Chapter 12 Bitch

After doing so, Tinsley began her skincare routine without concentrating on other things. She needed to make sure she appeared beautiful always so that others would never call her beautiful triplet's mother, ugly.

Recalling the Triplets made her remember Jarek, and it sent a chill down her spine, but she tried to get out of it.

With her face mask on, Tinsley decided to sort out her emails. She hadn't done that lately and her manager was busy because of the newly released book which made everything fall on Tinsley's shoulders. It seems she'd have no other choice than to employ a new assistant in Ryle.

Tinsley's hand that was scrolling through important emails soon came to a stop when she saw an email from J media.

Her eyes widened as she deciphered that it could only be from the triplet's father's company, Jarek's company.

Tinsley bit her lower lips anxiously. Why is it that when she braced herself to stop thinking about Jarek was the real-time his company sent her a message? Does he want to be living in her head?

Tinsley braced herself and she tapped the email.

Her face paled when she read that Jarek requested a meeting with White Tigress.

"A meeting? What am I going to do?" Tinsley asked herself. Her heart was pounding fast, and she couldn't help pacing the room worriedly. Only if her manager was around, she could have asked her to go on her behalf... No! This is president Jarek asking for a meeting, does she even dare to send a manager?

Tinsley asked herself and tried to calm down. She believed that she was thinking too much.

"It's not as if he remembers me, or does he?" She tilted her head innocently. "Nope, he doesn't. But if he does?" She asked herself again. "If he does, then he doesn't know I gave birth to the Triplets so what am I being afraid of?" Tinsley asked herself quietly.

"Nothing. It's nothing." She nodded her head in relief.

"So there's nothing I can do other than to go to the meeting. Jarek controls the whole Ryle, can I even run? Am I a puny bestseller author worth anything in his eyes?" Tinsley asked herself and after a while she quickly discarded the idea to run from the meeting.

Tinsley knew that the reason Jarek would want to have a meeting with her is only for a reason, and that's her book.

Everyone knew that her return to Ryle's country was because she wanted to turn her book into a drama even though there was another reason. And since her book was a hot topic now, Jarek as a businessman would always seek profit which is investing in her drama.

And to think about it, J Media is one of the biggest media in Ryle and the continent, if she agreed to this proposal, she would be the one to have the most benefits.

Thinking about it now, Tinsley sighed and immediately agreed to have a meeting with the father of her triplet. She sent the message and then decided to sleep. She would solve everything about social media tomorrow, but before she could...

"BITCH!" Rory's voice suddenly resounded in the house.
