

The First Heir 70

Chapter 70

Should he pick up the call?

Philip was confused. He called Agnes and told her what was going on. He said, "Muddle through this."

Agnes nodded and motioned with her hands to signify 'okay'. She answered the call gracefully, "Hello, who's this?"

On the other side of the phone, Wynn was clearly shocked. She did not expect the other party to be a woman.

Plus, her voice sounded nice.

However, at the same time, she let out a sigh of relief. It was not him.

Had she been overthinking?

Hehe, right.

Would she not know what kind of person Philip was?

She pathetically came up with that illusion despite that.

"Hello, Mrs. Clarke. I am Wynn Johnston. Maybe you don't know me, but I was saved in Celestial Club that day thanks to you." Wynn had prepared a speech on how to thank her.

hate it when men force women to do dirty things," Agnes glanced at Philip who was giving her a thumbs was he hiding this

to treat you to a meal."

immediately. She looked at Philip and moved her lips slightly. She whispered, "She said she wants to treat you to a meal. Yes or Philip shook his head.

replied, "Alright, I'm a little busy recently. I'll get in

Agnes did not even overthink

Philip had fought with Wynn and they were having a cold help them make great." Wynn sounded to hang up now." Agnes hung up the phone after

Agnes was taking things into her own shake his head and sigh helplessly. "Never mind. Let's just leave it this instantly. She bowed and apologized. "Mr. Clarke, I... I thought you had a She looked like she was extremely did not want to scold her anyway, so he smiled and said, "It's fine. Just don't do they turned around and walked into Arc de Triumph Philip decided to treat the staff of his company to here, Philip