by the Imperial Preceptor's guards this time, the journey was unimpeded and the convoy drove directly to the exit of Uppercreek. The scene in front once again shocked many onlookers. On both sides of the exit, black flags embroidered with a golden island were seen everywhere. The Dragon Knights in heavy black armor stood on both sides of the road like upright poles.

like a bright red battle nine guards stood at the forefront like undefeated knights. They

Clang!

An earth-shattering noise!

them, 3,000 Dragon Knights raised their fists and pounded heavily on their Swoosh!

Dragon Knights moved in unison like a torrent of black steel pride resounded through the entire Uppercreek

Knights welcome Young

Dragon Knights welcome

welcome Young

Domineering, passionate!

Dragon

Too hot-blooded!

had never appeared in the real world combined ancient style and futuristic technology in one. The sight was shocking to the senses. Their roars swept across the sky

The First Heir

Chapter 1967

Philip frowned at those words. Was his father going to make use of his return to lay out some plans and close the net?

At this time, Martha, who was in the RV, leaned out the window and watched the movement outside excitedly. "Wow! Wynnie, quick, look outside. Are these people from Philip's family? This is too exaggerated!"

Martha's eyes were wide open. For the first time, she felt as small as a frog at the bottom of a well. This spectacle and pomp were more extravagant than the richest people she knew about.

It was not that Martha had never seen a rich family. She also came from quite a well-to-do family.

The rich only had lots of money and connections. Those in front were genuine combatants.

What exactly was the background of Philip's family? Could it be so exaggerated?

Suddenly, many thoughts crossed Martha's mind. When she went back this time, she must forge a good relationship with Philip no matter what. It was best to use Wynn so that she could have a good chat with the in-laws. Perhaps she could even get some money, a house, and others.

Now, Martha began to fantasize about the island that Philip had mentioned in the hospital.

the window. Her delicate little face and big misty eyes were full of surprise and excitement at the moment. Although she had guessed that Philip's family was not simple, she did not between this and the king's return to

to clear the way.

Mercedes behind, when they saw the flags of the Dragon Knights waving in the sun outside, they were full of the Dragon Knights of Arcadia Island. They were the entire foundation of the Clarke protected the Clarke family and the to welcome Philip

Dragon

Simply over the top!

horrible. He wondered what the branch family was prepared to do. Could they still prevent turmoil as he said coldly, "How dare Roger Clarke use the were dispatched. Would the plans he had arranged be akin to smashing eggs asked nervously, "Connor, what should we do now? These are the Dragon Knights. Can the people

Chapter 1968

Back to Philip's side, he said a few words to Fulton and got in the car.

The nine dragon knights drew out the dragon saber at their waists and placed it across their chests.

Clang!

The saber clanked loudly!

Clang, clang, clang!

All 3,000 Dragon Knights drew out the dragon saber at their waists and pointed them to the sky before placing them across their chests!

"Dragon Knights, listen to the order. Welcome Young Lord's return. Anyone who dares to stand in the way, kill without mercy!"

The nine dragon knights roared, which sounded like the bellow of a demon king, shocking the entire ten mile radius!

"Kill!"

"Kill!"

"Kill!"

Dragon Knights shouted in unison and turned around. They held the dragon saber Thud, thud, thud!

by step, the shocking sound of footsteps resounded like army troops and filled the entire blew and the dust settled. Philip and his convoy left footsteps of the 3,000 Dragon Knights resounded throughout the coastline. They resembled a torrent of black steel. Their red robes were stamped with golden dragons, fluttering with dazzling cavalry that had gone through the ages of history now escorted the heir the area and flapped in the wind, before the convoy arrived, the area within a five mile radius was already filled with armed combatants of the Clarke family. The moment the convoy arrived, all the fully armed combatants dressed in black combat uniforms, black berets, and black boots already filled the eight major roads leading were all combatants had a look of respect in their eyes as they watched the golden dragon Rolls-Royce slowly convoy, members of the Shadow Squadron looked

“Stop!”

three meters in front of the car, Fulton suddenly shouted with coldness in

The First Heir

Chapter 1969

The three rocket missiles were like fire snakes while leaving trails of white smoke. They were quickly headed toward the three vehicles that were leading the envoy.

Fulton stood still, not moving a muscle.

One member of the Shadow Guards next to the three cars jumped out from the team. He was protecting the golden dragon Rolls-Royce. He had a sturdy and burly figure.

The moment the rocket missiles blasted over, he stepped out, and the whole ground seemed to tremble. Then, he rushed out, raised his fist, shouted angrily, and slammed his right fist directly at the missile!

Boom!

Instantly, the missile collided with the shadow guard’s right fist and exploded with earth-shattering sparks!

However, the shadow guard was unharmed. Except for his smoking right fist, he was unscathed.

An explosive punch!

bare fist, he punched the missile into smithereens. This scene made the woman watching from this still woman walked out beside the silver phoenix Rolls-Royce. She jumped high, raised her leg, shocked when they saw the missile being fired back at them. Their eyes widened as they quickly tried to escape.

Boom!

was hit by the

RV took action almost at the same time as the other two members. He stood on the spot without moving, seemed to hover to a stop ten meters away from the RV, trembling constantly. The flame at the tail went out and the missile fell to the ground, losing combatants ran out and threw dozens of combatants in black combat uniforms immediately entered the field with a fighting posture and searched through from above, a stern look flashed in her eyes as she shouted coldly into the this moment. The few people in the lead were quite several combatants was also a brawny man carrying a two meter long saber on his shoulder who smashed his way out the door from inside a huge cargo container. He roared like a bear, brandished the long saber in his hand, and rushed into

The First Heir

Chapter 1970

Martha ran over with horror in her eyes and said to Wynn, "Wynn, something's going on. I saw some killers just now."

"Killers?" Wynn was startled and her face went pale.

Hearing that, Ethan frowned, raised his hand, and grabbed Martha by her back collar. He smiled at Wynn and said, "Wynn, don't listen to her nonsense. She's still drowsy from her sleep."

After that, Ethan dragged Martha out of the bedroom and threw her on the sofa in the living room outside.

"W-What are you doing?" Martha was frightened and looked at Ethan in a panic.

This cousin of Philip was more decisive at acting out compared to Philip.

sofa next to Martha, causing her to shrink back in fright. "I'm warning you, if you dare to talk nonsense again, I'll cut your tongue and knock your teeth out." Ethan's face was cold and frightened by Ethan's words and quickly nodded timidly as she said, "Okay, I know. I saying that, Ethan could not be bothered with Martha anymore. He glared at her at Ethan. The fear in her eyes was gradually replaced by hatred. 'Damned brat, I'll let you be arrogant for now! Once at Philip's side, he sat in the car, glanced at the movement outside, and asked George who was the branch family. Since we're already here, the Philip nodded in agreement.

the branch family wanted to stop him, they would not use such petty means to do it. In that case, commotion outside got with extraordinary strength that Shadow Guards jerked off the hood of his robe, looking handsome and tough. Then, he walked toward the