

The Game 1111

Chapter 1111 A Crude Excuse \(2\)

Sun Xian nodded. that's right. Our County will specially approve a sum of money to Commission Linlin's laboratory to pay for the special treatment.

This kind of large-scale plague would ultimately require the government to fund it and treat everyone's pets and raised animals for free.

Only in this way would everyone be the most active in cooperating and resume their tourism.

Qin Lin wouldn't refuse such a thing. He nodded and then said, that's not a problem. I can ask the Linlin medicine company to help with the production. However, there are two main ingredients that I need the county to help me purchase.

"Which two materials?" Chen Li immediately asked.

Their main purpose was to get Linlin's laboratory to help them produce the medicine.

Now that this goal had been achieved, they would naturally cooperate fully with him on other matters.

"It's gray cloth grass and double sickle grass," Qin Lin explained. "They're two kinds of wild grass that grow on the mountain. If we want to mass-produce them, we'll need a lot of them."

although these two weeds grew on the mountain, they did not grow together like medicinal herbs. they were very scattered.

To collect these two kinds of weeds, one would have to search all over the mountain, which was very costly in manpower and material resources.

If the county came forward to buy them, then the villages and towns should have people who specifically collected these two kinds of weeds and then sold them.

This was for sure.

After all, it was something that could earn them extra money, so no one would mind earning a little more.

When Chen dabe, who was accompanying them seriously, heard this, he subconsciously raised his head. His eyes were shining.

He had a lot of these two types of grass now.

it was really a lot.

However, he knew that he could not say it now.

It wasn't a big deal to make some money by guessing the news, but he couldn't do it openly.

It was better to let his wife bring people to sell them in secret when he was collecting them in the county.

Sun Xian and Chen Li also returned to the county in a relaxed and happy mood. After all, the trouble could be solved and you city could recover very quickly.

fortunately, boss qin and linlin's laboratory were there, otherwise this matter would not have been resolved so quickly.

The two of them called for a meeting as soon as they returned. The matter of the special funds had to be confirmed immediately.

You city naturally wanted you city to recover quickly, so the proposal was passed as quickly as possible.

Not long after, news of the county Purchasing gray cloth grass and double sickle grass appeared in you city's various channels.

Anyone who purchased these two weeds on the mountain could sell them at the county Procurement Office.

As soon as the news came out, many people went up the mountain to pick the fruits.

of course, the news of the infected animals being cured at linlin ranch quickly spread to academician li and academician yuan, who lived in the manor.

The two academicians knew how serious the plague was, so they immediately reported it to the higher-ups.

The pressure on chief Lu had been increasing over the past few days. After a meeting, he rushed to the special medical team that was analyzing the seven composite materials.

After the drug from boss Qin arrived, he asked two academicians to gather a group of experts to study the seven composite materials.

Unfortunately, he did not make any breakthroughs these days.

Those experts were actually feeling a little helpless.

"Still no progress?" chief lu asked with a frown.

One of the academicians nodded. it'll be difficult. The unfathomable depth of Chinese medicine has really amazed me this time.

"That's right. We've tried all kinds of possibilities that we've learned in our lives, but there's still no solution," another expert added.

these experts were obviously a little anxious.

This was because they already knew that the most powerful expert in this field in America, Bowen, had joined forces with laboratories from all over the world to conduct research on the plague.

They had been summoned here to study it, so they naturally knew what the other party was targeting. Otherwise, why were they the only ones missing from the joint research?

therefore, they also wanted to fight for their pride.

But things didn't go as he wished.

One of the academicians suggested, "can we invite boss Qin over to do research together?" In our current situation, there's no way we can solve this problem by fighting alone."

Another academician agreed, " indeed, that boss Qin is talented and very powerful, but this coagulated plague is extraordinary. It's difficult for him to get any results alone. If we discuss and study together, the results will definitely be better.

Chief Lu nodded in agreement.

Indeed, boss Qin's ability was recognized by everyone in the Chinese Academy.

However, no matter how talented boss Qin was, he was still a single person. There was always a limit to how much he could do about the plague. If he could join hands with the medical research team to discuss and study it, the results would definitely be better.

After all, even an expert like Bowen had to work with experts from all over the world to study it.

By now, the experts from all over the world should have already arrived at Bowens 'laboratory and started their research.

He took out his phone and was about to call Qin Lin to ask about it.

However, his phone rang first. It was academician li.

"academician li, what's wrong?" Chief Lu picked up the phone and asked, but the message on the phone stunned him. He said in disbelief, " "what? boss qin has already made the cauterizing plague potion?"

This news had truly shocked him.

When their research team was still at a loss, boss Qin had already solved the problem and produced the medicine.

the two academicians and the experts were also shocked.

That boss Qin had already developed a healing potion?

Just now, they thought that boss Qin couldn't figure it out by himself and needed to work together to have a better chance. But who knew that the two academicians and the experts blushed.

This was quite a blow.

"Chief Lu, has boss Qin really developed a drug?" an academician asked.

"I'll call to confirm!" chief lu called qin lin's number. as soon as the call went through, he asked anxiously, " "Boss Qin, have you made the medicine?"

Qin Lin didn't find it strange when he received chief Lu's call. It was impossible for the other party to not pay attention to this matter, so he didn't hide it. He said, yes, we've already developed it and cured the infected animals in Linlin Ranch.

After receiving confirmation, chief Lu's face lit up with excitement. "That's great!"

chief Lu, I'll ask Linlin's lab to send you the recipe, " Qin Lin said. I hope you can solve this problem as soon as possible. Those heart-wrenching videos on the Internet of People crying after losing their pets are really annoying.

when chief lu heard this, he was stunned.

Was boss Qin going to donate the formula again?

This was not the first time.

He didn't even know what to say.

Boss Qin seemed to be like this. Every time in such a situation, he would not care about personal gains and losses.

this time, he even came up with a crude excuse that 'watching those videos on the internet is annoying'.

sometimes, he and the leader would feel embarrassed and not know how to compensate the other party.

Chief Lu was about to say something when he found that Qin Lin had hung up.

Qin Lin didn't donate the formula on a whim. He had given it a lot of thought.

first, he didn't want to earn money from this kind of disaster.

Secondly, he really didn't lack money.

Third, they did not have the ability to promote it quickly.

Fourth, animals from all over the world had been infected. There were too many problems involved in this, and he didn't want to get involved.

Chief Lu held his phone and looked at the group of experts. He announced in surprise, " "Boss Qin has indeed developed a cure for the plague, and he has donated the formula to us."

The two academicians and the group of experts were completely shocked when they heard the confirmation.

It was really resolved.

They were helpless!

They were especially shocked when he said that he would donate the formula. Even if they were not businessmen, they knew that this thing would bring great benefits before the plague was solved.

In the face of such a benefit, the other party donated it without hesitation.

It was no wonder that even the seniors such as academician Zhu and academician Hao said that boss Qin was unparalleled in the field of National scholar when they talked about him.

perhaps they understood a little bit of what the old seniors meant.

Chapter 1112 Forgot That Shennong Tried! Hundred Herbs? Bowen Who Was Completely Ignorant

When Minister Lu and the experts were still in shock, the Secretary ran to Minister Lu and reported, "Linlin's laboratory just sent an email to your mailbox."

When Minister Lu heard this, he immediately found a computer and logged into his email account. He saw the email from Linlin laboratory.

There was an email labeled as the formula for the coagulation plague, and the sender was the account of Linlin laboratory.

He opened it and saw the formula in the email. The names of the herbs, the order of the ratios, and the ratios.

the two academicians and the group of experts all came over with curious faces.

"I recognize most of these herbs, but what are gray cloth grass and double sickle grass?"

"I've never heard of these two herbs either!"

"....."

These academicians and experts were all medical researchers, so they were naturally familiar with medicinal herbs.

After all, there was no difference between Chinese and Western medicine.

many medicinal ingredients could be used together.

The only difference was how to make use of it at times, the process, and methods.

They immediately went to search for the gray-cloth grass and the double sickle grass, but were shocked to find that they were just the names of two wild grasses.

how could it be a weed commonly seen in the southern mountains? "

"Did they have the same name? did they make a mistake?"

"There are no other herbs with these two names."

"....."

the academicians and experts were obviously dumbfounded.

Minister Lu was also a little confused. He had to take out his phone, turn on the speaker, and call Qin Lin again.

As soon as the call went through, Qin Lin's voice could be heard, "Minister Lu, have you received the formula?"

"I've received it, but I'm a little confused about the gray cloth grass and the double sickle grass!" Minister Lu immediately replied.

Qin Lin understood what was going on and said with a smile, "director Lu, these are the two kinds of weeds in the South. When the two weeds are combined with the other medicinal materials, they will produce different compound substances.

"Are they really wild grass? This is unbelievable." minister lu said in surprise.

"Minister Lu, isn't this normal?" Qin Lin said solemnly. In the history of Chinese medicine, weren't those herbs all weeds before their effects were confirmed? Otherwise, why would there be a legend about the Shennong tasting hundreds of herbs? we can't forget our roots!"

These words were filled with awe-inspiring righteousness.

Minister Lu didn't know how to answer when he heard the word 'forget your roots'.

the two academicians and the group of experts were a little ashamed.

if they were puzzled about this, wouldn't that be equivalent to forgetting their roots?

However, Shennong had already said that he tasted a hundred herbs, so how could he dare to say anything else? What else did he dare to doubt?

that was the yan huang ancestor.

Therefore, the drug was confirmed to be an ancient Chinese medicine recipe.

These people could only sigh in their hearts. Chinese medicine was really a forgotten treasure.

Was their prejudice against Chinese medicine right?

To be honest, the decline and extinction of Chinese medicine was the work of Western medicine.

during that special period, people paid attention to learning foreign science to put an end to superstitions.

Under the propaganda of many Western doctors, Chinese medicine had become a superstition without any scientific basis. In addition, the proposed medical license issue had almost completely eliminated more than half of Chinese medicine.

However, in the past two years, Chinese medicine seemed to have started to prove its innocence again. It was as if it was saying that as long as it was gold, it would shine in front of people again sooner or later, no matter how much it was destroyed or harmed.

Those few secret recipes had already explained everything. As for the body-increasing medicinal liquid, those were things that Western medicine could not do well.

Another example would be the coagulation plague this time. It had already happened more than once or twice around the world.

Every time it appeared, even the so-called most powerful Medical Laboratory would find it difficult to solve it. Every time, it would wait until the infected species were almost extinct and there was no place to spread it before the high-temperature coagulation plague dissipated on its own.

Otherwise, the laboratories in various countries would not have been so nervous about the appearance of the mutated coagulin plague, and they would not have made no progress.

However, the coagulation plague, which had troubled the top Western medicine experts and caused all the laboratories around the world to be unable to solve it, was solved by a formula from Chinese medicine.

After Minister Lu confirmed, he immediately said solemnly, " " experts, let's hurry up and make the potion and test its effects. also, before the plague is over, please keep the formula a secret. " the two academicians and the group of experts immediately nodded.

he knew very well how serious the plague was. if it couldn't be controlled, even the animals at home would be infected, and the animals would die sooner or later.

This was a great disaster for all countries, especially those countries that focused on breeding livestock.

Therefore, this potion was of great significance.

Minister Lu and the others quickly got to work and prepared the potions as fast as they could.

It was the gray cloth grass and the double sickle grass that took some time. After all, they were wild grass unique to the south of the country and it would take some time to transport them to the capital.

After the medicine was produced, it was injected into the infected animals as soon as possible.

and those animals quickly got better.

after confirming the effectiveness of the drug, minister lu immediately reported to his leader.

The leader naturally did not hesitate. He immediately arranged for the Chinese Academy of Medicine to fully produce the drug. At the same time, he asked the animal management to release the news as soon as possible to inform everyone.

Naturally, the purchase of gray cloth grass and double sickle grass was also quickly sent to various places in the South.

This wild grass that grew in the southern mountains, after countless years of carefree growth, finally welcomed a devastating disaster today.

Chapter 1113 Forgot That Shennong Tried! Hundred Herbs? The Ignorant Bowns

It also reflected its value.

Hence, sometimes, value equaled destruction!

(can not be written in detail! (500 words omitted) ]

Southern city.

In a Pet Hospital, as a Pet Doctor, mi na was in a bad mood.

There were a lot of pets quarantined in the hospital, but there was no treatment for them. Every day, there were animals in critical condition.

Moreover, she was also the owner of the Pet Shop. Her doll, Snow Cake, was also being quarantined in the pet Hospital, and her condition was getting worse.

"Doctor Yan, Snow cake's condition is not good." A nurse ran over in a hurry.

Chu NA's expression changed when she heard the news. She rushed into the isolation ward and stood in front of a beautiful Ragdoll cat.

The Ragdoll cat was in a bad state and started to tremble slightly.

When an infected animal had this condition, it meant that the blood in the body had begun to coagulate. If there was no treatment in a few days, it would die irreversible.

Chu NA's heart ached when she saw this. "snow cake, don't worry. there will be a way!"

As she spoke, she stroked the Ragdoll cat's chin.

Cats like it when people touch their chins. It makes them feel very comfortable. Therefore, cats usually enjoy being touched by their owners.

meow, meow meow meow! Snow Cake called out weakly as Chu na touched her chin.

In this situation, the poop-picker's actions, which usually made him very comfortable, made him unhappy. He could only stick out his tongue and lick the back of his hand pitifully.

This made Liena even more worried.

The snow Cake was given to her by her deceased father. It was her father's last love for her and the last place she entrusted her thoughts to her father.

But looking at Snow cake's condition, she couldn't do anything.

"Baby, baby, don't die," a shrill cry was heard.

He saw an old man in a wheelchair crying beside the body of a golden-haired creature.

She looked over and her heart clenched.

The old man's son was a soldier and had been in the Army all year round. His wife had passed away and his son was unmarried, so he couldn't keep him company in the Army. The Golden Retriever was the one who kept him company for a long time.

She had raised this Golden Retriever as her son.

only she knew how much pain she was in with that heart-wrenching look.

At the side, a person holding a cane also clenched his hand tightly, and tears could not help but gather at the corner of his eyes.

Her guide dog was also infected. Hearing the cries, she seemed to be able to imagine the end of her guide dog.

however, the guide dog was her everything.

Because she lost her sight in an accident, her boyfriend, who had been in love for a few years, abandoned her. Her parents also despised her, and her brother and sister-in-law even felt that she was a burden.

Only her guide dog treated her as the only one in the world. It led her to the right place every day without any effort. It was also the only thing she valued in her world.

She didn't want anything to happen to it.

But she was really helpless.

The surrounding atmosphere was very gloomy, and it was filled with sadness in an instant.

In this atmosphere, graceful looked at her Ragdoll cat and her mood became more and more depressed.

at this moment, a surprised cheer suddenly rang out. " everyone, look at the news. The Animal Control Department has released an official news. They said that there are already healing potions and that they will be produced as soon as possible.

Hearing this news, the sad atmosphere seemed to have a ray of light. Everyone took out their phones to check.

The blind woman couldn't wait to ask the person beside her, " "Really? really?"

The people around him were subconsciously surprised. "It's true. The news really said so."

After receiving confirmation, the blind woman's face instantly revealed a happy expression. To her, there was nothing more pleasant than this.

Mi na also went online immediately and saw the news posted by the animal control Association.

let me tell you a piece of very good news. Professor Qin junior from Linlin's laboratory has developed a medicine to treat coagulosis due to high temperature through Traditional Chinese Medicine and scientific research. The medicine has been tested and confirmed to be able to cure coagulosis due to high temperature.

Now we have joined forces with the relevant departments to mass produce the drug, and will distribute it to all places as soon as possible. We hope that pet owners and breeders will actively cooperate!"

Seeing this news, the joy on graceful's face was hard to suppress. Like everyone else, she was very happy.

" little qin wanwan " muttered to herself.

She knew little Qin.

He remembered the first time he appeared, he was an internet celebrity and a horse tamer.

She had seen the video of him riding a horse. He was really suave, and the way he danced with his spear was even more handsome.

moreover, it was something that no one else could learn.

Some people even said that if the other party wanted to become an internet celebrity, he could get a silver armor, silver spear, and a White Horse. He could even say that he was Zhao Zilong.

Isn't this more similar and more popular than those internet celebrities who dress up as Zhang Fei, Zhuge Liang, Ma Chao, Zhao Zilong, Li Mochou, and so on?

some people even analyzed that little qin had the potential to become an a-list internet celebrity.

therefore, many UP masters felt that it was a pity that little qin wasn't in the internet celebrity circle.

It wasn't until the news of little Qin's research and cultivation of Xiangshui tribute rice came out, and even the Chinese Academy of Medicine gave him the title of Professor, that these people were slapped in the face.

it turned out that she didn't care about being an internet celebrity.

Especially when they found out that little Qin had become a scientist halfway through his career, and that he had previously studied tourism, everyone was in disbelief.

Chapter 1114 Forgot That Shennong Tried! Hundred Herbs? The Ignorant Bowens

little qin was a demon who could casually learn and use his hobbies to smash other people's rice bowls.

And this time, little Qin was obviously even more awesome.

When the coagulopathy plague came out, he had read the relevant information and knew how powerful it was. It had appeared several times in the past, and the world's top laboratories and scientists had failed to solve it.

This time, the world's top laboratories and top scientists couldn't solve the plague, but now it was solved by little Qin.

How awesome was this?

Most importantly, he was really only a tourism major.

When this news came out, all the pet owners and breeders in the country were pleasantly surprised.

More people were still shocked by little Qin.

Therefore, Qin Lin once again appeared on the hot search as a demon.

the elementary school, junior high school, high school, and university that he had attended also started to frenziedly ride on the popularity.

Especially in the University, there were many books about scientific research in the library that little Qin had read even though he was a tourism major.

these few librarians could prove it.

There were even two well-known professors in the school who had personally witnessed Xiao Qin's efforts and even guided him. They had even felt that it was a waste for Xiao Qin to study tourism and wanted to transfer him to another major.

When Qin Lin saw the news, he could only complain, "f**k, you're talking nonsense."

However, when he saw the words 'our school can produce a genius like little Qin, it proves that the power of education is strong. What reason do you have not to apply to our school?', he expressed his understanding.

Sigh, are universities nowadays this bad too? He had used all kinds of methods to recruit students.

It was no wonder that some universities would let students drink coffee, tea, and have beautiful seniors.

The most famous plague research laboratory in America was the Bowens' laboratory.

The most famous scientist in the laboratory was Bowens, and he was also the world's top plague research scientist. Everyone believed that he would be the fastest person to find a solution to the coagulated plague.

Moreover, Bowens had invited the most powerful experts from all over the world to study it together, which was something everyone was looking forward to.

If Bowens and the others on this planet couldn't solve the coagulosis plague, then there would be no hope. All the pets and animals on ranches and farms could only wait for death.

In foreign countries, this was almost a common knowledge.

Naturally, that was what Bowens thought as well.

After all, he had a special mission. He had to come up with a treatment plan as soon as possible and leave the eastern country far behind him.

In Bowen's laboratory, Bowen was also carrying out this goal.

After the experts from all over the world arrived, Bowens led them into the research direction they hated as quickly as possible, and it only took them a day to start their research.

Right now, Bowens was waiting in a laboratory for the testing of the first batch of animals.

This was their first batch of experimental animals. After discussing the direction of their research, they worked together to research the high temperature coagulation plague and tried to create a medicine.

"The results should be out soon." An expert said.

"It's fine even if the results aren't good." Bowenz smiled. This plague can't be solved so quickly. It's normal to fail many times. Anyway, with our combined power, we can definitely solve this problem first.

Chapter 1115 My Face Hurts A Little \(1\)

In Bowens 'laboratory.

Bowens and the joint experts waited, and finally, the latest news came.

A researcher hurriedly ran in and reported, " Mr. Bowenz, the results of the experiment are out. The infected animals have a rejection reaction to the medicine and are all dead.

this failure made the experts from all over the world sigh.

As expected, it was not that simple.

When Bowens saw this, he smiled and said, " don't be disappointed, everyone. Our research has only just begun. At least this first failure can give us some experience.

it's not the first time the coagulosis plague has appeared. If it was so easy to deal with, would we even have a chance to do so? "

The experts from all over the world nodded in agreement.

Indeed, the high temperature coagulation plague could be solved so quickly, so it was not their turn to work together to study it.

They were sighing not only because of their failure, but also because the situation in their country was serious and they were rushing them.

let's continue to discuss new research plans! bowenz suggested again. he didn't dare to stop. to him, the faster he could get rid of this high temperature coagulation disease, the better it would be for him to deal with that eastern country.

He also had to exploit these experts from all over the world.

As the world's top expert in this field, the other experts naturally agreed with Bowen's words, so they all went to the conference room together.

But just as Bowens was about to start discussing with his people, his Secretary rushed in. Mr. Bowens, there's the latest news about that Eastern country (don't ask me why I'm using this as a reference, I don't want to, really.) They've developed a medicine to cure hyperthermal coagulopathy!"

This news instantly stunned everyone in the conference room, and the atmosphere became a little quiet.

"impossible!" Said Bowens almost subconsciously.

The experts from the other countries were also in disbelief. They were all in an uproar.

"It shouldn't be. How did they do it?"

that's right. So many of us have gathered here, but there's still no result.

how can their scientific research strength compare to our joint efforts? "

"We still have Mr. Bowen to lead us!"

"..."

The people in the conference room couldn't believe it. They were all experts, and together, they were the strongest research force.

It was precisely because of this that they knew how difficult it was to deal with the coagulosis plague.

So many experts from so many countries had joined forces, but there was no result. However, the people from the eastern country had already solved the problem.

Most importantly, their alliance had excluded the other party. This wasn't just a huge mockery, it was also a tight slap to their faces.

Of course, the one whose face hurt the most was Bowens. He asked his Secretary with a gloomy expression, "Is this information certain?"

"they've already released the official news, saying that a man named qin has solved the coagulation plague and developed a cure. they've already started production and will soon promote it on a large scale. i've already downloaded the news video. "

As the Secretary spoke, she walked to a multimedia computer and inserted a USB. A moment later, she pulled up a news video.

Bowens and experts from all over the world were watching the news with a serious expression. There were even people translating the content.

After all, many experts did not understand Chinese.

When they watched the news video, the people in the conference room fell silent again.

From the news, it seemed that they had indeed developed a drug.

"Do you all believe this news?" Bowens asked with a special meaning.

The other experts were stunned by this question.

Bowenz's tone clearly had a hidden meaning.

"Mr. Bowens, are you saying that the news is fake?" one of the experts asked.

Bowens also asked, "it's not that I think it's fake, but do you believe it?" How can we lose to them if we join forces? Can they really deal with the coagulative plague in such a short time?"

These words made the experts whisper to each other again.

"indeed, we can't achieve anything even if we work together!"

"It's impossible for them!"

many of our research abilities have surpassed that of the people from that country!

"I've never heard of this little Qin!"

"In other words, this might be fake news?"

These people were all top experts in this field, and these experts were all proud. Other than Bowen, who was recognized as the world's most powerful expert, they wouldn't be convinced by anyone else.

Moreover, they also knew that the experts in this field from the eastern country were only the two academicians.

None of them were worse than the two academicians.

Now, they had no clue even after joining forces, so how did the other party solve it?

This wasn't a matter of crushing them.

If that was the case, did the other party have a cheat?

At this moment, Bowen said, "so, no one believes me, right?" could this be true? I have some understanding of that country. They pay particular attention to military tactics and strategies, and they only fake their peeing to deceive others."

"that's probably the case. we isolated them, and they must know that we're the only ones who can solve the epidemic, so they naturally want to join us. "

"But what can I do? "We'll use this method and publicize that we've cracked it. Then, we'll get anxious and want the other party to share it. In our anxiety, won't we invite the other party to join us?"

Chapter 1116 My Face Hurts A Little \(2\)

then, if the other party joins us, we can say that it was a misunderstanding and that they have failed. Then, they will have achieved their goal.

These words stunned the experts.

they really didn't expect there to be such a roundabout way, but it was indeed the case. bowens 'explanation was very reasonable.

"what if that's not the case, or they really solved the problem?" an expert asked.

This also made many people worried.

bowens smiled and said, " it's not difficult to confirm whether it's true or not. aren't they going to promote potions? " They have to put on an act. We have people in that Eastern country, so we can always get their medicine."

"We'll know when we try it. If they dare to contact us again, we'll just expose them."

Many experts agreed with this. They were the experts from the few countries who had proposed it with Bowen in the beginning.

The scientific research in their countries was the most advanced in the world, and they were also the best. They did not think that their abilities were inferior to those of the eastern country.

After confirming that this was indeed the case, Bowen also said to his Secretary, " contact the people over there and ask them to get some medicine from the eastern country.

"okay, mr. bowen." The Secretary nodded and immediately walked out of the conference room.

With the news released by the Animal Control Department, the internet instantly boiled over.

Especially the pet owners and the owners from all over the country, they couldn't help but cheer. This was absolutely timely news for them.

in the following time, the entire southern village was bustling with activity.

On many mountains, one could see the figures of people searching for gray cloth grass and double sickle grass.

This time, there were specialized purchasing departments in various places responsible for the acquisition. Because of the urgency of the matter, the price was not low in order to arouse everyone's enthusiasm.

For many people, this was definitely a rare opportunity.

After the gray cloth grass and double sickle grass were purchased, they quickly gathered at the airport of the city, which had been arranged by special transport planes.

if it weren't for the fact that it would be too ostentatious to use fighter jets to transport the goods, chief lu really wanted to ask the higher-ups to arrange for fighter jets to transport the goods.

After the gray cloth grass and the double Sickles were transported to the capital, they were also the first to be transported to the pet potion No. 06 (weakened version)!

Naturally, this was not the name to the public.

chief lu asked qin lin. after all, it was qin lin who had researched and made this medicine.

Qin Lin was bad at naming things, so he named it the [ coagulated plague potion ] in the end.

The name was a little long.

However * since Qin Lin had chosen it, chief Lu could only acquiesce to the name.

With the arrangements made by the higher-ups, the production of the coagulation plague healing potion was very fast.

On the first day, medicine was delivered to various Animal Quarantine areas in Beijing, and the infected animals were treated.

The next day, the medicine began to spread out and was sent to various places. However, there were not many at one time. After all, they were scattered. The place was too big and there were too many infected animals.

Therefore, they could only let the seriously ill animals in various places be treated first.

There was no problem with this arrangement.

unfortunately, it only took two days for the internet to explode.

In some places, after getting the potions, they didn't treat the seriously ill animals first. Instead, they secretly priced the potions and gave them to whoever paid more.

Those who were rich naturally paid for their pets' treatment first. In this case, some pets with serious illnesses died.

This paper can't contain fire.

In this age of internet information, there were soon owners who were unwilling to accept the death of their pets. They found out about this matter and exposed it.

This made countless people on the internet angry.

Especially those who had pets. If there was no hope, no one could blame their beloved pets for dying. But there was clearly hope, but they died because of this reason. Who could bear it?

This kind of thing, everyone shared the same hatred for the enemy, and it quickly became public opinion.

Because no one wanted such a thing to happen to them.

Just like the barbecue incident on a certain mountain, why did it go viral on the internet so quickly? This was because no one wanted this to happen to them. If anyone turned a blind eye to this matter and let it go, it would only make the bad guys more savage. Sooner or later, they would also encounter this kind of thing.

Therefore, the only way was to push this matter to the top of the hot search and form public opinion.

To a certain extent, public opinion was the will of the people.

Public opinion was like a tide, and no one dared to ignore it.

It was a pity that in this modern era, there were always some people who were smart or harbored hopes of getting lucky. They were naturally too self-righteous and would do things that disgusted everyone.

In the end, those who had just received money from the potions would inevitably face a thunderous operation.

It was precisely because someone dared to charge money for the potion that a lot of high-temperature coagulation potions were purchased by people with ulterior motives in a short time and then appeared in Bowens' laboratory.

Bowens and the experts from all over the world had been waiting for the potion for a long time.

Naturally, they didn't forget to study it during this time.

After all, they thought that the potion was a scam.

After the research, they were even more certain.

Due to their joint research, they had not been able to do anything about the coagulosis plague.

They were all like this. They really couldn't believe that the people from the eastern countries could develop a drug.

"Mr. Bowenz, we still haven't found anything yet. We have to change our way of thinking." One of the experts said with a frown.

Another expert chimed in. "That's right. I've received news that the animal diseases in the country are getting more and more serious. We must find a solution."

"Yes, I should change my way of thinking," Bowens nodded.

At this moment, the secretary ran in and anxiously reported, "Mr. Bowenz, we've got the potion back!" Get someone to inject the infected animals. Let's see how long their scam can last. When Bowens heard this news, he immediately gave instructions.

The other experts were also attracted.

Were they not waiting for a result?

Even if they didn't believe it, even if they felt that what Bowen said was right, they still wanted to confirm it for themselves before they could be at ease.

The secretary got the order and quickly went to make arrangements.

Some infected animals were sent over and injected with the drug.

Time passed by, and the next day, experts from all over the world gathered in the conference room for the lab, waiting for the results of the drug.

Bowens had also arrived early.

Although they knew that the potion wouldn't work, they still wanted to know the result.

"When will the veterinarians send the results?" Bowenz asked his Secretary.

Mr. Bowens, "The Secretary said immediately, "They've been checking it since this morning. The results will be here soon."

Sure enough, it didn't take long for the laboratory to find a veterinarian in charge to cooperate with the research. He came with the test report.

Bowenz and the experts from all over the world looked over.

"What's the result? Did it not work?" Bowens immediately asked.

Mr. Bowens, "The head of the veterinarians said with a frown, "The infected animals are obviously getting better after being injected with the medicine. They'll be fully recovered in about a day."

"What?" Bowens was shocked when he heard the news.

He couldn't believe it.

The experts from all over the world also stood up in shock. They couldn't believe this news at all.

This was completely different from what they had guessed.

how did the people from the eastern kingdom develop a potion to cure the coagulation plague in such a short time?

The veterinarian in charge didn't know the inside story, so he congratulated her instead, " "mr. bowenz, experts, that potion can treat the coagulation potion at high temperatures. is this a new potion you made? You guys are too powerful. Other than you guys, there shouldn't be anyone else who can deal with this epidemic so quickly."

Clang clang. Bowens.

" wanwan " gathered the experts from various countries.

The atmosphere instantly froze, and a group of people suddenly felt their cheeks hurt.

Chapter 1117 Can't You Crack The Code Even After You've Made It? Study Qin Lin's Experimental Report? 1

Southern city.

In the pet Hospital, sounds of joy and happiness could be heard from time to time.

"Miss du, your guide dog has recovered." Graceful said to the blind girl.

"Really? that's great. Pipi is fine." the blind girl's face was full of joy. she squatted down and stroked the guide dog that was already alive and kicking.

Lianna looked at the other party's happy expression and empathized with him.

The hospital had already received the first batch of the medicine sent by the higher-ups, and all her seriously ill pets, including her Snow Cake, had been treated and had basically recovered.

After finishing her business, graceful also went to visit her Ragdoll cat, Snow Cake.

"Meow, Meow Meow!" when snow cake saw the poop-picker, she started barking at her.

As soon as she reached out her hand, it rubbed its head against her hand. A cat that had just recovered from a serious illness was particularly clingy.

This made Meina very happy, and she could finally put down the heavy stone in her heart.

After taking care of the cat, she went to see other animals. She took a break and took out her phone to check the chat of the animals.

Everyone was happy that their pets had recovered.

However, she noticed that in many groups, many pet owners had little Qin's profile picture.

there were even pet owners quarreling over this, saying that this was their husband.

She couldn't help but think of a certain kun, a certain kun, a certain fan, and the like, the brainless fans of young fresh meat.

Brainless fans treated these young hunks as their husbands, and those with boyfriends also blatantly used these young hunks' photos as their profile pictures.

Why did these pet owners have the intention of becoming such brainless fans?

Mi na couldn't help but send a message: "Little Qin seems to have a wife."

However, no one cared about her words. Instead, someone replied to her, "

"If it's little Qin, I don't mind being the concubine!"

that's right, " someone else said. rather than marrying my useless boyfriend, I'd rather be little Qin's mistress. If little Qin is willing.

"What a moral degenerate." She opened the two women's moments and saw their faces. She complained again, " "With his looks, even if you guys are willing to be small, others might not be willing!"

As she thought about it, she silently saved the other party's little Qin profile picture and changed her own profile picture to little Qin's photo.

She was still single anyway, so what if she chased after stars? She wasn't chasing after those young hunks.

Lin Lin Manor Office.

Qin Lin took out his cell phone and checked the news on the internet. Compared to the previous pessimism, the internet was now full of joy and laughter. Even though the first batch of medicine had only been released and only cured a small number of animals, there was still hope for treatment, so there was always joy and joy.

However, when he was looking at the news, Qin Lin saw a video that was not right.

A young man had actually threatened him, saying that they would be irreconcilable. The key point was that there were many comments in the video that echoed his words.

This made Qin Lin a little dumbfounded. Did he offend the other party?

After seeing the content of the video, he was even more dumbfounded. It was an undeserved disaster.

after my girlfriend's dog was cured, she changed it to little Qin's profile picture and even posted on her WeChat moments that it was her new husband. She hasn't even called me husband yet, and I feel like I've f * cking been cheated on? "

"Green your sister!" Qin Lin complained after seeing the video.

He didn't do anything. He didn't even know anything.

At that moment, his phone rang. It was Captain Lu. He immediately answered, " "Captain Lu, you're still in the mood to call me. It seems like things are going well."

Chief Lu smiled and said, " that's right. The higher-ups are also relieved. The production of the drug is also increasing, and many countries have contacted us to get funding for the drug. However, how to talk about this is up to the higher-ups, so we won't say much. I'm looking for Mr. Qin because I hope that you can write an experimental report about this drug. The scientific research website is planning to publish the news.

Qin Lin didn't expect this.

Making up such a story was really a brainy thing.

however, this wasn't the first time he had done this. he got used to it as he made up stories.

After making up a bunch of nonsense, Qin Lin added Li Kai and the other researchers 'names.

After all, they had helped with the analysis and testing. Although they did not play any role, at least they had recorded some data and helped to make the first batch of potions.

After that, Qin Lin also sent the fabricated experimental report to commander Lu.

Director Lu immediately handed the experiment report to the two academicians and experts.

However, when the two academicians and experts saw the experimental report, their first thought was that there were many parts that they couldn't understand. They felt that it was too profound. The key was that it was linked to Chinese medicine. They were even more confused.

Perhaps, this was the reason why they could not solve the coagulated plague.

naturally, they did not know that these places were not profound and were purely made up.

After that, chief Lu sent the experimental report to the scientific research website and published it.

This fabricated report attracted a lot of people's attention. Whether it was staff or people who didn't know anything, they all went to find out.

naturally, if those experts couldn't understand the profound parts, others couldn't either.

Later on, this blindly written experimental report was even included in related scientific research books. It was a must-study for graduate students. Even countless young talents studied this report.

Chapter 1118 Study Qin Lin's Experimental Report? 2

It was only discovered by a guy called Qin Feng more than ten years later. This experimental report was simply made up.

...

The atmosphere in bowenz's laboratory was a little tense.

Bowens and the experts came to an area where animals were quarantined.

At this time, the animals in the area were already alive and kicking. After the injection, the seriously ill animals recovered so quickly.

This meant that the eastern country had not only developed a healing agent, but the effect was also surprisingly strong.

These people were clearly even more shocked.

As it turned out, so what if these people gathered here to discuss and research? He was actually inferior to that person.

This had more or less changed their mentality, and they were somewhat disheartened.

After all, they had been too proud before. The prouder they were, the greater the blow.

Bowen's face naturally became uglier. He had already been reprimanded by the big boss.

Their plan was to unite the world's top experts and isolate the eastern country. As long as they could find a solution to the high temperature coagulation plague, they would be able to negotiate with the eastern country and have the opportunity to obtain the technology of Linlin leisure tea, purification grass, and so on.

He was full of confidence at first. He was the world's top expert in researching the coagulated plague, and he had also United Experts from all over the world.

However, he had never expected that the plan would be declared a failure as soon as it started.

That Eastern country had actually developed a healing drug so quickly, but they had made no progress at all.

If they delayed it further and the public found out, then it wouldn't be them who wanted to negotiate with the other party to obtain their technology. It would be the other way around.

When the time came, if they really requested to visit, it would be that they wanted something in exchange for it.

Then he might be out of luck.

after all, this plan was carried out based on him.

Now, the big boss of the capital already thought that he was a scammer and that he didn't have much skill.

Therefore, he had to figure out the solution as soon as possible.

he still had some confidence left in him.

Even if he couldn't figure out the potion, he could still figure it out. Then why would he still be the world's number one?

Bowenz didn't dare to waste any time and immediately said to the experts from various countries, "Don't be discouraged, everyone. It's good news for us that this potion is real."

let's think about it from another perspective. Our combined scientific research strength is definitely much stronger than theirs. If they can develop it, it means that they are lucky to have found the right direction.

and we have neglected this direction. Now that we are researching and deciphering this potion, I believe we will soon have results.

he was trying to reignite their confidence and make use of them.

Although these people's abilities were far inferior to his, their combined scientific research strength was definitely powerful.

However, as soon as Bowens finished speaking, the phone of one of the experts from one of the countries rang, and the other party immediately picked up after seeing the number.

A moment later, the expert looked at Bowens apologetically. "Mr. Bowenz, I'm very sorry. There's something going on at the domestic laboratory, and they told me to hurry back."

Just as the expert finished speaking, another expert's phone rang. After picking up the call, the expert said with a strange expression, " Mr. Bowenz, there's a problem with my lab too. I need to return home immediately.

After that, experts from other countries received calls. The situation was a little awkward because the best excuse had been given by the people in front of them.

The excuse they came up with was a bit perfunctory, so perfunctory that it made Bowen's face Twitch.

These people actually left bowenz's laboratory and returned to their own countries.

Obviously, he had been invited by Bowens to come here because he wanted to ride on his coattails. He felt that Bowens, the number one expert, and the experts from the other countries who had proposed an Alliance, should be able to solve this big problem first.

Who knew that in the end, when there was no progress on Bowen's side, the problem had already been solved, and they already had drugs to treat infected animals.

Since they were all depending on someone powerful, now that there was a thicker and bigger backer, they naturally had to choose again.

This was human nature and interests.

Moreover, who knew if the antidote would work?

If it could be solved so easily, then the coagulative plague wouldn't be so difficult to deal with.

In the blink of an eye, only Bowens and the few Western experts who had proposed the idea were left in the laboratory.

Other people could rely on him, but the forces behind them obviously could not.

This made Bowen's expression very ugly.

The situation was already bad, and now it was even worse.

However, he could only curse these people for being disloyal. Then, he solemnly said to the few Western experts, " we can only rely on ourselves now. The reason why we didn't get any results was that we were unlucky and didn't find the right direction.

now, as long as we can crack their drug, the result will be the same. We will still be successful.

Bowenz believed in his ability, and he immediately led his men to crack the high-temperature coagulation potion.

Moreover, Bowens was indeed capable, and he quickly deciphered the names of the medicinal ingredients with his people.

in terms of speed, he was definitely faster than qin lin and li kai.

The world's number one was indeed the world's number one, as long as he didn't compare himself to a cheat.

In the same way, Bowens and the others quickly deciphered the seven composite materials.

However, when they were about to start deciphering the seven composite materials, they were shocked to find that they had no way to start.

The complexity of the seven corresponding substances was something they had never seen before.

Although the pet treatment potion 06 (weakened) that was created by Dr. Dott's BUG was not as good as the original version produced by the game, it was still a product of the game. How could it be so easy to crack?

How could human strength resist external hacks?

Perhaps if Bowens and the experts from the Western countries were given a few years, they would be able to crack the formula.

However, even if they managed to crack it, they would be surprised to find that there were two herbs that their country did not have at all, because those two weeds did not grow in their country at all.

moreover, by that time, the domestic animals in their country would also be out of stock.

"why is it like this?" One of the experts said with a frown.

Another expert nodded. this composite material is too difficult. The information in the database doesn't match at all. This material has never appeared before.

Bowenz didn't say a word.

He felt that all his plans were not going well.

He was the world's number one expert, but he could not do anything about the coagulosis plague.

now, he was even at a loss as to what to do with the medicine made by an unknown person from the eastern country.

At this moment.

The Secretary walked in and reported, " Mr. Bowens, Qin, who made the drug in the eastern country, has released an experimental report. People from his country are studying this experimental report. Our people have downloaded it and sent it over.

"Hurry up and bring it over!" Bowens said hurriedly.

this was also what he had instructed his secretary to pay attention to.

Even if the other party didn't write out the core content of the experiment report, there must be some references.

Perhaps he could find some clues from it.

The Secretary nodded and immediately took out a USB. He opened the experimental report and handed the laptop to Bowen.

The experimental report was the one that Qin Lin had made up.

Bowen and the experts from the Western countries all went over.

All of them began to read it seriously.

He could understand the basics of the experiment report.

Naturally, that was where Qin Lin had made it up.

However, there were a few places that they felt were extremely profound and difficult to understand.

"The knowledge of these places is too difficult for me." An expert said.

so, these places are the key, " Bowen said immediately. We have to study these places clearly first. We'll definitely have some clues by then.

The others all agreed. This was indeed possible.

Therefore, they immediately began to discuss and study those places.

Qin Lin would never have thought that the experiment report he made up would be used as a secret by the world's top expert to crack the drug.

Chapter 1119 The True Properties Of The Potion, To Get Qin Lin?

The animals in Linlin Ranch had completely recovered.

You city had the Linlin potion to help make the potions, and with the gray cloth grass and double sickle grass purchased from the county, he had basically cured all the animals.

It could be said that you city was the fastest place to get rid of the high temperature coagulation plague.

This made the people of you city proud.

They had the Linlin laboratory, and they were always the first to enjoy the benefits.

Moreover, the distributed potions produced by the higher-ups were limited, so Ming city and the provincial capital of Min province had also asked you city for help.

Hence, Linlin pharmaceutical had no choice but to continue working overtime.

This definitely caused you city's gray cloth grass and double sickle grass to suffer a disaster.

Qin Lin, on the other hand, began to pay attention to the news on the internet about the coagulated plague potion.

He wanted to see if anyone had discovered the true properties of this potion.

he had named the potion the hyperthermal coagulation potion not because it was a bad name, but on purpose.

After all, the true attribute of pet healing potion No. 06 was that it could cure all kinds of pet infectious diseases.

it was all kinds, not one kind.

It was already amazing if it was one type. If it was all kinds, it would be even more amazing, even shocking.

at that time, he would have to pretend that he didn't know.

By giving it a name that only applied to the high-temperature coagulation potion, didn't it mean that he didn't know about it?

Therefore, it was a surprise that the medicine could cure all the plagues. It was all because of the amazing Chinese medicine recipe.

Of course, the amazing one was the person who left behind the Chinese medicine recipe. As for who it was, no one knew. Anyway, there was no one.

hua hospital.

Captain Lu was in a good mood as he returned to the research lab.

Because of boss Qin's high temperature coagulosis plague treatment potion, many countries had come to him for help. It was naturally time for them to raise their conditions.

Naturally, this was a matter of the higher-ups, and he could not inquire too much.

When he saw the experts from the specialist team, he realized that they were all excited. He asked, "everyone seems to be in a good mood. it seems that the research is progressing well."

He had the healing potion, but he still had to continue his research on it.

The pathological causes and structures of the disease had to be studied in detail to consolidate the system's knowledge.

This would be left to the expert team to continue.

Boss Qin couldn't just give him the medicine and the formula and ask for these detailed follow-up questions for nothing, right?

The two academicians and experts in charge were a little excited, and they couldn't hide their expressions.

This was because they had made a huge and shocking discovery.

an academician said, " with the detailed formula, the research is progressing very quickly. also, the more i research, the more i admire boss qin. he's really a genius. " also, we found out that this potion can cure more than just the coagulosis plague.

"What do you mean?" Chief Lu asked in confusion.

when we were studying it, " another academician explained, " we tried to check the mutation of the drug ingredients on other animal plagues.

after all, the research on the animal medical system is not as good as the human medical system. Many animal potions can cure one disease, but they can stimulate other diseases and cause them to break out.

but when we experimented on animals with other plagues, we were shocked to find that this medicine could also cure other infectious animal plagues.

"How is that possible?" Chief Lu was shocked when he heard this.

Other than treating the coagulated plague, boss Qin's medicine could also treat other animal plagues.

The academician who started to speak nodded. that's right. We've already done many experiments. We injected animals with the disease stored in the hospital and infected them.

" this medicine can cure infectious diseases such as foot-and-mouth disease, pig plague, sheep pimples and goat pimples, highly-infectious bird flu, and so on. now, we have infected other animals with more plagues, and we have tried to treat them with this medicine. "

"This is unbelievable." Chief Lu was shocked by the news.

It was already shocking that boss Qin could develop a potion to cure the coagulosis plague so quickly. Now, he was told that the potion could cure other plagues.

Then what was this?

the all-purpose plague potion?

Why did they study so many animal plagues, and even after those plagues passed, they still continued to study?

The reason was simple. Many fatal human diseases were caused by these animal plagues.

There were even many terrifying diseases that caused the extinction of human beings. At first, they were transmitted to animals, and then they were not dealt with properly. The plague mutated again and again, and finally, it became a disease that threatened human life.

if there was a potion that could cure all kinds of animal plagues, he knew better than anyone what it meant.

It was a true divine medicine.

Thinking of this, chief Lu hurriedly said, " "When will you get the results of your experiment?"

three days is enough, " the academician said. we've already infected the animals with all kinds of plagues and diseases. Next, we just need to inject them with the medicine.

"Yes." Chief Lu nodded.

After learning of this news, he was filled with anticipation and excitement for the next three days.

Three days later, Minister Lu came to the research room in a hurry.

When he saw the two academicians and the team of experts, he said anxiously, " "What's the result, everyone?"

Chapter 1120 The True Properties Of The Potion, To Get Qin Lin?

The two academicians and the experts were obviously even more excited.

One of the academicians said excitedly, " chief Lu, we've got the results. There are 17 types of animal diseases, 77 types of animal diseases, and 63 types of animal diseases. As long as it's an infectious animal disease, this medicine can cure most of them quickly. Although the speed of treatment for a small number of them is slower, they can still be controlled.

These words made elder Lu's jaw drop.

As long as it's an animal-transmitted disease, it can be cured?

in other words, with this potion, they would be able to get rid of a huge threat.

As long as there were any troublesome animal-transmitted plagues, this potion would be able to solve them.

The value of the medicine was much higher than they had imagined. They had taken advantage of boss Qin again.

"Do you guys think boss Qin knows about this?" Chief Lu could not help but ask.

This stunned the others, and they all said, "

"I don't think so? If he knew, boss Qin wouldn't have given it the name "coagulated plague medicine."" that's right. Boss Qin only solved the Chinese medicine recipe in such a short time. There wasn't enough time for him to experiment with the plague.

indeed, when boss Qin found out that this potion was effective against the coagulosis plague, he probably only wanted to cure the plague and didn't think of anything else.

One by one, they almost confirmed this matter.

"That's a great advantage." Chief Lu said. This made him decide that he had to apply for the documents next year and give boss Qin an academician candidate.

To become an academician, one had to be a candidate first, and then the candidate would be awarded to the academician.

There was a special process for this process, and everyone had to abide by it. They also had to pass various inspections, and no one was allowed to cut the queue, except for those who had passed the higher-ups.

However, boss Qin was different. He would feel bad if he didn't cut the queue.

After the new function of the drug was reported, boss Qin was definitely qualified to be an exception.

after chief lu made his decision, he hurried back to his office. he had to report this news and get someone to release the news.

This was definitely exciting news.

Those Westerners still want to jointly study and isolate? Now, they could not only deal with the coagulosis plague, but also other infectious animal plagues.

Linlin Manor.

The greenhouse trees had been decorated one by one.

Because there was no paint or furniture that contained formaldehyde, almost all the decorations were natural. With the help of the purification grass, the house was now habitable.

Therefore, Zhao mochen often brought little Qin Feng to the greenhouse to play.

In order to see his son and accompany his wife, Qin Lin naturally followed them.

After closing the door, he looked at his son eating happily. He was considering whether he should go up and have a bite himself.

However, as a father, it was not good to snatch his son's food.

There would be plenty of opportunities anyway.

He also quietly went to the side to look at the news. Soon, he saw a piece of news that had just been released by the official.

This news became a hot search as soon as it came out.

there's a new discovery in the medicine cultivated by little Qin to treat the coagulation plague. This medicine can treat various animal-infectious plagues.

This news was truly shocking.

The fact that it could cure the coagulin plague already made people feel that this potion was amazing.

After all, this was the first time that the coagulin plague had been cured, and it was by the potion.

Now, not only could this potion cure the coagulative plague, but it could also cure all kinds of plagues. Was this a divine medicine?

In the past, he had thought that this all-purpose medicine only existed in the game. He had never thought that it would appear in reality.

What kind of heaven-defying cheat did little Qin use?

Qin Lin laughed when he saw the news.

Pet healing potion No. 6's true attributes had been discovered.

He knew that with the research capabilities of the Chinese Academy, this attribute would be discovered sooner or later.

Just as he was thinking about it, Chief Lu called.

As soon as the call went through, Captain Lu's laughter could be heard. "Boss Qin, did you see the news today?"

Qin Lin continued acting, "Chief Lu, this medicine actually has this effect?" It's unbelievable. I didn't even notice it before."

On the other side, when Chief Lu heard this, he thought to himself, "Boss Qin didn't even know the effects of the medicine.

So, Boss Qin, you might have to change the name of your medicine," he said immediately. It's not appropriate to use the original name. It's not good for the efficacy of this medicine.

Qin Lin smiled. Chief Lu, you can decide on this. To be honest, I'm not very good at giving names.

.....

On the other side.

However, Bowen saw a man in a suit in the laboratory.

A group of strong men followed behind the man. Each of them looked fierce, and it was obvious that they were all armed with weapons.

However, Bowen was trembling in front of this man, looking very restrained.

Because this man was the big boss behind him, right?

There weren't many capitalists in their country, and the other party controlled one of the top few in their country.

In the capitalist countries, what this represented was self-evident.

This time, it was also the other party's masterpiece to arrange for him to unite experts from various countries and isolate the eastern country. The other party and the capitalists of several other countries had their eyes on the technology of purification grass and leisure tea.

If it was in a western country, the other party would not have to go through so much trouble. With the other party's capital means, they would have gotten these technologies long ago. However, the other party was from the country of the bridal chamber.

Therefore, the other party came up with this plan. After the results were out, they planned to use their power to suppress others. In the capitalist countries, it was absolutely hard to believe that such a power could be borrowed by the big shots.

However, it was clear that this plan had completely failed.

Bowens, it seems that I've overestimated your ability. Raters looked at Bowen with a very dissatisfied tone. "I thought that since you're the world's best, there wouldn't be any problems with the help of the experts from those countries."

but who knew that even with all of you working together, that Eastern country's people would be the first to develop it? more importantly, you guys still haven't had any results? "

"If we don't have the formula, do you know what price we will have to pay to ask for help from that Eastern country? Because of what we've done, the others already have a lot of opinions about me. "

"Mr. Raters, since we already have the finished product, we will be able to crack it very quickly." There was a hint of shame in Bowens's tone. They still didn't have a clue about the seven-compound materials, but they could only bite the bullet and say that.

However, rast seemed to have seen through him and sneered, " "Oh, really? I've received news, but you haven't."

These words made Bowens frown.

He knew that the other party must have arranged for someone to be in his laboratory.

At this moment, rast asked someone to give Evans a phone. "Look at the latest news in that country. Your title as the world's top expert in animal plagues has changed hands."

Bowenz immediately took the phone and watched the news video. Then, the expression on his face slowly froze, and then he was shocked.

"how can this potion have such an effect?" Bowens cried out in shock. Even though he had done a lot of research on animal plagues, he didn't dare to think that there would be a potion that could reach such a level one day.

The medicine developed by the eastern country could cure all kinds of animal plagues, not just the coagulosis plague.

How could such a thing happen?

The symptoms of different animal plagues were different, and there would always be differences. He did not dare to think that this potion could cure all kinds of plagues.

rast frowned. " bowens, after seeing the news about the effects of this potion, i know it's not your fault. if the effects of this potion are really that amazing, then it's really amazing. i'll have to get someone to investigate this qin. "

"Bowens, I need you to verify the effects of this potion for me right now!"

He knew very well that if the potion really had such an effect, not only would Bowen not be able to make it, but it would also be an epoch-making potion. If that was the case, it would be better to get this genius directly than to get a potion formula.
