

The First Heir 451

Chapter 451

The reason Martha came today was to make one thing clear. She wanted to know who was the one who bought this villa.

As long as it was Wynn's money, Philip would not have the right to flaunt in front of her.

"Hello, Madam Yates, First Palace is indeed under the name of Miss Wynn Johnston."

The female manager smiled and said.

"Really? My daughter bought it?"

Martha was excited. Her daughter was the one who bought it!

She was ecstatic!

This time, that guy Philip would not have the right to show off his feathers in front of her anymore.

He only had that woman Giada supporting him. So what?

Martha was the one who wore the pants in the Johnston family.

If he dared to be arrogant, she would ask her daughter to divorce him!

That guy really attacked someone! He was extremely vicious too!

"Damn it, I'm here to look for your person in charge! The rest of you, f*ck off!"

The muscular man waved his bloody steel bat and pointed at the four to five trembling security guards in front of him.

He was extremely aggressive.

Mindy heard the commotion going on downstairs.

"Madam Johnston, someone's causing a scene in the office!"

Mindy ran to one side hurriedly and called Wynn.

"I'll be there in a bit."

Wynn was at the entrance of the building when she got the call. She frowned and walked to the elevator quickly with her high heels clicking against the floor. Then, she took the elevator to the level the commotion was going on.

Philip followed behind her and chased after her. "Wynn, wait!"

At this moment, the office was in a mess. The seven to eight muscular men were going neck to neck with the security guards.

"Stop it!"

Wynn went over with a dark expression on her face. She asked someone to escort the wounded security guard out as she stood in front of the staff. The rest of the security guards were standing in front of her to protect her.

Philip was feeling righteous, and his eyes turned cold.

Slap!

After Vlad finished talking, a loud slap reverberated on the entire floor of the office.

Philip's hand made contact with Vlad's right cheek, causing the extremely loud noise.

He used all of his might on this slap.

Vlad just stood there blankly before stumbling backward. A red and bloody handprint appeared on his face instantly.

Everyone fell silent at that moment. A shameless local bully like Vlad had fought with countless people in his lifetime.

However, this slap caused his brain to buzz loudly.

Everyone was stunned.

The security guards were starting to feel emotional when they saw this young man standing up against that tyrant. It relieved their stress. Tears started to well up in their eyes.

Of course, a lot of other people were also shocked by what they saw. Was this the chairwoman's husband, Philip? The useless bum?

He was so amazing!

Now, he was their hero!

The staff who were watching what was going on came back to their senses. What Philip did was so unpredictable!

He took action just like that!

Was he singing?

Then, Philip took the taser and sent electrical shocks to the rest of the thugs with it. Since he was moving too fast, no one could stop him.

Philip calmly threw the taser on the ground after seeing all eight of the thugs spasming on the floor. He clapped his hands together with contempt on his face.

He was too powerful!

Everyone was shocked, including Wynn whose red lips were wide open. She looked at Philip in front of her in disbelief.

Even though Wynn had seen Philip fight before and knew he was good, the scene still surprised her.

He defeated all of these thugs by himself!

He only used a taser to do it!

Did he do this to Joel too?

Philip felt numerous eyes on him as he turned around to say to the security guard, "What are you waiting for? Call the cops."

"Kid, you... You're in trouble. My boss will definitely not forgive you..."

Vlad lied on the floor with his body spasming. He said while lifting his head slightly.

"I don't like it when people threaten me."

Philip bent down and picked up the taser on the floor. Then, he poked Vlad with it once more in front of everyone.

Everyone started sweating cold sweat.

Everyone was shocked, especially Mindy. Her eyes were wide open.

What was wrong with this guy?

He did not appear to be a useless bum who depended on his woman...

"What are you doing? What do you mean who sent me? I'm the vice-chairman here! Who are you and how dare you talk to me this way?"

Houston's face fell. He stared at Philip arrogantly and said.

Philip did not back away. He said calmly, "Then let me give you a piece of advice, Mr. Michaels. Don't cross my wife, and most importantly, don't cross me."

Philip was the heir of an influential family. He knew how to read people.

There was something fishy about Houston Michaels.

Hehe!

Houston chuckled coldly. How dare a spineless coward threaten him.

What a joke!

He was from the Michaels family. He was someone who had the support of the Wallises from Golden City. How dare an idiot like him have the audacity to speak to him like this. He was digging his own grave!

"Where are we going?"

After they got into the car, Philip asked without thinking the matter through.

Her wife's body was perfect!

Inside the car, Wynn took off her coat. She was wearing a white blouse that made her look sexy and elegant.

"Kempinski."

Wynn replied. She started reapplying her makeup. After all, she was representing Beacon Pharmaceutical, so her appearance later was very important. Plus, it was an important project for the company. It was about the sales of the newly-developed medicine that could combat cancer.

If this medicine entered the market, Beacon would be the first one to develop this in the pharmaceutical industry.

"Hey, do you think I look okay?"

Wynn looked at the mirror and asked Philip.

Philip turned his head to look at her. He grinned and said, "Of course. My wife's the most beautiful woman on earth."

Wynn rolled her eyes at him but was secretly delighted. She said, "You have such a sweet mouth."

Suddenly, she remembered something. She said, "Right, Philip. Go to the maternity check-up with me."

Philip replied, "I'll drive you to and from work in the future. You can't be too tired. You're a pregnant woman now."

Initially, Noah was not bothered by Philip at all. After Philip said this though, Noah turned around and stared at Philip with an icy glare.

He was already agitated, but when he heard what Philip said, he immediately sized him up and chuckled.

"So you're Madam Johnston's useless husband? Hm, I heard about you when I came to Riverdale. You're just another worthless piece of trash who depends on women."

Noah's face was filled with sarcasm.

How would a man like that suit a goddess like Wynn?

Philip shrugged and looked indifferent. He said, "I'm sorry, I'm sick, so the doctor told me I can only depend on women for the rest of my life. Are you jealous?"

Philip did not hide. He went head-on with Noah.

He could tell that Mr. Anderson had some ulterior motives.

"You!"

Noah was livid. His men were all glaring at Philip aggressively. As long as Noah gave them an order, they would immediately pounce on him and rip his mouth from his face!

Noah lifted his glass and drank with Philip once more.

Philip downed the contents in his glass.

"Haha! Nice tolerance! I'm taking you as my friend today!"

Noah was smiling on the outside as he filled Philip's glass again.

Philip looked at the full glass of baijiu in front of him. There was a slight smile on his lips.

Drinking?

Sorry, he had drunk quite a lot back in the days.

This was nothing to him.

"Here, Brother. This is a toast from me to you!"

Noah lifted his glass and downed the baijiu after lifting his head.

He was experienced in the business industry and had been to numerous dinners before. He had already trained himself to be extremely tolerant, so he would be fine even if he downed three bottles of Wuliangye.

Plus, he had already stationed his people around Kempinski, so he would not need to worry that Wynn would escape from this place.

"Wynn, what nonsense are you spewing? Don't try to protect Philip. I've heard all about it. This villa is under your name."

Martha smiled embarrassingly, but she was slightly panic-stricken.

Wynn did not look like she was lying.

Was it true?

However, this mansion was worth 200 million! If it was not bought with the money from Wynn's company.... Impossible! How could Philip, the useless bum, have so much money?

"Mom, do you think your daughter has that much money to buy this villa?"

Wynn's face was cold as she asked.

"D-Didn't Clarke Group from Capital City invest a billion bucks into your company? Didn't you use that money to buy it?"

Martha said while gritting her teeth and shaking her head.

Martha sat on the head of the bed and watched as Philip drank the soup. Then, she smiled and said, “Oh, we’re family. You’re my son-in-law. Who should I be good to if not you?”

If anyone else heard what she said, they would have thought that they were extremely close.

However, when Philip heard it, it felt ear-piercing and sarcastic.

Like the quote said, ‘Beware of suspicious folk bearing gifts, they are sure to be ill-intentioned’. Was this not why Martha was fawning all over him this morning?

“Mom, do you need anything?” Philip asked.

When Martha heard that, she immediately played dumb and said, “No, it’s nothing. What can I need? Oh, get up soon, I bought breakfast for you. Come down and eat.”

After she said that, she turned around and left.

Philip looked at Martha’s back and shook his head helplessly. Then, he scoffed.

Martha's every thought was written on her face.

After he went downstairs and entered the dining room, Philip started to drink the milk and eat the bun that Martha had bought. Martha was grinning opposite him. She had been staring at Philip with a smile on her face the entire time. It was quite scary.

"Mom, is there something wrong?"

Philip was feeling helpless. He felt uncomfortable as Martha kept staring at him like this.

Martha chuckled. She said, "It's fine. Eat. Eat."

Philip was puzzled. He went out after he finished eating.
