

The First Heir 2111

Chapter 2111

Very soon, the call was hung up!

Holt Harrison stood in the living room with a gloomy face. To make Walt Jones so fearful, the other party was definitely not simple.

However, when did such a person appear in Glenford?

Holt could not figure it out. Glenford was the territory of the Harrison family, but there were still people who dared to target them. That young man even took on his brother directly without going through the Harrison family.

This was definitely premeditated.

Holt was flustered but soon calmed down. He was thinking about who he had offended over the years and whether anyone wanted to retaliate against the Harrison family.

However, after thinking about it, Glenford was already the Harrison family's territory. Their network was spread throughout the city. There was simply no one who would dare to challenge or go against the Harrison family.

It must be an outside force. Could it be the ones from Newtown and Yarra?

However, those in Newtown and Yarra did not have such solid power and background. Someone who could make Walt Jones act without prior warning, take on his brother, and even made himself feel threatened... He was definitely an unreachable figure of that level.

weak breathing who was hooked up to an IV drip and ventilator.

The old man was none other than Pearce Gilson.

Philip was shocked when he saw Pearce's state at this moment. It had only been a few months but the old man looked as if he was terminally ill.

Pearce was leaning on the bed frame at this time. When he saw Philip appear at the door, his eyes cleared and a bolt of energy surged in his body. He reached out for Philip and shouted with all his strength, "Y-Young Master Clarke..."

While shouting, he tried to get out of the bed and salute Philip.

Philip hurried forward, grabbed Pearce, and said, "Old Master, there's no need to do so."

Pearce coughed violently, took off his breathing mask, and said, "Young Master Clarke, I can't salute you

Chapter 2113

At the gate of the dilapidated and small Gilson Manor, Travis and dozens of the Harrison family bodyguards had surrounded the place. At this moment, he had his hands in his trouser pockets. His face was full of arrogance as he raised his eyebrows to look at the 13 Shadow Guards in front of him.

"Get out of my way! I'll kill anyone who dares to stand in the way!"

Travis' face was full of arrogance and he paid no heed to the 13 Shadow Guards at all.

This was the territory of the Harrison family and no one dared to stop the young master of the Harrison family. However, he did not know that any one of the people on the opposite side would be enough to erase the Harrison family from this world.

11 stood at the forefront, his arms crossed over his sturdy figure. He stared at the arrogant and domineering Travis with icy eyes, saying solemnly, "I'll only warn you once, leave quickly! Otherwise, don't blame me for making a move against you!"

"Hahaha!"

Travis laughed out loud, his eyes full of ridicule. He reached out for a cigar handed by his subordinate and put it in his mouth. He took a deep puff, pointed at 11, and said, "Big guy, are you kidding me? Don't you know where this is? This is Glenford, the territory of the Harrison family. You people were simply seeking death when you dared to wreck my Buckingham Palace. I new order you to kneel and apologize to me! Otherwise, I'll chop all of you up and bury you in the mountain!"

The sound was like a blasting cannon!

The bodyguard only saw the fist that was quickly magnified in front of him slamming into his face like a cannonball. Then, his entire body flew back, knocking over several bodyguards behind him.

11's movements did not stop. Like a cheetah, he swiftly rushed into the crowd of dozens of bodyguards. Wherever he went, all the figures flew out. None of them survived the impact intact, and all of them died violently.

11 did not show any mercy at all.

The sounds were endless. Travis Harrison stood in the same spot, his face that was previously plastered with a triumphant expression had completely stiffened at this moment.

Philip laughed, took out his phone, tossed it to Travis, and said, "Take a look."

Travis picked up the phone on the ground and opened it to see the scene of his second uncle kneeling down and begging Philip for mercy. Of course, it was taken by Troy Crow at that time.

There was also a scene of Second Master Harrison being taken away next.

Seeing the short videos, Travis was dumbfounded as his brain buzzed.

After that, he looked up at Philip and asked in disbelief, "Who the hell are you? Is this really my second uncle?"

Philip got up, put his hands in his trouser pockets, looked indifferently at Travis who was sitting on the ground, and said, "Before you came over, didn't you find out who I am? Didn't that Carla from Buckingham Palace tell you about me?"

Hearing this, Travis abruptly remembered. "Are you that Philip Clarke? The guy who took Tanya Gilson away? Was it your people who kicked Finn Arnell to death?"

Greg frowned and shouted, "That's right! Killing my son in the territory of Glenford is an unforgivable sin!"

"Hehehe..."

Philip sneered and said, “Seeing that you’re also a member of a battle group and you actually brought your personal guards over, aren’t you worried about being exposed?”

“So what? I’ve never cared about what the world thinks of me. What’s more, I’m here to punish the most vicious villains. What’s wrong with that? Who dares to say anything?” Greg said coldly, his face full of anger.

Philip nodded and asked, “Then do you know why your son was kicked to death by my men?”

Greg could not help his grief when he heard this. His most beloved son was gone just like that. Moreover, Finn died tragically.

He yelled, “I don’t care what my son did. I only know that my son’s murderer is right in front of me, and you’re the mastermind! You condoned your men to Greg Arnell was almost going crazy.

Many years ago, he went to Cochly Mountain on a guarding mission.

At that time, he had seen with his own eyes those unparalleled geniuses who came out from Cochly Mountain. All of them were incomprehensible with the current societal ideology. All of them were superhuman beings beyond imagination. Those people could turn the tide at every turn and even destroy a combat group with their own power.

Such an existence could not be compared with secular concepts at all. They existed in preparation for the final battle.

At this moment, although the people in front of him had only displayed a little of their combat prowess, Greg Arnell instinctively linked them with the people in Cochly Mountain.

That was because only the people who came out of there could have such unimaginable combat power. However, Greg also understood that they were different from the people who came out from Cochly Mountain. As for the exact difference, Greg had no time to think about it now.

That was because Philip had already walked up to him and asked him what his outcome was.

Greg's eyes darkened as he looked around at the guards who were down on the ground, unable to stand. His eyes reflected a chill as he asked, "Who are you? Why do the guards around you have such a fighting power that goes beyond the existing world? Of the people I've seen, only those who came from Cochly Mountain can fight like this."

However, Travis received a violent kick on his back. He flew out and fell face down on the ground. His chin and mouth hit the floor and he slid out several meters.

Two rows of Travis' teeth were knocked out, leaving a trail of blood all over the floor. He struggled to get up but a foot stomped on his back viciously like a tonne of bricks.

“Ah, let go of me! I’m the young master of the Harrison family, you can’t kill me! My father is Holt Harrison and he has a huge backer behind him! If you dare to do anything to me, my father will definitely slay you alive with his bare hands!”

Travis was still full of threats.

Philip walked over, looked at Travis who was struggling on the ground, and asked indifferently, “Who is the huge backer behind your father?”

Travis roared at Philip ferociously, “Hmph, the huge backer behind my father is not someone a small fry like you can mess with! Do you know the Clarke family? That’s the most powerful family in the world! How dare a punk like you mess with me? My father only needs to say one word to the Clarke family and they’ll kill all of you!”

Travis shouted and kept talking about the Clarke family. At this time, Greg, who was kneeling on the floor, shook his head helplessly.

How could this be?

Holt was stunned. He knelt on the ground while sweating all over, just like a drenched rat. He looked flustered as he fell into extreme fear.

After running around for half a day and asking the backer for help, it turned out that the person his stupid son had offended was none other than the young master of the backer. He was even the young master of the main family too!

Everything was over!

For a moment, Holt's face was full of panic. He shuddered all over as he knelt on the floor and bowed to Butler Cross. He admitted his mistake while shouting, "Butler Cross, the Harrison family was wrong this time. Please put in a few good words for us. My son didn't mean to offend Young Master Clarke.
