Chapter 2151

“Dad, you’re amazing. I love you the most.”

Mila smiled sweetly and jumped into Philip’s arms. “Dad, kiss me and lift me high up.”

Philip laughed and kissed Mila on the cheek before lifting her high in the air.

“Haha, it’s so high!” Mila’s laughter was like tinkling bells.

Wynn looked at Philip and Mila quietly. A happy smile bloomed on her face. Wynn was in a relaxed mood and felt that she had not been this relaxed and happy for a long time.

Philip walked to Wynn with Mila in his arms. “Mila, look at how beautiful your mother is.”

“Mom is beautiful. She’s the most beautiful person in the world. When I grow up, I want to be as beautiful as Mom.”

Mila leaned on Wynn’s shoulder, wrapped her arms around Wynn’s neck, and looked at Wynn cheerfully. Wynn gently bopped Mila on the nose. “You sweet talker.”

Bud hurried to the hospital. When he saw the slap marks on Janet's face and the bruises on his brother-in-law's face, he was furious. After taking out his mobile phone and dialing Taylor's number, Bud yelled, "Taylor Goode, are you blind?"

"President Renner, what do you mean by that? Did I do something wrong?" Taylor asked in confusion.

"Damn it, you sure can put on a show. My wife is Janet Ball, my brother-in-law is Garrett Ball, and my son is Tom Renner! Don't you know what happened to them?" Taylor shuddered and complained inwardly. He did not expect Garrett to have such connections.

Judging from Bud's attitude, he was afraid things would not turn out well!

The anxious Taylor was suddenly at a loss. On one hand, it was Mr. Clarke. On the other hand, it was the vice president of the Medical Federation who managed the hospitals in District 4. Both parties were people he could not afford to offend.

Taylor did not know much about Philip's identity. George had only revealed that he was a young master of the Clarke family. As for his exact status, he was unsure.

After all, there were countless young masters in the Clarke family. Some only held a title with no power.

Taylor suddenly felt confident. If Mr. Clarke said it was a small matter, it must be true.

Seeing Taylor talking to Philip, Bud said with his head held high, "Dean Goode, why are you still talking cr*p with him? Get your people to hold him down, tie him up, and strip him naked. Then, find his wife and kid for me too."

"Since he dares to disgrace my family, I'll make him unable to make a comeback for the rest of his life and make his entire family live a life of shame. I want to take pictures and record videos so that they'll forever regret the things they did today!"

What Bud said was extremely vicious, and Taylor shuddered upon hearing that. He simply thought that it was true when everyone in the industry said that Bud Renner was someone who could not be messed with.

This guy was indeed very ruthless.

"You're quite creative. It seems that I can let you go through that exact experience later," Philip said with a smile.

Bud frowned, feeling that Philip was mocking him. "You should get over here and undress. If I get people to do it for you, they won't be so polite. I'll give you the count of ten to get here."

Bud counted down with a grim

Meanwhile, Bud hung up the phone and said to Taylor with his head held high, "Aren't you going to do what I told you to? If you still don't do it, don't blame me for being merciless later!"

Taylor looked at Philip before taking out his phone and dialing Captain Torres' number. "Captain Torres, bring your men to the emergency room."

"Hahaha, Taylor, you still have some sense." Bud laughed smugly.

Soon, Captain Torres rushed over with the security guards.

Philip smiled and pursed his lips at Bud. Taylor shouted sternly, "Captain Torres, hold them down!"

With Taylor's order, Captain Torres led the security guards and pounced on Bud and the others like they were predators.

Bud, who was pressed against the wall by the two security guards, felt his brain buzzing. He could not figure out why Taylor had such guts.

"Dean Goode, you have a lot of nerve! Bud, hurry up and chastise him. Tell these security guards to let go of me. My face hurts!"

"President Pan, why are you here? Hurry over and ask them to let me go. We have to issue a corrective order to this hospital immediately. They're simply too rude. This is not a hospital that saves people but kills people instead!" Bud said quickly.

President Pan glanced at Bud as if he was thin air, simply ignoring him. Bud's heart sank to rockbottom when he watched President Pan walk past him without heeding him.

Was President Pan not here for him?

Was President Pan called here by that loser?

Could it be...

Bud was freed but he did not stand up. Instead, he crawled on his knees to Philip.

“Mr. Clarke, I was wrong. It’s the fault of that prodigal woman in my family. If not for her lack of foresight, I’d never have offended you.”

“And that Garrett Ball is also out of his mind. If not for his help and abet, my wife wouldn’t have offended you. I’ll teach them a lesson right away.”

Philip frowned slightly, feeling a little disgusted with Bud’s behavior of shifting the blame like this.

Seeing that Philip was not speaking, Bud stood up and walked to Garrett.

“Bud, what are you doing? I was trying to protect your wife! How dare you blame me?”

“F*ck off! How much trouble have you and your sister caused me? If it wasn’t because I was trying to help you, I wouldn’t have gotten into trouble!”

Bud roared and kicked Garrett wildly. Garrett was being held down by the security guards and could not even dodge. His whole body was soon in pain from the kick, and he slumped on the floor. Philip's eyes darkened as he looked at George in confusion and asked, "He's my mother's adopted son?"

George nodded and said, "Yes, Young Master. Seth is the child that First Madam brought back from outside back then. Not many people from the Clarke family have seen him but your father knows of his existence. After your mother's accident, he took over District 12 and became one of the three district owners."

Hearing this, Philip fell silent. A faint streak of light flickered in his eyes as he looked at the letter in his hand. He thought about it and tore it open.

The content inside was very simple. Seth invited Philip to District 12, saying that he had something to discuss. At the end of the letter was the emblem of District 12, a black star pattern.

Chapter 2158

A few minutes later, Wynn returned with Mila, who was happily holding an ice cream in her hand. She pounced into Philip's arms and said with a smile, "Dad, eat some ice cream."

Philip smiled and took a bite, leaving some cream at the corner of his mouth. He hugged Mila, turned her around several times, and scratched her on the nose. Then, he turned to Wynn and said, "Wynn, George will arrange someone to bring you back later. I still have something to do and will be back later."

"Again? You just came back. Where are you going again?" Wynn was a little angry.

Why was Philip so busy recently?

Philip smiled, walked up to Wynn, stroked her head, and said, "I'm just meeting a friend and will be back soon. By the way, get ready tomorrow. I want to bring you somewhere."

After saying that, Wade took out an envelope and handed it to Morrow.

Morrow opened the envelope and glanced at it. The expression on his face suddenly became very nervous and flustered.
