

The First Heir 891

Chapter 891

“Wait there. I’ll go to Riverdale at once!” Shawn Hane, the head of the Hane family, said.

Click!

Then, the phone was disconnected!

Klein was stunned for half a minute before reacting.

What was the situation?

Shawn was coming to Riverdale?

This place was several hours away from Capital City.

At the same time on the elevated highway leading to Riverdale, a Rolls-Royce drove along at high speed.

Inside the car, Shawn’s face was full of horror as he sweated profusely while saying, “Take me to Klein’s private residence as fast as you can!”

After saying this, Shawn’s heart started thumping rapidly.

He was flabbergasted!

As the head of the Hane family in Capital City, this panicked expression on his face was really rare and unusual.

Even the driver was as quiet as a mouse at the moment.

The atmosphere in the car was freezing.

At that moment, Klein fell to the ground and looked at his elder brother with eyes full of disbelief.

Klein also knew he had no other way out. He looked a lot older in an instant. He asked unwillingly, “Shawn, is that really him?”

Shawn paused briefly before nodding. “He did that eight years ago. You’ve made the biggest mistake and now you have to bear the consequences.”

After that, Shawn turned and left in a seemingly heartless fashion.

Klein stood there alone, laughing aloud at himself.

Then, he directly jumped out of the window!

At the last moment, he stared resentfully at the people who left and shouted, "Philip Clarke, I won't let you off even if I become a ghost!"

Boom!

Philip listened to the commotion behind him without stopping.

When Shawn walked out of the gate, he naturally heard the movement. A trace of unbearable sadness and helplessness flashed in his eyes. He said to his subordinates, "Bring Third Master Hane back home."

Martha shuddered and quickly replied, “No, nothing. I’m going to cook.”

With that, she ran into the kitchen.

Philip frowned but did not say anything. He sat in the living room fiddling with his phone.

Martha hid in the kitchen, peeked at Philip furtively, and was relieved to see that he was not suspicious. She took out a small item from her pocket—a tiny earphone.

This was something she had bought at the market in the morning. It was a listening device.

She was in Philip and Wynn’s bedroom just now where she secretly installed the bug and was about to go downstairs to try it out when she unexpectedly ran into Philip.

To keep herself busy for a while, Martha cooked chicken soup. When she was done, she wiped her hands and walked to the living room.

“Philip, I’d like to ask you something.”

Martha smiled and sat down.

Philip nodded without raising his head and said, “What’s the matter?”

Martha hesitated for a long time before asking cautiously, “Last time, the old-fashioned ring that I found in Anne’s room, what is it? You seemed very concerned about it.”

When Philip heard this, he immediately raised his head. With a brow quirked, he looked at Martha before saying suspiciously, “Why are you asking this?”

Theo shook his head and said helplessly, "It's very mysterious. We can't find anything."
Philip frowned, sat for a few minutes, then got up before saying, "Okay, let's wait and see."
He patted Theo on the shoulder and said with a smile, "Don't worry, you're my man. Whatever you want, I'll get it for you."
Theo was very excited at his words and nodded respectfully. "Thank you, Mr. Clarke."
After that, Philip put his hands in his trouser pockets and left the directors' office.

Sister-in-law?

Wynn was stunned as she stared at the woman dubiously.

Why did she call her sister-in-law?

Wynn glanced around before asking tentatively, "Are you talking to me?"

The other party smiled gracefully and said, "My name is Hannah Clarke."

Hannah Clarke?!

Wynn was dumbfounded!

Her eyes widened as she stared at the woman in front of her in disbelief. The more she looked, the more she thought this woman before her looked similar to Philip.

"You... Are you really Hannah Clarke?"

Wynn's breathing became rapid. She covered her small mouth and blinked her big eyes. She was very excited!

That was obviously impossible. Giada had been keeping a close eye on him after all.

Yvette frowned and thought for a moment before replying, "I can't help you with this but maybe someone else can. I'll go back and find out for you."

Philip did not hold much hope either. He learned from George that forces like the Hull Organization were based overseas and had a complex background.

The two chatted for a bit more before going their separate ways.

This was a chance meeting after all.

At this moment, however, a pickup truck full of people suddenly stopped in front of them!

Their intentions were hostile!

Philip raised his eyebrows. Was this an after-dinner entertainment?

It seemed like they were here to pick a fight. With that thought, he stood in front of Yvette.

"Revenge? Of course, but there's no hurry. He hurt my boys, so he definitely can't escape, or else, I can't live up to my name of Ollie from North Street."

The brawny man had this planned out very well. He noticed that this was a remote place with not many people around. The other party only consisted of one man and one woman, so he was not afraid at all!

However, when the brawny man was about to make a move, his eyes saw Yvette who was standing behind Philip. He was instantly shocked to the heavens and felt that his eyes were blinded at that sight!

Too damn gorgeous!

She was the best-looking woman he had ever seen!

Ollie was the boss of North Street with 40 or 50 men under him. He could be considered someone with a bit of status.

However, even he had never seen a beautiful woman like Yvette, especially one with the kind of domineering temperament!

“Boss, are we making a move?” the guy on crutches asked.

Gulp!

Ollie swallowed a mouthful of drool, his eyes gleaming as he leered at Yvette, saying, “Break the guy’s limbs and take the woman away.”

All the guys were naturally attracted by Yvette’s beauty. Since their boss said so, they naturally understood. They had to get rid of the annoying pest first.

As for the woman...

Hearing the brawny man’s words, Yvette frowned and her eyes showed extreme disgust!

“Tsk, tsk, being good-looking really brings disaster. I suddenly feel that being with you is too dangerous. You should pay me a protection fee,” Philip turned and said to Yvette, seemingly not paying attention to the dozen or so people in front of him.

“Hehe, that brat. He’s still in the mood to flirt when his death is approaching!”

The brawny man glanced at Philip with a smile and continued to admire Yvette’s beauty.

He had more than a dozen men with him. Taking down Philip was just a piece of cake.

The brawny guy did not put Philip in his eyes at all. He was only staring at Yvette all the while instead. He even tried to guess what Yvette was wearing inside. Otherwise, how could her figure be so good?

Yvette could not stand their disgusting gazes. She put down her bag, clenched her fists, and was about to rush out!

Today, Ollie brought his men to seek justice for him. If they backed down at this time, he would be embarrassed!

Moreover, he believed from the bottom of his heart that the gun in the opponent's hand was a fake!

How could anyone pull out a real gun in this society?

However, as soon as the guy's voice fell, a deafening gunshot exploded in his ears!

He watched with his own two eyes as the man shot at him with his gun. In a split second, he wetted his pants!

At his age, he had never heard the sound of a real gunshot, let alone the sound of bullets passing his ears. It was so terrifying!

For a moment, the guy on crutches became weak in his legs and could no longer stand. He staggered and fell to the ground while peeing his pants at the same time!

The guy slumped on the ground and only came back to his senses after a few seconds. He started to shout and wave his arms hysterically!

Realizing that the weapon was real, Ollie could no longer stay calm and quickly shouted, "Run!"

He ran faster than his men and rushed to the driver's seat of the pickup truck. This guy wanted to leave his men behind and escape by himself!

It was no joke! That gun was real!

It could kill!

If he did not drive away himself, was he going to stay and die along with them?

However, before Ollie could take a few steps, a black shadow flashed before him and he was stopped by the man with the gun!

The man in the suit was Tim's man, a carefully selected elite who was specifically sent to protect Philip!

Sending him to deal with street punks like Ollie was a waste of his talents!

Ollie felt a blur before his eyes as he saw the man with the gun standing in front of him.

When did he get here?

Was he not standing five or six yards away from him just now?
