

The First Heir 3021

Chapter 3021

Philip was back.

Sure enough, they soon heard footsteps outside. A team of bodyguards in black suits ran in. Philip and the others walked in through the door.

Charles and Martha quickly got up, greeted them, and said with a smile, "Philip, you're back."

Philip glanced at Charles and Martha, who was hiding behind Charles and dared not look at him. He did not say anything and just asked, "Where are Mila and Nelson?"

Charles quickly replied, "They're taking an afternoon nap on the second floor."

Philip nodded, went up to the second floor, and saw Mila and his young son sleeping soundly in the room.

After watching for a while, he came down from the second floor and saw Charles and Martha standing and whispering to each other.

Theo and the others had already gone back, while Fennel and the others were staying in a hotel.

"What's up?" Philip's sixth sense told him that something was up between Charles and Martha.

Charles was about to speak when Martha pinched him fiercely and said, "It's nothing. You just came back so I'll make you some food."

Philip smiled and nodded.

Midge was extremely flustered. He pointed at Philip tremblingly and shouted, "D-Don't be so cocky. Do you think you're great just because you have some moves? Let me tell you that I have a big brother behind me. If you dare to do anything to me, he won't let you off!"

Midge panicked as he looked at his buddies on the floor for fear that Philip would break his arms and legs too.

Philip looked at Midge indifferently and asked coldly, "I have two questions. First, what are you doing here?"

Midge thought about it and said, "T-To collect debts!"

Philip frowned, looked at Martha and Charles who stood dumbfounded on the side, and asked, "What debts?"

Midge immediately replied, "Your mother-in-law owes us a gambling debt of 500 million dollars. This villa and some shares of the Beacon Group belong to us now. We're here to collect the debts today!"

While saying that, Midge took out an IOU from his pocket with Martha's signature and fingerprint on it.

Your mother-in-law signed this herself. You can't deny this debt," Midge said and handed the IOU to

A few minutes later, Midge sat opposite Philip with a deck of playing cards on the table.

Philip said, "Let's go with the easiest. The one with the most points wins. You go first."

Midge was startled, and his forehead dripped with sweat. He hesitated for a long time before he drew a card from the deck. He flipped it over and saw a K.

"Hahaha! I got a K!" Midge laughed. He was so lucky.

On one side, Martha sweated profusely from anxiety. She thought that they would lose another 500 million for sure. However, Philip smiled indifferently and said, "As long as it's not the biggest card, I still have a chance."

Midge sneered and said, "Hehe, you can only win if you draw an Ace. Unfortunately, with so many cards remaining, your chances are very low."

As he said that, Philip casually drew a card from the deck and flipped it over.

Next to him, Midge pointed at Philip and roared, "Dude, you're too arrogant. I'm afraid you don't know the fame of Reaper Notting, the Grim Reaper of Northwood!"

The Grim Reaper of Northwood? Reaper Notting?

Philip frowned and shrugged as he said, "I'm sorry, but I really don't know him. You may leave now."

With that said, Philip was about to go upstairs with Mila in his arms.

Reaper Notting scowled and glared at Philip with icy eyes through his sunglasses. He shouted, "Kid, you're too arrogant!"

Philip looked indifferently at Reaper, who had fallen to the ground and vomited blood. He said, "A disciple from the fifth zone dares to wreak havoc in the secular world. Is this how you do things in Northwood?"

A thunderous roar shocked everyone!

Reaper quickly got up, knelt in front of Philip like a child who did something wrong, and said, "I didn't know that I'd offend you. Please forgive me!"

Reaper lowered his head and trembled all over!

His men were dumbfounded when they saw Reaper kneeling and apologizing. He was Reaper Notting, the Grim Reaper of Northwood. At this moment, he was kneeling on the ground so humbly.

In an instant, they understood and knelt, apologizing for their mistake.

Philip snorted and said, "I'll remember what happened today. I'll personally make a trip to Northwood later and see for myself what Northwood looks like!"

Chapter 3026

After Philip read this letter that Wynn had left behind at some point, the chills in his eyes became more solemn.

The Lovelace family of Cochly Mountain was just a conspiracy?

It was to lure Philip to enter Cochly Mountain and help the Lovelace family to open the stargate?

The Lovelace family had planned such a grand scheme. Once the stargate was opened, the consequences would be unimaginable!

Philip frowned and said, “I don’t like killing. If you attack again, I won’t show any mercy!”

The creature seemed to understand his words, but due to its nature, it rushed toward Philip again!

Philip shook his head helplessly, reached out with his hand that had turned into a chimera arm, and grabbed the little creature in the air. The little creature struggled violently in Philip’s hand, flapping its wings constantly.

As Philip was about to interrogate the creature, a young girl with two ponytails and twinkling big eyes came running over. She was wearing a pleated skirt and had a black collar around her neck. The young girl looked about 17 or 18 years old, cute and energetic.

She ran over with clenched fists, jumped into the air, and hugged the little creature dotingly. She rubbed the little creature with her face and said sweetly, “Blackie, I finally found you. I thought I lost you!”

Thump!

The girl fell to the ground but still hugged the creature tightly as if she was unafraid of pain. The creature looked at Philip in despair, struggling with its claws. Its eyes were full of tears as if begging Philip to take it away.

When the girl stood up with the creature in her arms, she walked up to Philip, looking a little foolish and cute. She bent down at a 90-degree angle, which sprung her two ponytails forward. She said, “Thank you for finding Blackie for me.”

The creature in the girl’s arms looked proud and aloof as it glared at Philip resentfully. With that said, the girl turned to leave.

Several old men gathered near the stargate.

The stargate had been sealed, and this was a forbidden area. The surrounding was dark, the ground was cracked, and the sky was gray. Lightning and thunder intertwined in the low sky as red and black mist floated in the air.

Eight huge stone pillars towered into the sky, each with a width of a dozen people. Obscure characters and patterns were carved on the stone pillars. Several huge locks connected each pillar, and the dull clatter of iron chains could occasionally be heard in the wind.

An area full of restrictions was found at the end of these stone pillars with an ancient altar inside. The altar was full of spells and enchantments to suppress it.

The old men stood in the outer area of the stone pillars and looked solemnly at the altar from a distance. They were none other than the five half-steps to the other shore who appeared in Larson Manor back then!

When the man appeared, these people stood up in salute and greeted him, "Commander Greene..."

Commander Greene walked up to the main seat, waved his hand, and said, "We have no time for pleasantries. According to the news from the five marquises, the guardian maiden has run away from the stargate. This is urgent. You must deploy more manpower to search the entire Cochly Mountain to find the guardian maiden as soon as possible..."

"Also, we need to contact the Nonagon and ask them to conduct a search in the secular world. At the same time, tell the Supernatural Bureau to do the same. Meeting adjourned!"

Clatter!

Everyone stood up with serious faces, saluted, and said, "Yes, sir!"

After these people left the meeting room, a young man in combat uniform rushed in with a document and said, "Commander Greene, this is the latest monitoring data from the stargate. After the guardian maiden left, the stargate burst with terrifying energy fluctuations several times. Something behind the stargate should be trying to force their way in."

Commander Greene took the report, glanced at it quickly, and a trace of chill flashed in the corner of his eyes. He said, "Deploy the disciples and tell them to guard the stargate from now on. Once anything happens, they need to fight at the highest combat level!"

Several missiles bombarded the huge spaceship with mighty force, and flames exploded into the sky!

The pilots on the fighter planes were horrified when they saw the huge spaceship that floated up from the snow-capped mountains.

“What the hell is this thing? How did it appear here?”

“Is this an alien spaceship?”

“Oh no! We’ve been locked on. It’s going to attack! Quick, retreat!”

Immediately, the fighter planes in the sky began to retreat. However, two mechanical arms with special gun barrels stretched out from both sides of the huge crab-like spaceship.
