

The Game 1761

Chapter 1761 I Hope It Can Be Proven To Be Fake

The blond man rushed in and said anxiously, " Ms. Grace, there's a new update. You'd better take a look at this news.

"Kajen, why are you in such a hurry? What news made you lose your composure?" Alice looked at her subordinates and said with a little annoyance.

Now that these gentlemen were here, if the other party were to lose his composure like this, wouldn't he be embarrassing their Department and her?

She smiled at the few men awkwardly.

The golden-haired man said anxiously, " Ms. Grace, it's that Eastern country that released the latest news. They said that in half a month's time, there will be a world-class press conference in your city, inviting celebrities from all over the world to experience the hovercar and feel the charm of changing the world's technology. They also announced that human transportation has entered a new era.

The reason why he was in such a hurry to tell Madam kalizi was because of this.

This was because they had previously judged that the news released by the other party was fake and that it was a means of scientific research strategy.

Now that the other party had just released such a piece of news and invited world-famous people to participate, the conclusion was not easy to judge. Therefore, he had to tell Ms. Grace as soon as possible so that she could not report to those gentlemen according to the previous conclusion.

"What?" After hearing the report from her subordinate, her expression changed instantly, and she looked at the people who came out of the White Palace very awkwardly.

At this moment, he felt extremely embarrassed.

Just now, he had confidently told those people that this was false news and that it was just the other party's scientific research strategic means in order to affect their scientific research plans.

Who knew that after the report, this would suddenly happen? he dared to do this in front of the world's famous people and let them experience it. There was a high chance that it was real.

But how was that possible?

Hover cars were publicly acknowledged to be impossible to appear within the next 10 years, and it was impossible for them to be promoted within the next 20 years.

The news about the hovercraft that their country had released was fake news that was meant to affect scientific research in other countries.

He was the one who had asked someone to release the news, but it had little effect.

It was just that no one believed it.

What was going on now? the other party actually had the technology.

Did that country's scientific research really surpass theirs by so much?

This was not the first time this had happened.

For example, the Transformers!

For example, da Bai!

Another example would be the dinosaur gene technology!

This meant that the technology of that country had already surpassed their country's.

She felt that she was a little confused.

Could it be that his country had been too comfortable for the past few decades? after becoming a hegemon and leading the world, he had lost his drive and started to slack off?

The few people who came out of the White Palace also looked at grace awkwardly, even a little angry.

To be honest, when they didn't know the exact situation at the beginning, they wouldn't have acted this way even if Alice had told them the news was true.

The key was that Alice had already told them that this was a fake and passive scientific research scam. This was a scam by the other party, and they believed it. Now, they were telling him that the news was fake.

Grace herself didn't know the authenticity of this information, but she had actually given a sufficient conclusion. This was a little unprofessional. At the very least, it was a problem with her ability.

One of them even said angrily, " Alice, bring some people with you to analyze the authenticity of this matter. It's best to wait until their experience release conference is over before telling us this news ...

When grace heard this, she didn't dare to say anything. He nodded repeatedly to show that he understood.

After they left, she did not dare to hesitate and ordered her subordinate, " hurry up and mobilize everyone to pay full attention to the conference of the hover car experience in that Eastern country.

The subordinate also felt that the atmosphere was a little strange. He nodded and left in a hurry.

It wasn't just the United States, but the world was actually analyzing the authenticity of you city's hover car technology.

Moreover, they had also seen the latest news released by the eastern country.

These countries were also going to be in an uproar.

They had also placed all their attention on this matter.

The only difference was that they were thinking about which famous person might have gone to the eastern country, so they could send people to find out.

Especially Department 007. They had even started to analyze which famous people would be invited or had the qualifications to be invited.

Without a doubt, the celebrities who would be invited would be those who had donated to that Eastern country and made my family like them, or those celebrities who were very famous internationally and were guaranteed to be neutral in politics.

Therefore, as long as they could analyze the corresponding person, they could take action in advance to imprison that celebrity or celebrity, and then send someone to impersonate that celebrity to participate in the news conference of the hovercar experience in that Eastern country.

[you city will invite tourists and world celebrities to participate in the you city hovercar experience conference ...]

When this news appeared on the internet, all the netizens who saw it were in an uproar.

They had just seen the news about the hovercar and knew that their country had made a hovercar. Who knew that you city would have a press conference to experience it?

The so-called experience conference meant that they could experience riding the hovercar, right?

Chapter 1762 I Hope It Can Be Proven Fake_2

This made countless people curious.

That was a hovercar, and it was completely different from ordinary cars. Everyone wanted to try riding a hovercar in the air.

The key was the news released by you city, "They could invite tourists to participate.

Didn't this mean that everyone would have a chance to participate? Countless netizens began to search online for the conditions of being invited.

You Cheng had confirmed the conditions of the invitation. The reason for holding such an experience conference was also decided by the leader and Minister Lu after discussion.

Otherwise, Chen Li and sun Xian would not even dare to think about such a thing.

Because for you city, this kind of news conference would be very sensational, and the whole you city would enter a white hot craze.

In this situation, if it was danyou Cheng himself, he might not be able to control everything.

Now that the leader and Minister Lu were leading the operation, they didn't have to be so afraid.

After all, this was a national-level power.

The leader had indeed discussed with Minister Lu for a long time.

Since you city's international status and reputation were already very high, and you city was going to be promoted soon, the most important point was that you city already had too many technologies that were ahead of the world.

Hence, it would be better to make you city the top international city.

You city already had a lot of technology that was leading the world. This time, it had already caused such a big sensation. He should add more oil to it and let this popularity explode completely, so that everyone's attention would be focused here.

Moreover, he could promote the hover car in you city first and make you city the first city to popularize hover cars.

This process would take some time. After youcheng had completely promoted the hover car, it would still be in time to consider promoting it in other cities.

This was their two-year plan.

There were also conditions for inviting tourists and international celebrities to the event.

There was no need to mention the world famous people. They must be friendly to their countries, have donated to their countries, or have spoken for their countries. Or, like the plum King, they had a neutral attitude towards politics and were disgusted with sports stars who brought politics into sports.

Why would they invite such a person? as for whether he would come or not, it was not within their control.

The only thing they could do was to show their sincerity. As for the invited tourists, there were many conditions.

First of all, they had to have the experience of traveling to you city and have a record of their expenses. With these two points, they had to post their impression of you city or give suggestions for improvement.

To put it simply, he was writing a short essay.

It was a bit weird to have visitors write short essays as one of the conditions, but such an event was very meaningful.

Perhaps he could really pick out a few useful suggestions from them?

Moreover, this would also encourage all the tourists to participate.

This was also very important.

However, this condition had indeed caused a sensation on the internet.

Many netizens didn't know whether to laugh or cry when they saw this condition.

Many people even began to complain. When they were studying, they couldn't even clearly write a 300-word essay.

Even writing a 200-word short story gave him a splitting headache. His head was about to explode.

Now that they were so old, if they were to write essays to praise you Cheng or give suggestions, wouldn't that be killing them? no matter how hard they thought, they couldn't think of anything.

Naturally, there were people who were very excited.

For example, people like Wan gu.

When eternal logged on to the internet and saw that one of the conditions for the invitation, he immediately burst out laughing in the toilet.

Wasn't this like getting a pillow when you were sleepy?

Was it difficult for him to do homework?

He immediately started typing on the computer and started writing a long novel.

While others wrote short essays, he would write a long novel himself. The title was: "Legend of you city"

It's just flattery, what can't you do?

Then, the sound of typing could be heard in the room.

For the next few days, Aeon hid in his room and typed on the keyboard, writing novels to praise you Cheng.

On the internet, many people began to write essays with the theme of 'impression of you city'.

For this, the Chinese teachers in the country only felt that they had been buffed, while the physical education teachers and mathematics teachers in the country felt terrified.

It's just an invitation to the press conference. Why do you have to write a short essay? can't you do some math questions or do more push-ups?

Almost everyone from all over the country was participating in this kind of event. Moreover, with such popularity, it didn't matter whether the writing was weird or not. Because with enough people, even the smallest thing would become very meaningful. It would make everyone inexplicably interested and feel a sense of participation.

Even some of the elderly people were subconsciously discussing the essay writing.

This was like playing with sand. An adult would definitely not play with it. If you did, people might say that you were playing with sand at such an age and that you were like a fool who could not grow up.

However, if there was a group of adults playing with sand, it would be different. The happy atmosphere was contagious. People who saw it would even say enviously, "She really envied their friendship. She also wanted to indulge like them and experience a childhood."

Chapter 1763 I Hope It Can Be Proven To Be Fake 3

This was the complexity and diversity of people. One's perception of certain things would also change due to certain factors.

However, one thing was for sure. The same thing would be very different if a group of people participated in it.

Eternal also spent a few days writing a long novel praising you Cheng.

After that, he excitedly posted the novel on you city's special page.

This special page was set up for those who couldn't write essays and make suggestions.

As long as you wrote your own composition and suggestions, there would be specialized people to review them.

You city had hired a lot of language teachers and civil service staff to review it.

Some suggestions would be handed over to the directors to read.

As long as they felt that it was useful or not bad, they would select it and submit it to the leaders above. Then, the leaders above would carry out the selection review. Those that they felt were not bad would be sent to Chen Li.

If Chen Li felt that it was not bad, he would pass it on to sun County.

Sun Xian passed the review again. If he felt that it was not bad, he would send it to Minister Lu and the leader for inspection out of courtesy.

After all, this event was led by the two leaders. Under normal circumstances, the suggestions written would definitely be very good if they could reach the two leaders.

Then, there was a high chance of getting an invitation to tour the city.

After eternal excitedly posted his long novel on this page, he had been waiting for it.

He had already started to imagine himself riding a hovercar and flying in the air.

He was now thinking that he had to be able to film the cool and suave scene of him riding a hovercar.

It would be a great memento. When he posted this video on the internet or showed it to his children and grandchildren, he could tell them what he had done in the past.

After waiting for almost half a day, eternal found that he had received a message from the backend that he had logged in to. It was the review result of his long novel that praised you Cheng.

He hurriedly opened the email to check the review information.

I'm really sorry, your submission didn't pass. What we need is a sincere impression of you Cheng and useful suggestions, not fake flattery and superficial fancy words ...

in addition, thank you for your participation. I hope you will like you city. We also welcome you to visit you city.

When eternal saw the results of the review, he was dumbfounded and smashed his keyboard in anger."F* ck ..."

He had written so much about his parents, and they told him all this?

Then, he looked at the broken keyboard and his face twitched. How could he write? He was going to stop updating again!

At the same time, many netizens on the internet were either happy or sad.

παῖδα`nove1`coM The number of people who could be invited was always in the minority, but those who were invited were indeed very excited.

This was no different from a prize for them.

In other countries, celebrities were also being invited.

These famous people were also a little surprised.

They knew about the news about the hover car, but they didn't expect to be invited.

This also made these famous people reply decisively and agree to go. After all, this kind of world-class event would definitely have a lot of traffic. It was also a very meaningful thing for them.

The plum King also received the invitation. When he saw the news, he reported it to his wife immediately and agreed to go to the eastern country.

However, just as he was getting excited, he suddenly felt something sting his neck.

Then, he felt his vision go black, and his body went soft as he fell to the ground.

A few people also appeared and directly put him into a sack and carried him away.

One of them said, "the plum King's side has been settled. They can arrange for someone to impersonate and go to the eastern country. They hope to use this to prove that the other party's technology is fake.

Chapter 1764 The Shock Of Famous Foreign Friends \(1\)

When you Cheng's press conference for the hover car experience was about to begin, you Cheng's enthusiasm reached its peak.

Countless tourists flocked to the city.

This time, what caused Chen Li and sun Xian to collapse was that the traffic in you city was once again paralyzed.

Even though there was already a sixth Ring Road, there was still a direct route to the airport and a fast lane.

There were simply too many tourists in you city this time.

After all, it was an epoch-making thing like a hover car. This kind of product would only appear in movies. It was not carried out in an enclosed environment, but in the open on the streets.

Even if the streets were closed, there were still tourists who thought that even if they couldn't be invited, they could still stand around or on the roof of the building to see the release of the experience.

Therefore, those idle or extremely curious tourists all went to you city.

This caused another traffic jam in you city.

This scene also made the leader from the capital feel extremely emotional.

To be honest, a County had already built the sixth Ring Road and had an Airport Express direct access, but there was still a traffic jam.

This was very magical.

Of course, this also showed that you city was really popular and the traffic was huge.

In addition to the enthusiasm of the tourists, you city also attracted the most attention of the celebrities who were invited.

In China, there was brother Hu, who had a very good reputation. This celebrity was considered a model of an artist's character.

Another example was principal Gu, who had been donating to the school.

Naturally, the movie king who had always said that he would donate nothing was not invited and was not even on the list.

after all, you've been urging me to donate all the money to benefit society, but you've been receiving the attention of this event. You haven't done anything at all, and you've been spending a lot on your own.

This was using the uncertainties of the future as an excuse.

This was like a man who had a girlfriend, but he didn't give her anything and said that he would buy her a house and a car in the future. All of these were uncertain factors, and how many people actually did it?

It was just like how many women said they didn't care about money at the beginning, but what happened in the end?

It would be a bit cheap if he said this but didn't do it.

When these celebrities arrived in you city, they would naturally be surrounded by tourists.

At the same time, this could also be considered a hostage inspection!

After all, this was an experience conference led by the leaders of Beijing.

At this time, the celebrities who could be invited had basically gone through the review of the higher-ups and confirmed that there were no problems. These people could basically be fans. There was no need to worry about the other party stepping into a thunderstorm pit again when they became fans.

There was even a Dragon-type martial arts superstar who wanted to participate, but even when he took the initiative to send an application, it was not approved.

Although this Dragon Life Star was very famous in the world, he was a lecherous man who couldn't control his lecherous hands.

This wasn't a good thing, and he didn't want to think about it at this kind of experience conference.

The arrival of these celebrities naturally caused their fans to go crazy, just like some fans who didn't come to your city for a vacation, they also came to your city for their idols.

This increased the transportation difficulty of your city.

In addition to these celebrities, there were also some small celebrities and some not famous people who came to your city.

The purpose of these people was very simple. Naturally, they wanted to gain traffic and screen time.

To them, this was something they were used to. As long as they were thick-skinned enough, there would be no problem.

More importantly, he might even be able to make people think that he was also an invited celebrity. He might even gain a wave of fans.

In addition to these domestic celebrities, there were some foreign stars who received more attention, such as the famous plum King and the famous female star Avril.

Al Wei'er could be considered a very famous singer who was very close to the country.

You must know that in beautiful countries or those Western countries, although those celebrities want to make money from China, they are all very against our country.

For example, the protagonist of Titanic, who had been highly praised by the media in China, was not familiar with the country and was full of prejudice. There were many such international superstars.

Even the female star, Sharon Stone, who played the famous "Instinct", put on a contemptuous look when she thought about the earthquake in the country and said, "Very interesting. This must be retribution!"

On a celebrity show in America, someone asked how to solve the 130 million US dollar debt that America owed China.

"We have to go around to the other side of the earth, to the people from the eastern country, nongguang," one of the children said.

At that time, the famous host, Jimmy Kimmel, and some other celebrities not only did not stop or correct it, but they also said in a teasing tone, "This is an interesting point of view."

Instead, they began to discuss this point of view.

Therefore, in this kind of environment, celebrities like Avril were really rare and valuable. Not only did she often donate to the country, but she also rejected endorsements and collaborations that insulted domestic brands. She even lost many contracts because of this and was rejected by many foreign film and television resources.

But it was precisely this kind of celebrity who was very friendly to them that was ridiculed by many netizens in China. Some netizens even commented that she was disgusting because of her out-of-shape figure.

Chapter 1765 The Shock Of Famous Foreign Friends \(2\)

On the contrary, those celebrities who did not have a good impression of China and had bad words about them were pursued by netizens because of their handsome or beautiful faces. So, did these people not know what they were doing?

However, the country wouldn't forget about these celebrities. That was why they had invited a celebrity like Avril to this time's epoch-making hover car experience conference. He believed that it would be of help to her with this popularity. At the very least, she would be able to gain more attention and popularity in front of the world.

Moreover, this kind of thing that could be recorded in the history of the world was definitely more useful than acting in a movie or shooting an advertisement.

The other international celebrities who had been invited, like Avril, also understood this point.

This could be considered as picking a side.

Some international stars were so mean to their own country that some of them even licked the toes of those beautiful countries and were full of malice towards their own country. Some of them even wanted to immigrate to another country and not their own.

In their eyes, it was only because the United States had more powerful resources that were more useful to them. This was also a kind of standing.

As for whether they would be able to get these resources, who knew? In any case, many people were duped into making random comments, and then after obtaining the other party's nationality, they lost their own country's nationality and finally lived the lives of inferior foreign citizens.

Celebrities like Avril might be kind, so they would donate to the country to express sympathy for the disasters that had happened in their country. They were even more unwilling to participate in things that insulted other countries or ostracized them. However, they had indeed been kind to their country.

Therefore, now that the country was powerful and this kind of technology had appeared, it could attract the attention of the whole world. The country would naturally remember these kind people and give them this opportunity.

Moreover, the country would also tell these people that they did not do anything wrong and would not let them regret what they had done.

A special plane landed in you city.

Naturally, the people on the plane were the world's celebrities who had been invited, including Avril and the plum ball King.

Avril was sitting beside the plum King.

They arrived at the capital together and were arranged to take a private plane to you city.

Avril didn't have much of an impression of you Cheng. She had only seen him in an international travel magazine. The owner of the magazine was a gourmet, and he had many descriptions and praises about you Cheng in the magazine. This had piqued her curiosity.

Otherwise, she didn't know much about this Eastern country, because he rarely participated in this country's activities, movies, and advertisements.

Her biggest impression of this country was its food and the suffering people had gone through. That was why she often planned to give way to donations for this country.

This time, she was very surprised to be invited to participate in the hovercar experience. After all, this kind of event was not open to just anyone. This was an invitation from a country.

Furthermore, such worldly things would definitely be recorded in history. As an experimenter, she felt honored.

Avril followed the captain from the eastern countries out of you City Airport. When she saw the airport, she was a little shocked.

After all, before she came, she had already learned about you city. It was just a County in this country, not a big city.

However, the airport in this County was actually as big as an International Airport.

This was unbelievable. Had the country's economy developed to this extent?

It was the same for the other celebrities. They also looked at the huge airport in disbelief. Then, they all took out their phones and started to take pictures.

They felt that they should share this with others so that more people could understand this Eastern country.

After all, many people in their country had a lot of misunderstandings about this Eastern country. They even thought that this country should be very backward, and even the men had braids on their backs.

This was truly a laughable perception.

One had to know that their County already had such a large airport, comparable to an International Airport.

In their country, cities of the same level as this County did not even have trains. Even a first-tier city might not have such a large International Airport.

The plum King was also taking this video. Naturally, he didn't take it to share with his fans, but to send it to a certain account.

He also wanted to let some people know that this country was no longer what it used to be.

This was only the airport of their County, but it was so magnificent and big.

Soon, these international celebrities were brought out of the airport and headed directly to the Linlin Scenic Area.

This was also a special arrangement by the leader from Beijing.

He just wanted these celebrities to experience you city's tourist attractions. He wanted them to see the most beautiful side of you city, and then let them think that the country had developed to an incredible extent.

That way, they would be able to make an international statement. It would also affect some people, which was very beneficial to the country.

Moreover, the leader believed that the Linlin Scenic Area would definitely attract those international celebrities and make them unable to extricate themselves from the scenery.

Chapter 1766 The Shock Of Famous Foreign Friends \(3\)

Because he had been there himself, he knew how incredible the Linlin Scenic Area was.

Avril looked out the window at you city, which was passing by. She couldn't believe it. This was a city surrounded by mountains, and it was hard to imagine that such a prosperous city could be developed in the center of the mountains.

One must know that in their country, a place surrounded by mountains had almost nothing to do with the word 'prosperous'.

Finally, the car that was specially arranged to receive them stopped at the Linlin Scenic area's parking lot.

When Avril and the other international celebrities alighted from the bus and saw the long line of tourists, their eyes were filled with shock and even fear.

It was hard for them to imagine how a scenic spot like this could have so many people. It was so densely packed with people that it felt like they couldn't move at all.

No matter how beautiful and attractive their country's scenic spots were, it was impossible for such a situation to occur.

They might have finally understood how terrifying a 1.4 billion population was.

Naturally, the scenic Area had arranged for these celebrities to use their own special passages. After all, they couldn't possibly squeeze with ordinary tourists, as that would cause trouble.

Therefore, the person in charge of guiding Avril and the plum ball King quickly led them to a special entrance.

However, when they reached the entrance, Avril and the others were shocked once again. That was because two unbelievable loud sounds had come from the entrance. Those were Optimus Prime and Megatron.

Although they had seen on the news that this Eastern country had developed a transformer, they had always thought that it was just a model of a transformer. Even when the Pirates had released the video, they didn't completely believe it. They thought that it could be man-made. After all, videos could be photoshopped now.

Moreover, their country did not acknowledge this matter, so it made people feel that it was fake.

However, now that they had seen Optimus Prime and Megatron, they felt that things were not as simple as they thought.

Perhaps the video that the pirate had sent was real. The metallic texture, the frozen, and mechanical voice were too incredible.

At this moment, Optimus Prime and Megatron looked at Avril and the others.

Optimus Prime let out a surprised voice, " Oh, look who's here. Isn't this our famous Ms. Avril? there's also the plum ball King and ...

Optimus Prime had practically revealed all the names of the International celebrities.

Wei zhentian also said, " Oh, everyone, welcome to jinglin Scenic Area. Our tyrannical sky Tiger guards this place. There won't be any danger. I wish you all a good time and a happy time.

This made those people very surprised.

It was a very amazing experience for them.

If they were already amazed by Megatron and Optimus Prime at the entrance, they were even more shocked when they saw the two of them fighting in the arena. It was even more intense and exciting than in the movies.

Moreover, there were other Transformers in the arena, especially the National-style ones, which shocked them even more.

After that, Avril and the others were brought to the sea of triangular plum flowers. There were no triangular plum flowers overseas, so Avril and the others were completely dumbfounded when they saw the sea of triangular plum flowers.

After all, the triangular Plum Flower had the attributes of +2 beauty,+2 aesthetic,+2 attractiveness,+2 mood, and +2 photogenic.

Celebrities like Avril and the plum King had never experienced such a scene before.

Under the influence of those attributes, they were a little dumbfounded. They couldn't believe that there was such a beautiful sea of flowers in the world.

Therefore, even when they stood still and stared at the sea of plum blossoms, the person in charge of reception in China did not urge them or say anything, because he knew what these people were thinking.

Because he had the same feeling when he first came to see the sea of triangular plum blossoms.

Unfortunately, these foreign celebrities probably lacked the words to express their shock, so they could only stare blankly.

Otherwise, the entire party would be filled with:F * ck, that's an awesome voice.

Chapter 1767 Numb From Shock, Ashamed Of Being Inferior

"What flower is this?" Avril immediately asked the person in charge of receiving them after recovering from her shock.

The plum King and the other international celebrities also looked over.

They had never seen this flower before.

It was also the first time they had known that there were such beautiful flowers in the world.

These people didn't know that all of this was because of the system.

They only thought that the flowers were beautiful.

The person in charge of receiving them immediately said, " miss Avril, this is a flower unique to our country called the triangular plum. This sea of triangular plum flowers is also a unique feature of Linlin Scenic Area. Many tourists come here to admire this sea of flowers.

Avril and the others did not suspect anything.

They were shocked by the sea of flowers in front of them.

As she spoke, she took out her phone and started taking pictures of the triangular sea of plum blossoms.

Such beautiful flowers.

It was such a beautiful sea of flowers.

She definitely had to share it with her fans.

She hoped that her fans would also know that there was such a beautiful flower in the world.

It wasn't just Avril. All the other celebrities did the same, taking out their phones to film.

The plum King was the same. He took out his phone to take a picture. After all, he had to follow the trend. Otherwise, he would be too easily noticed.

Moreover, after he finished filming the triangular plum blossom sea, he opened his account, plum King, and posted the video he had filmed.

After all, he knew that he had to put on a good show. As for the plum King account, he would naturally have a way to log in.

Their Department had many such network experts.

At this moment, in various Western countries, the videos that Avril and the plum King had shared had spread all over the internet in a short time.

That beautiful flower also caused a sensation on the internet in various countries.

I can't believe what kind of flower this is. It's so beautiful.

this is unbelievable. Is the sea of flowers in the video real? "

when I saw this flower, I went to cut it and did some research. This flower is called a triangle, and it's a unique flower from that Eastern country. I didn't expect that there would be such beautiful flowers in that Eastern country.

".."

No one would have thought that the three apricot city would suddenly become popular all over the world, right?

In a short time, flower merchants from all over the world saw business opportunities and began to inquire about the purchase channels and news of the triangular plum.

It didn't take long for the triangle Plum Flower merchants in various parts of the country to receive calls from so-called foreign flower merchants, who wanted to cooperate with them on the cooperation of the triangle plum.

The flower merchants were a little confused by the sudden call.

After all, although the triangular plum was said to be a flower for viewing, it was not a commercial product. Now, many foreign flower merchants were calling them.

This was a little unbelievable, and even more so, it was a little confusing.

Did the triangular plum blossom suddenly become popular?

Why was he so popular?

However, the leader who went to you city didn't expect that his country's unique flowers would become famous all over the world.

In the Linlin Scenic Area, the person in charge of picking them up also led Avril, the plum ball King, and other celebrities into the sea of flowers.

When he entered the sea of flowers, the experience was even more intense, because the system's influence was even greater.

Very quickly, Avril saw the little squirrels that were moving around in the sea of flowers. These little squirrels were all wearing small clothes and looked very cute.

The key was that when Avril and the others approached the squirrels, they would take the initiative to act cute. One of the squirrels even ran to Avril with a small flower and handed it to her.

This squirrel could be considered the smartest one among them. Apart from its spiky fur, it was also the one with the highest intelligence.

"Ah ... This is too cute ..." Avril couldn't help but exclaim.

The person in charge of receiving them also smiled and said, " everyone, the animals in Linlin Scenic Area are also a big feature. Not only are there squirrels, but there are also many other animals. Can I let you all visit them one by one? "

Next, the guide brought Avril and the others to Linlin Ranch to see the animals there.

In front of the happy elephant, they were all amused and laughed like flowers.

They had never thought that there would be such an incredible elephant.

The elephants in other countries were also very cute, but they were not as agile as these little elephants.

It wasn't just a happy elephant, there were other animals as well, which made Avril and the others feel incredulous.

Suddenly, two melodious chirps of birds could be heard.

This attracted Avril, the plum ball King, and the others. They looked up and saw two fiery flame birds in the sky, as if they were burning with a layer of flames.

Moreover, the quality was very beautiful and stunning.

"What kind of bird is this?" A famous female couldn't help but exclaim.

She was a bird-lover, and she was immediately attracted to the two birds.

The person in charge of receiving them immediately explained, "this is the divine beast and bird of our country. They are called phoenixes. I'm sure you've heard of this divine beast.

"A Phoenix?" The woman was completely shocked.

Chapter 1768 Numb From Shock, Ashamed Of Being Inferior

She had naturally heard of this bird before. It was an ancient divine beast that existed just like the Western Dragons.

After hearing this introduction, Avril and the plum King's eyes widened in disbelief.

They felt that this should be the action they had done the most today, right?

Because there were too many shocking things happening here.

They all took out their phones and started filming again.

They had been to all parts of the world and had seen many birds, but none of them were as beautiful as this.

They could even be sure that there were no birds in the world that were more beautiful than these two.

The person in charge of receiving them then brought them to other places on the farm to view other things. He even brought them to experience riding a horse.

Although these people had all ridden horses before, it was still a very interesting experience to ride horses in this foreign country.

When they passed by a place, Avril and the others were all attracted to it. There were many people watching.

These people turned out to be domestic celebrities and strangers. After all, they had been invited to the Linlin Scenic Area to play. The higher-ups must have made arrangements to distinguish them from ordinary tourists.

Now was the time for these celebrities to watch this event.

Avril and the others were attracted and ran over. When they got close, they were very shocked.

Because there were pigs in that area.

That's right, it was pig.

But these pigs were unbelievable.

These pigs had developed muscles on their bodies, which made them look very fierce and stupid.

And what did they just see? These pigs were working out in the yard. Not only were they running, but they were also crossing obstacles and even hurdles ...

Was this really something a pig would do?

A foreign athlete asked in disbelief, "can pigs really be trained like this?" How long can they train like this every day?"

The person in charge of reception had seen the information in this area and immediately explained, " as far as I know, they can keep working out like this, even working out for an entire day. Many fitness experts in our country are now raising this kind of fitness pig to train with themselves.

it's a pity that there aren't many of these fitness pigs being trained now. Even if you want to buy them, there's no way to do so. You can only make a reservation. However, there's a long queue for the reservation, and many people have already waited for a few years.

The foreign athlete immediately cursed, ""F * ck ..."

He had exercised for an entire day. This was too awesome. Even professional athletes like them couldn't compare to this pig, right?

However, his vulgarity had also attracted the attention of many domestic celebrities. They were curious about how this foreigner knew the quintessence of Chinese culture.

this is a word I learned before I came here, " the athlete said awkwardly. when the translator taught me, he told me that 'I bought' and 'I bought' have the same meaning.

".."

"What the hell?"

The people in China didn't have time to react.

How am I equal to God?

Was the translator doing this on purpose?

After the guide took Avril and the others on a tour of the Linlin Ranch, he took them to a restaurant in the Linlin Scenic Area for lunch.

The leader also got rid of Master Lin and asked Master Lin to bring someone to help make a medicinal meal.

Although this herbal dish was not as good as Qin Lin's, it was still very delicious and was definitely the best in the world.

In the afternoon, these people were brought to the science fiction Park again to see the Transformers, mechanical flower-fruit mountain, mechanical Thunder Mountain ... These events shocked everyone.

This was the real shock of technology, and it was definitely a shock that no country in the world could create.

Next up was the drifting event.

For these people, as long as they were not afraid of water, drifting was definitely a very attractive project.

However, this time, Avril and the others would never know that this drifting fun trip would be the most unforgettable one of their lives.

The nature of the Kappa's happiness stone, which was filled with joy and fun memories, had all these people addicted to it. They were playing like innocent children, forgetting their troubles like children, and were addicted to it.

They were international celebrities, and their lives were actually accompanied by troubles. Their daily lives could not be without troubles.

However, after drifting, all of their worries disappeared and were thrown to the back of their minds. They forgot about everything and enjoyed the happiness that they had never experienced before.

It was as if the dusty happiness of childhood had been opened.

When they reached the end of the drift, they finally reacted and were stunned for a moment.

They had never experienced such happiness before. They had never thought that they could still be so happy in their lives.

Some people even shed tears. They thought of the people in the happiest times of their childhood, and now many of those people were gone.

Isn't this Scenic Area too unbelievable?

A simple drifting event could actually make them so carried away.

However, this should be all?

However, in the evening, after they were arranged to go to fairy tale mountain, they were a little confused when they saw the tourists running into the mountain.

Generally speaking, people who went to scenic spots, even if they wanted to see the scenery, would leave the mountain. What else could they see in the mountains at night?

But when night fell, Avril and the others were completely shocked.

When the entire mountain glowed, when the entire mountain glowed at night, when the entire mountain looked like a fairy tale, Avril and the others couldn't help but exclaim, "

"Oh my God, tell me, am I in a fairy tale world?"

"Is there really such a beautiful place in the real world? I thought of the special effects in avatar movies, but this isn't special effects."

"God, what did I just see? Is this your masterpiece?"

Even if they were world-famous celebrities, they were still shocked and couldn't believe that they had encountered such a fairytale-like scene.

The greenhouse tree that came next once again shocked the world's celebrities.

They couldn't believe the shock of a tree growing into a house, and that comfortable feeling and faint fragrance. Lying down actually gave them a pleasant feeling.

This Eastern country was unbelievable. They actually had such a scenic spot.

God must have created this sanctuary when he was wandering in the human world, right?

They were originally here to attend the press conference for the hovercar experience. They thought that the hovercar would be their biggest surprise this time, but they never expected that they would be so shocked that they were already numb even before they saw the hovercar.

And this should be all?

No matter how shocking it was, there should be a limit. It couldn't be endless.

However, just as this thought came to their minds, the person in charge of receiving them appeared again and said with a smile, ""Ladies and gentlemen, there's another thing to tell everyone. There will be a sunrise on fairy tale mountain tomorrow. You'll definitely be surprised by it."

we can proudly say that this sunrise is the best in the world. No other sunrise can compare to this.

Those foreign celebrities didn't quite agree with her.

After all, although they were against politics and oppression, and were very friendly to this Eastern country, they still loved their country.

No one would not love their own country, even if they had been through storms and Wars.

However, a country was a country.

Only with a country would there be roots.

Their country also had sunrise, and they believed that the sunrise in their country would be very shocking.

Especially the two athletes from that high mountain country.

The mountains in his country were very high, and the sunrise was famous all over the world.

There were even people from all over the world who often went to their country to watch the sunrise.

Now, the other party actually said that the sunrise here was the most beautiful and shocking in the world.

This made them disagree.

They wanted to see what the sunrise was like.

Therefore, the group of people waited with different feelings.

It wasn't until the next morning when the sun rose that these people were woken up by the alarm clock on time. Then, they all headed to the platform to watch the sunrise in high spirits.

Then, they saw a shocking scene that they would never forget for the rest of their lives!

Even when these famous people wrote their autobiographies when they were old, they could not help but mention this scene in their autobiographies.

When the red sun rose, the beautiful scenery of the sun and the clouds made everyone forget everything.

It was the same for the two athletes from the high mountain countries.

They looked at the days in front of them in a daze, and there was nothing else in their eyes.

He was ashamed of his inferiority!

Chapter 1769 The Investiture Of The Gods At Linlin Scenic Area! Boss Qin's Power! 1

..

Avril and the others were completely shocked when they saw the sunrise. When the morning sun and the red clouds merged together, it was like a cloud flowing in front of everyone.

The fairy tale Mountain sunrise had been transformed by the goddess stone-sunrise brilliance. It had the attributes of sunrise shock +2, beautiful scenery +2, special state +2, soothing spirit +2, and advanced shock +2.

As a result, when Avril and the other international celebrities saw the sunrise, they were all dumbfounded. They were completely immersed in the beautiful scenery and were filled with shock.

However, bathing in the light of the morning glow once again soothed their spirits. It even gave them a special kind of artistic conception. This artistic conception made their entire person feel as if they had suddenly become enlightened.

They really couldn't believe that there would be such a shocking scene when watching a sunrise.

Even the two athletes from the Alpine country felt dejected. They even felt ashamed of their inferiority. The days of their country could not be compared to the days here.

It was not until the sunrise was over that these people left in a daze.

Avril returned to the greenhouse tree that she had been arranged to stay in.

She fell into deep thought.

She didn't know how to describe her experience in the eastern countries.

The impact of her life's travel experience was simply not as great as this one.

Avril took the laptop she had brought and started typing away.

This time, she took a lot of photos and videos and planned to write a travel note about this Scenic Area.

She felt that she should let her fans or the whole world share this beautiful scene.

"Hello everyone, my name is Avril. The fans are very familiar with me, but many of you don't know me very well. However, this isn't important, because I'm not talking about myself today, but my experience.

I came to this Eastern country with anticipation, and I was even mentally prepared to experience a hovercar. However, I never thought that my attention would be attracted by a scenic spot in this country.

This Scenic Area was called the Linlin Scenic Area, and it was hard to imagine how magical it was. The security guards at the entrance were actually Transformers. That's right, Optimus Prime and Megatron.

but Optimus Prime and Megatron are not the kind of people who wear plastic dolls. I'm talking about the real Megatron and Optimus Prime, the powerful Transformers that can beat the sh * t out of Pirates and make them invulnerable ...

it could be said that any Scenic Area with this attraction would attract countless tourists. However, after entering the scenic Area, I realized that this drawing of a transformer was only the most basic. There was also a world of Transformers in the scenic Area.

There was a transformer called the great sage, who brought hundreds of small transformer monkeys with him. He would even attack a transformer called the bull Demon King next door.

The battle scene of hundreds of Transformers was really shocking. The key was that the great sage, heaven's equal transformer and the bull Demon King transformer were brothers. After the battle, they would sit down and discuss about a woman called Princess iron fan.

There was also an unforgettable sea of flowers here ...

This Linlin Scenic Area also had a happy side that could make people laugh. It was hard to believe that there was such an animal in the world that would make you inexplicably happy just by looking at it. Yes, it didn't need to do anything. You just had to stare at it for a few seconds and your mood would seem to become better, no matter how sad or bad you were before.

I even saw a kind of pig that can work out here. That's right, their name is fitness pig. It's hard to imagine a group of pigs that have trained their muscles that are enviable. Their muscles are even comparable to bodybuilders. Moreover, they have endurance that ordinary people can't imagine. They can even run, jump, and cross obstacles ... A day of sitting and exercising.

They even had a very funny sentence:Even a pig is working so hard, what reason do you have to be lazy?

It's a pity that the reservation for this kind of fitness pig is a few years later. I really want to buy one back, but it's a pity that it's too long and I can't stay in this country for long.

I've said so much, and everyone has been attracted by what I've said. Unfortunately, this is not all the magic of this Scenic Area, because there are even more magical items behind ...

Al Wei 'er wrote down her experiences one by one, and even attached the videos and photos she had taken. After she finished writing the article, he posted it, some on his own social media, and some on foreign websites.

The moment Avril's article was published, it attracted the attention of countless foreign netizens.

The netizens were shocked.

Just by looking at the content Avril had written, just the videos and photos she had taken were enough to attract countless people because of the bonus stats from entering the country.

The foreigners could hardly believe that such a beautiful place existed in the world.

They even compared the Linlin Scenic Area with the world's most famous scenic areas, and then came to a shocking conclusion:None of those scenic spots could compare to the Linlin scenic spot.

This was extremely shocking.

There's such a beautiful and magical scenic spot. If it wasn't for me, Ivy, publishing an article, they wouldn't have even heard of it before.

Chapter 1770 Linlin Scenic Area's Bestowment! Boss Qin's Power! 2

It wasn't just Avril, even the International celebrities who had come to you city were also feeling emotional after experiencing such a miracle. Some of them who knew Avril had even reposted her post.

It was common to share good things, so the Linlin Scenic Area was displayed in front of everyone in a short time.

Furthermore, the whole world was paying attention to Linlin Scenic Area. The reputation of Linlin Scenic Area had also reached an extreme level. More and more people even regarded Linlin as the world's number one Scenic Area, even if they had never been to Linlin Scenic Area.

This seemed to have made some people anxious, and they even began to ban the movements of Avril and the others 'articles.

Naturally, they could tell that if a scenic spot in an Eastern country were to gain so much fame around the world, even being called the world's number one scenic spot, it would not be a good thing.

It must be known that all countries in the world were most afraid of cultural invasions.

And the characteristics of this Scenic Area were a kind of cultural invasion.

By the time people around the world subconsciously believed that Linlin Scenic Area was the world's number one Scenic Area, this inherent impression would imperceptibly raise the status of the eastern country in the hearts of their people.

This was something they did not want to see.

It was a pity that they reacted too late. Even though they had banned Avril and the others' articles, many people had already reposted and published them. The more they spread, the more they could not control it.

Therefore, today was a day that belonged to Linlin Scenic Area. The news all over the world began to talk about Linlin Scenic Area. The foreign media did not care about the official attitude. They would broadcast whatever was popular. After all, they were the capital and everything was for profit.

The result of all this was that Linlin Scenic Area was crowned as a God.

No country could stop their own people from knowing that there was such a magical scenic spot in that country. This also made the Linlin scenic spot the most popular tourist destination for people from all over the world.

The leader of you city and Minister Lu also smiled when they saw the news from abroad.

The reason why they had invited Avril and the other famous people to the Linlin Scenic Area was so that they could share the scenic Area with the world.

Although it was amazing for Linlin to enter, before this, she could only be famous in China. She was not well-known abroad.

However, there was no reason for their country's magical scenic spot to not be ranked internationally, and there was no reason for foreign scenic spots to enjoy the honor alone. Therefore, he wanted to use this opportunity to push Linlin scenic spot to the top of the tourism altar, ranking above those internationally famous scenic spots.

This way, they could also use this channel to promote their country's culture.

To be honest, foreign countries had always wanted to invade their culture, and they also wanted to export their culture to those countries.

Now, they had clearly achieved their goal.

Next, he would have to focus on the conference for the hover car experience.

After all, this was the reason why they had invited Avril and all these celebrities.

They wanted to use this opportunity to announce to the world that their country had entered the era of hover cars.

This was also to disrupt the scientific research plans of various countries.

After all, they had already released their hover cars. Those countries were too anxious, especially that beautiful country.

Then, shouldn't these countries increase their investment in the research of hover cars? What about increasing the investment in scientific research?

However, this would affect their other scientific research. If they couldn't develop the technology of the hover car, this situation would continue and become worse.

In the past, those countries had always used this method to deal with them.

Now, it was their turn to use this method to counterattack.

As for whether those countries would apply to purchase the technology, they were not willing to.

The night passed again. This morning, many tourists who had arrived in your city got up early and rushed to the two closed streets.

That was because today was the press conference for the hovercar experience.

When those people arrived early, they found that the two streets had been cordoned off.

Outside the cordon were police and soldiers standing guard.

That's right, your city's police were running out, so they transferred soldiers to help.

This could only be done by a leader, you Cheng alone couldn't do it.

Not long after, there was a commotion and exclamations. It was the domestic celebrities and international celebrities like Avril who had arrived, attracting the tourists.

Avril and the others were also waiting curiously when they received the money.

There were only government officials there. There were no hover cars.

That was until a transport truck suddenly appeared and stopped in front of the closed Street.

This scene attracted everyone's attention. Even a fool would know what was in the car.

That's right, hover cars were being carried down from the truck.

Avril and the others looked over at the tire-less hoverbike.

Then, they were all shocked. After the hovercar was moved out of the car, the staff pressed a button on the car and the hovercar began to float.

Although he already knew about hover cars, seeing it with his own eyes still felt amazing.
