The Audition

Chapter 29 The Audition

"Why wouldn't I? The building is all yours." Tinsley replied and returned to looking at the stage.

"Did President Jarek and White Tigress know each other!" The producer asked with a teasing smile.

"Yes. I and Tinsley are familiar." Jarek replied in an ambiguous tone which caused everyone to gasp.

They are really familiar; President Jarek even knows White Tigress's real name.

However no matter what sides they saw it from, white Tigress and President Jarek look like they were made for each other; Beautiful and handsome; rich bestseller and a billionaire; cold and lovely. No matter what side they see it from, they're good for each other.

Jarek's lips curved up slightly and he pinned his gaze on Director Martins who almost fell from his chair due to shock.

Turns out that was the reason President Jarek pinned his gaze on him. Ah. They were both... thankfully, he was quick to stand up.

Seeing the weird gaze everyone was giving her, Tinsley turned to him sharply. "What are you doing? Why do you say we are familiar?" She asked Jarek with gritted teeth.

"That's the truth. They were the ones to form a conclusion, not me." He replied with a shrug.

"President Jarek, you should clear the table now because of your partner and because of my future partner," Tinsley said.

Jarek narrowed his eyes upon hearing future partner, oh it seems there's no one yet. Jarek turned away from her and turned to the others. "Let it begin." He said which made Tinsley frown.

"President Jarek..."

"If you continue like this, people will think we are closer than that." He replied with a mischievous smirk which made her shut up.

"Hmph." Tinsley turned angrily. Unknown to her, Jarek's lips curved up slightly at her angry look. Cute!

"Conrad. Haven't you talked about it with white tigress yet?" Lillee asked Conrad in an innocent voice but inwardly she was impatient.

Conrad turned to her while fixing his ties, "My assistant will get a reply from the White Tigress manager today. However, you can go to J Media for an audition. I'll meet you once I'm done with the meeting." Conrad said, which made her face scrunch up in anger but she hid it quickly.

"Jarek Empire? Do the Norton stand a chance?" Lillee questioned because she knew that Jarek was rich enough to pick the budget for the movie production and a company like Norton didn't stand a chance and they weren't worth anything in Jarek's eyes.

"It's an investment where a lot of companies are welcome to invest, I was told," Conrad says and kisses her forehead. After a few minutes, Conrad left the mansion after waving at her.

Lillee kicked the door in anger upon seeing Conrad leave. "That scum, he's so useless, he couldn't even secure a female role for me in white tigress movie." So embarrassing that she had to go and audition with others.

Lillee was a top actress, why does she need to be auditioning for a role when others are begging for her to join their film but when she remembered the embarrassment she had gone through because of white Tigress, her face became twisted.

As long as she can get a role in the drama, she'll make white Tigress pay. Besides, the audition is going to take place in J Media, what if Jarek appears?

At that thought Lillee's eyes lit up happily, Jarek was more powerful compared to Conrad, if she can catch the attention of Jarek... Lillee clenched her fist and her body trembled in happiness and she quickly rushed toward the bathroom

Manager Frankie had already collected a ticket for Lillee so there was no problem for her to audition.

There were a lot of shocked gasps to see Lillee, one of the top trending actresses, arrive at the audition center for white Tigress movie. Especially when White Tigress and Lillee had an ongoing feud.

"Actress Lillee," One of the upcoming actresses called and walked toward Lillee. They had both acted in a drama before so she knew Lillee slightly.

Lillee nodded her head at the person and exchanged pleasantries with a feigned smile.

Lillee was about to say something when the person to call the auditioners in came outside. "The audition will begin right now. Everyone already had a number so we will be calling by the selected number. Good luck." The person said and returned from wherever he came from.

Hearing that, the people turned toward Lillee with an envious gaze. It's no news that Conrad will be investing in Taming her. Besides, Lillee is one of the top actors with a huge base of followers. Even though there seems to be a feud between White Tigress and Lillee, the majority of them think that Lillee is likely to be cast as the female lead.

The people's congratulations were already written on their faces and Lillee eagerly lapped it up while pretending to be innocent.

"Actress Lillee..."

"Stop looking at me like that, it's only up to White Tigress to choose whosoever is capable of the role." She said which made the others stare at her enviously.

"Stop being so mod..."

Before the actress could finish her words, a figure that caught everyone's actions immediately entered. And the arrival of that figure made Lillee's expression turn.
