

The First Heir 3401

Chapter 3401

Hans said, "This was the thing that originated here. We're simply occupying this place. After they left, I came here with Marie's body... Something escaped from here and caused a catastrophe."

Hans pointed to the black blood stains and the claw marks on the reinforced metal on the side.

Philip looked around, but there was nothing here except some broken bones and pieces of equipment.

"Are there other places?" Philip asked.

"Yes." Hans continued to lead the way.

They walked to another door and down a staircase, which was bottomless as if the bottom had been hollowed out.

Soon, the vampire brought Philip to other places and said, "This place was used to store chemicals. Not long after we arrived, we heard that someone came and took everything away overnight."

The three of them came to the dormitory area on the first floor. Some daily necessities were scattered around, and it seemed that there was an emergency evacuation.

Philip found a diary on a table and flipped through it.

12th: That thing was quite obedient, and the experiment

a little

18th: It looked much better than yesterday, but the top decided to continue to increase the going to die here.

to

various indications that this thing was likely an experimental creature

no trace of Jack and Jess' parents, but judging from the timeline, they were likely Hans and said, "Are you sure you haven't seen those wasn't in good condition at brought Philip here, his words might three continued to walk to the rooms on the lower his mental strength. He immediately jumped down and found

It seemed that someone was trying to hide

land on, and the bones

on the degree of decay, the bones on the lowest floor were at least four or five years old, while the bones on the upper floor still had flesh, which meant they smell was too overpowering. Philip

Hans turned into a

Chapter 3402

The vampire took Philip back to the first hall.

The others did not leave and sat there quietly waiting for Philip to return.

Philip briefly explained the situation to everyone.

The hooded girl with a gun came forward and took off her hood.

She took out a journalist badge from her pocket and said, "I'm a reporter from the Pioneer Daily of the fifth continent. I heard rumors that there are biochemical weapons here, so I came to investigate. I hope you can cooperate with me."

Hearing that Philip had burned all the bones into ashes, the oval-faced girl said with a complicated expression, "Although you did the right thing, it's a pity that some evidence of their atrocities is gone."

Philip did not speak but took out a large portion of the personal belongings of those corpses from the storage ring.

He handed them over and said, "Are these enough?"

After that, Philip handed over the diary too.

Philip did not hand over certain things such as the work ID.

things from the corpses without fear, the girl quickly said, "They're more than hurriedly sorted out and packed these walked over and said with a sigh,

be alive,"

17 people came,

money after we return, right?" the beast tamer what the rich businessman said." The businessman was my puppet to lure you here

going to kill

that he was deceived, the tanned guy wanted to summon flames to burn the vampire

give you some gold

she quickly hugged the furious tanned guy for his first mission. Presumably, there was no need for gold coins and tanned guy gritted his teeth underwent some subtle changes. Philip also noticed this change but made from the corpses. Although there was resentment in Although it was the tanned guy

The First Heir

Chapter 3403

After saying that, he left in a flash, leaving the woman standing there in the wind. That made her angry.
She stomped her foot on the spot and shouted, "Don't let me see you again!"
Philip returned to the old residential area by memory.

He saw a group of people gathered outside, and Jack was arguing with a few well-dressed people next to the two huge demolition machines.

Pushing through the crowd, Philip walked up to Jack, who was screaming, "You can't just destroy our house like this!"

"What's going on?" Philip asked.

"Philip, you're back!" Jack just noticed that Philip was beside him and said excitedly with his eyes wide open.

Then, he pointed to the machines in front of him and said, "They want to demolish this residential building today."

A man with a scar on his face in the lead shouted, "Don't put words into our mouths! We informed you one week ago!"

nothing without

"Dream on!"

won't take a step back out rotten vegetables and eggs and started throwing them at the group of people. There was even a the man yelled, and a wall made of earth appeared in front of him, blocking said fiercely, "Stubborn fools. Just push vehicle started and rolled people were dumbfounded. They had forgotten what they said just now and went back home to pack their things. However, several old people still slumped on the floor, looking “Philip, please help us!”

the corner of Philip’s clothes, his big his head and said, “Go back to his tears, nodded heavily, and ran in front of the demolition machine, kicked it with one leg,

have a chat,” Philip face still said arrogantly, “Where did this ignorant kid come his arm with the communicator on. No matter how hard the

The First Heir

Chapter 3404

Philip grabbed the man and landed slowly on the ground. At this time, Scarface was devoid of his previous arrogance. His legs shook like jelly, and a stream of yellow liquid flowed out from the hem of his trousers.

“Tell your men to stop and take me to your boss,” Philip said coldly.

After some arrangements, Scarface changed into a pair of pants and led Philip to a black hover car.

Soon, they came to a private residential area, and the car stopped outside a villa surrounded by strange rocks. Ignoring Scarface’s objection, Philip pushed open the two security doors and walked in.

With his senses, he detected eight people on the second floor-four sitting on the sofa and the remaining four standing aside as if discussing something. After hearing the noise from downstairs, those people standing hurried down.

Seeing a stranger barging in, the four immediately tried to take Philip down.

All four were in the late stage of six-stars, so they were not too bad. Philip weaved through their attacks like a snake, and before they realized it, they fell to the floor unconscious.

Scarface, who was hiding outside the door, thought he was lucky to have avoided a confrontation with Philip.

Philip ignored him and went upstairs.

appeared like he “Who’s the boss of middle-aged man slowly got up and said, “I am... What’s the

“I need you.”

forward and carried the man out, leaving behind the boss of Jumbo Construction boss yelled when he saw Scarface, "You turncoat! Are forced to do this. Please forgive me," Scarface begged for transfer the appropriate compensation to their accounts tomorrow." Philip directed the car Which slum area?" the scrap metal area on the
to you?" The boss finally your life is in my hands."
threw the boss off the speeding
Philip pulled him back, stared at him,

The First Heir

Chapter 3405

After the car had gone far, Philip put a hood over the boss' head and walked to Jack and Jess' house.

"Philip, you're back!"

Jack opened the door for Philip before he turned and called out to Jess, "Jess, I told you Philip will be able to help us!"

The siblings led Philip into the house, only to find a man with a cloth bag over his head following behind him.

"Philip... Who's this?" Jess asked.

"Don't worry about it. Is there someone more influential in this area?" Philip asked.

"Yes, of course!" Jack replied quickly.

Seeing that Jack was about to blurt out the man's name, Philip put his hand over his mouth.

"Shush..."

wriggling

and Philip said, "Take me to

GPS function, Philip turned it off and put it into his space took Philip to an old house at the end of the village that looked fortified the doorbell. After a camera in front of the door looked back and forth a few times, the door slowly opened. A tall, bearded man free today?" A very hoarse voice came out of at Philip and the other man who was tied up next

for a vacant room, me to handle the forced demolition problem. This is the boss of that company. I've put forward a reckless." The man took a sip a choice. I'm in a reliable, but so I may have to keep this person here for a while. I wonder Philip and said, "I can help, but it's too risky. If it gets exposed, we won't be this person
of armor maintenance equipment and some armor parts, he was probably a mechanic, so money might not impress

The First Heir

Chapter 3406

Before leaving, Philip came to the dimly lit room and said to the boss sitting in the corner, "As long as you cooperate, you'll be fine."

After a few more reminders, Jack and Philip returned home.

It was getting late. Philip called the siblings to the only table, took out a photo of their family of four, and handed it to Jess.

Jess was stunned for a while before she burst into tears with the photo in both hands. Jack stepped forward to comfort his sister and also saw the photo.

Although Jack was young, he understood the significance of finding this photo, so he burst into tears too. The siblings hugged each other and sobbed bitterly.

Philip looked at the two who only had each other to depend on for the rest of their lives and did not know how to comfort them for a while, so he just watched and waited for them to calm down.

Jess stopped crying first and asked Philip with red eyes, "Did you find the remains of my parents?"

As she spoke, she sobbed again.

Philip nodded as answer.

calmed down again, Philip took out their parents' ashes and in this small town where it was the survival of the fittest, it was better to be strong reality, put the urn

to leave, Jess said, "If continued, "There are no regulated hotels in this town. They'll

the environment, so he agreed parents and the other one by the siblings. After their parents left, the siblings lived separately. Now that there was a guest, Jess told Jack to vacate his room for double bed, a dilapidated

there were several uncharacteristic hero posters on the characters on the posters were fictional or to the room and thought of tomorrow's of the night, Philip woke up when he heard his room door creaking open. He used his senses and detected and clenched her fists as if she was resolved to do this. Jess just stood there for three into Philip's bed, Philip sat up.

flushed from holding her breath just now.

The First Heir

Chapter 3407

Then, he said seriously, "If you want to repay your benefactor with this method, it'll only cheapen you and your benefactor at the same time."

The girl lowered her head and did not speak for a long time.

Philip patted her on the head and said, "Never do such a stupid thing again, no matter who it is, unless you meet someone worth entrusting your life to for the rest of your life."

"Can't you be the one?" the girl asked with wide eyes.

"Uh, another girl has entrusted her life to me." Philip smiled and said, "What you need to do now is to take good care of yourself and your brother. When your brother grows up, you can leave this place too."

"Yeah..." The girl was a little lost.

Walking to the window, Philip stared at the moon outside the rust-stained window for a while and said to the girl behind him, "You should go back to sleep."

Soon, Philip heard the sound of the door closing.

Philip left without saying goodbye and only left edge of the desert, his car wrapped in a gust of wind.

out of the far away, there was a mechanical lookout station every few miles, which eyed Philip as soon as he came out of the of the green ox royal family. Please official channel

a while before he found a checkpoint with a queue. He wondered if the communicator of the White Marsh royal family could be drove his car and joined the queue. A few staff

here mostly looked battle worn, so why would a cool sports

soon Philip's

doing in the green ox royal family's territory? How long series of questions were placed in front of Philip. It was not their fault. This was what it should look like during a

The First Heir

Chapter 3408

Done with landing, Philip took his time to familiarize life in this town. After a while he saw an interesting object to see.

There was a huge venue similar to Square Cage that caught Philip's attention, a robot battle. A huge screen introduced the contestants in a loop.

This was the first time Philip saw this kind of venue. It piqued his interest, so he bought a ticket and went in.

As soon as he entered, he saw a row of damaged robots. According to the venue's introduction, as long as a robot was good enough, it could even be used as a mass-produced robot on the battlefield.

It seemed that this sort of venue was available in every city.

Following a robot's direction, Philip came to the auditorium.

being tested. The seats weren't filled yet, so this should not be per schedule, moves. The robots were designed to use all their defense, the robots were stronger than ordinary five-star practitioners. If some long-range weapons were added, a robot could be used as a special black robot was limping from being attacked, and both mechanical arms were stuck due to malfunctions. Finally, the blue team's yellow robot punched black robot in the audience hurried into the cage wearing a suit of equipment, but the yellow robot did not stop and continued to attack. As everyone cheered, a person in the audience made a move and sent this man too. Dressed in white and wearing a blue and white mask, he slowly burst into tears. His and shouted, "Our winner is Hurricane Locust from the blue lying on this side kept twitching its arms as if man. Philip found his aura somewhat familiar. Probably because he realized that he was too conspicuous, that person mixed into a crowd of find a restaurant for dinner. He noticed that almost everyone had a robot with them, but they were mostly lifestyle robots. Among other things, these robots

The First Heir

Chapter 3409

This also led to a great increase in the labor force in society. People did not have to work but simply left it to the robots at home.

Philip lamented that the gap between the rich and the poor was not so big here, and traces of happiness could be found on the faces of people on the street. However, if that was the case, such a good thing should be promoted across all continents, so why was it not?

After finding a tour guide robot, Philip expressed his doubts.

The robot replied, "The green ox royal family actively reformed because this place was in an infinite crisis..."

"Other royal families including the upper echelons rejected this reform because it would destroy their collective interests, so they joined forces and collectively boycotted the robots produced by the green ox royal family on the grounds that they were trying to use robots to rule over the continents."

"What crisis?" Philip asked.

To Philip's surprise, the robot warned Philip, "Insufficient authority, consultation not allowed."

to war with the adamantine mine at the junction of the robot could say more, Philip caught a glimpse of the mysterious man in a white robe who took action was also carefully looking at the brief introduction to friend. Are you from out of town

at Philip before

was very strange, but Philip thought he

this place, Philip found a chain hotel and checked in. To his surprise, now. There was even a promotional video the

to the first continent. The main territory of the green ox royal family spread from east to west, so the distance from north to south was not was mostly made up of mountainous areas, and the

The First Heir

Chapter 3410

Seeing that Philip was an imposing young man, this person said quite politely, "We've already issued a war notice. Why are you here with your hover car?"

Philip did not receive any notice, so he took out his temporary pass and replied, "I just arrived here yesterday. I'm not a local."

Seeing this, the officer asked his subordinates to take Philip to make a statement before letting him go.

A brown-haired female officer who was five feet nine and wearing a dark gray combat uniform brought Philip to make a statement. This person had exotic features.

"You can leave after making a statement. Do you need someone to lead you out of this area?" the female officer said.

Feeling the pressure around, Philip shook his head and said, "That's not necessary. I can still protect myself."

The following routine questions included his name, where he came from, what his occupation was, and what he was doing on the fifth continent.

Before Philip finished answering patiently, the battleship shock, and the electricity stopped for a moment. The brown-haired female officer quickly turned on the communicator and contacted other departments to find out the situation.

Philip sat calmly opposite her. They were probably under enemy attack. She was quite responsible and fled to the exit with Philip.

Looking at the endless stream of battleships pouring out near the hills belonging to the green ox royal family is probably being ambushed officer stopped in her tracks after receiving

worriedly and said,

He remembered that this was not the way

inappropriate if he ran away like were busy repairing the roads, and the two finally arrived at their destination. Philip was surprised to change into her combat uniform and asked him, "What are you waiting with you?" Philip said such a the battlefield. Please put up with it for the time being," the female something we can just put up suddenly stood up straight, saluted Philip, and said, "I'll do have time enough. One person controlled the flight, and the other person attacked with weapons.