

The Girlboss 178

Chapter 178

Chris snorted. "I know every mansion owner here in Skywater Bay. Why have I never seen you?"

It was no beast—there were no more than a hundred mansion owners in Skywater Bay, all of whom were important locals or individuals from nearby states.

Chris even knew which mansion belonged to whom.

Peter snapped at Frank right then, "Are you deaf?! He asked you a question!"

Gina scoffed in disdain as well. "What, cat got your tongue?"

Frank simply pointed at the hilltop mansion. "That's my house."

"Haha!" Chris laughed right then. "You're really too much."

"You own the hilltop mansion?" Gina scoffed. "Know your limit when you're lying, Frank. Or do you really take us for fools?"

"You don't belong here... No, I think you're just here to break into the mansion," Peter snapped and turned to Chris. "Call the cops. Have him arrested."

Chris sneered and shook his head. "That's unnecessary. Skywater Bay's security personnel are all veteran mercenaries—they would have no issue with him."

With that, he whipped out his phone to make the call, his eyes still fixed on Frank. "You'd better admit that you sneaked in before security comes, or you're not getting away when they arrived."

Frank simply stared at them in wry amusement.

“Once ignorant, always ignorant. You’re not worth my time.”

Shaking his head exasperatedly, Frank started to turn and leave, but Peter promptly leaped up, grabbing his arm. “Stop! Who told you that you could leave?!”

He had been meaning to get payback, and he was not about to let this chance slip!

Frank looked at his hand in disdain. “Let go.”

“Or what, are you going to hit me? Here, of all places?” Peter sneered smugly—he wanted exactly that.

Frank’s eyes flashed in anger, and he raised his hand, ready to slap Peter!

“Stop!” Chris suddenly shouted on top of his lungs as Skywater Bay’s security arrived. “That’s him! He sneaked into our neighborhood, and look—he’s going to start a fight!”

Peter was overjoyed as well. “Hurry! I got him right here! Beat him up!”

However, as Jimmy—the captain of the security team—hurried forward, he was left dumbstruck when he saw Frank.

Sneak in?! The man fucking owned the hilltop mansion, and Yara Quill herself had personally escorted him there!

Even if Jimmy had no idea who Frank really was, the fact that he remained unscathed after killing Sean Wesley made it obvious he was no average Joe!

“Let go of him right now!” Jimmy barked at Peter even as he sweated bullets.

Peter was too stunned to understand what happened, even as Jimmy pulled his hand off. “What are you doing?!” Gina snapped furiously. “Aren’t you going to punish that interloper?!”

“Shut up!” Jimmy bellowed. “He owns a mansion here, so don’t you dare spout such slander!” “What?!”

The trio were certainly stunned by Jimmy’s words.

Gina and Peter’s jaws could drop on the floor right then, and they could scarcely believe their ears.

Chris was completely bewildered too.

There was a new resident here? He never heard anything about that!

Ignoring them, Jimmy turned toward Frank. “Are you alright, Mr. Lawrence?”

Frank nodded. “I’m fine. I’ll be leaving now—I have something else to do, and I’m not obliged to waste my time with this lot.”