Chapter 3281

After the test was over, they would be matched to a battle zone of corresponding strength to carry out the combat level evaluation.

This young master was clear about the rules here but not Philip.

He wandered around like a headless chicken but still found a place that looked like the test tower in the end. Philip knew that this basic test had to be carried out first no matter where. Hence, he headed here directly.

Before him, many people were going through the test.

At a glance, he noticed the contrast between the middle floor and the lower floor.

The population on the lower floor was the densest, but there were few strong people with elemental talents. However, the middle floor was different. Most of the young people had the strength of about four stars, while a few outstanding ones could even reach five stars.

That was the biggest difference. On the lower floor, people with five stars could already form a stronghold. Nonetheless, few people had elemental talent.

Hearing that, the test evaluator said to Philip, “Stand back!”

Then, he started testing Young Master Whittle.

On the testing platform, five rays of light erupted from Young Master Whittle's body, symbolizing a five-star talent.

Seeing this, the surrounding onlookers whispered disdainfully, "What's the big deal? He simply relied on his old man's elixir and evolution fluid to get this far. He has no practical skills at all."

Philip glanced at the person who spoke and immediately approached him while asking, "Oh? Is Young Master Whittle just all show, then?"

Hearing Philip's question, combined with what Young Master Whittle said earlier, that person immediately regarded Philip as one of his own.

"All Show? He's not even good enough for that. If not for his old man, he might have been beaten to death long ago, but he's still here on the middle floor being a bully."

As the test evaluator activated the testing platform, Philip's body started glowing.

However, in order not to attract attention, he chose to suppress his strength, displaying only five stars. Even his fire element talent was suppressed.

According to the display on the testing platform, Philip's strength was five stars, and his fire element talent was level 25.

Young Master Whittle felt as if he had swallowed a fly. He did not expect that Philip's elemental talent would be one level higher than his.

"How is it possible? If you're so powerful, why didn't you fight me outside?" He asked Philip viciously as if he had been tricked by Philip.

Philip glanced at him indifferently and said, "Are you sick? Why do I have to fight with you just because I can? Besides, there's no glory in winning against someone of your caliber."

Philip wondered if the other party would be scared silly if he displayed all his elements.

Chapter 3284

In the Combat Evaluation Guild, Philip left the testing platform according to that person's instructions and found the combat zone division.

Although no test was involved here, each person would be assigned a combat zone based on their specialties.

Some people were used to using mechas. Although they had certain strengths, they would choose to use mechas to increase their combat power and improve their combat skill.

Some other people preferred to research, invent, and create machines, so they had mechanical beasts or robots as their combat support. Of course, other than that, there were also many auxiliary combat tools and equipment.

The last group of people was also the largest. They were just like Philip, who fought on their own merits. Young Master Whittle was also one of them.

Philip was surprised to see three other people next to Young Master Whittle. They should be here by special arrangement.

Many people were found in the west, all of them simulated. Their attack methods consisted of elemental talents. These two waves of enemies were rapidly approaching. Even without the electronic notification to remind him, Philip knew that once he was captured by them, his individual fight would definitely be considered a failure.

What should he do?

Philip tried to activate his fire element to attack those elemental talents, but the attack was canceled out by the same elemental talents in their party before it landed on them.

This was quite unusual. With so many elemental talents around, it was impossible that their attack was launched just to counteract his elemental fire attack.

This meant that Philip's method was wrong. Immediately, Philip launched another attack at the robots and mechanical beasts. Although his attack had an effect, the speed was very slow.

The attack effect was limited. Obviously, this was not the optimal method either.

Suddenly, Philip had a bold idea. 'Would it be effective if the two parties attack each other instead?'

Philip had no choice but to wait on the spot.

At this time, he also noticed that most of the people who had finished quickly were shaking their heads in frustration. Philip was the only one who was not depressed.

Instead, he looked bewildered. He was waiting for someone to give him a result.

“Buddy, you were so fast!” A man next to him smiled at Philip.

Philip nodded and said to the man, “If I’m not mistaken, I should be the first.”

Hearing that, everyone smiled.

“Ignorant fool, how dare you run around? Your life is mine!”

He kept yelling, but the man who spoke to Philip earlier said to Young Master Whittle, “Young Master Whittle, do you know the guy who cleared the individual battle just now?”

Young Master Whittle snorted coldly and said, “Why would I know that rubbish? Wait a minute... What did you say? He cleared the individual battle?”

Young Master Whittle finally came to his senses during the second half of the sentence.

No one had ever cleared the individual battle before.

What was going on?

He asked the person who spoke just now, but there was no definite answer because that person did not know the details either.

When Philip came into the room with the old man, the old man said, "I hope you don't let anyone know what happened today. As for the loophole you used, we'll fix it as soon as possible. As your reward for discovering this loophole, I can personally award you with a certain amount of star dollars. You may leave here today..."

Chapter 3288

When Philip and Panther walked out again, Panther said to Philip, "Say, boss, you're simply amazing. It's just a combat evaluation, but you were able to attract the attention of the great elder of the Whittle family."

While walking, Philip asked Panther, "Why? Is the status of the great elder very special?"

Panther sighed and said, "It's not exactly special, but he's one of the few dual elemental talent practitioners."

Hearing that, Philip was also surprised. He did not expect this great elder to be a rare and powerful dual elemental talent.

He asked Panther, "Let's not talk about him. Can you tell me how you found me?"

Needless to say, the room the great elder brought Philip must be a secret existence.

For Panther to find it, there must be some special reasons. Philip also realized that Cougar Squad did not seem that simple after all.

At the same time, Cougar also wanted to recommend Philip to the grand commander.

At this moment, Panther suddenly saw a beast's head carved from steel, and his interest was piqued.

"Shall we have some fun at the coliseum?"

'The coliseum?' Philip was a little puzzled.

In the original world, the so-called coliseum only existed in ancient times. It was a place where the upper echelons sought entertainment by toying with the lower echelons.

By using financial resources, they let people fight wild beasts. They thought watching the bloody and exciting scenes was good entertainment. It was a form of entertainment that trampled people under their feet.

They often took pleasure in this, but Philip never expected that such a bad habit would exist in this foreign land of the other shore.

Seeing that, Philip asked, "What are you doing?"

Panther smiled and walked to the registration counter.

"I've encountered an alpine beast before, so I want to give it a try."

Seeing the confident look on his face, Philip did not stop Panther but looked at him as he walked inside. After all, if he won the battle, the reward was a piece of equipment that was level 5S fire elemental.

Other than Panther, many people coveted this equipment too and wanted to give it a try. More people signed up for it.
