Chapter 1971

The woman knelt on the ground and spat obstinately. She turned her head away and said coldly, "Kill or torture me as you please!"

Hearing that, Philip's face darkened. A sly smile appeared at the corner of his mouth and he said, "If I give you a way out, will you take it?"

The woman sneered at that and said, "The members of the Clarke family are all cunning foxes. I won't believe you. Just kill me!"

After saying that, the woman closed her eyes and prepared for the worst.

Philip carefully looked at the woman's appearance for a few moments. She had good looks, and under her long eyelashes, her eyelids were trembling slightly.

After thinking about it, Philip asked 24 next to him, "You don't have a wife, right? How about I give this one to you?"

Hearing that, 24 looked aggrieved and said, "Young Lord, this one is too weak. She can't beat me in a fight and her looks are average. I don't like her. You can give her to 19. As long as it's a woman, 19 will like her."

With that said, the sturdy man who smashed the missile with a fist earlier came over while scratching his head with a foolish smile.

The woman kneeling on the ground opened her eyes in fright when she heard the conversation between Philip and 24. She was angry and scared. She was angry that the guy with the crew cut actually said that she was weak and not beautiful enough. She was considered a diva in the organization!

The whistle of the huge cruise ship resounded across the entire coastline.

Everyone in the vehicles came out one after another at this moment, stunned by the magnificent scene in front of them.

The eight escort battleships were fully loaded with combatants. A huge eight-story high and 300 meter long golden cruise ship docked at the port.

Male and female servants in standard uniforms and more than a dozen butlers in tuxedos stood on the cruise ship.

At this moment, Martha walked out of the RV and was shocked speechless when she saw the scene in front of her. She trembled all over as she stood on the spot. She only came back to her senses after a long while.

She looked as if she had stepped into a fairytale. She was excited and agitated! Her brain was buzzing!

At this time, the expressions on Connor and the other two looked extremely ugly when they saw the eight battleships on the sea as well as the huge golden cruise ship. That golden cruise ship was the world's largest cruise ship and belonged exclusively to the Clarke family.

There was a mobile commercial complex inside. Swimming pools, luxury shopping malls, golf courses, casinos...

Everything that one could think of was available on this cruise ship.

Allen glanced at Connor and said softly, "Connor, what should we do? With the battleships acting as escorts, our people can't make a move."

Connor naturally understood that the people they had arranged for were just some pirates and diving combatants. Now that the battleships were here to escort them back, who would dare to make a move?

Connor's face darkened. He glanced at Philip who was walking toward him and gritted his teeth. He said coldly, "Stay put. We'll look at the situation when we get to the sea."

At this moment, Philip walked up to them. He put his hands in his trouser pockets, looked at Connor and the others indifferently, and said, "Are you thinking of ways to stop me at sea?"

Soon, everyone boarded the golden cruise ship.

The cruise ship was full of male and female servants as well as butlers.

“Oh my, Philip, does this cruise ship really belong to your family?” Martha followed behind Philip, her face full of smiles.

Philip did not say anything. On the side, Ethan held his neck and walked past while saying, “It belongs to our family.”

Upon hearing this, Martha was so excited that she secretly rubbed her hands. She quickly pulled Charles who was walking over on the side and said, “Charles, do you see this? It turns out that Philip’s family is so rich. How much money does it cost for such a big cruise ship?”

Charles glanced at the huge cruise ship and the eight battleships around him, saying, “Don’t do anything stupid. Just look at those battleships. Can ordinary people have battleships as escorts? You should think about how to treat Philip and Wynn from now on.”

Martha rolled her eyes at him and said, “That goes without saying. Philip is my son now. I must treat him well!”

Charles shook his head and helplessly followed the servant in front of him.

At this time, Wynn pushed her wheelchair from the suite to the open air viewing deck. Looking at the vast and expansive island on the sea in front of her, she was full of astonishment and asked, "Phil, is this your home?"

Philip turned around, put his hands in his trouser pockets, looked at Wynn indifferently, and said, "That's right, it's my home, and it's also your future home."

Hiss!

Wynn gasped. With eyes full of shock, she looked at the island on the sea that resembled a city. 'This is Philip's home?'

This was clearly a city on the sea!

The towering skyscrapers and buildings on the island, as well as all kinds of yachts, battleships, sailing ships, cruise ships, and so on, were docked near the island. How was this different from Fernvale that was known as the golden egg?

This place was richer and more prosperous than Fernvale.

While thinking, Martha hurried out of the room and ran to Wynn and Philip's room.

To be honest, Martha was very envious when she saw the highest-class suite that Wynn and Philip stayed in. However, she did not say anything but knocked on the door and whispered, "Philip, Wynn, are you up yet?"

At this moment, Philip heard the knock on the door, raised his brows, and sneered, "Your mother is here again."

Wynn was also very helpless. Her mother had never been so enthusiastic and polite before. She said, "She's just like that. Philip, promise me that as long as my mother doesn't go too overboard, you won't take her too personally."

Philip gently patted Wynn's small hand and said, "Don't worry. I know what to do."

After saying that, he walked over and opened the room door. He saw Martha with a face full of smiles as she scurried in and said, "Philip, let me ask you, is your family's home really on this island?"

Philip hummed in agreement. Martha held her chest excitedly and gasped. She quickly smiled, pulled Philip, and said, "Oh, my good son-in-law, why didn't you tell me before that your home is in such a place?"

Philip snorted and said, "Didn't you say that my home is a dog kennel in a remote countryside?"

Allen had no choice but to lean against the window, hoping that the disc-sized window could receive the signal.

At this time!

Boom!

The warehouse door opened and a tall figure appeared at the doorway with their back against the light. The blinding sunlight mixed with the dazzling blue of the ocean shone into the warehouse.

Connor and the others raised their eyes. They looked at Philip who was standing at the door of the warehouse. He had his hands in his trouser pockets. There was a nonchalant look on his face and a sneer on his mouth.

Connor immediately stood up angrily, pointed at Philip, and shouted, "Philip, we're core members of the branch Clarke family. By treating us like this and locking me up in this cargo warehouse, it's a humiliation to me! I must go to the law enforcement hall and complain about you!"

Levi also stood up, scratched his body, and shouted, "That's right, hurry up and let us out. I want to take a bath. This place is filthy! I'm the eldest young master of the branch family. I have to change a set of clothes before I go to the island! Otherwise..."

“Hahaha!”

With a loud laugh, Connor said, “Philip, do you think you can do anything to me with just this? Are you going to give this to the people of the law enforcement hall? Dream on! I can also say that this whole thing was self directed by you!”

Philip already knew that Connor would say this. Standing with his hands behind his back, he looked at the three people indifferently and said, “I know that I can’t do anything to you with this. As long as the branch family steps in, it’ll be like it never happened. However, if you think that I’m afraid and dare not do anything to you, then you’re very wrong.”

Hearing this, the faces of Connor and the others darkened because they felt a chill and killing intent from Philip’s body as well as eyes.

“What do you want to do?” Connor asked with a frown as he felt a bad premonition.

Philip smirked and glanced indifferently at Allen as he said, “I’ll give you a way out. As long as you go back and testify against him, I can ignore the past. How about that?”

As soon as Allen heard this, he burst into laughter and said, “Philip, are you out of your mind? Why would I turn my back on my eldest brother? Hahaha, I thought you were so powerful, but it turns out that you’re just an empty husk.”

Connor also snorted.

In an instant, Allen was thrown down!

"Argh!"

A scream resounded throughout the cruise.

Splash!

Allen plunged into the sea from the deck that was more than ten meters high! That huge impact rendered Allen unconscious in the sea.

When he sucked the seawater into his lungs, Allen woke up with a jolt. He gulped a big mouthful of salty seawater into his stomach, which entered his lungs through the nasal cavity.

At that moment, Allen felt like he was going to die. He could not breathe at all, and his lungs were suffocating to the point of exploding.

He tried to struggle but his hands were tied up as he sank deeper into the water. He only saw the bottom of the huge cruise, the rotating propellers, and many schools of fish around. He even saw a few huge black shadows swimming around the bottom of the sea and the cruise.

Dropping the rocket launcher, Philip clapped his hands, looked at Allen, who had fainted from fear, and said, "Pull him up."

A few minutes later, a drenched Allen lay on the deck.

Philip had changed into a white bohemian shirt with black casual pants. He had on sunglasses as well. He stood with his hands behind his back. With the sea breeze blowing, his sturdy figure was exposed under the sun, and he looked extraordinarily handsome.

Just like a prince on the sea. At this moment, he put his hands in his trouser pockets, glanced at Allen who had passed out, and said, "Wake him up."

A guard stepped forward and slapped Allen twice.

Allen threw up the seawater and a small fish. It fell limply on the ground, while Allen's face was pale. Connor and Levi had been witnessing Philip's methods from the sidelines since the start.

Too scary!

'This guy actually dared to attack a member of the branch family.'

Following that, Philip looked at Allen who had woken up, and said, "I thought you were a tough guy. I didn't expect that you were a timid guy who's afraid of death."
