

The Girl CB 1431

Chapter 1431-Duke Rosen was stunned for a while. He asked with confusion: "Doctor, what do you mean by that? Is there anything wrong with Paul?"

"Duke, if you want to know the cause of your headache, I think you should start with your chef. And I believe you can dig something out."

Nikita's words made Duke Rosen's face changed immediately.

How could he miss the real meaning of her words?

He thought of the fact that Nikita asked Paul to come out earlier and asked him a lot of questions about today's lunch. It seemed that she appreciated Paul's cooking skills very much. But what if the reason why she called Paul out was not really for her appreciation for Paul's cooking, but for other reasons...

Nikita said before that the cause of his headache was some kind of poison. And it was chronic. After years of accumulation, more and more toxins precipitated in his body. And they finally broke out completely.

But she hadn't found out what kind of poison he took in yet.

But now...

A guess flashed through Duke Rosen's mind. And his face changed again.

"Doctor, do you mean that my poisoning has something to do with Paul?" Duke Rosen directly asked out.

Although he did not believe that it was Paul who poisoned him.

But he felt if Nikita didn't have any evidence, she wouldn't casually say such groundless words.

Paul has been cooking for him for more than ten years. He has always been honest and upright. He absolutely trusts him.

Nikita did not nod. But he also did not deny it either. She just said: "It is still uncertain. But he is a very big suspect.'

Nikita will not give a positive answer to things that are not completely certain.

Duke Rosen froze again and looked extremely shocked. "It really has something to do with Paul. But how could Paul..."

He still doesn't believe that Paul has anything to do with his poisoning.

But he also knows that Nikita will not wrong people casually.

After hesitating for a moment, he finally asked someone to bring Paul over.

Paul had packed all his bags when the guards of the castle found him.

The convoy brought Paul and his suitcase to Duke Rosen.

Seeing Paul's flustered appearance, Duke asked someone to open his suitcase with a gloomy face.

After the suitcase was opened, there was no daily change of clothes in it. And it was full of valuable items, which were all Paul's savings over the years.

Even if Duke Rosen didn't want to believe that Paul had betrayed him, he had to face the reality at this moment.

“Paul, you’d better explain to me where you are heading with these things?”

Paul looked flustered. He looked pale. And he was afraid to look Duke Rosen in the eye. He stammered: “My Lord, I... I was going to ask you for a leave.”

“A leave?”

Duke Rosen was not a fool. Naturally, he could not believe his words. He sneered: “What’s your excuse for the leave?”

“I, I...” Under the stress, Paul said in a panic. “I got a call. My mother is seriously ill. I... I want to ask for a long leave to take care of her.”

“But I remember that your mother died three years ago.” Duke Rosen’s face completely darkened down. “Paul, how dare you? I think I’ve never mistreated you. How could you poison me behind my back?!”

Paul looked up. His whole face went white.

He was so flustered just now that he only wanted to find an excuse to get this over with. But he forgot that he had asked Duke Rosen for a leave when his mother died three years ago.

At that time, Duke Rosen also offered him a sum of solatium.

“My Lord... I... I misspoke. It’s not my mother who is ill. It’s my father...” Under Duke Rosen’s sharp and dignified eyes, cold sweat kept falling down Paul’s forehead.

Chapter 1432-But Duke Rosen no longer believed him.

“Who ordered you to poison me? Under such a circumstance, do you think I will still trust you now?” Duke Rosen’s eyes grew colder and colder as he thought of what he had suffered over the years.

His eyes were filled with frightening chills.

There is no doubt that something is wrong with Paul.

But he couldn't understand why Paul did this.

There is no history between Paul and him. And he never mistreated him.

He is also sure that he never made any enemies outside. If anyone had instructed Paul to do so, he could not guess who it would be.

Who would put so much thought on harming him?

Paul raised his head and saw Duke Rosen's cold eyes. Originally, he still wanted to defend himself. But he suddenly sneered. And the expression on his face became gloomy.

"Duke, you keep saying that I was the one who has been poisoning you. Do you have any evidence to prove that?"

"Now, we are in a legal society. If you have no evidence, it is illegal to detain me against my will!"

Paul knew very well that Duke Rosen would no longer believe him.

Therefore, no matter how he defends himself, it will be useless.

No matter how Duke Rosen began to suspect him and thought he was the one who poisoned him, he couldn't do anything to him as long as he refused to admit it, even if he was a Duke.

Although F country still abides by a royal system, and the royal family rules the whole country, it is also a legal society. Even though Duke Rosen's status is prominent, he cannot be convicted without evidence!

Thinking of this, the panic and timidity in Paul's eyes were swept away. He seemed to feel confident again. He sneered again. Then he looked up at Duke Rosen and said: "If the Duke wants to convict me, where is your evidence?"

"What evidence do you have that could prove I was the one who poisoned you?"

Duke Rosen was stunned by his question. He frowned tightly.

How could he have evidence?

If it weren't for Nikita telling him there was something wrong with Paul, he would never expect the man beside him who looked very honest and upright would be the one who harmed him.

Duke Rosen frowned and turned to look at Nikita.

Nikita gave him a comforting look. Then she slowly walked to Paul. She took a look at Paul first and then picked up a smile and said in a leisure tone: "You are very smart. You know that you can easily leave evidence by directly poisoning him. So you used a very safe method and hid it from everyone.'

"Not only it is very difficult to be checked out, but it can also make people poisoned more and more deeply without being noticed.

When the symptoms are obvious, there has been no cure."

"Although it won't make people die quickly, you can take your time to torture this person, so that this person will be tortured to death for the rest of his life. In this case, living is thousands of times more painful than dying."

"Mr. Paul, I'd like to know what kind of hatred you hold against the Duke that can drive you to torture him so viciously.'

Nikita's voice sounded slow. And her tone was also very calm, as if she were just issuing a statement of an ordinary thing.

But every word of her made Paul's face change. Within just one minute, Paul's face changed from consternation to panic, from panic to shock. And he finally turned very pale.

"I... I} don't understand what you are talking about! I didn't poison the Duke. You are framing me!"

Paul flustered again when he saw Nikita's dark eyes, which seemed to have seen through everything. His face turned pale. And the cold sweat on his forehead fell down again.

But he still refused to admit that he poisoned Duke Rosen.

Chapter 1433-Seeing that he refused to admit it, Nikita was not in a hurry. Her voice still sounded calm and leisure. She looked at him and said: "In our country, there is a saying that disease enters by the mouth, which means that if you don't pay attention to your daily diet, you will easily get ill."

"It seems that Mr. Paul is very good at playing this trick. You know it would be easy to be found out if you directly poisoned him. But it is difficult to be found out if you work on his daily diet."

Paul's face became paler and paler.

And there was more and more cold sweat on his forehead.

He did a good job in hiding what he did.

It's impossible for anyone to find out about it.

Otherwise, he wouldn't be standing here safe and sound.

Even those very skilled experts couldn't find out anything. He didnt believe that this little girl could be more skilled than those experts.

She was just bluffing.

As long as he doesn't fall for it, they can't find evidence to convict him!

Thinking of this, Paul calmed down a little. But when he looked Nikita in the eye, he still felt somewhat guilty and did not dare to look at her for too long.

Clearly, she is just a teenage girl. He didn't have to take her seriously at all. But for no reason, Paul was actually a little afraid of this little girl in his heart.

He always feels that this girl's eyes are too sharp, as if she could see through everything.

Under her scrutiny, everything hidden in his heart seemed to be dug out by her eyes which were too sharp.

"Daily diet?" Duke Rosen remembered what Nikita had done. He thought of something. And his face changed. "Doctor, do you mean that the poison has been put in my daily diet?"

Nikita turned to look at Duke Rosen: "I had such a guess before.

But there was no evidence. So it couldn't be confirmed."

"But now, it can be confirmed."

When Nikita said that the poison had been put in Duke Rosen's daily foods, both Duke Rosen and Paul, who were standing next to her, changed their faces.

Duke Rosen looked stunned.

While Paul looked flustered.

Nikita continued: "Duke, the dishes you often eat are the main cause of your headache.'

Duke Rosen was astonished and said in disbelief: "But my mother used to cook those dishes for me too..."

"There is nothing wrong with those dishes.' Nikita said in a calm voice: "The problem lies in the extra spices and side dishes in those dishes.'

Hearing Nikita say so, Paul first widened his eyes in shock. Then, he suddenly couldn't feel his legs and almost failed to stand firm, as if he suddenly lost all his strength.

He thought that the trick he played could never be discovered.

But this little girl, who he originally didn't take seriously at all, actually know that he made some changes in the side dishes and seasonings.

How could it be possible?

How could she find out about that?

"Side dishes and seasonings?" Duke Rosen caught a glimpse of Paul's reaction through his peripheral vision. And he already knew that what Nikita said was true. He was both shocked and angry.

And he couldn't understand why Paul did this either.

There were some side dishes and seasonings added in those dishes indeed. And Paul did make some adjustments in the flavors.

These are all trivial things. And he didn't take them seriously.

It is very normal for chefs to like to try something new.

As Duke Rosen thought of the fact that Paul had already been poisoning him since then, he resisted the impulse to punch him and gritted his teeth to question Paul: "Why did you do this?"

"Spill! Who ordered you to do this?"

Chapter 1434-At this moment, Paul knew that he couldn't get out of this.

"Yes, I was the one who poisoned you! But no one instructed me to do this. It was my own decision. I did everything by myself!"

Hearing Paul admit his crime, Duke Rosen became more angry. His face turned livid. "No one instructed you? Then why would you do such a thing?"

"What did I ever wrong you that made you want to hurt me like this?!"

Paul was in a panic at first, fearing that what he had done would be found out. Now that he has admitted his crime, he became fearless.

He no longer looked flustered and scared. He raised his head and looked at Duke Rosen with hatred showing in his eyes. Then he gritted his teeth and said: "You ask me why? Okay, then I also want to ask you why you messed around with other woman when you already had a wife those days. And you and your wife were two famous love birds."

"You are the Duke. And you can have any woman you want. Why do you have to flirt with a little girl who is more than twenty years younger than you? She can even be your daughter in terms of age!"

"You pretended to be affectionate. You were so rhetoric that you used your power, money and status to deceive a little girl who is simple and ignorant with no social experience."

“After you won her heart and tricked her into bed, you abandoned her as if she were a pair of worn shoes. People like you deserve the scourge! But since God won’t punish you, | have to do it myself!”

After listening to Paul’s words with deep hatred, Duke Rosen paused for a few seconds. He frowned tightly. He both felt confused and angrily: “| deceived a little girl who is more than twenty years younger than me?! When have | done such a thing?”

Who is the little girl you are talking about!”

“Ha ha... Anna, do you see this? You gave up your life for this fickle and despicable man. But now, he doesn’t even remember who you are!”

“What you did for him is simply worthless to him!”

“Anna?” Duke Rosen thought the name sounded familiar. After a moment, his face changed slightly. “Is Anna your daughter?”

“It finally rang a bell to you!” Paul stared at him maliciously. “You killed Anna. Even though | have no power or status, and I can’t do anything about you, | won’t let you live a good life!”

“Is there some kind of misunderstanding here?” Duke Rosen’s eyes showed some confusion. “Nothing happened between me and your daughter. | can’t be interested in a little girl who is young enough to be my daughter.”

“Anna was a lovely little girl. | didn’t forget her. | still remember what she looked like. But | really think it’s ridiculous to say that | deceived her feelings and her heart.”

“In my eyes, she was always a likable younger generation. | have never been in love with her. And the things you said are even more impossible to happen.”

“It’s not you?!” Paul didn’t believe Duke Rosen’s words at all. Hearing him say so, Paul got even more angry. He gnashed his teeth and said: “Anna wrote a letter and put it under her pillow before she committed suicide. | read that letter. And it was you!”

Prince Rosen frowned even more tightly. “What letter? How can you be sure it was for me?”

“Of course, it is because she mentioned you in her letter! If it weren’t for you, then who is the Duke she mentioned in her letter?”

“Wait...” said Duke Rosen, who seemed to remember something. He narrowed his eye. And the expression on his face became dignified. “During the time when Anna came to Rosen Castle, there was another Duke in the castle besides me.”

Chapter 1435-“He once told me that he liked Anna very much. But | thought he just appreciated Anna as an elder generation. And he only regarded her as a younger generation. So | didn’t overthink it.

“Is he the Duke in Anna’s letter?”

“What are you talking about?” Paul’s face changed. “There is another Duke? You are the only Duke who lives in Rosen Castle.

Who is the other Duke you mentioned? Are you still going to deny it now?”

Duke Rosen finally knew where Paul’s hatred against him came from.

After figuring out the truth, he was no longer as angry as earlier.

After calming himself down, he said in a flat tone to Paul: “I wouldn’t deny it if it were really me. But | wasn’t the one who did it.

So | won’t take the blame and inexplicably bear the bad reputation of being fickle and deceiving a young girl.”

“The other Duke | mentioned is my friend Henry. At that time, he came to this castle to visit because he had a problem with his wife.

And he came to me to get some relaxed time. So he didn't tell anyone about his identity.”

“It's your choice to believe it or not. But what happened to your daughter really has nothing to do with me.”

Duke Rosen sighed with emotions as he thought of what he had suffered. “I'm sorry about what happened to your daughter. If | had known what Henry had been doing to her, | wouldn't have let Henry hurt her like that. But, it's a pity that...”

Paul stared at Duke Rosen for a long time.

He suddenly knelt down on his knees, covered his face with his hands and cried out loud.

He has been holding hatred against Duke Rosen for so many years.

He thought that he had avenged his daughter and punished Duke Rosen.

But now, someone suddenly told him that he hated the wrong person and punished the wrong person.

It was another man who hurt his daughter.

Because of his misjudgment, the man who really hurt his daughter didn't have to pay any price.

This result is unacceptable to him.

But he won't have another chance to make the man who really hurt his daughter pay the price.

Seeing the man kneeling on the ground and completely breaking down, Duke Rosen sighed with emotions again. He thought about it for a while and spoke up: "Would you feel better if I told you that Henry died of illness a year ago?"

Paul suddenly raised his head.

Duke Rosen looked down at him. "I'm not lying to you. Henry died of a heart attack a year ago. After he was sent to the hospital, the doctor failed to save his life."

Paul was stunned for a few seconds. Then he suddenly burst out laughter. "Karma! This is karma! Thank God! Anna. Did you hear that? God avenged you and punished that beast for you!"

After laughing for a while, Paul bowed his head down and covered his face again. He cried bitterly.

This time, Duke Rosen said nothing more. He waved his hand and let two bodyguards take Paul away.

No matter what drove Paul to poison him or whether he hated the wrong person or not, he has committed a crime. He needs to pay the price for what he did.

Moments later.

The bodyguards left with Paul.

"Doctor, how can I thank you? If it weren't for your help this time, I am afraid I will never know why I was poisoned and how I was poisoned."

Duke Rosen sincerely thanked Nikita.

Nikita also didn't expect the reason of Duke Rosen being poisoned would be so dramatic and outrageous. He was basically taking a big blame for his friend.

He suffered all that for several years for his friends.

The Girl Come Back Is Super Chapter 1436-However, Sheehan didn't quite understand why Nikita was so "cruel" to Duke Rosen.

After hearing Nikita name her consultation fee, Rosen Duke was also stunned for a few seconds, as if he didn't expect her to ask for such a high consultation fee.

In fact, Duke Rosen was shocked indeed.

He knew Nikita's consultation fee wouldn't be a small number. So he has prepared for it. But this fifteen million dollars bill for his consultation fee still went beyond his expectation.

But he was just shocked for a few seconds at first. Duke Rosen soon returned to normal and said with a smile: "OK, 15 million dollars. Can you give me some time? | need to make some calls to the bank to explain the situation?"

Nikita nodded and expressed her understanding. "No hurry. | don't need to get the money right away."

When it comes to the large expenditures, people usually need to negotiate with the bank first.

Especially when it's the transfer of millions of funds. He can't make the transfer as long as he asks. It won't be that easy.

Duke Rosen took out his phone and called the bank. After asking Nikita for her bank account, he asked the bank staff to transfer the money.

After getting his permission, the efficiency of the bank was still very fast. In less than five minutes, Nikita heard the reminder of the SMS on her phone.

She took out her phone and took a look at it symbolically.

After seeing the 15 million dollars in her account, she picked up a smile and waved her phone to Duke Rosen. "I've got my consultation fee."

"Since you dare to ask 15 million dollars for the consultation fee, do you dare to guarantee that you can completely cure the Duke's disease?!"

A voice suddenly sounded, which was full of hostility.

Nikita narrowed her eyes and looked over at the door. She saw Christine coming in.

Christine walked up to Duke Rosen's front with a strong and aggressive aura. She greeted him respectfully: "Greetings, Duke."

Then she turned around to look at Nikita with hostility in her eyes.

Her tone didn't sound nice: "Miss Swift, 15 million dollars for the consultation fee is an extremely high price. Since you dare to ask for this amount, I think you should be very confident in curing the Duke's disease.

Miss Swift, after you got such a high consultation fee, I wonder how you are going to treat the Duke's disease next. Everyone says that Miss Swift's medical skills are so awesome that you can simply create miracles. I also want to witness Miss Swift's superb medical skills with my own eyes.

I wonder if Miss Swift can meet my little request."

The hostility showed in Christine's words could be sensed by anyone.

Of course, Nikita sensed it too.

However, she just smiled faintly. And the way she looked at Christine was also very indifferent. "How much money I charge for my consultation fee is none of your business. As for how I am going to treat the Duke, you have no right to ask.”

Christine’s face changed. “You!”

“I’m sorry, Duke. I have other plans later. So I won’t be staying here.

I’ll come over tomorrow and give you another acupuncture treatment. If there is no accident, after you have acupuncture three times, the poison in your body should be almost cleared away.”

“Of course, Duke, if you don’t feel at ease about this, the consultation fee can be returned at any time. You can hire someone else.”

“Doctor, I believe you!” Duke Rosen gave Christine a warning look.

“Tomorrow, I will send someone to pick you up. As for what Christine said just now, you don’t have to take her words seriously. I promise that you will never see her again.”

“What do you mean, Duke?” Christine turned to look at Duke Rosen with a somewhat flustered look.

Duke Rosen said coldly to her: “I have told you over and over again that the doctor and Mr. Lambert are my distinguished guests who need to be treated with respect and manners. What did you do?”

Chapter 1437-“Duke...” Christine doesn’t want to leave like this. She said with red eyes: “Duke, everything I did is out of concern for you. It’s for your own good.”

“I don’t need this kind of self-righteous concerns. All right, that’s enough. You can go now. I don’t want to see you now: Duke Rosen didn’t want to listen to her defense anymore. After waving his hand, he called someone over to take her away.

There was grievance and sadness showing in Christine’s eyes. She turned around and stared at Nikita with resentment. Then she turned to leave with unwillingness.

She has been staying at the Rosen Castle for so many years. And Duke Rosen has always been taken care of by them.

Duke Rosen had always been very kind to her and admiring her a lot until this magical doctor, who came out of nowhere, showed up.

But now, she was expelled in such a humiliating way.

Nikita!

She remembered the name!

She won't easily let her go!

"Sister, will you come over again tomorrow?"

Sylvester sent Nikita and Sheehan back. After they arrived at their destination, Nikita and Sheehan were ready to get out of the car. He looked at Nikita with reluctance.

"Hmm."

Seeing his reluctant eyes, Nikita somehow also felt a little reluctant in her heart for no reason. She couldn't help but soften her tone: "Will you come to pick me up tomorrow?"

"Of course!" Sylvester nodded, "I want to be your exclusive driver."

Exclusive driver?

Hearing the word "exclusive", Sheehan, who was standing beside Nikita, slightly frowned. When he noticed that Nikita's attitude towards Sylvester was completely different, he couldn't help feeling a little jealous.

When he just met Nikita, he never got such a treatment from her.

She had never spoken so softly to him.

After Sylvester left, Sheehan pretended to say in a casual tone: "Sylvester is about the same age as you. And you two should have many common topics. Why don't you let him stay for a little longer to talk for a while?"

Although his tone sounded casual, the jealousy in his words could even be sensed by Nikita, who has always been careless about this kind of things.

She was slightly stunned. She turned to take a look at the expression on the man's face at this moment and then smiled: "You are not jealous, are you?"

Sheehan took a step closer to her. He stretched out his hand around her waist and bowed his head down. His deep and dark eyes were full of her figure. His voice sounded low and heavy. He did not deny his jealousy: "Well, a little."

"He seems to special for you. Of course, I know you can't have any romantic feelings for him. I just wonder why he can be an exception."

Nikita looked him in the eye. As she was about to speak up. Her phone rang.

After thinking of the possible caller, she stretched out her hand and pushed Sheehan away. After taking out her phone and seeing the caller ID, she tightened her fingers which were holding the phone and listened to the ringtone sound a little longer before answering the phone.

"Boss."

Sullivan's excited voice sounded at the other end of the phone: "Guess what we dug out?! The Duke Rosen you mentioned used to be in N City twenty years ago."

Nikita's fingers which were holding the phone got tightened again.

Her face changed slightly.

Sullivan continued in an excited voice: "He has been to N City twice in total. The first time he went there was for a business cooperation. It is not clear why he went there for the second time.

However, during his second trip, he not only went to N City, but he also went to your hometown once."

"Do you mean he had been to the Syracuse Village?!" Nikita couldn't help holding her breath.

Chapter 1438-Even though she has made her deduction, she still couldn't be completely calm at the moment when she finally confirmed it.

"Yes." Sullivan replied. "Moreover, the day when he went to the Syracuse Village was the day when Freddy fell into the water. Boss, you asked us to check him and said it was related to Freddy. Does this mean he has something to do with Freddy's missing after he fell into the water?"

We also found out that the marriage between Duke Rosen and his wife was built up by their families. But they got along very well after marriage. And they had always been loving each other. But for no reason, his wife couldn't get pregnant for years. However, shortly after his wife died, Duke Rosen suddenly announced that he had a son.

The local rumor says that the son was an illegitimate child of him and his lover.

Moreover..."

Sullivan told Nikita every detail about what he got from the investigation.

Moments later.

Nikita still remained the posture of answering the phone, although the phone had been hung up. She went on a daze with a dull face.

Twenty years ago, Duke Rosen used to go to N City.

Ten years ago, he went to N City again and even set foot on the Syracuse Village.

Freddy fell into the water on that day and then disappeared without a trace.

After that, Duke Rosen, who had been childless with his wife for many years, suddenly announced that he had a son after his wife died.

That boy who is rumored to be the illegitimate child given birth by Duke Rosen's lover, is actually Sylvester.

Sylvester's eyes look very similar to Freddy's. And the dream he had...

Everything, all the clues, have been very clear.

It has a great possibility that Sylvester is actually Freddy.

This can explain why she couldn't find Freddy after he fell into the water, although she had searched for several days in a row and looked for all the places where he might appear.

If that day, he was taken away to another country, everything makes sense!

Nikita heartbeat suddenly became very fast.

The truth is already right in front of her.

“Sheehan, I need to go out.”

After Nikita said so, she turned to walk outward.

“Where are you going?” Sheehan chased forward. The girl’s pace was in a hurry, as if there was something needed to be done by her as soon as possible.

Sheehan has never seen Nikita so anxious about anything.

Who was that call from just now?

After answering the phone, Nikita’s mental state was clearly different.

Nikita had no time to explain to him. She just said there was a very important thing for her to do immediately. Then she hurriedly pushed open the door and went out.

After a few minutes, Sheehan heard the sound of the car starting.

When he walked to the door, Nikita had already driven away.

Duke Rosen was surprised when he learned of Nikita’s visit.

Those two have just left.

It must be something very important to come back at this time.

Moreover, it is not convenient to say this on the phone.

Duke Rosen thought it was something about his headache going wrong. He went downstairs with some worries. Seeing Nikita sitting on the sofa in the hall, he hurried forward.

“Doctor.’ After Duke Rosen approached her, he showed a clearly worried expression on his face and asked hastily: “Is there something wrong with my body?”

Seeing Duke Rosen coming over, Nikita stood up: “Duke, you don’t have to worry. I’m here because of other reasons. Can we find some place to talk? It’s inconvenient to talk about it here?”

When Duke Rosen heard that it had nothing to do with his health, he secretly took a deep breath of relief. When he spoke up again, his tone sounded a lot more relaxed. He nodded and said: “OK, then let’s go to my study and talk.”

Chapter 1439-After they arrived at the study.

Nikita waited for the maids to close the door for them. Then she cut to the chase and said: “Duke, it is something very important to me.

And | hope you can tell me the truth frankly.”

“Oh?” Duke Rosen was stunned for a second. He looked a little surprised. “If it’s something | know, | would tell you the truth for sure. | just wonder what you want to know.”

Duke Rosen really couldn’t guess what was so important to Nikita.

Besides, this is also something he knows.

Nikita looked him in the eye with firm eyes and asked word by word: “Duke, can you tell me who is Sylvester’s biological mother?”

“It is rumored that Sylvester is an illegitimate child. And his mother is your lover. | guess this lover of Duke should not be a native, or even a person from F Country.”

“It’s a fling Duke had when you were in a foreign country.”

Duke Rosen immediately raised his head and looked at Nikita in surprise: "Doctor, you..."

Almost no one knows the identity of Sylvester's biological mother except himself.

Because that was a fling indeed.

For him, that woman is just an accident and passer-by in his life for decades.

What happened that night was really an accident.

At that time, he was drunk. And he met a woman who was also drunk. The woman threw herself at him
At that time, he was still young and impulsive.

In the face of a beautiful woman who threw herself at him, he failed to resist the temptation since he was originally not sober enough.

Then they had a fling that night.

He and that woman only did it once.

The next day, when he woke up, the woman had disappeared.

Of course, he never went to look for her again.

He regarded that night as an exotic affair. Not long after returning home, his family arranged a marriage for him and found him a suitable fiancée who had a similar family background as him.

Not long after that, he got married.

His wife was beautiful, gentle and talented. She was a daughter of the Earl. Although their marriage was arranged by their families, and they hadn't met each other a lot before, he and his wife gradually fell in love with each other. He also gained real happiness from this marriage arranged by his family that he was not optimistic about in the first place.

And he never thought of that foreign woman who he had a fling with.

It was not until his wife died of illness, and he accidentally learned that he had a son in a foreign country that the distant memory which he had buried in his mind for a long time was finally dug up by him little by little.

He and his wife loved each other very much. But after several years, they failed to have a child of their own.

Unexpectedly, the woman who only had a fling with him would give birth to his child quietly.

Duke Rosen had no intention to get married again. So he decided to take his unexpected son back to F Country, because he had always attached great importance to his descendants.

The boy he took back was Sylvester.

It is impossible for anyone else to know this matter except for the cronies who helped him in the first place.

Even Sylvester himself doesn't know these things.

Chapter 1440-I think I have nothing to tell you.

Nikita noticed Rosen Duke's reaction. Even though Rosen Duke hasn't said anything yet, she already knows the answer in her heart.

At this moment, she could no longer hold back her inner excitement and joy and continued to ask directly: "Sylvester was found by you from a village called the Syracuse Village in A Country, wasn't he?"

"When you found him, was he in a coma for a long time because of drowning? When he woke up, he lost all his former memories and couldn't remember all the things before. If I guessed correctly, his amnesia was not due to the drowning that time, but man-made reasons."

"Duke, after you found him back, his identity was no longer an ordinary villager in the Syracuse Village, but the only son of Duke Rosen."

"If he lost all his previous memories, it could dodge a lot of unnecessary troubles and save you a lot of efforts."

The more words Nikita said, the more shocked Duke Rosen got. He frowned little by little. And his face gradually changed.

Although his tone was still mild, he looked a little vigilant and displeased.

"Doctor, about Sylvester's mother's identity and things about him, it is a private family matter. If these things are what you want to ask about, I think I have nothing to tell you"

If it's about anything else, I will tell you everything I know truthfully.

But when it comes to family affairs, I'm sorry, Doctor. Even though you are my life savor, I can't answer your question."

"Also, what you just said is just your guess. As for the Syracuse Village and the amnesia due to man made reasons you just mentioned, I can't understand what you are talking about at all."

Although Duke Rosen still looked quite steady on the surface, he was actually extremely shocked inside.

These are his most private and secret things.

But how did Nikita know?

She even knew that Sylvester was found a small village.

And she also knows about Sylvester's amnesia.

These are all things he asked his cronies to do those days. And it is absolutely impossible for them to disclose these things to an outsider.

Nikita knew that Duke Rosen would not admit it easily.

But whether Duke Rosen admits it or not, she already has the answer she wants.

Moreover, since she came to Duke Rosen to ask about it in person, she brought the evidence with her.

She has been looking for Freddy for so many years. And now, she finally found him. No matter what happened, she will definitely make Freddy recognize her.

She will find a way to restore Freddy's memory.

As for whether Freddy chooses to stay here or leave with her, she will not force him.

She just wants to fulfill one of her wishes.

Since she has found Freddy, she didn't let Granny Callie down.