'One billion dollars?!'

Fennel's face darkened as he asked Georgina, "How long has it been since the mission was updated?"

Georgina looked at the time and said, "Just over two minutes."

Fennel nodded and looked at Philip, who stood at the doorway looking up at the sky. He asked, "What shall we do next?"

Philip looked at the blue sky and white clouds, saying leisurely with a smile, "First, we'll also increase our bounty to one billion. No, I want to always keep the bounty for the Hall of Evil at 100 million more than their bounty for us. In addition, release a new bounty mission for them to protect us. No matter who it is, one day of protection will earn them 100,000 dollars."

The bounty mission targeted at the Hall of the Sun had also reached the bounty amount of one billion dollars. The bounty mission to protect the Hall of the Sun was even more spectacular. As more and more people signed up for the mission, the bounty pool snowballed to 100 million. In other words, no less than 1,000 bounty hunters were participating in the mission of protecting the Hall of the Sun.

Two men and one woman of varying ages sat in a meeting room with complicated expressions on their faces. The old man in the lead who had a hooked nose and an angular face showed a serious attitude. His eyes were unfathomable. He wore a silver jacket with a golden coin insignia on his chest.

At this moment, he smiled faintly and said to the other two founders, "It seems that we underestimated the Hall of the Sun. With the release of this mission, the Hall of the Sun will be unbeatable."

Another old man said grimly, "Hmph! The two gods obviously want to fight but they're using our underground bounty to issue missions against each other instead. They're pushing us into the line of fire!"

The woman who looked to be in her 50s was dressed very elegantly and decently. She shrugged and said, "I find it quite interesting. In this way, many things that can't be resolved between the gods can be done through our underground bounty instead. Lord Yale, I think you wouldn't overlook the benefits of this situation, right?"

grumpy old man snorted and said, "I'm worried that if this continues, our underground bounty will by the gods will be solved by our underground bounty. Moreover, such fierce battles can help us eliminate many weak or incompetent bounty hunters so that only the strong will survive. The Yale fell silent. Marquis Ron's words were not without reason.

Vataco was too scheming and never played by the rules. Although he was an old customer of the Underground Bounty Society, many times, he would press the price down to the barest minimum!

Marquis Ron looked at Yale's face and turned to look at the bounty mission. He pressed the electronic button on the table and said, "Raise the Hall of the Sun's bounty mission against the Hall of Evil by 500 million dollars. At the same time, spread the news that someone behind the scenes has participated in this bounty mission. Don't reveal that the Underground Bounty Society has anything to do with this."

"Yes, Marquis Ron." A seductive female voice came from the other end.

After doing this, Marquis Ron looked at Yale and Madam Peters. He said, "Let's welcome the moment when the Hall of Evil, one of the 12 Sacred Halls of the West, is headed for its destruction."

Leo replied respectfully, "Father, you should issue a Chief God's Order to prohibit the gods from using the Underground Bounty Society to fight. We must maintain the balance between the 12 gods so that Mount Olympus and the Sainsbury family can continue our legacy forever! Only then, the sacred city can belong to the Sainsbury family forever."

After hearing this, Zeus looked grave and said quietly, "They didn't violate the Chief God's Order I issued earlier. If I forcefully issue another Chief God's Order and interfere with their actions, it will cause resentment from the other gods."

Leo said, "Father, you're Zeus, the chief god of the 12 gods. How could the other gods dare to defy your Chief God's Order?"

Zeus shook his head and said, "Leo, you're wrong. The gods are independent. Although I'm the chief god of the 12 gods, I have no right to interfere with their actions and choices. What we can govern are Mount Olympus and the sacred city. As for the outside world and the jurisdictions of the 12 gods, we have no right to interfere. You must remember that the gods are equal, and our Sainsbury family can't be hegemonic!"

Zeus added, "No matter what the result is, we must not interfere by force. If the Hall of Evil is defeated, we'll elect a new god. It has been a while since the 12 gods welcomed new blood. I'm very much looking forward to having a new god join the ranks."

Hearing Zeus' words, Leo's face darkened. He bowed slightly and said, "Thank you for your teachings. I shall take my leave."

Chapter 2535

When Vataco heard the news, a sinister sneer appeared on the corner of his mouth. He said, "Great! With Lord Leo helping us secretly, let's see what else Apollo can do!"

Immediately after, Vataco stood up from the blue pool of the essence of life and walked up the steps. The maid behind him quickly stepped forward and draped his coat over him.

Vataco sat on his black throne inlaid with gems and diamonds. Behind it was a window with an image of Jesus on a cross on it. The remaining four great envoys and six dark angels of the Hall of Evil stood below the throne on either side.

The losses were heavy!

With a gloomy expression on his face, Vataco looked at the envoys and dark angels who had been in a miserable state in the past few days. He said, "Next, it's a great time for us to counter-attack! Issue my Evil God's Order for all personnel in each base to prepare for the counter-attack! This time, I want the Hall of the Sun to disappear from the Western underworld!"

Although these envoys and dark angels responded, they inwardly hesitated and wavered.

The current situation was not advantageous for the Hall of Evil. More and more sacred halls had joined in. If this continued, the Hall of Evil would be destroyed sooner or later. Moreover, judging from the situation reported by various bases today, some special forces had appeared among the bounty hunters. It could be determined that some people from other sacred halls had joined in by posing as bounty hunters with the intention to wipe out the Hall of Evil in one fell swoop.

"Lord Vataco, can Lord Leo really help us through this crisis?" One of the envoys asked at this moment.

Vataco stared coldly at the envoy with narrowed eyes and asked, "Do you doubt Lord Leo's strength?"

The envoy thought briefly and said, "Lord Vataco, the current situation isn't favorable for us. More and more sacred halls are getting involved. If we're relying on Lord Leo alone, I'm afraid it'll be difficult to fight against other sacred halls."

Vataco's eyes darkened, and he thought for a moment before saying, "With me and Lord Leo around, there won't be any problems. Just follow my orders!"

Vataco said so, the envoy fell

Amos Sainsbury, the second son of Chief God Zeus. He was also one of the candidates for the next chief god and master of the sacred city. However, relatively speaking, Amos' power and influence were not as great as Leo's because he had never been competitive and only occasionally appeared in front of the public. Thus, there were not many rumors about Amos in the outside world. No one even thought that Amos would become the new chief god and master of the sacred city.

At this moment, for Amos to appear in the meeting room of the Underground Bounty Society was enough to shock Leo.

Leo laughed, his cold eyes staring at Amos as he said, "Very good! Amos, do you intend to side with the Underground Bounty Society and oppose me?"

Amos laughed and said mildly, "Leo, you can't say that. I don't mean to oppose you, but the Underground Bounty Society has its rules. If they change the rules because of a word from you, does it mean that the Underground Bounty Society belongs to you?"

Hearing this, Leo frowned, stared at Amos coldly, and asked, "Amos, what are you doing? Do you want to compete with me?"

Amos shrugged and said, "Leo, you've misunderstood. I don't mean to compete with you, but I have some connections with this Underground Bounty Society, so I hope that you can stop. If you want to help the Hall of Evil, you can try to have your people fight Apollo of the Hall of the Sun. But this bounty mission will not be terminated."

After hearing Amos out, Leo's face turned grim as he gleaned more information from his words.

"The person behind the Underground Bounty Society... Is it you, Amos?" Leo asked gravely.

Amos did not deny it but shrugged and said, "Yes, I'm the one supporting it. I just took over it not long ago. It's not a bad place."

After Apollo of the Hall of the Sun issued the invitations, the remaining ten sacred halls reacted in different ways. Among them, three sacred halls explicitly rejected Apollo's invitation.

Of course, Chief God Zeus declined.

Inside his golden palace, he looked at the invitation handed over by his subordinates and said with a smile, "Good for Apollo. He's really bold enough to invite me."

"Lord Zeus, how should we reply?" Zeus' bodyguard asked respectfully.

Zeus thought for a while and said, "Reject it. As long as the fight between them doesn't trigger an event of the gods, I won't interfere. The 12 Gods of the West have been dormant for too long. It's time to get active."

"Yes, Lord Zeus," the bodyguard responded and made arrangements immediately.

Not long after the guard left, a tall blonde woman appeared wearing a low-cut golden princess dress. She looked very hot and sexy. With hurried steps, she barged right in with a group of eight female bodyguards behind her.

This young woman was in her 20s, looking very youthful and fiery with delicate facial features. She had thick eyebrows, big eyes, a high nose bridge, and a stunning face comparable to Audrey Hepburn. She appeared in the hall of the golden palace and called out to Zeus, who stood at the crystal window overlooking the sacred city. "Father, why don't you help Apollo? Vataco is a heinous person. I hate him!"

She was Natasha Sainsbury, Zeus' youngest daughter and his most beloved daughter.

In the sacred city, Natasha held the title of the purest princess and was the object of admiration in the hearts of all the men. Moreover, Natasha had another identity in the outside world-a pop star!

She had a huge fan base all over the world. It could be said that she was the angel and darling of the entertainment and fashion industry in the Western world.

Following Fennel's words, all the gods on the screens fell silent.

Athena's expression quickly became cautious as she asked, "Apollo, do you really want to take action against the Hall of Evil? He's one of the 12 Gods, after all. If you really fight it out with him, you'll suffer huge losses too."

Fennel grinned and said, "Athena, you should trust me."

Hearing this, Athena's eyes lit up before she said with a smile, "You lovely man! Okay, I agree to help you, but you must have dinner with me first."

Fennel thought for a while, touched his chin with his right hand, and said, "Okay, deal!"

Ares, with his chin still propped on his hand, said with eager fighting intent in his eyes, "After everything is over, I want another match with you. In addition, I want the two bases of the Hall of Evil in Dunham and Goldford."

Fennel thought about it and nodded. "Okay."

In a flash, two gods had made their stand. Among the three remaining gods, Hephaestus smiled lightly and said, "I'm okay with anything. Helping others is my hobby."

Fennel looked at Hephaestus, smiled lightly, and said, "You're still the same. Under the mask of hypocrisy lies a heart that no one can see through."

Hephaestus smiled and said, "Apollo, you mustn't say that about me. We're allies."

Fennel shrugged, and his eyes fell on the remaining two gods with modified images on the screens. He asked, "What about you two?"

After a moment of silence, the two gods said, "Okay, our terms are..."

Vataco had been betrayed! He was all alone now!

"Issue my Evil God's Order. Gather all forces of the Hall of Evil and get ready to defend with our lives!" Vataco roared.

"Yes!"

This time, all the envoys and dark angels knew that the Hall of Evil would be putting their lives out on the line for this fight. Under the joint attack of the six gods and bounty hunters, the bases of the Hall of Evil all over the Western world began to fall one after another. All the bases went up in flames with casualties all around.

Although the six gods joined forces, no gods actually participated in the battles. Hence, no one violated the prohibition of the Chief God's Order. Moreover, under the cover of the bounty hunters, it was impossible to tell from their appearance whether they came from the sacred halls or the Underground Bounty Society. Under such combined destructive force, the Hall of Evil suffered from continuous defeat and finally retreated to the main base camp.

Two days later, at the base camp of the Hall of Evil located in Fidels Mountain. 50 miles away, fully armed personnel of the six sacred halls and many bounty hunters had gathered.

As far as the eye could see, the surrounding mountains and forests were full of people as well as all kinds of advanced combat equipment and forces! Dozens of fighter jets also hovered in the sky. Dozens of battle tanks moved forward on the ground.

The entire Hall of Evil had been surrounded!

"Charge! Victory is at hand!"

“Destroy the Hall of Evil, kill Evil God Vataco, and get the bounty of 1.6 billion!”

A group of people roared and quickly attacked. In an instant, the crowd swarmed like a tidal wave to the base camp of the Hall of Evil.

Nine huge ferocious red-black snakes hissed and roared terrifyingly. They soared into the sky and pounced on the six gods. Their huge jaws dripped with stinking mucus. One snake bared its fangs and wanted to swallow Fennel in one bite!

The corners of Fennel's eyes were cold and stern as he stared at the snake. He raised his hand, and a red dragon halberd suddenly stabbed at the snake's huge jaw.

Poof!

Blood sprayed like a waterfall!

Hiss!

Roar!

The red halberd went straight through the mouth of the huge snake, bringing out blood and scales with it. The snake roared in pain and quickly retreated. At the same time, the other eight snakes wrapped their tails around the Evil God Spear in Vataco's hand. Their bodies suddenly enlarged dozens of meters long with the aura of raging beasts. They pounced on the six gods opposite.

In an instant, a dazzling battle broke out in the Hall of Evil.

The six gods spared no effort to slay the nine huge red and black snakes.

Roar!

Two snakes lunged at Athena, wanting to trap her and tear her apart. Athena was dressed in a pale golden dress. Her body dazzled with white light, and the aura of the gods surged. For a while, Athena looked just like a great goddess in Western history and civilization. She glowed with a holy light that one could not help but want to worship. Athena's pale golden dress fluttered slightly. She spread her arms out and gestured something over her chest gently and slowly. It seemed that her pair of slender arms were forming dozens of blurry arms with a holy halo.

The two snakes hissed and lunged toward Athena, but as they got closer to the gentle white light emanating from Athena's hands, the two snakes seemed as if they were bewitched. They slowly prostrated at Athena's feet,
