

Chapter 16: Rory's Plan

Chapter 16 Rory's Plan

"Jason?" Tinsley was taken aback to see Jason sulking with tears in his eyes. Seeing that Tinsley was nearby, Jason quickly cleared his search history and ran toward his mom.

He decided to act childish for this one time. Just this one time. Mom is the best. She said he doesn't have to be an adult.

"Baby?" Tinsley called as she was filled with worries about his behavior.

Jason wrapped his hand around her neck and buried his face in the crook of her neck. "Mom." He called silently.

Tinsley began to pat his back gently in order to comfort him, "Baby, tell me what's wrong with you?" Tinsley asked. "Who bullied you? Tell mom, mom will make them pay." She said to him and he nodded in reply. 1

"Mom. Nobody bullied me." He replied and suddenly raised his head to look at her. "Mom, you can only love us the most, right." He says with a serious expression

Although Tinsley thought that something was amiss in his words, she still nodded seriously, "Of course. My Triplets is the number one in mommy's heart."

Hearing his mom reply, Jason was relieved and immediately climbed down from her body. "Ok." He replied and quickly resumed his cold demeanor.

Even when Tinsley wanted to ask the reason behind his tears and actions, Jason pursed his lips seriously and put his focus on the television but inwardly he was feeling smug.

So what if Jarek is one of the richest men in Ryle and the continent, they're the number one in mom's heart forever.

Seeing that he was back to his normal character, Tinsley decided to let him be, believing that he'd tell her whenever he is ready.

"I'll be back," Tinsley said and went to the kitchen.

Rory immediately dropped her phone and followed Tinsley. "What are you doing?" She asked, leaning against the wall.

"Cute adult demand my meal," Tinsley replied, talking about Jason.

"Jason is so sensible," Rory said. "When he's sensible like that, he looks a lot like president Jarek," Rory commented while watching Tinsley's reaction firmly.

Tinsley froze slightly but she quickly shook her head and snapped out of it. "What... d... did you m... mean President Jarek?" She tried to speak calmly but ended up stuttering. Her heart was beginning to pound in fear. Did Jason really look like... No, Jason looks a lot like Jarek. Now that she is in Ryle, what if his image makes people suspicious?

"Haha. How can I do that with president Jarek?" Tinsley tried to play it off but Rory had confirmed what she wanted to. Jarek is the triplet's father.

"I guess I'm thinking too much," Rory said with a cunning smile and walked away after getting the result she wanted.

It turns out that the father was Jarek...

Rory also paled fearfully upon thinking about the consequences that followed stealing the precious president Jarek's seed but she soon snapped out of it.

Before Tinsley could pay for the consequences, Rory needs to begin the 'operation to seduce' President Jarek.

Whether Tinsley likes it or not, Rory will be the one to dress her for the meeting and the party.

Rory can't and mustn't lose such an expensive brother-in-law. Rory thought and began to chuckle to herself.

"Aunty, why are you smiling at yourself?" Ariel and Mason commented with disapproving gazes. They had just woken up and when they arrived in the sitting room what they saw was Rory laughing to herself.

They walked past Rory and walked toward Tinsley. Tinsley left a kiss on their cheeks before they made their way back to the sitting room to sit beside Jason.

A moment later, Tinsley called the triplets and Rory to have their breakfast.

Lillee had an annoyed frown on her face as she made her way downstairs. Even though she didn't want to accept that White Tigress disliked her. It has been confirmed now that whoever White Tigress is, hates Lillee.

And what made Lillee frustrated is that she didn't know who White Tigress was and how she offended her.

Lillee tried to think about if she interacted and fought with someone lately.

Who has she fought with lately? So many that she couldn't even remember.

Seeing Lillee's swollen face Mrs. William was annoyed, "Lillee are you okay? Your eyes look puffy, have you been crying?" Mrs. William asked in concern and Lillee ran into Mrs. William's embrace filled with unhappiness.

"Mom, why? What did I do wrong? They all kept shading me on the internet." Lillee cried out pitifully.

Although Lillee was being scolded by the mass it was not that bad yet, because her fans are fiercely scolding the Anti-fans but for Lillee, she hated seeing someone add a speck of dust to her name which is why she felt wrong because many people are now talking about her being hypocritical.

Mrs. William also felt annoyed by the scolding from the mass. She hasn't even taken care of her daughter well, how dare the masses talk bad about her? "They're being crazy. It's that evil white tigress fault only if..."

Before Mrs. William could complete her words, Lillie's phone began to ring. "Manager Frankie..."

"Why did you post something on your social media last night?" Manager Frankie was filled with annoyance when she woke up to see the scandal that had arisen due to Lillie's post.

She has always been the one in charge of what her idol posts. Even though she wasn't really strict with what artists under her should post, all of them know to ask her before posting something that would lead to things like this

It's just that Lillie is too proud and hardly listens to her warning and she always acted like she was above everyone.

If not because of the favor she owed Conrad, she'd never sign Lillie under her.

"I..." Before Lillie could complete her words, she burst into tears which made Manager Frankie clench her fist in anger. What the hell is she crying for?
