

The First Heir 3521

Chapter 3521

Philip's Caelum Sword was already in his hand. Even without Conlay's explanation, he knew that these people must be difficult to deal with.

The leading man in a khaki cloak smiled and said to the two, "Since you know that we're not easy to deal with, just give up and let us bring you back so that the fire phoenix general can deal with you."

Hearing that, a ruthless look suddenly flashed across Conlay's face. He charged at those men in khaki cloaks.

The sand on the ground started moving. These people in khaki cloaks were very proficient in the earth element. They could even use the sand as a means of attack and defense.

Almost instantly, Conlay's figure froze as the sand covered his ankles. The sand continued to spread all over him.

Meanwhile, Philip was facing a similar situation.

Although Philip's earth element had reached level 6S, he was not in a hurry to take action now.

Conlay nodded. He knew there was no time to lose.

Since they had encountered the fire phoenix royal family's scout team, the main troop would not be too far away. The deaths of these men in khaki cloaks would only expose Philip and Conlay.

A huge cloud of smoke billowed behind them. Conlay and Philip rushed to the desert oasis.

Philip finally understood the meaning of the final sprint!

If he was in peak condition, such a small distance would not be a problem for him at all. However, it was different now. He was exhausted from the continuous battles.

Although he had absorbed Kirk's energy, he had consumed all his strength during the fight against the men in khaki cloaks just now. After all, using his earth element against other earth element experts took a lot.

Conlay was no better than Philip because his practice level was lower.

Facing the danger just now, he had exploded with extremely strong combat power. He was almost at his limit too.

Without standing on ceremony, Philip grabbed the beer in front of him and took a large mouthful.

“Of course, I’m curious... But I know that if you want to tell me certain things, you’ll naturally tell me, such as the totem on your body.” Philip suddenly pointed to Conlay’s chest.

There was a symbol of a fire phoenix on his chest. It proved that Conlay should be a member of the fire phoenix royal family, and his position should be quite important too.

Among the many royal families, those with totems were related to the royal family by blood. Thus, the totem on Conlay represented his identity.

Conlay laughed. “Okay, since that’s the case, I’ll tell you a little more about me.”

After ordering more beer from the bartender, Conlay told Philip about his background.

Leopard could not be bothered about the burly man now. His hands trembled slightly.

Likewise, Philip was very excited too.

Although he did not know Leopard for very long, he was the first batch of people Philip met when he first arrived on the Starfall Conflnent

Philip wondered how Leopard arrived in the territory of the fire phoenix royal family, and it seemed that he had a deep connection with this desert oasis too.

Conlay laughed at this scene.

“This is such a wonderful coincidence! I didn’t expect you and Leopard to be old acquaintances!”

Conlay handed Leopard a mug of beer, and Leopard drank it in one gulp.

He let out a long sigh of relief and told Philip what happened after Philip left.

Philip frowned. He believed that Leopard was telling him the truth, but no matter how chaotic it was, he must rush to Blossoms

Valley as soon as possible so that he could get the Multidew Herb. The opportunity to save his wife was right in front of him, so how could he let it slip away right under his nose?

Although Philip did not speak, he looked at Leopard with firm determination.

"Alright, let's do this. You must be exhausted by now, so you should rest for three days. After that, I'll take you to Blossoms Valley."

Philip nodded. He really needed a break to recover his strength and energy.

He was very tired indeed. After fighting and being hunted down for such a long time, although Philip's level had improved a little, he was like a fully wounded clockwork at this moment.

This was a great opportunity for him to relax.

Philip woke up early the next morning. He did not stay in the room but went outside instead.

In this floating city in the desert oasis, the air was exceptionally fresh, and the energy was much stronger than outside.

After he woke up, Philip went out immediately.

One night's rest had restored Philip's strength and energy to a certain extent. Although he was not at his peak condition yet, he was doing much better than before.

Feeling the energy around him, Philip continued to comprehend the mighty being's heritage. He needed some time to digest certain things, so Philip was in no hurry. Besides, all his elements had reached level 6S.

By this point, Philip also realized that the so-called level limit was actually relative.

Philip could see, or rather, sense the aircraft in the sky, but that did not mean that Conlay could do the same.

At this moment, the burly man barged in through the door.

When he saw Conlay, he bowed and said, "Young Lord, the fire phoenix royal family seems to be up to something big. They've deployed many fighter aircraft in our direction!"

Hearing that, Conlay glanced at Philip.

If Philip had not reminded him just now, he would not have known in advance that the fire phoenix royal family had started to investigate the desert oasis.

"Ferdinand, listen to my command!" Conlay's demeanor suddenly changed.

At this moment, he exuded an indescribable vibe.

Hearing that, the burly man immediately knelt.

Hearing the heavenly general's words, Conlay was the first to feel upset. Of course, he knew why the heavenly general said that and what his purpose was.

However, he despised such people who were good at misleading others the most. That was why he was reduced from being a prince of the fire phoenix royal family to only being in charge of this desert oasis.

"No citizen of the desert oasis is a coward. If you want to harm our friend, we can only retaliate," Conlay said loudly.

He waved his hand, and the artillery and electromagnetic guns were launched at once.

A huge roar sounded. Air currents surged wildly.

Philip was also puzzled and asked Conlay, "What shield is that? It's so strong that even such a strong attack can't break it!"

Conlay was quite proud.

He looked at Philip's look of surprise and said, "Over the years, I've immersed myself in the technological development of the desert oasis just for this day. This shield can protect the desert oasis from all directions and also convert the energy from the attacks into protective energy."

Philip finally understood.

That was why Conlay seemed so fearless!

As long as the shield was activated, the fleets attacking the floating city were as good as using their strength against themselves!

How could they break through the shield in this way?

At this time, the heavenly general also discovered that something was wrong. This thin layer of light could actually withstand the attack of such a huge fleet. This was simply unheard of.

"Stop attacking!" The heavenly general ordered.

In an instant, Philip was engulfed in these attacks. His body sank, and he was wrapped by various vines. Countless ice spikes pierced him.

However, it was not over yet. A space practitioner used his space element to trap the place where Philip stood.

Immediately after, the space practitioner shattered that space.

Everyone thought it was impossible for Philip to survive after such massive attacks. Surprisingly, after all the attacks, the raging flames were still burning.

The Caelum Sword in Philip's hand was already red. Vaguely, everyone could see that the chimeras formed by the flames were trying to break through the cage trapping Philip.

They bared their fangs and stared at the man who had just attacked Philip.

Philip smiled at everyone and said, "Since your attack is over, it's my turn now!"
