Seducing Jarek

Chapter 43 Seducing Jarek

"Manager Frankie," After a little contemplation, Lillee decided to inform Manager Frankie about the lawsuit knowing that Manager Frankie, as a popular agent, would have a lot of connections, and she'll know the steps to take in order to make Jarek drop the lawsuit.

"Manager Frankie," Lillee called again with a voice filled with grievances and sadness. "I had just been summoned to the court by the J Media for slander, and it wasn't my fault. It's all that Tin..."

"Why are you telling me all that now?" Manager Frankie interrupted with a calm voice that shocked Lillee at first.

After a few seconds, Lillee's lips parted, and blurted out an answer without thinking, "Because you're my manager." She replied.

"Oh." Manager Frankie arched her brows in surprise. "But did I know about you taking steps to go to a venue for that movie or did you inform me before you posted your slandering online?" Manager Frankie retorted which made Lillee filled with disbelief, but she couldn't retort because Manager Frankie was right.

"If you think you know about me, you can rethink it. If I don't give you a 'yes' on whatever you do, and you end up stirring trouble yourself, you'll have to pay." Manager Frankie replied straightforwardly.

After a few minutes of silence, "So you mean, you won't be helping me?" Lillee's voice was calm now.

"Yes. And you're welcome to leave." Manager Frankie replied and immediately cut off the call.

"She's such a fake old hag who thinks she has everyone's respect. That old lonely hag." Lillee muttered angrily and threw her phone away.

After so much debating, she decided to call Conrad, hoping to receive good news from him. Even though she knew it wouldn't be possible with the J Empire. "Hello Conrad," Lillee said in a sweet voice.

"How's it going?" She quickly asked him, which made him sigh in annoyance. He wanted to be there for Lillee but the J Empire wasn't making it possible for him.

"The J Empire isn't giving me a face at all. I was refused entry into their company and everything even when I used my identity as the Norton CEO." He began to explain in a voice filled with frustration.

After so much debating, Lillee finally decided on something. 'Seducing Jarek.'

Lillee never believed that Jarek wouldn't be interested in her after she stripped for him.

After all, whether he's a cold man or not, he's still a man and every man tends to think with their lower half. Except for Conrad, who's still indulging her.

Without hesitation, Lillee quickly dressed in a see-through seductive mini dress before using her seductive makeup.

Lillee picked up a long coat and buttoned it up, so she wouldn't alert anyone. She also wore a hat in order to cover her face.

After sneaking out of the house, Lillee drove to J Empire and found a nearby place to park her car, and began to watch if Jarek was going to leave through the door.

Lillee knew that Jarek may not be in the J Empire, but she was still persistent and waited for him all-day.

It was 7:00 pm when Jarek left the company. Jarek had a meeting with two CEOs, basically Luke and Grayson, his best friends.

He had just entered the car when he noticed Lillee's presence, but he decided to ignore her knowing she was just a pesky fly that can be dealt with easily.

The club car park was empty when the two cars drove in.

Lillee quickly got out of the car with an excited look and walked toward Jarek's car without her coat on. "President Jarek." She called anxiously while knocking on the side of his car.

The car window was rolled down to reveal President Jarek's cold face.

Lillee smiled sweetly upon seeing his face. He had such a perfect face that made her heart tremble.

Lillee knew that he'd definitely be attracted to her; she has always been a goddess who's capable of stirring every man's heart.

"President Jarek, I'm here because of the court summons." Lillee's eyes were red and soft, seducing the innocent of the innocent.

"Hmm," Jarek replied coldly without casting an eye at her body that was revealed by her see-through dress, and it made her heart pain.

"President Jarek, all that happened wasn't my fault. It's all because of a stupid vixen that I'm at this point. President Jarek, can you withdraw the summoning? I promise to do anything." She batted her eyes at him flirtingly.

Even though Lillee didn't say it out, both of them already understood that she was saying she'd pay with her body. Besides the evidence was there with the way she stood in his presence with a see-through mini dress.

"The innocent Goddess Lillee had just called someone a stupid vixen in my presence. I guess you aren't that innocent considering you're currently dressed like a vixen." Jarek muttered with a scoff and casually rolled his sleeves up.

Lillee froze on the spot, she never expected that among all she said, that was the only thing President Jarek would point at.

Lillee bowed her head and after a few seconds, she had a sweet smile on her face.

"President Jarek should also understand that the innocent of an innocent will also lash out after being stepped on repeatedly." Lillee has always been a two-face person, so she was good with words.

"Hm," Jarek muttered and began to leave the park.

"President Jarek, wait for me." Lillee cried out anxiously and began to run after him.

"I'll pay with anything, including my body." She suddenly yelled behind him which made him stop in his tracks.

Jarek's face was cold as he walked toward her, and she began to shiver endlessly. "You mean that William and Norton's family combined can't pay and would instead send an ugly duckling to me?" He muttered in a cold voice.

Even though Jarek calling her an ugly duckling got on Lillee's nerves, she tried to cover it up with a sweet smile, "President Jarek. This is my cross to bear. I'm not involving my fiancé and family."

"How many times have you carried that cross?"

"I..." Lillee smiled sweetly, believing he wanted to praise her.

"I don't use cheap cheating products. See you in court." He interrupted coldly and finally left.

Lillee clenched her fist, feeling pained by Jarek's dismissal. "It must be that damn Tinsley's fault! She must have whispered nonsense to Jarek." She stomped her feet with anger before turning back to her car.

No matter what was done, Lillee failed woefully in court, and she eventually paid 500, 000, 000. Conrad and her parents paid 450 million while she pulled out 50 million.
