

The Girl CB 571

Chapter 571 Nikita Must Be Severely Punished.

“The school should be the cleanest and fairest place. We all pass the exam and get the places through our own strength, why can some people specialize?”

“We asked to cancel Nikita’s participation quota. She must apologize and admit her mistakes in front of the teachers and students of the whole school.”

“President Dylon, the quota of Nikita should have been Xenia’s.” A boy pushed out a girl standing in the back row. The girl looked delicate and pretty, honest and dutiful. Her eyes were slightly red. She lowered her head and stretched out her hand to wipe the tears out of her eyes.

The boy looked angry and said, “It is because of her that Xenia can’t take the English exam! This is too unfair.”

Others have echoed: “Nikita must be severely punished and Xenia should be given justice.”

“Thank you, thanks... everyone.” The girl named Xenia sobbed, wiped her tears and choked and said, “I, I just want to know why I was sifted out. If my test scores are not as good as others, I accept it. But if it is other reasons, I... I am not convinced.”

Talbot’s office is almost crowded with people.

And there are still people standing in the corridor outside the office.

There were total of nearly twenty students.

A group of people begged for a statement, and the office was noisy.

Talbot pressed his temples, and his brain hurt from the noise.

He knew about it before the students came to him.

“Everybody be quiet. Listen to me.” The office was crowded, and the air was stuffy. Talbot felt flustered. He picked up the tea on the table and took a sip before looking at everyone. “I have already heard about this matter. You can rest assured that you will definitely be given an explanation.”

“As far as I know, it has nothing to do with Nikita getting a place in the competition.” Talbot knows the inside story. The papers completed by Nikita are now locked in his drawer. In the past two days, he has read the papers over and over again no less than five times.

Every time he watched it, he must marvel at it.

The test paper is perfect.

He even felt that 150 points was less, and he could add another 20 points to the final essay.

Lanny stood in front, and his body was a little tight. After listening to Talbot’s words, his tight fist loosened.

He breathed a sigh of relief in his heart.

So did Tammy, at the same time.

But Yvonne frowned and bit her lips. She was silent all the time. Suddenly, she made a soft voice: “Everyone can go back now President Dylan said that Nikita didn’t pull any strings. It seems that we misunderstood her”

As soon as she finished her sentence, an angry voice sounded beside her: “What is the misunderstanding, if she didn’t pull some strings, how can she explain that she didn’t take the test but got the quota?”

“President Dylan, what we want is the truth! If Nikita didn’t play trick, why can she get the quota? I also hope that President Dylan can give us an exact statement.”

“Yes, it is too unconvincing to say that she didn’t pull strings.”

“The truth, we want the truth!”

“If there is no exact statement, we will not leave!”

“If the matter can’t be resolved at school, we’ll have to take it up with the education bureau.”

Chapter 572 She Got Full Marks.

His face fell, “The school will not allow anyone to pull strings. The first Senior High School of N City is a hundred-year famous school. The reason why our school has maintained its reputation for more than 100 years is that in addition to having excellent educational resources, fairness is also a very important point to us.”

“Nikita getting a spot has nothing to do with any connections. She didn’t take the examination because she had already passed the test and got the place in advance. Miss Sue had already told me about it and got my approval.”

“As for the other allegation against her that she took another student’s position, it is not true either.” Looking at the frozen group, Talbot opened his desk drawer. He took the test papers that Nikita had finished from inside and dropped them on the desk.

“According to her test scores, Nikita is number one in the school. Why is there such a claim that she took up someone else’s spot?”

“These are the papers of her early test. If you think the questions on this examination were hard, the questions of this paper that she was given will only be harder.”

“I believe Yvonne and Lanny are well aware of the difficulty of these papers.”

Talbot’s few words froze the group of students who had been furiously demanding an explanation a second before.

What?

Nikita passed the test early?

And, according to her test scores, she was she number one in the school?

Did they hear it clearly?

And, what were those test papers Talbot threw on the table? Those are... Are those the papers Nikita finished?

A boy standing next to Yvonne turned his head to look at her and asked in confusion, “Yvonne, what did President Dylan mean by that?”

The others also turned their heads to look at Yvonne.

Yvonne and Lanny looked toward the test papers on the desk at the same time. They only took a couple of glances and felt that it looked familiar.

Upon further thought, the expressions on both of their faces changed slightly.

Wasn't this the paper they had done in Una's office before?

But these papers on Talbot's desk were not the ones they had finished. The Greek handwriting on the test papers was beautiful, as if a copy from a textbook. But the handwriting on the paper was with a little more spirit and fluency than the print on the textbook.

The handwriting on the paper had a strong personal character.

One would be impressed by a look at it.

Lanny stared at the test paper for a few seconds and suddenly thought of something. A startled light flashed in his eyes. He looked up and asked, "President Dylan, did Nikita finish these papers?"

Yvonne froze when she heard him ask that and also looked up.

'Did Nikita do these papers?'

How was that possible?

Nikita scored zero on her Greek test. How could she have had such beautiful handwriting in Greek?

Not to mention, she just glanced at the score on one of the test papers. Surprisingly, it was a full mark, 150.

Obviously, she thought it couldn't be Nikita who did the test. But she was inexplicably nervous.

She bit her lips tightly. In addition to the nervousness, there was also some inexplicable fear popping up.

But she didn't know what she was afraid of.

The air was really stuffy, probably because there were too many people in the office.

Talbot took a sip of tea. After taking a deep breath, he nodded, "Yes, Nikita finished these tests. You and Yvonne have also finished these papers. You should be clear that the difficulty of these papers is beyond the examination this time."

"Nikita got full marks in all these papers she did."

"Do you guys think that she is qualified to go to the Greek competition?"

Yvonne's eyes widened incredulously. Her expression changed.

Chapter 573 I'm Just Curious

How was that possible?

Nikita got full marks?

She thought the questions were pretty hard when she was having the test.

Her final score was less than 140.

How could Nikita, a person who had always scored zero in Greek, suddenly get full marks?

She couldn't believe it! She definitely didn't believe it! There must be some kind of underhanded operation here.

There was no way Nikita could have finished these papers!

Yvonne bit her lips tightly. Her expression was very ugly. She forced herself to show a smile, "Well, the class monitor and I did have finished the same test. The test paper was quite difficult... If Nikita really got full marks, she is definitely qualified to go to the competition."

"But emm..."

Lanny frowned slightly and looked down at her. His eyes were a little cold.

Yvonne said a "but", and several eyes fell on her at the same time.

Talbot frowned and looked at her, "Yvonne, what are you trying to say?"

Yvonne smiled gently and replied in a soft voice, "Nikita has been receiving financial support from my family. So, I actually knew her a long time ago. I heard all sorts of things about her from my parents a long time ago."

"It's not that I was suspicious. I was just quite curious. She hasn't done very well in school since she was a child. From elementary school to junior high school, she was always the worst student in the school. At that time, her school even persuaded my parents that Nikita just wasn't suited for serious study. They even asked my parents to finance someone else. Because they thought that there was no need to waste time on her."

"It was evident that she did not do well in her studies. And she's indeed at the last one of every semester."

"But why? She was getting zeroes at her country school. But why could she get full marks in a key school like First Senior High School of N City?"

“Could it be that...” Yvonne bit her lower lip again, with a confused expression, “Could it be that First Senior High School of N City, a national key high school which ranked number one in the country, has less educational resources than a rural high school in a poor district?”

“President Dylon, I don’t mean anything else. I’m just quite curious. I’d like to know what Nikita’s trick is to skyrocket her grades. Can she share it with us? Maybe other students at her previous level will be able to get full marks after learning her study method. In this way, our First Senior High School of N City’s college advancement rate may be much higher.”

As soon as Yvonne’s voice fell, the others echoed.

“Yeah, we’re curious too.”

“I want to know her method too. We want to get full marks too.”

“Nikita got full marks? Are you sure it wasn’t a backward deduction of all the marks? It doesn’t seem very convincing to take out a few papers and say that she did the full marks, does it? I don’t believe that someone who gets a zero score can suddenly get a perfect score. Unless, of course, she switched heads with a smarter person.”

Although Talbot brought out the test papers to prove it, it was clear that not many people believed him.

Because they thought the same thing as Yvonne.

No one believed Nikita’s results were real.

If Nikita was so good, why did she get a zero before?

No one wanted to be a poor student and be looked down upon.

Talbot's face fell again.

Thinking about Nikita's relationship with the Swift family, he looked at Yvonne with eyes that were not as soft as before.

Only then did he realize that this good student he used to like was not as innocent as he thought.

This girl has a lot of crooked thoughts.

Although she said she was curious and meant nothing else, when she said that, it was no different from fanning the flames.

Chapter 574 Take Another Test Openly

"What do you guys want?" Tammy couldn't stand it anymore, "President Dylan said Niky didn't get her spot by any connections. You guys didn't believe him. Now President Dylan told you that Niky passed the test in advance and showed you the test paper she finished, you don't believe him either."

"I see You guys are not trying to help Xenia to seek justice. You are deliberately making trouble for Niky, right? Niky was selected as the hottest girl in the school, which makes some people and his or her sycophants uncomfortable. So, you guys want to get her down like this?"

"Bah, how shameless and disgusting!" Tammy said this in Yvonne's direction. Her face was full of undisguised contempt.

Yvonne's expression was very embarrassing.

She knew Tammy was talking about her. But Tammy didn't name her. If she retorted to Tammy, she would admit that she was that "someone".

And Tammy would definitely take the chance and ironically sass her again.

Yvonne couldn't talk about her real thoughts and was furious. She bit her lips tightly and turned her head to glare at Tammy fiercely.

She thought, 'Tammy, you crazy bitch. Now you're on Nikita's side.

'You act against me all the time.

'Sooner or later, I'll teach you a lesson!'

"Tammy, watch your mouth!" Several boys who had a crush on Yvonne changed their expressions. They turned to look at her viciously. "She is just a hick who got the last one in every exam. Who the hell wants to get her down? Down from where? The throne of the worst student ever?"

"She's always been the last one in the exams. And now you say she got full marks. Who believes that? You think we are all stupid?"

"So, you're saying that President Dylan is helping to cover up for her?" Tammy glared back at them without any fear, "Leon, you're so excited. Could it be that you're afraid that you'll lose the bet and have to kneel and apologize to Niky and me, are you?"

The boy named Leon sneered, "The game is still on. Who knows?"

"All right, all of you, be quiet." Talbot got a headache from the noise. And he looked at the group of students. helplessly and angrily, "So what do you want?"

This group of students was difficult to deal with.

If he had known, he should have let Nikita take the examination this time.

If this was the case, he wouldn't be in such a difficult position now.

He would say that Nikita, the junior fellow of his teacher, had an incomprehensible way of doing things.

She had great ability. But she had to get a zero on every exam.

Now, it was like this. Even if she got full marks now, nobody would believe it.

Actually, this group of students had a reason to suspect it. She got full marks right after she got zero in every exam. Without any process, anybody would doubt the authenticity of her high marks.

In particular, no one had ever seen Nikita study since she transferred to this school.

She did nothing but sleep and play with her phone every day.

If she had acted to be hardworking, she wouldn't have made so many people question her grades.

"President Dylon, since everyone doesn't believe that Nikita finished these papers, I think the best solution is to let her take the same papers for the examination this time as everyone else."

Yvonne acted like she was doing justice, "We can select a few students to invigilate her finish the examination. Even if she doesn't get full marks on the test, she will join the competition as long as she gets 130 or above. In that case, she can prove that she is good at Greek and is qualified to compete."

"In this way, no one will suspect her anymore."

"I agree." Leon was the first to raise his hand, "Let's do what Yvonne said. Nikita doesn't need to get a perfect score. As long as she gets a 130 or above, we'll shut up and stop talking about it."

Chapter 575 A Hidden Stright-A Student

"I agree too. But I think the scored test papers have been given back to us. The answers are already known to everyone. So, using the test papers for this examination again won't come to her real level. It's better to use the paper that no one has done." Another boy also nodded in agreement.

"I just bought two sets of Greek papers for my practice." Yvonne said thoughtfully, "The difficulty should be similar to the test papers. If you don't have any comments, I'll go get them now."

"President Dylon, do you think it's okay?" Yvonne looked at Talbot quite politely and gently.

Lanny and Tammy both furrowed.

'To have the students watch her taking a test?'

'How could Nikita be willing to accept that?'

In the hallway.

Samuel and Tobin were standing outside the office door when they heard the voice coming from inside.

They looked at each other with shocked and incredulous expressions.

What did they just hear?

Nikita had taken a test in advance and had passed.

Did she get full marks?

The group of people was now claiming her test score was not authentic and strongly demanded Nikita to take another test.

Samuel suddenly remembered how Nikita answered when he asked her about the competition quota earlier. She said, "By my true ability."

At that time, he thought she was perfunctory and didn't believe it at all..

But now it seemed that Nikita hadn't lied to him?

Samuel felt that Talbot had no reason to harbor Nikita. They all knew Talbot. This old man wouldn't do such a thing.

So, if he said Nikita got full marks in the exam, then the credibility of her high score was high.

"Holy crap."

Samuel was shocked. He swallowed his saliva and mumbled as if he was talking in his sleep, "A perfect score... So, Niky is actually a hidden Straight-A? I always thought she was pretending to read Greek novels to impress us... Did I misunderstand her..."

Tobin looked at him. After thinking about it for a few seconds, he nodded seriously, "What you said is not impossible."

At that moment, two familiar figures came up to him.

It was Una and Miss Morris.

The two came over and froze when they saw Tobin and Samuel standing outside, "What are you two doing here?"

"It's about Niky, of course." Samuel looked at Una, thought of somethin and asked, "Miss Sue, Niky had taken a Greek test in advance, did you give her the test?"

Una was stunned. Hearing Samuel use the nickname "Niky", she didn't expect them to have such a good relationship with Nikita.

Una nodded, "I gave her the test, why?"

"Did Niky really get full marks on the test?" Samuel confirmed with Una, "According to the test results, she really ranked first in the whole school?"

"Of course." Una spoke with undisguised admiration, "Nikita's Greek is very good. Not an average person can reach that level. Not only can she get the number one ranking in the whole school, she even has a very good chance of getting first place in this Greek Competition of the 100 Schools League."

Samuel was shocked once again.

This evaluation was high.

The Greek Competition of the Hundred Schools League was a national competition.

Did Una mean that Niky might have a chance to get the number one ranking in the country?

In all these years, the best First Senior High School of N City had ever gotten was second place.

And they got second place only once.

Because of this, their school was always ridiculed by the Foreign Language School of N City, which took first place every time.

If Niky can get first place, then the First Senior High School of N City would be able to be proud for once!

Chapter 576 Nikita Must Take Another Test

Niky would be the first and only person at First Senior High School of N City to have taken first place in the Greek Competition so far!

“But now they don’t believe Niky’s score is real!” Thinking of the questioning voices that just came out of the office, Samuel said with a displeasing expression, “I heard them all saying that they don’t think Niky did the test paper by herself. And now they are saying that Niky should have another test. And, they want to watch Niky while she is doing the test!”

“Miss Sue, Miss Morris, we might need you to say something about it,” Tobin said.

Una and Miss Morris nodded, “That’s why we are here.”

Una and Miss Morris walked into the office.

“President Dylon.” Seeing Talbot, they greeted him politely.

ww

Talbot’s complexion was not good. He looked tired. He was rubbing his forehead. When he saw Una and Miss Morris, he hurriedly said as if he was seeing the saviors, “You watched Nikita finish the papers she did, and you graded her papers. You guys should explain to others.”

“They don’t believe anything I say.”

Una looked at the students behind.

Most of them were from Class A.

Seeing her, the group of students greeted her obediently, “Miss Sue.”

Yvonne also greeted gently and then said, “Miss Sue, we didn’t mean to cause trouble. We just wanted to seek justice. No one is intentionally targeting anyone. And if this happened to another person, everyone would have questions too.”

Una frowned and was about to say something. Miss Morris said first. She looked toward Yvonne with faint eyes and said in a light voice, "Miss Sue and I watched Nikita finish her exam papers. What do you mean by questioning? Are you suspect that Miss Sue and I have teamed up to deceive you?"

Yvonne froze. Her expression was a little unnatural for a moment. She bit her lip and said, "That's not what I meant."

"Miss Morris, Nikita used to get zero in every Greek exam. And her other subjects were at the bottom of the list. We have the right to question her, right? You can't be so biased towards Nikita just because she's in your class."

"And with you watched her finish the text privately. There could be a lot of possibilities. Who knows the truth?"

"Since she is so good. What's wrong with letting her take another test? People who are really capable will not be afraid of another test. Only a liar who has no talent will be afraid of an open test!"

A liar?

Wasn't that saying they were helping Nikita cheat?

Miss Morris, who was the most cynical teacher about falsifying in studies, was furious on hearing these remarks.

"If Nikita's score is true, then let her take another test to prove it." Another boy said, "Now, not only us, but the whole school knows about this. Everyone has doubts."

"Letting Nikita take another test is to explain the whole school as well."

Other students also agreed.

“That’s right, let Nikita take another test.”

“If she doesn’t want to, then she must be guilty! It means her grades aren’t real at all!”

“Nikita must take another test. Her previous score cannot be counted!”

The group of students, again, got rowdy.

Talbot felt his headache get worse. He hesitated to call Nikita and ask her to take another test.

But for no reason, he was a little afraid of Nikita, the junior fellow of his teacher.

He always felt that if he called her, he would be scolded.

Chapter 577 What Will You Pay for This

Una and Miss Morris were also furious and had a headache.

They had never encountered such a situation before.

For a while, they didn’t know what to do.

“I think it’s better to have someone go get Nikita to come over and take another test.” Yvonne suggested again in a considerate voice, “The reason people are questioning her is that her previous scores are really...” “If she gets a good score in another exam, no one will ever say anything again.”

Both Una and Miss Morris didn’t make a sound.

That was indeed a solution.

But Nikita...

Talbot frowned and was hesitant.

At that moment, a lazy voice rang out from the doorway, "Will you people shut up if I get full marks in another test?"

This voice...

Una and Miss Morris turned their heads with some excitement.

The others also turned their heads in the direction of the door.

The young girl with delicate and stunning features held her arms and lazily twisted her head. She stood in a lazy posture.

She slightly hooked her lips. In her dark eyes, there was coldness. She half squinted her eyes, as if she was still sleepy. But her look was cold and sharp. The students who met her eyes quickly all moved away their eyes like they had been stung.

The young girl was standing in the hallway in a casual and lazy posture.

Her posture was loose and unrestrained.

But her aura was making people feel an invisible oppressive force.

She walked toward the office.

The students blocking the doorway couldn't help but retreat to the sides, making a path for her.

Seeing the scene, Tobin and Samuel, who were following her, gave each other a look and both secretly thought to themselves that Niky rock!

'So, this is the legendary aura of big shots.

'This scene...

'Felton had it before.

'Now Niky!'

Nikita walked into the office. One second, the office was nosing. As soon as Nikita showed up, the office went into silence.

A dozen eyes, in unison, looked at her.

Most of them were unkind.

Yvonne looked toward Nikita. A cold light flashed quickly in her eyes. And then, she withdrew her gaze. Looking at the girl who walked up to him, Lanny lowered his eyes. He thought of something.

Una and Miss Morris, including Talbot, were secretly relieved.

Nikita had come on her own.

This was a lot easier.

Otherwise, she might not be willing to take another exam for their sake if they called her on phone. And if that was the case, they could not force her.

Leon, who sang in unison with Yvonne and first offered to let Nikita take another test, looked at Nikita with cold eyes and said with a sneer, "You don't need a perfect score. Xenia's test score is 128. You just have to surpass her and we'll shut up."

Looking at Nikita's delicate and flawless features, Leon was surprised by her face.

But it was only a surprise.

He admitted that Nikita was beautiful. She was more beautiful than Yvonne.

But he preferred intelligent girls.

He wouldn't like a girl who had a pretty face but had no wit at all.

The person he liked is Yvonne. So, naturally, he wanted to take advantage of this incident to take revenge for Yvonne.

Nikita turned her eyes and looked at Leon. She raised her eyebrows slightly and said with a chill in her eyes, "I can take another test. However, since you suspect that my results are untrue and demand that I should take another test, then you have to be more specific. If I get a higher score on another exam, what should you pay for that?"

"I was suspected by so many people and accused of being a liar and using connections to take other people's spot. The price of your wrong accusing is just to shut up?"

Chapter 578 She Would Let Nikita Be Revealed

Nikita's gaze lightly swept over all the students in the office. She slowly said, "Will that be too easy for you guys."

Leon was stunned and got a little nervous by her look. He took a deep breath to stabilize his mind and frowned, "What do you want then?"

"What do I want?" Nikita raised her eyebrows and laughed lightly. She said in a lazy and casual manner but making people feel chilled, "Well, nothing much. I heard that someone had a bet with Tammy that if my score is real, that person will kneel and apologize to us."

She looked at Leon and asked in a soft voice, "Is that you?"

Leon met her dark, cold eyes. He felt his heart shrink again. He inexplicably felt a little weak.

He pursed his lips and answered coldly after a few seconds, "It's me. What's wrong!"

"Kneeling is not necessary, I do not like that. At the flag-raising ceremony on Monday, all of you who have come today to ask for an explanation will go on stage and collectively apologize in front of the whole school." Nikita said slowly and casually.

Her words and tone were so confident.

As if she was determined that she would definitely win this bet.

"Oh, good." Leon looked at her coldly, "Just as you required. If we have wronged you, all of us will apologize to you in front of the whole school."

The others had no objections.

Because Nikita was not likely to win this bet.

“Then we’ll vote for two invigilators. One teacher and one student.” After rubbing his head for a while, Talbot finally slowed down and spoke out, “Miss Morris is from Class F. To avoid suspicion, Miss Sue should be the invigilator.”

“As for the student, you guys can choose one by yourselves.”

“I recommend Yvonne,” Leon turned his head and asked the others behind him, “What do you say?”

The others were all with Leon. They naturally nodded and agreed.

Yvonne, who was elected as the representative by a group of people, turned around and said gently, “Thank you all for choosing me. I will not fail to live up to your trust.”

She could personally watch Nikita. She wanted to see how Nikita cheat this time!

This time, she would let Nikita show her real level.

Talbot offered his desk and chair to Nikita for writing her paper.

Nikita didn’t bother. She walked over and sat down slowly.

With one hand holding her chin, she picked up and played with the pen on the desk with the other hand. She looked very relaxed.

Talbot took out his good tea and went to make a cup of tea. Then he brought it over and put it on Nikita’s left side.

He didn’t think much of it.

He just thought that Nikita was the senior fellow of his teacher. He should take care of her.

But Una, who was standing at the side, and Yvonne, who had brought the test papers and was ready to knock at the door, were frozen in their tracks.

Talbot was the vice principal.

President Wilde was at home to recover from a long illness and did not come to school often.

Una was an insider. She had already heard that Wilde would retire early at the end of the year. And then the position of the Principle of the school would be given to Talbot.

Although Talbot was nice.

But he never made them tea.

Nikita was a student.

Why could she be treated by a vice-principal like this?

Una looked at Nikita with some doubts. Seeing Nikita's frank expression that she didn't feel flattered at all, there were a few more doubts and speculations in Una's heart.

Chapter 579 Is She Scribbling on the Test Paper?

The vice-principal poured tea for her. But she didn't even say "thank you"?

She accepted it like it was Talbot's job to do this for her.

Talbot, on the other hand, didn't seem to think Nikita was rude, as if he was doing what he was supposed to do.

Una was confused.

What was Nikita's identity?

Her family background was quite clear. She grew up in Syracuse Village with her grandmother.

She was not from a distinguished family.

Although she had good medical skills, Talbot would not do this for that sake.

Yvonne, standing in the doorway, couldn't figure out why Talbot was so attentive to Nikita.

The Swift family was very rich. And she was a top student in Class A.

But she wouldn't have such treatment from Talbot.

And even Felton Lambert, who was from such a good family, would not have been able to make Talbot so attentive.'

Yvonne bit her lip. Seeing Nikita sitting in Talbot's place in a loose posture and drinking the tea Talbot made for her, she felt a pang in her heart.

She took a deep breath and reached out to knock on the door, "President Dylan, Miss Sue, I brought the test papers over."

“Come in.” Talbot gave up his seat and walked aside to sit on the small sofa.

Yvonne handed the test paper to Una.

Una took it and glanced at it. She handed it to Nikita, “The answering time is 120 minutes, so let’s start now.” This paper was not difficult.

It was easier than the previous paper Nikita had done.

But the difficulty of the tests was similar.

Nikita took the test paper and scanned it casually. She put it flat on the table, unscrewed the cap of the pen, and started to answer the questions.

Yvonne stood across from her. Her gaze was fixed on Nikita.

She wanted to see how Nikita could get full marks this time.

Across from Yvonne, the girl answered the questions extremely fast.

She did the multiple-choice questions one per second, without any pause in between.

As Yvonne stared at her, her expression changed a little.

Only three minutes passed, and Nikita had already finished a large part of the test paper.

She answered the questions very fast. Her writing speed was also very fast.

Yvonne didn’t even see clearly what Nikita had written on the paper. She only saw lines and lines of Greek 'characters on the white paper sheet. And by this time, Nikita had already started on the last few big questions.

She was already writing the essay!

This was the SAT paper that Yvonne had just bought.

It was a set of papers co-authored by some creators of the SAT examination.

It was expensive.

But it worked very well to use it as practice.

Nikita had practiced this series.

The reason she was able to place in the last Greek Competition was that she usually used these papers for exercise. She had met many important knowledge points.

The paper Nikita did was the most difficult one she picked from a set of papers.

It was not as difficult as the one that Una had asked her to finish. But for Nikita, it was definitely difficult enough!

It would have taken her an hour to do it herself.

But now only five minutes had passed....

Nikita was almost finished with the last big question.

Yvonne couldn't believe Nikita was taking the questions seriously.

She must be kidding.

Did she scribble on the test paper?

She felt that she had found the reason why Nikita scored zero on every test.

Nikita didn't just get a bad grade in Greek. The truth might be she didn't know Greek at all, right?

Sure enough, her true level was revealed in a flash.

Another minute passed.

Nikita finished the last question. She threw the pen on the table and yawned lazily, covering her mouth, "I'm done."

Chapter 580 Full Marks Still

Una, "..."

Nikita still had such a scary speed in finishing the paper.

Was her speed normal for an ordinary student?

Could it be that her brain was different from her normal counterparts?

Talbot was also stunned.

He just drank a mouthful of tea. He almost spat out in shock.

He was unaware of Nikita's speed in answering questions.

When Una and Miss Morris talked to him before, they only said that Nikita was quite fast in doing the test papers.

But...

Talbot couldn't believe it.

When they said she was fast, was that how fast she was?

In less than 10 minutes, she finished the paper.

The normal answering time was twelve minutes, and Nikita took less than a tenth of that time.

"You finished it? Are you sure?" Talbot choked on the tea in his mouth. After coughing several times, his breath calmed down a bit. He asked with a slight gasp.

Nikita nodded, "Yeah."

Talbot, "You still have a lot of time. You can check again carefully."

It was inevitable that something would go wrong when she finished the paper so quickly.

"No need." Nikita turned her head to look at Una, "Miss Sue, I'm done. You guys can count the scores."

In order to avoid cheating...

The paper would be scored in public. Yvonne would also be there to watch.

“Are

you sure you don’t want to check it again?” Una went up and asked again before taking the papers.

Nikita looked at her with her dark and pure eyes. She said nothing.

Una didn’t ask anything more. She picked up the test paper and turned to walk toward Talbot.

“Principal, let’s score this paper together. Also, Yvonne, you can come over and watch. Look carefully, so that no one will say that we are operating privately and falsifying again.”

Una’s words made Yvonne’s expression change.

Una was the teacher of Class A, and Yvonne was the top student in the class.

Previously, Una liked Yvonne quite a lot.

But this time, she found out that this good student, whom she used to think was simple and well-behaved, was not that simple.

The fact that Nikita was taking another test was also something that Yvonne helped to make happen.

Nikita was the adopted daughter of the Swift family.

Yvonne was not very friendly to this nominal sister.

Talbot and Una grade the paper together.

After half an hour, the two finished scoring the papers Nikita had done.

While Talbot was grading the papers, he was amazed.

If he hadn't been watching with his own eyes, he would never have believed that a paper that took less than ten minutes to finish could actually get full marks.

The final essay was the most time-consuming question.

If a student wanted to write well and get a good score, twenty minutes would not be enough.

Nikita finished the paper in less than 10 minutes, and the quality of the final essay was so high that Talbot thought it could be used as a template essay for other students.

The total score came out to be full marks.

A nice and fair 150 points.

When Una wrote down the number 150 in red at the top of the paper, Yvonne, who had been watching Una and Talbot grade the paper, turned pale.

Her body swayed. She was a little unsteady.

She looked unbelievably at those red ticks on the paper and the extremely eye-catching 150. She bit her lips. Nikita really got a perfect score.

She watched her finish writing the paper, and she watched Talbot and Una finish correcting it.

So, it was impossible to fake the score.

But how was it possible....

How could Nikita's Greek be so good?

If this was her real level, what happened to the zero she got before?
