

The First Heir 3471

Chapter 3471

However, Laurie's attention was attracted by the giant, and she did not notice Philip's action at all.

Philip felt helpless and had no choice but to rush up with Caelum Sword, planning to strike first.

"Damn you! You forced me to use my real body. No one can stop me today!" the giant roared angrily.

In the next second, he slapped Philip. In his eyes, Philip was nothing more than an ant without any threat at all.

The female thief who was watching the show frowned when she saw this. Of course, she knew what this real body represented.

In their organization, everyone had two bodies, one with a normal human appearance, and the other was their real body. However, the real body was unstable. It could have any appearance and anything could happen.

Some people even had a limit to the number of times they could use their real body, and they could die if they exceeded that. However, they would be stronger when using their real body. Danger coexisted with benefit, which was a fair trade off.

Philip was able to force this guy to use his real body, so it seemed that she had underestimated Philip.

"I hope Philip can hang on, but the odds are slim..." The female thief muttered and felt a mix of emotions.

all, Philip could be regarded as her she pray that the thoughts

woman muttered without thinking too much. She instinctively backed away and distanced herself from the battlefield to avoid being and Laurie did not notice this from the opponent, but Laurie was to me!"

hear anything, and Laurie could not hear him either. He could only gesture with his hands, but Laurie sign language Philip was speechless. He promptly slashed at Laurie with a sword and left a mark on the

to stop me?" Laurie was taken a fool

to help Philip, she knew she would only drag him down he slashed mercilessly at the giant without holding through the air and slashed on the giant's claws. A huge cut was made in

Chapter 3472

Seeing Philip rush over again, the giant was startled and panicked.

The other party cut his arm with a sword just now. Although it was not severed, it nearly was, and he wanted to do it again.

Seeing this, the giant retreated a few steps instinctively before he stomped on Philip. He was confident that he could crush the ant-like Philip to death with one stomp.

However, reality turned out differently.

A cold light flashed, and Philip reversed the situation with a sword!

A stream of sword energy pierced through the other party's body, and black liquid sprayed all over the sky like raindrops.

corroded by the black liquid in an instant, showing the dodging the black and his screams were

Although he screamed fiercely, his deterrence had disappeared without a this, Philip slowly walked toward the giant, planning to behead the guy can't kill me. If you do, you'll be and panicked. He was really now, it doesn't mean I can't find a way to do so. I'll in his hand and slashed the you down with me!" The giant roared angrily bursts of black smoke exuded from his

The First Heir

Chapter 3473

Philip was seriously injured. Although the explosion just now did not kill him, it nearly did. It was impossible to survive such an explosion without injuries.

"That son of a b*tch almost killed me!" Philip muttered and looked at the golden token that fell aside.

He was peeved. Everything happened because of this token, damn it. However, he kept it instead of throwing it away. Then, he got up and looked around.

He finally saw Laurie collapsed in the ashes. He was startled and quickly ran over.

After checking, he found that Laurie was just injured and unconscious, but it was nothing serious. He breathed a sigh of relief. The female thief was also fine.

“Fortunately, nothing happened. There’s a silver lining in every cloud.”

As Philip spoke, he moved the two to the side. He sat cross-legged in one spot and started to recover from his physical injuries.

Fortunately, he had reached the second level of his Three Phase God-Demon Technique, and it was not that difficult for him to recover, so Philip was relieved. Otherwise, if he were to participate in the Heroes Conference with unhealed serious injuries, not to mention the top ranking, it was uncertain if he could even make it to the ranks.

not let his

and the female thief. If not for Laurie, he had no you a favor. By the way, what exactly did I touch just size and feel of his palm,

I touched her by mistake the first time we Philip thought, the corner of his mouth twitched violently. If this?” Philip muttered in was an accident, but what about the

was an accident indeed, it did it,” Philip waking up for a while, he carried them out of

of them returned to the hotel. Philip took a shower and about what happened, and Philip just did not dwell on it but went after the

Chapter 3474

“Um, thanks for just now.” Philip broke the awkward silence and said to Laurie, who nodded upon hearing this.

“It’s nothing. What’s important is that you’re fine. We’re friends, after all,” Laurie replied and smiled.

The atmosphere became awkward again. Philip was exasperated but did not know what to say. After all, things were quite embarrassing earlier.

Fortunately, Dion returned soon, and everyone ate before returning to their rooms.

Lying on the bed, Philip looked at the ceiling and was lost in thought. After today's incident, Philip realized that he still had many shortcomings. An illusion almost killed him, which was not a good sign.

"If this happens again, what should I do? I don't even know when I entered the illusion..." Philip pondered.

After thinking about it, it should be the moment when he attacked the man.

However, he did not notice anything at all. Was it because the illusion was too special or that he was too careless?

Philip had a long list of questions with no way of verifying them. He could only wait for the female thief to wake up before asking her. Thus, Philip sat on the bed and began to practice.

***

A night passed.

and opened his eyes,

practice allowed his body to fully eat!" At this time, Dion's voice responded and walked meal, Laurie dragged him out

time to talk to the female thief knowing what the venue of the Heroes Conference. It's divided into several venues this?"

background and influence, you'll be given a venue that's neither difficult nor easy. If you're extremely powerful, you'll be given a venue so easy that you can

So many shady businesses were going on unavoidable. After all, people of great power hope that their younger generation can become heroes as course, if they come across any talents who are not pleasing to the eye and have no background, or those who refuse to join

Chapter 3475

Philip muttered as if savoring the meaning of Laurie's words.

"Let's put this aside. I'll take you to the harshest place. That may be our destination soon," Laurie said at this time, and Philip nodded.

"Uh, why don't you let go of me first? It's been a while now." Philip could not help mumbling at this time.

Laurie was startled before she realized that she had been holding Philip's arm.

Hearing Philip's words, Laurie's face turned red instantly, and she quickly let go of Philip's hand.

Philip was taken aback and wanted to slap himself.

Damn it, why did he allow his mouth to run wild?

Was it not good to hold hands with a beautiful woman?

now. I simply felt an itch just now." Philip chuckled, and and walked away, ignoring him, and

It was a large courtyard full of magic circles. Many people crowded is a place for training. It allows participants to get familiar with the venue before the competition if Philip did not know the things obeyed would not suffer. Otherwise, did not comment on this and started soon, it was

do you plan to go to?" An old man one," Laurie said without stunned, and the pen in his hand good place. Why do you want to go there? I don't

The First Heir

Chapter 3476

"Who cares? When they get frightened out of their wits later and run out in a hurry, that'll be fun to watch!"

Many onlookers discussed among themselves, obviously horrified by the situation at the Devil's Courtyard. They were also unimpressed by Philip and Laurie.

Laurie and Philip paid no heed to these people. A white light flashed before them. When they opened their eyes again, they had arrived in another place.

The sky, ground, and scenery around them were blood-red at a glance. A strong smell of blood lingered in the air, and many aimless skeletons drifted around like clouds.

"It's rumored that these skeletons are transformed by the souls of people who died here, and they can take away one's soul, so we need to be careful. Although we're here to observe, we may be affected too," Laurie reminded Philip.

then. By the way, what are we observing? Is it the surrounding environment or something else?" Philip could not help asking, and Laurie special features of this place, such to this place, we'll have a slight chance of winning. From what I know, this place is full of danger and not perked up and looked around but did not notice anything. Except for the bloody smell must cherish it," Laurie reminded him and walked into the distance, while Philip frowned as he looked at her bit unusual as if she knew everything, but he did not know her a while, Philip suddenly felt that the surrounding weather had changed. The wind roared and dust billowed, and the visibility was reduced by more than

Are there ghosts?" Philip things, of course. He was just making fun stop scaring me?" Laurie shuddered and fumed at

Chapter 3477

Philip was taken aback.

Why should they make way for the other party?

There was no one else here. Would those people fight them on the spot and make them a laughingstock?

"Don't think too much. This training isn't as simple as you think. This place will restore the image of those who participated in the previous competitions, as well as the battle scenes, for our reference," Laurie explained.

Philip was taken aback upon hearing that.

They could restore it?

This made it a lot easier. It was similar to a video recording, and Philip watched it with Laurie.

The sandstorm had died down by now. Not far away, a stone platform appeared at some point. It looked very large with a radius of hundreds of meters.

of sand stood on the platform. They had no faces and held weapons made of sand opposite those three sandmen. They looked they met, they immediately launched an attack on the sandmen. Both parties but those people were seriously injured. One was

was a

over too quickly. He had not even reacted yet, and one sandmen frowned as he recalled the fighting scenes, and he soon locked on slashed at a person just now, a phantom appeared beside the sandman, which could not be discovered if one did not simple, after all!"

time, those figures seemed to have noticed something were left on the stone platform in the end, seriously injured. The other figures had disappeared, most weaker than me, and some are even much stronger, but they still died in

Keep watching. It's not that

Chapter 3478

Obviously, Philip guessed it right.

The three sandmen could see them, so he ran away with Laurie without delay.

Who knew if the sandmen would do anything to them?

After all, anything could happen here, so it was better to practice caution!

However, things still went south. Before Philip and Laurie ran far, three figures blocked their path.

They were none other than the three sandmen, who formed a triangle surrounding them and slowly approached. At the same time, Philip also felt many other things around him, but they did not feel very real. It was like they were an illusion.

"No wonder those figures were looking around when they first appeared. They seemed to have noticed something, but they thought it was an illusion, so they ignored it..." Philip muttered and pulled Laurie behind him.

at the three sand men and struck out so quickly that the sandman he aimed at had no time to react at all. It was blown away

Roar!

beasts upon seeing this and rushed at Philip with of them back while kicking the sand in an instant. However, after Philip finished off the two sandmen, he obviously felt the body of tremble slightly as if it a

rushed over, Philip struck it extremely not help out when he killed the really just his

there a did not kill the sandman but planned to interrogate it instead. After all, blade and knocked the sandman back a dozen steps. Seeing this opportunity,

Chapter 3479

Philip's mind went blank at this sight.

Was the sandman actually crying?

How was this possible?

It was something made of sand. How could it have feelings?

"This is weird. Why do I have the feeling that I've killed the wrong person?" Philip muttered before he shook his head and stopped thinking about it.

When he was about to ask another question, Philip suddenly found some changes coming over the sandman.

The sand on the sandman's body started falling off, exposing some clothes, followed by his body. Very soon, the sandman taken down by Philip had turned into a living person.

"Run quickly!" The man said to Philip before looking at the ground at his feet.

had turned into two corpses. They were two females, one older and one younger, seemingly mother and

a

here?" Philip realized that the people he

he was about to ask more questions, the man exploded and scattered into sand all

Philip frowned

time he had encountered such ground and found that they

Let's go first," Laurie walked over and reminded him, came. After all, the magic circle was predefined and happened. After some time, Philip suddenly froze. He seemed the stone platform. Although their faces were not very clear, their clothes of this, Philip was startled in the ring? Those we think are the good guys are actually the bad guys, and those was taken aback, obviously thinking about it, she

Chapter 3480

This sword energy separated the two apart.

Philip narrowed his eyes and looked in the direction of the sword energy. Although he could not see what was there, the other party must have regarded him as the enemy.

As he pondered, Laurie had made a move. Although her methods were not direct and forthcoming, the power of her movements was not lacking, and she actually blocked the attack of the sword energy.

Philip was more curious about Laurie's identity now because not only did she know a little about everything, but she was also very skilled.

An idea popped into his mind. He wanted to see how powerful Laurie actually was.

"Let's act separately and see if we can catch this thing."

As soon as he finished speaking, Philip jumped high into the air. He looked like a big eagle with its wings spread wide open, and his purpose was to have an overview of the entire Devil's Courtyard.

a tower-like building in the distance. It also exuded a strange vibe from time the three people earlier were probably affected by the just now probably produced this correctly, it should also be due to the influence in mind, Philip flew to the this scene, Laurie felt a little unhappy. She knew that Philip ungentlemanly of him to leave her here life energy to fight against the vaguely solid power, she realized that the person standing in front of her constantly suddenly realized that Philip had seen through the problem wrong because it should not be so easy to crack the secrets of think too much. The man he saw Laurie clearly, he was also