

The Kiss 251

Chapter 251

Belinda was the only one who talked to Collin occasionally to lighten up the mood

The car arrived at the Wesley family villa first. Since Belinda was sitting in the middle, Ellinor took the initiative to get off the car first to make way for her.

After getting out, Belinda asked Ellinor and Theo if they wanted to come in for a bit

However, both of them declined. Theo was straightforward in his rejection, while Ellinor's rejection was a bit more tactful

Belinda had no choice but to say goodbye to Ellinor reluctantly and then went home.

Ellinor returned to the car, sat by the window, put on her headphones, and continued to keep silent.

"What are you listening to?"

Theo finally asked her.

"Music."

Ellinor answered with her eyes closed.

"What song?"

"A pop song"

Theo frowned and stopped talking

Ellinor didn't even open her eyes to look at him.

Once they got home, Ellinor went straight to her room, took a shower, changed into her comfy clothes, and was ready to have some quality me-time.

The past few days hadn't been pleasant for her, not to mention they had been super exhausting.

After her shower, as she stepped out of the bathroom, Theo was outside on the balcony smoking

Hearing the bathroom door open, Theo glanced over and saw Ellinor about to hit the sack. He frowned and said, "Dry your hair before bed"

"Okay."

Ellinor, already on the bed, immediately stopped and obediently responded. She then got up and went back to the bathroom...

Soon after, the sound of a hairdryer could be heard from the bathroom.

Theo's face was serious Ellinor had complied obediently, but why did it make him feel even more uncomfortable?

Half an hour later, Ellinor came out with her hair dried and was ready for bed again....

"Come here, pour me a glass of water."

Theo's deep voice sounded again, this time in a commanding tone.

Ellinor was slightly annoyed. She took a deep breath, got up, poured a glass of water, and handed it to him.

After placing the glass on the table in front of him, Ellinor turned to leave without lingering.

However, her wrist was caught by Theo's large hand, pulling her back...

Ellinor was forced to sit on Theo's lap, with his arm around her waist preventing her from getting up!

She looked at Theo discontentedly. "Theo, what's up?"

Theo squinted at her and exhaled smoke toward her face, "Ellinor, what's with the attitude?"

Ellinor frowned. "Theo, I always do as you say is my attitude not good enough? Do you want me to kneel and kowtow to you after I pour you a glass of water?"

Chapter 252

Ellinor was speaking in a super aggressive tone, and it was downright rude.

What the heck happened?

A frown creased Theo's forehead, "Why on earth are you all riled up out of the blue?"

Ellinor threw up her hands. "Theo, I'm not mad at you! I just feel like we don't need to play house when no one is around, we don't need to nurture feelings, either. We should keep some distance between us!"

The woman in Theo's heart, Patricia, seemed to be making a comeback soon.

He seemed to have feelings for Patricia still

Therefore, she had zero interest in being a part of someone else's love story.

Byran and Haillie were giving her a hard time because of this.

As for that night a few days ago, it was a last resort for her to be with Theo because he was poisoned. She would wipe that memory from her mind, seal it off forever like it never even happened

After this, when they don't need to pretend to be a couple, she must keep a distance from Theo to ease her conscience!

All her words were driving Theo up the wall!

Till now, she thinks he's just playing along with her.

She wouldn't fail to notice his feelings for her if she paid attention.

*"Keep a distance? Theo retorted,
"Sure, then kindly remove yourself, don't sleep in my room. After all, men and women should keep a distance, right?"*

"Fine! I'm out!"

Ellinor nodded, forcefully shrugged off Theo's arm around her waist, and bolted, she would sleep in the guest room!

She really left?

A vein popped on Theo's forehead, he ground out his cigarette, picked up the water glass on the table, and drained it in one gulp.

He lit another cigarette, took a deep drag, and exhaled a thick cloud of smoke, he was seriously pissed.

What the heck was this woman playing at?

Suddenly, the vibration of the phone caught Theo's attention.

Theo lazily blew out a puff of smoke, squinting toward the source of the noise...

His phone on the bedside table vibrated, which he gave Ellinor a few days ago.

Theo stubbed out his cigarette, picked up the phone, and answered it.

The call was from Belinda

"Theo, are you and Ellinor home yet?"

"Yeah."

"Is Ellinor next to you right now?"

Recalling Ellinor's recent behavior, Theo replied with displeasure, "She's already asleep, what do you need her for?"

After confirming that Ellinor wouldn't hear, Belinda relaxed a bit, her voice getting louder.

"Oh, I don't need anything from Ellinor! I just wanted to ask if you guys had some kind of misunderstanding. You both were ignoring each other in the car, what happened?"

Theo said with a frown, "Mind your own business."

Belinda grumbled, "Theo! I'm older than Ellinor by half a year, okay? And while I've only been engaged once and didn't end up getting married, I'm sure I have way more experience in love than you do! Come on, Theo, tell me what happened, maybe I can help analyze it!"

Theo rubbed his temples, impatiently saying, "Nothing, she's just pissed for some odd reason."

Belinda immediately retorted, "That's impossible! We, girls, don't just get mad for no reason! Especially a smart woman like Ellinor, there must be a reason!"

Theo squinted, "And what reason do you think that would be?"

Belinda pondered, "Let me guess. Theo, have you ever told Ellinor that you like her?"

Theo remained silent

Belinda sighed helplessly, "I knew it Theo, you definitely wouldn't say it directly! But if you don't tell her, how is Ellinor supposed to know you like her?"

Like her?

Chapter 253

Theo coughed, "If it's something you could easily figure out, do I still have to spell it out?"

Belinda asserted confidently. "Of course it's necessary! Girls hate vague relationships the most! If you don't express your feelings but still act all intimate, girls will think you're leading them on without wanting to take responsibility. They'll feel disrespected, and of course, they'll get pissed"

Theo hesitated "What if she's already mad at me?"

Belinda paused Was Theo asking her for advice?

Feeling rather chuffed for being consulted by Theo for the first time, she advised, "You got to make it up to her Find the right time to tell her what you're thinking, let her know she's chosen, and give her a sense of security! No girl can resist that! Trust me, Theo, I'm right! And also, I think you should..."

Belinda continued to ramble on the other side of the phone, but Theo had already hung up."

Annoyed. Theo yanked off his shirt and headed into the bathroom for a cold shower.

When Theo emerged from his room, he asked a passing maid, "Which room is she in?"

The maid replied respectfully,

"Mr. Blanchet, Ellinor is in the room on the south side of the third floor. We just brought her dinner; she should be asleep by now"

Heading to the third floor. Theo found the room the maid mentioned.

Trying the doorknob, he found it locked.

It was glaringly obvious who Ellinor was trying to keep out.

Annoyed, Theo ordered, "Go get the key"

"Yes, Mr. Blanchet"

When Theo entered the room, Ellinor was indeed asleep.

She was sleeping with a slight frown, possibly dreaming of something unpleasant.

Theo sat on the edge of the bed, gently rubbing her forehead with his fingers

Perhaps sensing someone's presence, Ellinor woke up.

*Seeing Theo at her bedside, Ellinor was startled and was about to ask him what he was doing when he scooped her up in his arms and said as he carried her out,
“I have to go on a business trip tomorrow morning I’ll be back next weekend”*

Blinking. Ellinor was confused. Was he here just to tell her this? Why did he have to carry her?

He put her down on his bed and added, “When I get back, we need to talk seriously about our relationship”

Ellinor was sleepy, but his words left her slightly wide awake.

“Go back to sleep, sweet dreams. He tucked her in and left the room without giving her a chance to speak.

Ellinor watched his retreating figure, puzzled, and fell asleep after a while.

In the following days. Theo did leave on a business trip and didn’t return home.

Ellinor finally had some freedom and shrugged off the bodyguard Theo had assigned to her. She went to Crescent Society to see Ida Gipson and Chase and took care of some tasks that only she could handle.

Just like that, a week flew by

On Saturday afternoon, Belinda called her.

“Ellinor, where are you?”

“I’m at home”

“Today’s Theo’s birthday What gift did you get for him?”

Ellinor, who was watching TV, paused, “I forgot. I didn’t prepare anything.”

“What?! You can’t have anything! There’s still time. Let’s go shopping for a gift for Theo right now!”

Chapter 254

After hanging up the phone, Ellinor flopped on the couch, continuing to munch on chips while watching TV

Twenty minutes later, Belinda rushed in, practically dragging her out to go shopping for Theo’s birthday gift.

Ellinor was at a loss Why on earth would she need to get a gift for Theo?

She’s just a stand in actress, playing the part of Theo’s wife for free, and now she’s expected to buy him a gift?

Downtown shopping street

VK Mall

Belinda was deeply engrossed in choosing from a luxury store’s dazzling array of exquisite accessories

“Ellinor, what kind of gift do you think. Theo would like?” Belinda asked.

Nonchalantly trying on sunglasses, Ellinor casually replied while checking herself in the mirror, "No idea" Belinda furrowed her brows, turned to her, and said exasperatedly. "Ellinor, don't you care at all about Theo? Don't you ever try to figure out his likes and dislikes?"

Ellinor put on the sunglasses, raising an eyebrow, "Why should I figure out his likes? Is Theo some kind of rare species? Will studying him get me a Nobel Prize?"

Belinda stood there stunned, this was the first time she saw a woman so uninterested in Theo..

"You're something else, Ellinor It's this aloof attitude that drives a man to conquer. No wonder Theo is so into you!

Into her?

Since when did Theo become infatuated with her? Belinda always loved to imagine things that didn't exist!

"Ellinor, if you don't want to pick a gift, just buy him a shirt or something. As long as it's from you, Theo will definitely like it! I know a brand, and the men's clothes are super stylish! Come on, let's go check it out!"

Just as Ellinor was putting back the sunglasses, Belinda dragged her into a designer menswear store

"Ellinor, what do you think of this outfit for Theo?"

Ellinor couldn't be less interested in the finely designed, high-end menswear. She shook her head and said, "I think he has plenty of clothes like these at home, and he has so many he can't even wear them all. He doesn't need more of the same."

"Yes, of course, Theo has enough clothes, but if it's from you, it'll be different! Ellinor, as his wife, you can't possibly give him any gift on his birthday, right?"

Belinda's words reminded Ellinor that she was playing the role of Theo's wife, so she should get him a gift. That way, she could avoid being caught out by the Blanchet family!

Ellinor frowned, her gaze suddenly landing on the clearance sale sign in the menswear store across

She walked over to the clearance section and casually picked up a white T-shirt, "This one will do!"

Belinda followed her, looking at the white T-shirt in Ellinor's hand, she burst into laughter.

The design of the T-shirt was very ordinary, but it had a cute little kitten printed on it, which looked extremely adorable.

"Ellinor? Isn't this a bit too cute? Isn't it a bit too much for a mature man like Theo?"

Ellinor dismissed her, "Theo is too conservative with his clothing, always in suits and ties. This will change his style and make him a bit more approachable

Belinda 'But this is too

Ellinor didn't care if the clothes suited Theo's style; the gift was ready, and whether he liked it or not was his problem!

"Excuse me, can you wrap this up for me?"

"Sure, please make your payment at the front counter."

Ellinor pulled out cash from her pocket to pay for the discounted T-shirt.

She deliberately didn't use her phone or bank card to pay but took out the cash she had on her.

Because she was using Theo's phone at the moment, paying with her phone would deduct money from Theo's account

Buying a gift for Theo with his own money seemed a bit off to her. So, Ellinor broke her usual habit and used her own money

Taking the change from the cashier, Ellinor said to Belinda. "I've bought the gift! Let's go. I'll treat you to some bubble tea!"

Belinda looked a bit awkward, she could hardly imagine the look on Theo's face when he saw the gift Ellinor had bought for him.

UU Coffee

"Ellinor, you really are unlike any other woman!" Belinda said while sipping on her coffee.

Ellinor casually asked calmly. "Really? How to?"

Belinda looked at her in surprise,

"Other women would seize every opportunity to splurge on Theo, but you are giving him such a cheap gift! Yet, he still cares so much about you, it's simply amazing!"

Does Theo care about her?

Ellinor laughed. "Even if the gift is cheap, the thought counts"

Belinda looked confused again, "But as women, shouldn't we be trying our best to win our boyfriend's heart? Aren't you afraid that he won't like you if you treat Theo this way?"

Ellinor looked up at Belinda and said, "There are two things in this world that we can never hold onto."

Chapter 255

They are time and one's heart. If someone's heart is no longer with you, no matter what you do to please them, their heart will never return to you. So, why waste a ton of energy on a lost cause? You should focus more on your career, better yourself, and take control"

Belinda paused looking at Ellinor as if she was looking at an idol, "Ellinor, you're so right! I need to learn from you. From now on, I won't obsess over men and will fully devote myself to my career!"

Ellinor worried that she might misunderstand, patiently explained, "This doesn't mean love is bad. Love can enrich our emotional lives, and that's a wonderful thing. But you can't just hand over your heart, and you definitely can't hand over your future to a man, compromising yourself just to please him, you get me?"

Belinda nodded, signaling her understanding. "Yep, I got it! Thanks"

Even though Ellinor wasn't sure if Belinda understood, she had said all she could and sipped her coffee.

She had never been in a relationship, all the advice she gave was based on her gut feeling.

She hoped that Belinda could take something away from all this, not be fooled by some sweet talking men.

Just then, Ellinor's phone rang

She glanced at the screen, it was a call from Theo's new number.

He had given her his old phone and number and got himself a new one.

She answered the call and Theo's deep voice came through the phone, "Where are you?"

Ellinor replied: "Theo, I'm at the city center mall"

"With whom?"

"Belinda "

Theo said, "Tell me where you are exactly. I'll send someone to pick you up."

Ellinor blinked, "Theo, you're back?"

"Yeah, just landed."

"Theo, you don't have to send someone. Belinda drove us here; she'll take me home."

Theo was silent for two seconds, then responded, "Then, come to Pearl Moon after you're done shopping I need to talk to you."

Pearl Moon? Was Theo throwing her a birthday party? The thought of meeting his friends and family made Ellinor frown, "Can I not go..."

"No" Theo instantly interrupted her as if guessing her thoughts, "You have to come, I want to see you."

Ellinor struggled to find a response.

Her heart suddenly raced.

He said he wanted to see her.

Theo who was always so calm, why was he suddenly so eager to see her?

She remembered that before Theo left for his business trip, he told her that when he returned, they needed to talk seriously about their relationship.

What exactly did Theo want to talk about?

What more was there to say about their relationship? That man was a little odd, was he...

Somehow, Belinda was next to the phone, shouting. "Theo, don't worry! I'll make sure Ellinor gets there!"

Just as Ellinor hung up, Belinda was there again, livening up the atmosphere.

"Ellinor, you've bought Theo's present, now buy something nice for yourself! You haven't seen Theo in so long, you have to dress up to see him!"

Ellinor said, "Why do you carry a camera with you?"

Belinda just took out a professional camera from her bag and pointed it at Ellinor. She laughed, "I'm making a vlog, recording my daily life to post on Twitter!"

Ellinor was puzzled, "Do you need such professional equipment to make a vlog?"

'Cause it has a higher resolution"

Belinda had anticipated what was going to happen today, so she had prepared the camera in advance. She wanted to capture the moment when Theo formally tells Ellinor he likes her, to keep it as a souvenir, and maybe use it to blackmail Theo!

At Belinda's enthusiastic recommendation, Ellinor went to a women's clothing store to try on a white dress. To match the dress, the saleswoman put a simple diamond hair clip next to her ear

Holding the camera, Belinda was stunned, 'Ellinor, you're so beautiful!"

Ellinor felt a little weird dressed like this, she wanted to take it off

But Belinda wouldn't let her change back. After quickly paying for the clothes, Belinda pulled her out of

Chapter 256

Belinda hurriedly asked someone else to park the car, and then she followed behind Ellinor with her camera rolling.

Ellinor was quite annoyed "Aren't you filming a vlog to document your life? Why are you always filming me?"

Belinda cheerfully answered. "Because you're so pretty. I can't help but film you"

She wanted to capture the whole process of Ellinor getting out of the car, meeting Theo, and Theo confessing his feelings. She planned on making the footage as exciting as a short film. Once she uploaded it on social media, it would surely cause a lot of envy!

Ellinor ignored Belinda and walked into Pearl Moon.

As soon as she entered, a gentle breeze carrying the scent of flowers came.

Ellinor was stunned by the view in the garden!

Pearl Moon looked different today than it had on her previous visits.

The garden was full of pink tulips, which were not present before. They looked like an endless sea of pink, swaying in the twilight.

“Why aren’t you moving forward?” Belinda asked while filming.

Seeing the view from the garden, Belinda was also amazed. “Wow! It’s so beautiful!”

Theo had really outdone himself!

What girl wouldn’t be entranced by such a sea of flowers.

It wasn’t tulip season, and Pearl Moon was mainly planted with roses and evergreen plants before.

These blooming tulips were clearly grown in a greenhouse and then transplanted here. Moving so many flowers here and ensuring they bloomed without wilting was a huge task.

There was a small path in the sea of flowers.

Ellinor thought for a moment and followed the path into the sea of pink tulips..

Belinda excitedly filmed the beautiful sea of flowers and then turned the camera to Ellinor. She was getting more and more excited about Theo’s appearance!

Ellinor was a smart girl. Seeing such a scene, she guessed that something special was about to happen. And it seemed like she was the protagonist.

From the time she and Belinda got out of the car until now, they hadn’t seen anyone else in Pearl Moon.

As she walked, Ellinor saw a man standing at the end of the sea of flowers.

It was Theo.

Theo stood there, his back to her. His well-tailored suit perfectly displayed his figure.

Hearing her footsteps, he slowly turned around. His handsome face was, as always, stunningly good looking!

About a hundred meters apart, their eyes met.

Ellinor felt her heartbeat becoming unstable, maybe because she had had too much coffee.

Theo seemed to notice her nervousness and said in a particularly gentle tone, “You’re here?”

Ellinor paused and nodded, “Uh-huh”

As she nodded, she noticed a big pink box between her and Theo. It was about a meter high, with a big bow on top.

Was that a gift?

Had Theo prepared such a big gift for her?

If so, Ellinor would feel embarrassed about the cheap T-shirt she bought today.

Theo's eyes were deep and warm, and he slowly walked toward her

Ellinor's heart started to pound. Was Theo going to confess his feelings for her?

Her heartbeat sped up, unsure how to face this sudden change.

However, the one-meter-high big box suddenly exploded at that moment!

Chapter 257

A slim girl, all dolled up, hopped out, surrounded by a flutter of colorful butterflies.

She excitedly leaped into Theo's arms, snuggling into his embrace "Theo, I'm back. Thanks for everything you've prepared for me I love it, and I'm really touched!"

Ellinor stood by the side, wearing a deadpan expression as she watched them

That fleeting moment of nervousness and fluttering heart now seemed rather ridiculous.

Patricia was back.

Today, every tulip in Pearl Moon was there to welcome Patricia's return.

And Theo had wanted her here, probably to let her know his Patricia was back. He wanted her to be prepared and be careful with her words and actions to avoid causing any misunderstandings with Patricia. That must be it, right?

So, that's it. She got it now.

She'd almost misunderstood, thinking Theo was about to confess his feelings to her!

Theo had once told her he could give her anything except love.

His love belongs only to Patricia, just like the meaning of tulips – the greatest love, the only love, the endless love.

A butterfly fluttered past, circling around Ellinor. It seemed to be reminding her: you're not needed here, you should leave.

Belinda, not far away, furrowed her brows, stunned. What was going on?

What was Theo doing?

Why did Patricia choose to return today of all days?

And where was Ellinor?

www

Belinda noticed Ellinor was gone. She quickly pulled out her phone to call Ellinor, only to be met with a robotic voicemail message: Sorry, the number you're calling is switched off

Ellinor had already left.

As night fell, the towering skyscrapers of the bustling The Bund in Greenhaven lit up.

On the LED display of the Century Bank skyscraper, the scrolling message read. "I love you, my girl."

The big screen on the neighboring building was broadcasting 'Welcome back, my moon princess!'

Expensive blue fireworks filled the sky, with countless drones performing in the air, forming the shape of an arrow piercing a heart.

Young couples strolling by the river, tourists snapping pictures, and random passersby all looked on in envy and curiosity, full of awe.

"Oh my god, which CEO is confessing his love to his girlfriend?"

"How sweet!"

"I heard that a mysterious tycoon bought all the pink tulips in the world, had them air-shipped back home, and planted in Pearl Moon overnight. I suspect it's all for today"

"Pearl Moon? The confession on the skyscraper's LED display also mentions 'Moon princess. Could they be referring to Patricia of Pearl Moon?"

"Who's Patricia?"

"You don't know Patricia? She comes from an extremely illustrious family background! Her grandfather is a world-renowned scientist, her grandmother is a princess of a foreign royal family, her father is a world champion, her mother is a multi-award-winning actress, her brother is a CEO who consistently ranks among the top three on the world's rich list, and her younger brother is the most popular person in school. She was born with everything!"

"And she's incredibly beautiful too."

"I'm not surprised someone would go to such lengths for her. After all, she's always had everything she could ever want, so it must be really hard to impress her!"

Ellinor sat on a bench along the Trent River, sipping on a Coke while looking up at the sky's drone show and blue fireworks.

A small smile played on her lips. Theo sure did go all out for the one he likes.

Chapter 258

A bright full moon hung in the distance in the night sky, offering a peaceful contrast to the busy world below.

Ellinor whipped out her phone, took a snap of the moon, and then shared it on Instagram with the caption, "Tonight's moon is so beautiful"

Just a few seconds after she posted it, a friend nicknamed "Moon" liked it and commented, "I think so too."

Ellinor didn't recall having a friend like that on her social media account, so she clicked to check it out.

After seeing the content posted on her Instagram, Ellinor figured out that this was Patricia's social media account

It then dawned on her that she was using Theo's phone, logged into Theo's social media account, and posted the Instagram post with Theo's account.

She casually posted it without realizing that the account wasn't hers.

Well, what's done is done

It's just a moonlit landscape pic, no biggie

Ellinor exited the social media app, made a call, and the other end picked up immediately.

She calmly said, "Chase, come pick me up."

"Sure thing!"

After hanging up, Ellinor got up, tossed a Coke bottle into the nearby trash can, and then crossed the street to wait for Chase's car

Suddenly she saw an elderly blind man blocked by an SUV.

The older man, holding his white cane, was helplessly probing around the car. He moved to the left, only to find an obstacle; he moved to the right, still an obstacle.

The older man frowned anxiously, caught between a rock and a hard place, reaching out to feel the object in front.

Ellinor took a look and realized that the SUV was parked on the tactile paving.

What a reckless parker!

Ellinor approached and said, "Sir, your tactile paving is blocked by a car. The owner isn't around, so the car can't be moved for now if you tell me where you're going, I can help you get there."

Unexpectedly, the older man flew off the handle. When he heard about the car blocking the tactile paving, he violently hit the car with his white cane!

The car window immediately shattered!

Ellinor's mouth dropped open in surprise, this was totally beyond her expectations.

After

hitting the car, the old man angrily said, "Humph! Such an uncivilized person, parking his car on the tactile paving! I smashed his car, let's see if he dares to park like this again!"

Ellinor had to admit that the older man's actions seemed somewhat justified, but damaging someone else's car was still a bit off.

She helplessly advised. "Sir, don't get too worked up; maybe the car owner was in some kind of emergency and didn't notice."

Chapter 259

The older man, although blind, was quite peeved about this "No matter how urgent the matter is, you can't just park your car on the blind lane. Nowadays, people only think about their convenience and disregard others' feelings"

Ellinor sighed, about to help the older man bypass the SUV blocking the path

Suddenly, a shrill voice yelled out, "What the hell are you doing?"

Ellinor turned her head towards the voice to see a young girl with purple hair holding a selfie stick, storming over.

The girl looked at her smashed car window, then rudely demanded, "You two, why did you smash my car?"

Ellinor spotted this purple-haired girl earlier when sitting by the Trent River.

She seemed to be an internet star

She was live streaming at the scenic spot by the Trent River, chatting with her followers in an exaggerated tone, asking for gifts.

The older man was even angrier after hearing the girl's words and stopped in his tracks.

Although he couldn't see, his ears were quite sharp. He turned his head toward the direction of the girl's voice and asked, "Are you the owner of the car?"

The girl crossed her arms arrogantly. "Yes! This is the new off-road vehicle I just bought. It's very expensive. I saw from far away that you were the one who damaged my car! You better pay for it!"

The old man's face was stern, "Perfect timing!

I want to let you know that you can't park your car on the blind lane. No matter how expensive the car is, it should be smashed if it's parked on the blind lane!"

The internet star didn't seem to believe she did anything wrong and rudely responded, "I'll park wherever I want. I don't even know what a blind lane is! Is this your road?!"

The old man was taken aback by her lack of reason, getting so angry he was out of breath, "How did your parents raise you? To treat people like this?"

Seeing the old man getting too worked up. Ellinor, afraid his body couldn't take it, helped him adjust his breathing.

Then, she told the internet star, "Calm down. Regardless, you shouldn't have parked your car on the blind lane. It's against the law"

The internet star scoffed, Illegal? Then why haven't the police come to find me? Who are you to judge? Do you have any right to control me?"

The old man couldn't stand it anymore. He gently pulled Ellinor behind him, then held up his cane, addressing the rude girl, "Move your car off the blind lane right now, and I'll let this go! Otherwise."

"Otherwise, what? the internet star smirked arrogantly, "Trying to intimidate me? I won't move my car, what are you going to do about it!"

The old man got angry immediately, raising his cane to teach this uneducated internet star a lesson, "If your parents don't teach you manners, I will!"

The situation escalated so quickly that Ellinor didn't even have a chance to stop the old man.

But the internet star, who could see, easily dodged the swinging cane and then shoved the old man to the ground!

"You, a blind man, dare to hit me? Do you know who I am? I'm an internet star with 300,000 followers! You're not worthy to touch me!"

Seeing this, Ellinor quickly rushed forward and helped the old man up, "Sir, are you okay?"

Fortunately, the old man wasn't injured but was startled, panting heavily

Ellinor was merely passing by and didn't want to stir up trouble, but facing such an unreasonable person, she felt she had to teach her a lesson.

She looked up at the internet star, "You better not push it, move your car."

Chapter 260

"So, what are you gonna do if I don't move my car?"

The internet star shot a haughty glance at Ellinor, noticing her stunning looks, and couldn't help feeling a pang of jealousy

However, judging by her frail and helpless demeanor, she was clearly no match for her

The internet star hatched a plan and turned on her phone, still attached to the selfie stick, to start another live stream.

She quickly switched her expression to a pitiful one, pleading to her viewers.

"Guys, help me out! I just ran into two people trying to scam me for compensation, they damaged my car for absolutely no reason. That old man even had the audacity to accuse me Guys, you've got to help me prove my innocence"

She deliberately angled the selfie stick, so her viewers couldn't see her car parked in the handicap zone.

Ellinor silently watched the ignorant and shameless internet star without uttering a word. She helped the blind old man up, guided him to a safer place, and told him to stay quiet to avoid getting hurt in the upcoming conflict

Then, she turned to face the internet star

Having had enough of her nonsense on the live stream, Ellinor swooped in, snatched the selfie stick, easily snapped it in half, and tossed it away with the phone.

"My phone! My selfie stick!"

The internet star was livid,

"You wicked woman, you dare destroy my phone, you're done for! Watch how I teach you a lesson

With that, she went from her adorable live stream persona to slapping Ellinor across her face.

Ellinor easily caught her wrist and twisted it hard!

The internet star screamed in pain, "Help!"

Ellinor raised an eyebrow, "You want to teach me a lesson? You need a lot more practice!"

The internet star gritted her teeth in pain but remained defiant, "I'm telling you, I'm an internet star with a ton of followers, they'll protect me, and you'll regret crossing me today!"

Ellinor remained unfazed, "Whether you're an internet star or not, you need to be a decent person first! Parking in a handicapped zone affects disabled people, did you know that? And you even laid hands on a blind old man! Do you think your followers would still support you if they knew what kind of person you really are?"

Ellinor lost her patience, demanding, "I'll ask you again, are you moving your car or not?"

"Fine, I'll move it! Just let me go, I'll move it now..."

The internet star finally gave in, and Ellinor released her. She walked towards her car, her eyes darting around, planning her revenge.

Suddenly, she spotted a piece of the broken selfie stick on the ground. Her eyes lit up, and she quickly picked it up and lunged at the blind old man.

"You blind old man, I'll teach you a lesson for messing with my car!"

Seeing the situation go south, Ellinor quickly stepped in front of the old man and gave the out-of-control internet star a swift kick!

The internet star fell but quickly got up, rushing back with the broken selfie stick to attack them again.