

The First Heir 64

Chapter 64

The girls looked over to where Isabelle was looking at and saw a shabby-looking man with a plastic bag. He was walking toward them.

After Ruby saw his face, she was taken aback. "Philip, what are you doing here?"

He was everywhere.

What was he doing here, though?

Philip was surprised. He did not expect to run into a b*tch like Ruby here.

When he thought about what had happened at the hotel, Philip felt horrible.

How should he describe this? Howard was his friend, and he did not know how to tell Howard about this.

He could only find a suitable opportunity.

"Philip?" Isabelle shrieked. A cold smile appeared on her lips, and her face was filled with sarcasm. "So he's that Philip you were talking about. They're the same kind of people indeed. They're the same person!"

"What do you mean?" Ruby was confused.

"He's the crazy guy I told you just now. That poor guy who went to our shop to buy 100 Harleys!" Isabelle mocked. Her face was filled with disdain and mockery.

"Dang! So he's that idiot!"

"I didn't expect to see someone like this. Seeing for oneself is better than hearing from many others!"

Look at him. He's even holding a plastic bag. Is he a women started to ridicule and jeer at obnoxious. They were like rich ladies who just saw a scrap expect the man in Isabelle's story to be Philip. Her eyes were filled with detest as she said, "How unexpected, Philip. You're in this frowned, agitation evident on a lot of people standing behind Philip the entire time. When she saw that the women were being rude to helpless. He shook his head and did not want to pay attention to them. He turned

Ruby spat. She looked moment, a familiar isn't that the delivery uncle? What

like

around and saw three youngsters walking over to him was there as well. She was following were Kyle and Jacob from the you're so poor. Can you even afford it?" Kyle approached Philip and patted entire time. I didn't expect to run into you here. You won't be able to run now." It looked like so they had to

Harley-Davidson just launched their new model and they were pay attention to them. They were just snotty coldly looked at Lynn behind them and noticed that she did not dare to look at him. She to say to me?" Philip asked at him. She said, "I... What do I have to say? It's not entirely my fault. Your daughter was the one who ran all over the place. Can