

The First Heir 511

Chapter 511

Hudson was stunned. He looked at Wynn curiously. After a while, he said, "Young Madam, you know everything?"

Young Madam?

When Wynn heard that, her heart skipped a beat.

Indeed!

Philip was the young master of Clarke Group in Capital City!

Why?

Why was this happening?

The husband who had been sleeping next to her for three years was the young master of Clarke Group in Capital City!

He was so normal. Why was he...

"Y-Young Madam, where are you going? Let me fetch you there."

Hudson got up hurriedly and watched as Wynn stumbled out of his office. He felt helpless.

If the young madam asked him this, did it not mean that she had already known the young master's identity?

Why did she look so shocked?

"I'm sorry, Mr. Cash. I have something I need to take care of, so I'll go now. Oh right, don't tell Philip that I came to you today."

Wynn came back to her senses and bowed to Hudson. Then, she walked out of the chairman's office.

Hudson lowered his head and bowed in fear. He said, "Young Madam, you're tormenting me."

Wynn got back to her car after leaving the Capital City branch of Clarke Group, she was still in a state of shock. Her brain was

Chapter 512

Currently, the Michaels had a large number of funds coming in. They were already at the same level as Wynn. Both of them had 30 percent of the stock rights each!

There were two main shareholders in the company now.

Houston Michaels from the Michael family and Wynn.

The day Philip was discharged, Nina Jacques was the one who picked him up. It was arranged by Wynn. Since Wynn was busy responding to Houston's cheap tricks, she could only ask her new secretary Nina to pick Philip up.

"Hello, Nina."

Philip grinned and said in an easy-going manner. However, when he saw Nina, he frowned. He kept feeling like he had seen this woman somewhere.

Who was she?

Philip could not remember, so he gave up.

Nina was wearing a cream-colored office suit, but she still looked like a typical woman from the sunny south. She looked as if she had just walked out of a painting.

Her long black hair was resting on her shoulders. Her skin was as white as milk and it was glowy. Her features were petite yet delicate even though her face was small. Her eyes were as mesmerizing as a moon reflected in the limpid autumn waters.

She stood next to Philip, and Philip felt as if the air around him had become fresher.

She was so beautiful. A woman in an ink and wash painting was nothing compared to her.

His wife put too much trust in him. She even let this kind of ethereal beauty come to pick him up from the hospital.

Philip thought Nina had driven to the hospital to pick him up. Who knew that she came here by bus.

Nina Jacques calmed herself immediately and smiled slightly. Her voice was sweet and soft like a typical demure lady.

"Oh, alright then." Philip frowned. Did he get it wrong?

At this time, Nina was anxious as a cat on a hot tin roof. The alien emotion was almost driving her crazy!

Philip paid a bit of attention to Nina. This beauty was only a fist away from him. The fine hair on her pink cheeks was illuminated by the bright lights, reflecting a youthful purity.

Especially her fair neck that was as white as the snow on the Himalayas. It exuded a light and alluring fragrance.

He had most definitely seen her before, but he just could not remember where.

Screech!

Abruptly, the bus came to a sudden halt. Nina, who was already unfocused at this time, immediately fell backward heavily!

Boom!

She was standing so close to Philip when she lost her balance. This time, she truly felt it!

Instantly, Nina's face flushed red. Her small hand was gripping the ring tightly, and she dared not move at all!

The tattooed youth clutched at his swollen cheek and glared at Philip while gnashing his teeth.

“Brother, don’t you see that she has a boyfriend? Since you still dare to approach her, who else should I hit if not you?”

Philip crossed his arms and sneered at the tattooed youth.

Nina got a fright from Philip’s fierce retaliation, but a warm current surged in her heart. The look in her eyes as she stared at Philip had also changed. She totally ignored his usage of the word ‘boyfriend’ just now.

The tattooed youth flew into a rage and took out a switchblade from his pants pocket. He glared menacingly at Philip and shouted, “Damn you! I want your life!”

With that said, he rushed over with the switchblade and aimed directly for Philip’s stomach!

The other two bald men also dashed over quickly. Their objective was very simple—to catch Nina. Would the kid not submit to them after that?

After that, Philip spun the two of them around in mid-air like he was juggling fire-sticks!

How could an ordinary person perform such an act!

Brother, was that an acrobatic performance? Hollywood special effects?

The two bald guys just looked tough on the outside but were actually useless. They could not withstand such treatment from Philip and started to foam at the mouths. After being thrown to the side casually by Philip, they fell to the ground with a thud and rolled over several times!

They did not even have the strength to get up. They just felt like the world was spinning around them. Their guts were rolling in waves and they threw up all the food from last night!

Not to mention that one of them had even lost control of his bowel movements!

This was not over yet. Philip took a few steps forward, raised his leg, and stomped on the chest of one of the bald guys. A resounding crack was heard. That guy let out a heart-wrenching scream!

It was enough for people’s hearts to tremble!

“I told you, since you want to die, I’ll give you a ride!”

Philip looked at the three people coldly and said sternly, “Why, do you still want me to greet you one by one? Get lost! If you don’t leave now, it won’t be as simple as breaking a few ribs!”

With that said, Philip kicked the bald guy to the other side. The latter squealed like a pig. His eyes grew dark before he fainted!

The tattooed man and the other bald guy finally scrambled up from the ground with great difficulty. They hurriedly dragged the fainted guy and wanted to leave.

However, Philip suddenly shouted, “Wait!”

This time, the two were so scared that their legs shook. They knelt on the ground with a loud thump and wailed, “Brother, please forgive us. We know we were wrong!”

Philip pointed at Nina and barked out an order, “Go over there and apologize!”

“Perry! Don’t be rude!”

At this moment, a distinguished old man with a slightly tired look got down from a Rolls-Royce not too far away. He was followed by a large group of attractively dressed men and women.

“Grandpa, just look at this country bumpkin! Isn’t he just blocking your way by standing here?”

The arrogant man immediately became respectful, supporting the old man while glaring at Philip.

Philip was peeved. Who did he provoke by standing there?

Did your family build the damn road?

“Nonsense! How did I teach you? When you’re outside, you must convince people with reason and never judge people by appearance! Apologize now!” the old man said sternly and knocked his walking cane on the ground.

“Grandpa... I’m just...” The face of the arrogant man immediately turned awkward.

“Go now!” The old man repeated sternly.

That guy seemed to be afraid of his grandfather. After hesitating for a while, he twisted his head toward Philip with an expression of dissatisfaction and resentment. He gritted his teeth and said, “I’m sorry for offending you just now.”

After speaking, that guy stood on one side without turning back, crossed his arms, and scrutinized Philip from top to bottom with hostility.

Cynthia rolled her eyes at Melody and admonished with a smile, "Okay, don't talk nonsense."

Melody laughed evilly and said, "Our dear Cynthia Larson belongs to the Larson family of Fernvale. Impressive, right?"

Larson family of Fernvale?!

Suddenly!

Philip's pupils constricted as he stared at Cynthia with a death stare.

His mother's family!

The Larson family!

Melody saw that Philip was dumbfounded, so she pushed him amusedly and said, "Don't be so exaggerated. Everyone knows the Larson family of Fernvale. Don't act as if you're hearing it for the first time."

Cynthia also frowned and looked at Philip in bewilderment. This man was acting strange. Why did she feel that the look in his eyes was a little odd?

Philip's heart was shaken. It took him a long while before he recovered. His eyes were already red.

He did not expect to meet people from his mother's side of the family. Perhaps Cynthia might even be related to him by blood.

Philip had attempted to contact the Larson family of Fernvale before but failed.

There seemed to be a huge force in the dark that kept preventing him from contacting the Larson family.

It was because of this that Philip gradually forgot about this matter.

However, Philip never gave up on trying to contact them because he had to make sure of one thing.

Philip was uncocerned about those ridiculous words. His eyes were now entirely focused on Cynthia Larson.

He wanted to find an opportunity to talk to Cynthia.

Melody was a little unhappy and was just about to stand up to say a few words when she was stopped by Philip.

Young ladies were indeed hot-tempered.

At this moment, several flattering voices sounded.

“Melody, I’m Peyton Hill. I’ve heard Marilyn talk about you before, but I didn’t expect you to be so beautiful in person.”

“Melody, I’m Cedric Shore. My family runs a medicine shop. I hope that Melody can support us in the future.”

“I’m Billy Dillon, your junior at school. I’ve seen your pictures before!”

Everyone rushed to introduce themselves, most of them male and all of them quite outstanding in appearance. It was a pity that the reason behind their actions was quite obvious to outsiders.

This was the daughter of Theo Zander, the underground king of Riverdale. Forging a good relationship with her would be greatly beneficial to them in the future!

As for the Larson family of Fernvale, they were no longer active in the market, so it did not matter if they flattered Cynthia or not.

Melody was still angry because they had mocked Philip just now, so she simply ignored them.

Kenneth almost could not control his expression. He laughed drily before saying, "Haha... Miss Zander has an arrogant personality."

When he said this, Kenneth's expression turned visibly grim. A glint of cold light flashed across his eyes. He sat down quietly, glanced at Philip, and said, "Miss Zander, what does your boyfriend do?"

Oh, was he trying to transfer the anger to him?

Philip sneered in his heart.

They were a group of typical rich second-generation, so the so-called little devious plots were nothing but monkey tricks in front of him.

"I'm a food delivery guy," Philip said nonchalantly.

"Wow, he delivers food! What an outstanding talent! I've heard of your big name!"

Kenneth suddenly praised him with a look of admiration. People who were not in the know would not be able to tell the naked sarcasm in his words.

"Haha, Young Master Hane, your words are very interesting indeed. The person who can make an impression on you must be an incredible person..."
