

The Girl CB 1071

Chapter 1071 Nikita refused to recognize me all the time.

Cathleen nodded. "I believe you. Just try your best. No matter what the result is, I can accept it."

If even Nikita can't cure Margot, it means that Margot's life is really over.

After dinner.

Cathleen sent Nikita back.

Arriving at the apartment, Nikita put away her mobile phone and turned to say to Cathleen, "Thank you."

Then she opened the door and got out of the car.

Cathleen sat in the car, seeing her off slowly. When she thought of some things, she couldn't help sighing.

At the front, the driver saw her upset look from the rear mirror and asked, "Madam, are you worried about Mr. Swift's illness? That lady has promised to treat her. Didn't she? She could even cure your cousin's leg. She should also cure Margot's disease."

The driver has been following Cathleen for decades.

He also watched Margot grow up.

Margot got sick. Cathleen looked calm on the surface, but she was very anxious in her heart. For this reason, she suffered from insomnia all night long. For such a period of time, even her hair turned white.

Therefore, if Margot can be cured by spending three billion, Cathleen was definitely willing to pay the money.

Although it was a large sum, Cathleen could take it out, for she was rich and had many profitable companies.

“No.” Cathleen rubbed her eyebrows, looking tired. “Niky has promised to treat Margot I believe her skills. Even though she can’t cure Margot, as long as she can extend her life for five or ten years, I’ll be happy.”

Cathleen never thought that Margot’s illness could be completely cured.

It was unrealistic to completely cure an advanced cancer.

No matter how skillful a doctor is, he is also a human being, not an immortal..

“What are you upset for?” The driver thought about it and guessed, “Is it because of Miss Swift?”

“Niky always refused to recognize me.” Cathleen sighed again. “It’s all because of my daughter and son-in-law who have gone too far. Niky doesn’t like them, and she also has prejudice against me and refuses to accept me as her grandmother.”

The driver saw Cathleen in a bad mood and comforted her. “Madam may think too much. I think Miss Swift has no prejudice against you.”

“Then why doesn’t she want to recognize me as her grandmother?” Cathleen frowned.

“Madam, I think she is not unwilling to recognize you. Instead, she hasn’t built a good relation with you. She has never seen you before. You’re just a stranger for her. A stranger suddenly appears and asks her to recognize her. It’s hard for her to accept it.”

“It’s easy to let her recognize you. As long as you’re willing to spend your time to cultivate your relationship, she’ll accept you.”

After listening to the driver’s analysis, Cathleen lowered her eyes and pondered for a moment. Then, she nodded with agreement.

“You’re right. I have to cultivate our relationship. She has no relatives to take care of her. Her parents are still alive, but they didn’t love her.”

She is even poorer than those who have no parents.

“Madam, isn’t Miss Swift with Mr. Lambert?” The driver smiled and said, “You said he was very nice to Miss Swift, and Old Mr. Lambert also likes her.”

Chapter 1072 The Auction

“Miss Swift will be happy with Mr. Lambert.”

“You mean Sheehan of the Lambert family?” Cathleen still worried. “He’s nice to Niky now. But I’m afraid that his love won’t last. I hope he won’t change quickly.”

“Madam, don’t worry. Miss Swift is smart. She’ll not be at a loss.”

“I wish so. If their ages are close, I won’t worry like this.” Cathleen worried. “But he is six years older, which is quite a big gap. I don’t know whether he is patient to wait till she grows up.”

Cathleen felt she had to talk to Sheehan one day.

Nikita is still young and doesn’t worry about marriage. If he is just on a whim and doesn’t decide to stay with her forever, she will disapprove their relation.

she has to make plans for her granddaughter’s future, though, Nikita doesn’t recognize her.

As a grandmother

When Nikita arrived at the door and was about to unlock it with her fingerprint, the mobile phone suddenly vibrated.

She took her cell phone out of her pocket and looked down.

It's Nancy on the phone.

Nancy won't call her if nothing happens.

Although they have known each other for several years and are old friends, they don't usually contact each other.

Generally, they will contact each other only when something happens.

Nikita answered the phone..

Nancy's lazy voice came. "Niky, do you have time now? Do me a favor."

"What is it?" Nikita leaned against the wall, one hand in her pocket, looking unruly.

"It's not a big deal. I want to buy something, and I want you to check whether it's true." The red Maserati sports car stopped at the auction house gate. Nancy stretched out her hand to open the door and slowly got out of the car with her long skirt.

She wore a tight fishtail skirt with black velvet texture. The design of the skirt was very stunning, showing all the advantages of her convex and graceful figure.

As soon as she got off the car, she attracted a lot of amazing eyes.

Men who walked by her side can't help looking at her.

Nancy was very beautiful and charming, with 170 centimeters. She was also good at dressing and makeup. Where she appeared, men's eyes will be uncontrollably inclined to her.

So far, there was only one person who can overtake her in appearance.

That is, Nikita.

Nikita didn't like makeup. With a fine face and fair skin. Among girls who didn't wear makeup, Nikita was the most beautiful one. Even without it, she also impressed others.

After Nancy got off the car, a group of men around her stared at her in the dark.

In a black Maybach that just pulled over behind her, someone was also staring at her.

"Mr. Hall, isn't that Miss Swift's good friend?" In the black car, a man sitting on the passenger seat saw Nancy and reported to Hall who closed his eyes in the trunk.

In the trunk.

The man dressed in black was extremely handsome, his skin cold and white. His closed eyelids vibrating, he slowly opened his eyes. His long and narrow eyes were dark, somewhat cold and unruly.

Chapter 1073 Great Hall is in a bad mood.

The man slowly turned his head to look outside through the half-opened window.

He saw the charming woman at a glance.

Nancy, an internationally renowned fashion designer, was also one of Nikita's friends.

”

Besides Nikita, Hall might be the one who knew about Nikita most.

He knew exactly who was close to her.

“Mr. Hall, the young master's friend came to the auction. Will the young master be with her?” The subordinate knew whom Hall cared about most. When he saw Nancy, he also looked around specially to search for someone else, but he didn't see anyone coming down from the red Maserati sports car.

Hall stared at Na

for seconds/coldly and then said, “She didn't come. She's not interested in such thing.”

The subordinate also didn't see Nikita. He cast a glance at Hall's look from the rearview mirror and dare not say anything.

Recently, he was in a bad mood.

The following brothers are worried every day, for fear that they will become punching bags.

If they become a punching bag of Hall, they will have to suffer a lot.

Everyone among them know why he is in a bad mood.

is because the girl that he has cherished and guarded since childhood and that he wants to marry ran away and fell in love with another man.

Most importantly, the man who stole their young master is also powerful.

Even if Great Hall wants to find trouble, he can't do many things, for they are in that man's place.

His wife was stolen away, and he couldn't vent his anger, so he wouldn't be in a good mood.

After Nancy got off the car, she stood at the door and made a phone call. After a while, she put away her mobile phone, brushed a wisp of curly hair in her ear and walked into the auction infield amorously.

The rest of the people also entered the auction infield.

In twenty minutes, the auction would begin.

In the black Maybach, the man still didn't want to get off the car. He closed his eyes again, leaning back slightly, and continued to nap.

The auction was not far from where Nikita lived.

She took a taxi and arrived in almost ten minutes.

Tonight's auction was of high grade, and every item was a treasure with a starting price of at least seven figures, so all the people who could come to the auction had extraordinary identities. There were a lot of powerful people gathering in this auction.

Because of the high specifications, not everyone can get the invitation letter.

Nikita was invited by Nancy temporarily.

She can't get into the infield without an invitation letter.

But Nancy has already prepared one for her.

When Nikita was approaching, she sent a message to Nancy. After receiving it, Nancy came out to pick her up in advance.

When Nancy reappeared at the auction gate, the subordinates in the Maybach immediately found her.

Not long later, the subordinate saw a taxi stop beside Nancy.

After the door opened, a person got off the car.

It was a girl wearing a suit of high school uniform, with exquisite face and shiny skin, Quite eye-catching.

Chapter 1074 The All-round Master

At the moment of seeing Nikita, he was excited, not afraid to wake Hall. He turned his head to look at the man who was still closing his eyes, shouting excitedly. "Great Hall, I saw the young master!"

"Great Hall, Young Master is coming!"

Hall opened his eyes and turned his head to look out of the window quickly.

When he saw the girl, his eyes fixed on that slim figure, his eyes full of mixed feelings.

The subordinate looked at Hall's response and then looked outside. "Young Master is not interested in the auction. She must accompany her friend. Aren't you going to buy something here to send the young master? She happened to come here. After you bought some, you can send them to her."

Hall came to the auction tonight because he took a fancy to several things.

Those are what Nikita like.

He is going to buy them and give them to Nikita.

When they were on the island, Hall held as big and luxurious parties for her birthday every year as he could. The local royal princess's birthday party couldn't compare with Nikita's.

And he would prepare the gifts which were sent to her half year earlier than her birthday, so it was needless to say how exquisite they were.

Every year, birthday gifts were priceless.

Nikita also accepted those gifts at that time..

But when she left, she didn't bring any with her, only with her black backpack which was not worth a few dollars.

But even so, Hall said that he was absent from her birthday this year, so he had to make up for her with birthday gifts. He came to the auction tonight to buy gifts for Nikita.

A set of excellent jade.

I

An ancient medical book that is said to have been lost for a long time.

There is also a painting.

Among them, the ancient medical book is Hall's target.

He stares at Nikita, until Nancy armed around her. They entered the field.

“How long before the auction starts?”.

“Mr. Hall, the auction will begin in three minutes.”

“Well, it’s time to go in.” Hall opened the door, and got out of the car.

The subordinate and another man sitting in the driver’s seat looked at each other tacitly.

The things that Hall wants are all at the end of the auction.

If it weren’t for Nikita, Mr. Hall wouldn’t have entered the infield so early.

Nikita watched Nancy take out the invitation letters, smiling: “Have you prepared my invitation letter long ago?”

Nancy armed around her, smiling, “Sis, I know you won’t refuse. You know, I’m not good at examining antiques. I can’t find others but you.”

As we all know, things at auction might be fake.

It is not impossible to spend hundreds of millions with fake antiques back.

Nancy doesn’t want to spend a lot of money on luck.

Fortunately, Nikita, the expert in antiques, could help her examine. Nancy never worries about whether the antiques she buys are fake.

When it comes to antique identification, Nikita’s eyes are more accurate than professional instruments.

Chapter 1075 Who are they?

It takes a lot of time to go through professional instruments.

Nancy regards Nikita the most brilliant person when it comes to identifying the fake antiques from the real one. Others need instruments, Nikita could know. whether it's fake or not with her eyes.

She can even identify the origin and age of antiques.

Moreover, there is nothing wrong with the antiques identified by her..

Her accuracy rate is higher than that identified by professional instruments.

Nancy is very interested in antiques, but she is not good at it. When she is not accompanied by Nikita, she has been tricked by the sellers numerous times.

This time she has her favorite antiques, so she called Nikita over to check for her

She doesn't have to worry about anything when she buys the antiques.

Nikita thought of Nancy's house, which was filled with all kinds of antiques like the junk she picked up. She was a little speechless: "You already have a lot of antiques."

Nancy is strange.

She is very fanatical in antiques, but she is very casual about those antiques she spent a lot of money.

Everyone else buys and treasures them.

Her buying antiques is like hoarding cabbage. She casually throws them into the room. She buys millions of antiques and doesn't even have a cabinet to hold them. They are all on the ground and piled all over the floor.

People who don't know must have thought that those valuable antiques were scoured back from a small shop.

"I remember you once said to me that you want to make a lot of money so that when you have anything you like, you can buy it without hesitation or pressure."

Nancy smiled: "I always remember your words. Now it is also my motivation to earn money."

When they entered the meeting place, there were already many people sitting inside

They are all big shots in the city.

But as soon as they entered the meeting place, they still attracted a lot of attention.

In the venue, all the big shots who have seen all kinds of big scenes and countless beautiful women were amazed.

Two girls, one looks extremely delicate and cold, and the other looks extremely beautiful and hot. Their beauty is completely in different types, but they are all amazing.

Especially, the good one is wearing school uniforms. The girl has excellent temperament and a noble and inviolable sense of sacredness all over. She obviously looks quite young, but her aura is very strong, which makes people dare not underestimate her.

"Who are they? Do you know them?" Some young masters asked.

The rest of them were curious, looking at each other, trying to find out.

"I think I've seen them before." A young master stared at Nikita, reluctant to take his eyes off her.

"Indeed. Me too."

A group of people looked at Nancy, and then looked at Nikita. They all feel familiar but they can't remember where they saw them.

At this time...

In the VIP box on the second floor of the auction venue...

"Hey, isn't it Niky? Did I see it right?"

Chapter 1076 She came whenever she wanted.

There are four people sitting in the box.,

Harrell, Yates, Sampson, and Rosa.

At tonight's auction, all four people received invitations, and there happened to be something they wanted at the auction, so they all came.

They have been sitting in the private room to talk, and didn't pay attention to the people down there. The auction is about to start, Harrell just saw Nikita and Nancy sitting in the hall below the first row.

Harrell was very impressed by Nancy. On the night of old Mr. Lambert's dinner, Nancy's appearance was quite amazing. Harrell had seen all kinds of beauties, and only Nikita and Nancy amazed him!

Nikita is with Sheehan, Harrell naturally won't and dare to pursue.

But Nancy, he's interested.

Seeing Nancy and Nikita unexpectedly participating in tonight's auction, Harrell thought the night is worth it.

After he looked at Nikita, he turned his eyes to Nancy. After staring at Nancy's beautiful face for a while, he seemed to be surprised: "Niky actually came to the auction tonight, but why didn't I see Sheehan?"

Tonight's auction is full of people of considerable status

Harrell subconsciously thought that Nikita and Nancy came with Sheehan.

Otherwise, they will not be invited.

"It's really Niky." Yates also saw Nikita. Like Harrell, he subconsciously went to find Sheehan. After searching around, he didn't see anyone.

He is confused: "Didn't Sheehan come with them?"

A group of people think that Nikita came with Sheehan.

Even Rosa searched for Sheehan in the venue.

Only Sampson, sitting there calmly, seems to be not surprised that Nikita will appear in such a place.

After all, Nikita has been to even the world-class top auctions many times. For tonight's auction, he guessed that Nikita must have come to accompany Nancy. If it weren't for Nancy, she was not interested in coming even if she's invited.

"Why would she be with Sheehan? She could come whenever she wants." Sampson took a sip of the tea.

Harrell's eyes still stayed on Nancy: "If it weren't for Sheehan, where did they get the invitation letter?"

Sampson took another sip lazily, smiling, "You are underestimating them. I won't talk too much, but it's a piece of cake for them to get a few invitations. It's not a big deal."

Harrell paused, and took back his sight. He turned to Sampson, "Sampson, it seems that you are very familiar with them. You knew them a long time ago?"

Harrell didn't know about Nancy, but he heard of Nikita's shady background.

He heard that she grew up in the countryside in a remote mountain village. Her family is poor.

How can girls who grew up in poor mountain villages get to know Sampson, a wealthy young master, and become a good friend with him?

They all knew Sampson is only familiar with Rosa, which is the only girl in their circle.

Chapter 1077 Nikita and I met abroad.

But that night at the banquet, Sampson is very protective. If it weren't for sincere and deep friendship, Sampson won't take this move. He might not help Rosa, if she's the one with the trouble.

Yates is also curious, "Indeed. Did you know her from an early time? How come? Didn't you stay abroad?"

Rosa turned around. She said coldly, but casually, "I'm also curious. Sampson, you didn't meet abroad do you?"

"Hmm." Sampson said lazily, "Nikita and I met abroad."

"You met abroad?" Yates was astonished, "When? You never told us."

“Why would I? You know her?”

never asked. Besides, it’s natural for me to make acquaintance with some friends.” Sampson took a glimpse at them, “Why? What’s so ever even “No, dude.” Yates is confused. “How old was she when you went abroad? How come you knew each other so early? Thus, when I went to visit you, you already knew her?”

“Hum.”

Therefore, among them, the first person to know Nikita was Sampson?

They don’t know if Sheehan would be very upset if he knew about it.

When Yates first went to help Sheehan investigate Nikita, he did find out that Nikita had been abroad in early years. She even traveled all over the world.

But he didn’t investigate that Sampson had already known Nikita at that time.

Think of the age difference between the two at that time, Yates couldn’t figure it out, how Nikita and Sampson met at that time, and how they became friends.

“So, Nikita has been abroad?” Rosa frowned very tightly. She didn’t believe it very much. “But, hasn’t she been studying in a middle school in a remote town? How can she go abroad?”

“Besides, it’s not that easy to go abroad. Her English is not so fluent, is she? Besides, isn’t her family poor. How come she got the money to go abroad?”

Rosa suddenly got a little excited, and she questioned several times.

Harrell and Yates all looked at her.

Rosa realized that she was a little too excited just now. She bit her lip and took a deep breath, trying to make herself less concerned.

“I’m just a little curious.” She clenched her fingers, “Isn’t she poor? Besides, her grades are poor. I’m just wondering how did she go abroad.”

“Although her family is poor, she’s brilliant.” Yates said with admiration. “She’s coaching when she’s 13. It’s more than enough to go abroad. Besides, it’s costly to ask her for treatment. She fixed your brother’s leg. It costs him a lot.

Chapter 1078 She is better than all of us!

“Moreover, her English is very good. I heard that she also participated in an English competition some time ago and won the first place in the country.”

When Yates talks about Nikita, his tone is full of appreciation.

Rosa found his tone uncomfortable, sipping her lips. “But, she got zero marks previously. She can’t go abroad.”

Even if Rosa tried to control her emotions to show that she doesn’t care, but the jealousy in her words betrayed her.

Sampson smiled. He realized what she’s up to, “I don’t know about her grades. But, she’s very fluent in English when she’s abroad. To be frank, she’s better than us, who asked private tutors from an early age.”

“If she hadn’t told me that she had just gone abroad for a short time, I would have thought she grew up there.”

Rosa frowned.

“Is she so powerful?” Yates doesn’t doubt Sampson’s words at all: He is just curious about one thing. “However, she is so good at English, why did she get zero marks before?” She did it on purpose?”

Yates thinks this possibility is very great.

Otherwise, it doesn’t explain.

He investigated Nikita, and her grades in the previous school were really...very, very poor.

Average people really can’t get a score of zero in general practice.

At that time, he felt that it was quite challenging to get such a result. After all, it is not easy to avoid the correct answer to every question.

Now it seems that it’s likely that she did it on purpose.

A person who can write renowned songs which are all over the country, an e-sport coach, involved with one of the best dark organizations in the world, with marvelous medical skills in her teens, must be damn smart.

Such a teenager must have high intelligence.

She never gets such outrageous scores as zero points in general practice.

So...

Nikita may be intentionally hiding her own strength.

Yates felt that he might find the truth.

Sampson squinted. He smiled, and took another sip, without speaking.

Of course, it was intentional.

He is clear about her strength.

Then, the anchorman said, "Alright, please quiet down. The auction begins. Now, let's take a look at the first piece of antique."

The auction has started.

Yates and Harrell stopped talking and looked at the display platform downstairs.

Wearing cheongsam, the graceful etiquette lady took a tray to the display stand, and then carefully placed the tray in her hand on the glass cabinet.

There is a small bowl of blue and white porcelain on the tray, which looks quite elegant.

The display stand of the glass cabinet is surrounded by lights, and the porcelain bowl is placed on a round rotating glass so that every guest under the stage can see the specifications and some manufacturing techniques of the porcelain bowl from various angles.

"This small bowl is very beautiful.

Chapter 1079 Fighting Against Each Other

Nancy was interested in the bowl, and she asked Nikita in a low voice, "Niky, is this fake?"

The anchorman is introducing the bowl. "It's a porcelain tea bowl from a very famous poet in the Song Dynasty. I suppose we are all familiar with the poet, whose collections worth millions. Now you may bid the price from fifty thousand dollars."

The poet mentioned by the host is really famous.

And it is an antique from the Song Dynasty. If it is genuine, it is really worth collecting.

Nikita glanced at the stage. After a while, she took back her sight and looked at Nancy. Her voice was very soft. "You want it?"

Nancy nodded. "Yeah. What do you think?"

"Fake" Nikita squinted. "It's almost real. The producer made a lot of efforts. It's almost identical. But, fake is fake."

"Fake?" Nancy's eyes widened. "My gosh? The first item is a fake."

The audience has already sounded one after another.

"One hundred thousand."

"One hundred thousand and one."

"Two hundred thousand."

Two hundred thousand and one."

There are many people interested in the porcelain bowl, and there are about a dozen bidders.

Nancy originally wanted to participate in the auction, but when she heard Nikita say it was a fake, she suddenly lost the interest.

“I don’t know who will take this fake one.” Nancy listened to the constant bidding sounds around her, and looked around with a playful expression on her face.

Nikita was not interested. She took out her phone, mute the sound to play.

As soon as Nancy turned around, she saw Nikita killing madly in the game.

Nancy:...”

As for playing games at auction, only Nikita can do this kind of thing.

After a few minutes, the first auction item was sold for one million dollars.

Next, the staff brought up the second item.

It is an inscription by a calligrapher in the Ming Dynasty, starting at three hundred thousand dollars.

This calligrapher is also highly respected, and many people participated in the bidding.

Nancy was not interested in calligraphy. She only glanced at the stage.

However, she is still curious about whether this piece is real or fake.

She looked at the girl who focused on killing in the games, and asked her softly, "Niky, see if the calligraphy is fake or not."

Nikita just finished a game. She looked up at the stage. Almost half a minute later, she looked down and said: "It's real."

After identifying the calligraphy, she took up her phone and was about to start another game when she received a text.

Sampson: Boss, do me a favor and see if the calligraphy on the stage is genuine.

It's a text from by Sampson.

Nikita raised her brow and replied: Are you at the auction?

Sampson: Well, look up.

Nikita looked up and saw Sampson sitting in the private room upstairs.

Sampson sat by the window. He raised his mobile phone and waved to Nikita.

Sitting next to Sampson, Yates also waved toward Nikita, greeting her.

Nikita looked at two people, and looked at Rosa sitting opposite them.

Rosa is also looking at her, and her sight is cold.

Nikita took a glimpse at her and replied to Sampson: You can bid.

Chapter 1080 Not Everyone Can Identify Antiques

Sampson quickly replied: what is the appropriate transaction price?

Nikita: No more than eight hundred thousand.

Sampson replied with an OK gesture.

At this time, the price had already reached four hundred thousand.

Sampson picked up the bidding sign and called the price: "Six hundred thousand."

When Sampson just chatted with Nikita, Yates, who was sitting next to him, saw the conversation between the two clearly.

Yates stared wide-eyed, and when Sampson called the price, he asked with surprise, "What are you doing? Why are you asking Niky? Does she also understand antiques?"

Rosa and Harrell both looked at Sampson at the same time.

Harrell raised his brows curiously, "What do you mean? You asked Niky. Erode bidding the calligraphy? Why would you ask her? Does she provide you with guidance?"

Only elderly people know about antiques.

Ordinary people don't know anything.

As for people like them, although they buy a lot of antiques at home, they didn't know much about it.

He only knows good-looking and valuable antiques.

He bought pretty and high-valued antiques.

As for others, they are not clear or understood.

In their circle, only Sampson and Sheehan know about antiques.

This is also the reason why they called Sampson over tonight. There is Sampson, an expert, who can help them identify it.

In previous auctions, Sampson helped them take a lot of good things. The price increased by more than half after they brought it back.

“Nikita instructed Sampson?” Sampson hasn’t made a sound yet, but Rosa sneered lightly. There is a bit of disdain in her eyes. “Antique identification can’t be done by everyone. Without relevant professional knowledge and a lot of practical experience, what can she identify?”

“I remember Sampson studying with an expert. Isn’t she better than Sampson if she’s capable to provide guidance?”

Sampson glanced at Rosa. He smiled and didn’t speak.

The bidding price of the inscription has reached sixty five hundred. Tonight, Sampson is bound to win this piece. He picked up the bidding card and directly bid for/ seventy five hundred.

Yates paused. Looking at the piece, he then looked at Sampson. “A few letters worth almost millions? It seems not as good as the bowl. Would you really bid for eighty thousand?”

Just now, Sampson asked the highest transaction price, and Nikita told him that he could bid for eighty thousand.

Is Sampson really going to bid for that price?

Yates doesn't do much research on the calligraphy and painting. He can't understand a painting can worth that much.

Sampson ignored him and continued to bid.

"Can anyone pay a higher price than eighty thousand?"

"Anyone can go higher? Deal!"

After successfully bidding, Sampson smiled.

He picked up his phone and texted Nikita: thanks.

The next item to be auctioned is an emerald bracelet.

Nancy took a fancy to the bracelet at a glance. After asking Nikita, she participated in the auction.

Emerald bracelets start at five hundred thousand.

Nancy was the first to bid. She held up the bidding card: "Five million!"