

The First Heir 1981

Chapter 1981

Martha's words silenced the jubilant voices on the scene. The welcoming crowd stared at Martha in amazement at this moment.

This middle-aged woman looked like an ordinary housewife at a glance, and she was also dressed in ordinary clothes.

'How dare she say such flippant and chastising words to Fifth Madam?'

'Oh no!'

'Something was about to happen!'

Sure enough, the gentle and elegant woman with a loving smile on her face suddenly froze. A cold light flashed from the corner of her eyes. She squeezed out a smile and asked, "What did you just say?"

When Philip saw this smile, he knew it was over. His fifth mother was definitely the mildest-looking but the most irritable person on the island!

Even his father had to back down somewhat when his fifth mother got angry.

At this moment, seeing the indifferent smile at the corner of Fifth Mother's mouth, Philip knew that Martha's good days had come to an end.

However, Martha was oblivious and glanced suspiciously at the people around her.

'What was going on? Why did the cheers of the crowd stop?'

Then, she looked warily at the luxuriously dressed woman in front of her and snorted. "Aren't you just a nanny here to welcome us? What are you trying to do by dressing up like that? Do you know who I am? My son-in-law is the young master of the Clarke family on your island! How can a servant like you be worthy of getting close to my daughter?"

Martha did not know what was good for her and chose to show off at this time.

Sitting in a wheelchair, Wynn felt helpless when she saw her mother behave like this. She hurriedly said, "Mom, don't talk nonsense. This is not Riverdale."

glared at Wynn and said, "Wynnie, I'm teaching you the principles of life. When you get here, you indignantly, "Son-in-law, who is this person? She's not courteous at all. If she's shook his head without saying a

She said, "I've long heard that Phil's mother-in-law is a sharp-tongued, greedy, and disloyal person. Seeing her for myself today has indeed opened don't know the rules at all! When I get to the Clarke family, I'll definitely get my in-laws to next second...

Tens of thousands of flash, Martha was dumbfounded. She stared at the woman in front of her with to hit me?! My son-in-law is the young master of the Clarke family on your island. How dare you hit me?

Aren't you here

spread her arms and pounced forward, trying to scratch the woman

Smack!

other party slapped Martha viciously across

yet?" the woman of fear and panic, she turned to Philip and shouted, "Son-in-law, look! This nanny slightly to on her body from just a moment ago completely disappearing. She responded happily, "It's good that said, "I've always four attendants lifted the red

Hiss!

Everyone gasped.

lived on this island for generations and knew that the Clarke family ruled over heaven here. However, they were still shocked when of jade bracelets, a pair of pure gold necklaces and bracelets, a pair up to Wynn and said with a smile, "Thank you for all you've done. These are welcome gifts for you and contents of the tray. She was stunned for a long time before she could react. She quickly smiled and greeted the woman, dotingly. Nadia Sawyer really liked Wynn. Since the last time she heard her fourth sister talking about Wynn, she side, her cheeks flushing. At this scene, she lowered

'What the heck?'

The First Heir

Chapter 1982

Hearing Philip's words, Nadia asked worriedly, "Do you really want to do this? Phil, listen to my advice.
You just came back and can't be independent yet. There are many things on the island that you don't understand. The influence of the branch family is deeply entrenched on this island. If you go head-on against the chieftain like this, you'll get into trouble."

Philip smiled and said, "Fifth Mother, don't worry. I have my plans."

After saying that, he turned around and returned to Wynn's side.

Nadia stood there and watched as Philip chatted with Wynn. She shook her head helplessly and smiled.

This child was still the same as before, and also the same as his father, unwilling to talk to others whenever they did anything.

"Fifth Madam, should I secretly arrange for someone to spy on the movement of the branch family?"

A personal guard beside Nadia asked with a serious and rigid face at this moment.

Nadia thought about it and nodded while saying, "Fine, go and sniff out the situation. If there's any movement on the branch family's side, report to me immediately."

"Yes!"

After that guard said this, he followed Nadia and they walked back to Philip's side again.

"Let's go. Fourth Sister has been waiting for you at home for a long time. She has prepared a sumptuous lunch."

Nadia smiled and reached out to push Wynn's wheelchair.

Wynn was a bit flattered and wanted to let the subordinates do it instead, but under Nadia's insistence, she had no choice but to relent.

A group of people got into several extended Lincolns and Bentleys parked at the port.

Martha fell behind and kept tugging at Charles while saying, "Charles, wait a moment. I've something to say to you."

you want to do?

Charles and

"What do you at that woman? She looks friendly on the surface but her heart is very dark. Wynn is too are you thinking? I think she's quite nice and good to Wynn," Charles said you? She's a femme fatale through and through. I can see it at a glance. Just you wait, that woman definitely doesn't have any good intentions toward Wynn. Have you forgotten about Giada Wallis? She's competing with Philip over the family's assets. Don't you think thought she made ear, "Let's stay put and observe the situation in Philip's family. If necessary, just listen to my orders while I refuse at first, but when he thought the cars

of the Clarke family's guards, the convoy arrived at the central area of Arcadia Island. This was the most heavily guarded and prosperous

Clarke Manor.

top of the mountain. Different

The entire gate was as wide as eight lanes car, Wynn looked at the scene outside the car through the window. She saw the guards and the magnificent, prosperous manor in front of the gate. Her heart was in turmoil as her breathing grew rapid. She held Philip's hand tightly and asked, "Phil, is be nervous, I'm here. You're the young madam here.

not be worried or afraid?

to her. His family was really amazing here. They could build a manor in the center of an

the first family on this island?" Wynn was breathing smiled and

Hiss!

exhaled. Her heartbeat sped up and she kept patting her chest with her little hand while saying, "Wait, let me catch my breath. I'm a little was difficult to actually had such a status. The ancient feudal lord

The First Heir

Chapter 1983

This was just the edge of the estate but there were already many villas, golf courses, leisure clubs, open air swimming pools, zoos, and so on. There were even buildings that looked like palaces magnificent and beautiful.

Expensive trees and flowers from various countries could also be seen. There were world-class florists pruning and tending to them.

Many servants and butlers in black and white uniforms also walked around. They would respectfully stop and bow when they saw the convoy.

At this sight, Martha looked like she had never seen the world before. She grinned broadly from ear to ear, her eyes wide open. She was excited beyond belief. She chattered incessantly the entire way.

"Charles, look at this."

"Charles, look over there."

“Wow, and that!”

It’s too luxurious! This is what a wealthy family is like. My goodness, what blessing I have in this life to have excited that her eyes

You insisted on going against him and even told Wynnie to divorce him. If they had really divorced, you wouldn’t even have the right mood and did not bother about Charles. She said, “Oh, that’s all in the past. I know I was wrong now. It’s okay, our son-in-law is generous her mobile phone and kept sending them to her asked Martha which

group went

***

phone screens. About ten minutes later, the convoy passed by a blue lake in front of square meters was a very wide square. This square was bigger than St. Mark’s Square was made of the world’s most expensive hand cut marble and pebbles, inlaid giant stood in the center of been here since he was born. It was said to

The First Heir

Chapter 1984

At this moment, everyone got out of the cars and was stunned by the sight of the vast manor in front of them. For more than ten minutes, they could not recover their senses as if they had arrived in a fairyland. They saw a whole row of classic castle buildings with five or six floors, all grand and majestic. It was just like the Palace of Versailles, with drawings of the gods ascending to the sky. It seemed to carry traces of myths and history of various countries.

A huge golden-bronze gate stood in the center of this classic castle building carved with world maps and various mythological characters. Everything looked like a treasure of humankind.

Martha was already shocked by the scene before her eyes and could not stand still anymore. When she got out of the car, she realized how luxurious and big this place was. It was really very big, too big for her to imagine or understand.

In the world, there was actually such a large manor and such a luxurious interior.

At this moment, Martha would rather die here. It would be worthwhile in this lifetime.

“Welcome home, Young Master and Young Madam!”

Suddenly, all the bodyguards, servants, and butlers in this vicinity bowed in unison at Philip and the others.

Martha and the rest got a fright from this greeting. Wynn was also startled. This homecoming etiquette was simply too exaggerated.

the difference between this and the crown prince returning to with her fair jade-like hand and smiled lovingly as looked at Philip, not and said, "Go ahead,

more luxurious and

Wynn and Mila into the carriage and youngest son, Nelson Clarke, had already been sent

The grandson of the Clarke family would naturally grow

the people stood at the door, waiting huge palace. After passing through one could see the mountain inside and have to take a carriage to go inside? I want a ride too. I've never sat in of smiles, her eyes darting around. She was very envious

he said, "Martha,

Chapter 1985

Martha was dumbfounded at Philip's words

'Lucky?'

'Why did it sound like a dog's name?'

Philip was not going to let her sleep in the doghouse, right?

For a moment, Martha panicked. She quickly grabbed Philip's arm and said with a smile, "Son-in-law, don't be ridiculous. I'm your mother-in-law, after all. And I'm Wynn's mother. How can you bear to let me stay in a doghouse? It doesn't sound good if word of this spreads out."

Martha laughed and the wrinkles on her face squeezed together, looking very ugly.

Philip turned his head, pulled his arm away from Martha's grip, and said coldly, "Do you think I'm joking with you? Do you think I brought you back to enjoy life?"

Thump!

Martha panicked and stammered, "Isn't that so?"

his head, a cold smile appearing at the corner of his mouth. He said to the suits who dragged Martha away. This caused Martha to panic. She struggled desperately and shouted, "Forget about it? Don't worry, I'll keep an eye on her and won't let her cause any trouble here. If you let her live in a doghouse, it'll sound really

Johnston, are you

question because he felt what are you doing? Hurry up and say something for me. I don't want to his resolve, glared at Martha, and said, "I won't beg

the side.

"Ah!"

a man? I'm your wife!

and said, "My good son-in-law, I was wrong. I was really wrong. Don't let them take me to the kennel. I don't want to stay burst into tears and cried, "Besides, if Wynnies finds out that you're treating me like this, she'll be angry too.

what to say to her.

black-suited bodyguards took the struggling Martha away. She squealed like a pig the entire way. Martha was taken by two bodyguards in black suits

The First Heir

Chapter 1986

Martha looked over. The four dogs had their tongues out, looking ferocious. They all stared fixedly at her!

Woof, woof!

With a series of barks, the four pit bulls wanted to rush over to bite Martha. She was so scared that she struggled and cried as she tried to run.

Fat Aunt pulled the leashes in her hand and ordered, "Lucky, sit down!"

The four pit bulls sat down in unison.

Martha was about to kneel in fright. Her face was full of tears as she wailed, "I don't want to live here. I'm scared of dogs. Save me."

However, her screaming was to no avail.

Fat Aunt looked at Martha and said with a smile, "I get it I'll make arrangements for this person."

The maid nodded with a smile before she turned and left.

well as four pit remained in the same spot, trembling all over. She did not dare to move. She was extremely flustered. These four Martha and said, "Since you're here, you have to listen to me. First, go to the front lawn

Fat Aunt took out the poop-shoveling tool at it, and immediately threw it on the ground. She yelled, "Pick up poop? Are you crazy? I'm Martha Yates. You should ask around. I'm your young master's mother-in-law. How she sneered, "What did you say? You're the mother-in-law of our young master? Someone like you? Pah! Let me tell you, everyone wants to be the mother-in-law of our young master here. Just and clean up the sh*t. Otherwise, you won't get any food eyes. The four pit bulls in front it, not even if I die! Just you wait, I'll look for my daughter now. I'll get my

that Philip

Smack!

Fat Aunt slapped Martha's face fiercely and scolded, "Are you doing her face, glared at the other party angrily, and wanted to scratch her. However, with Fat Aunt's body size, Martha was not a match for her. Very soon, the other party a temper when you come to us? You're asking for a beating!

rolled up her sleeves

women came out of the house,

The First Heir

Chapter 1987

Philip sat in the yacht and approached the small island's port. At this moment, more than a dozen fully-armed Clarke family's guards were standing guard there.

Philip got off the yacht and just stepped ashore when he was greeted with a bear hug by a stout, dark-skinned man with a smile on his face.

"Welcome back!"

The man, about 30 years old, grinned with a mouthful of white teeth.

Philip smiled and hugged him for a while before letting go. He said, "Buck, it's been a while..."

Buck Jolly patted Philip on the shoulder with a face full of smiles. He reached out to hammer the other party's chest and said, "Good on you. You've been gone for more than seven years and your body is still in good shape with no signs of falling behind. In a moment, I want to see if you've forgotten what I taught you."

Philip smiled as he followed the man forward and said, "Okay."

Buck Jolly was the captain of the Clarke family's sixth guard squad. He could also be considered as Philip's master before as he was the training captain specially chosen for him by Roger Clarke.

his skills

Arcadia Island with strong power. With his skills, he was one of the best among the many guards of the Clarke family. He was also said to have

Many of them were familiar faces who used to fool around with him in Master." These people grinned

Philip's shoulder and led him to the main entrance mausoleum, a group of guards with respectful and solemn gazes separated on two sides before entrance, Philip looked up at the gray mottled stone pillar

the long stone steps, Philip felt endless sorrow seven years. He not return on the anniversary had not found out the truth about what had happened back then.

the long stairs, Philip knelt in front of the tombstone in the mausoleum. On the tombstone, there was a picture of a smiling woman with eyes as gentle as autumn water and a smile as warm that could launch a

The First Heir

Chapter 1988

Just like that, Philip stood in front of the tombstone for two hours. Finally, he smiled, looked up at the blue sky, took a deep breath, and said, "Mom, I'm leaving now. I'll come and see you again next time."

With that said, Philip put on his sunglasses and turned around. The moment he turned around, there seemed to be a gentle breeze across Philip's cheek.

It was like a mother's gentle embrace. There seemed to be a whisper in his ear. "Phil, I love you."

With a smile, Philip walked down the stone steps of the mausoleum slowly.

At the main entrance of the mausoleum, more than a dozen guards in military attire stood silently as they watched Philip walk down.

Even Buck Jolly from earlier dared not be the first to break the silence at this time.

Buck, "Buck, let's go and have a this, Buck immediately smiled and standing in a black undershirt. With strong muscular lines and combat gloves on both fists, chest. Philip and took a solid punch. He staggered a few

"Kid, don't let your mind stray. When you get to the training kicked out at Philip's degrees with a and said coldly, "Brat, what are you thinking about? If you continue to lose concentration like this, you'll a thumbs down. This made Philip a little angry. He immediately

Biff, bang, thud!

The First Heir

Chapter 1989

Upon hearing that, Buck's expression changed and he asked in surprise, "Are you going to deal with the branch family?"

Philip took a deep breath, stood up, looked at the vast Arcadia Island across, and said, "That's right."

With that said, he turned around, looked at Buck, and said, "Buck, when the time comes, I may have to trouble you guys."

Buck frowned, thought for a moment, and said, "Philip, you're the young master of the Clarke family. By right, you're my young master. I don't dare to disobey your orders. Even if you send us to our deaths, we won't have any complaints. But as your buddy, I have to remind you that the branch family isn't as simple as you think. I hope you can think twice before you act."

Philip smiled and said, "I know that the influence of the branch family on Arcadia Island, their assets invested in the outside world, as well as their connections, are not things I can contend with. Especially since I've just returned. But how will I know the results if I don't even try?"

After that, he looked at Buck with a slight smile and stood up.

was walking away, and raised his hand shower on this small island and changed his clothes. Then, he boarded the stood at the port with the rest. "When will you a while, patted Buck on the shoulder, and said, "It's not time yet. If others to stand at attention and salute as they castle villa. It was the residence of the fourth madam of saw the interior done by famous people hung on the walls, and many famous paintings that would be sold at high prices in auctions outside could also be found designed like a dome with exquisite murals of saints and holy maidens. It looked magnificent of servants stood in the front hall, smiling and bowing to Wynn and Nadia

***

Chapter 1990

The table was full of delicacies.

Wynn was taken aback when she saw the sumptuous spread and said, "Fourth Mother, there's no need to prepare so much. I can't eat it all."

Hazel pouted and said, "Hey, you just got here, so how can we let you suffer? Don't worry if you can't finish it. Just eat whatever you like. If it's not enough, I'll ask the chef to cook more."

Wynn smiled and knew that Fourth Mother doted on her, but faced with the sumptuous spread on the table, she really could not accept it for a while.

Just when Hazel and Nadia were taking care of Wynn lovingly, eating and chatting with her, as well as asking about how Philip had been all these years, a group of people suddenly barged in uninvited through the door.

The leader was the young master of the branch family, Kelsey Clarke. It was the same guy who went to Uppercreek to show off and was taught a good lesson by Philip.

With his hands in his trouser pockets, he was dressed in expensive branded clothes and leather shoes. He barged in with a dozen of the branch family's guards.

here. It's just nice that I'm the gold-plated and diamond-encrusted seats. He ate the delicacies on the table arrogantly not bad. This abalone is better than the one and Nadia stared at Kelsey unkindly. They also glared at the dozen or so you bring so many people here?" Nadia stood up at this time, her face full took a warm towel made of pure cashmere, and wiped his mouth and hands.

her arms and said with a displeased look, "No here for one thing. I heard that Young Master Philip has looked at Hazel next to her. The two exchanged a glance attack Philip and Wynn as soon as they

the main family? Let me tell you, Kelsey Clarke, go back and tell the old coots in your branch family that whoever has any ideas about Wynn will make an enemy of me! Believe it or not, I'll tear down the memorial hall of your branch

Nadia was angry.