

The Kiss 621

Chapter 621

"What?" Theo was stone-faced, not feeling like he had done anything wrong.

Ellinor, feeling annoyed, glared at him. "As a man, why did you make an appointment with the gynecologist? Don't you find that embarrassing?"

He replied coolly, "I made it for you"

She understood what he meant. A feeling of caution rose in Ellinor's heart. She furrowed her brows, trying to appear relaxed

She forced a small smile, "I appreciate it! But it's not needed, I'm in perfect health and have no women's health issues. I'm very healthy!"

Theo squinted at her, "Really?"

Although he found no records of Ellinor seeing a gynecologist in any hospital, he grew suspicious after seeing her throw up for no apparent reason

Her current evasive attitude only fueled his suspicion. This woman might be pregnant, and it could be his.

Even if there was only a tiny chance, he couldn't ignore it. He had to find out the truth!

Ellinor shot him a glance, "Yes!"

The corners of Theo's mouth curled up. "No need to thank me; we were once married. Consider this checkup my treat."

Ellinor was dumbfounded

What the hell?!

She had heard of treating people to a meal, but not a doctor's visit!

Forget it, she didn't want to argue with this man. She'll take him to get his eyes checked first, just in case there's a real problem.

After his eye exam, she'll leave. She absolutely won't go with him to the gynecologist!

Eye clinic.

The elderly chief physician examined Theo's left eye with a flashlight.

Standing aside, Ellinor asked, "Doctor, how are his eyes? Are there any issues?"

The doctor put away the flashlight. "Relax, it's no big deal. It's just some redness from the impact. I'll prescribe some anti-inflammatory eye drops; use them three times a day, and the blood clot will clear up in a few days."

Ellinor sighed in relief, "That's a relief. Please prescribe the medication then."

With the doctor's prescription in hand, she went to the pharmacy to get the eye drops. Handing it over to Theo, she asked, "Do you want to do it yourself or should I help?"

He glanced at the eye drops but didn't take them, didn't answer, and just sat elegantly on the hospital corridor chair with his legs crossed.

Ellinor fell silent.

He really did act like a king.

Ellinor chuckled, walked up to him, lifted his chin, and tilted his face upwards to make it easier to administer the eye drops.

After opening the bottle, she gently pulled his eyelid open and dropped in the medicine.

"Alright, use it again before bed tonight. Starting tomorrow, use it three times a day. I'm leaving now!"

As she spoke, she handed the eye drops to him. After finishing. Ellinor turned to leave without lingering.

However, she didn't get far before her wrist was firmly grabbed, pulling her back.

"Where are you rushing off to? It's time for your checkup now."

Chapter 622

"Stop pulling my leg Mr. Blanchet! What kind of checkup do I need? I'm not sick at all, so there's no need for any stupid checkup!" Ellinor med her best to shake off his grip but no matter how hard she tried she just couldn't She felt like she was about to keel over

Where the heck did Collin park the car? Why wasn't he coming back to check on Thea?

"Elliot what are you so worried about?"

He stood up and yanked her closer with a firm pull his sharp gaze locked on her eyes as if trying to see through her very soul.

Fear washed over Ellinor, making her avoid his piercing stare

"Mr. Blanchet, you're overthinking this! What do I have to be afraid of? Im just saying that as a married woman, it's not cool to go see a gynecologist with a man who isn't my husband if anyone we know sees us, it could stir up a hornel's nest and tarnish our reputationst

He scoffed As long as you're on the straight and narrow, there's nothing to worry about You've got nothing to hide, right? Let's go, Ms. Mendoza!"

Let me go, I'm not going Ellinor dug her heels into the hospital corridor floor, putting up a fight.

But the more she resisted, the more curious he became about what she was hiding. He was almost certain his guess was right.

Ellinor's struggle was in vain as he simply scooped her up, not allowing her to resist, and strode towards the gynecology department.

Just like that, Ellinor was taken to the gynecologist and had a blood test. Throughout the entire process, she had no chance to make a run for it.

This was a total disaster

Theo, the cunning man, was impossible to fool!

What was she going to do now?

If he found out about her pregnancy, would he force her to have an abortion?

Her pregnancy was unexpected

They were no longer involved, so it wouldn't be out of line if he demanded she get an abortion.

But over the past couple of months, she had grown attached to her unborn baby, seeing it as her own with no ties to any man.

She wanted to keep the baby and have one more family member in this world.

But now she feared the worst

She wanted to run, but Theo was always watching. He seemed to see right through her and was always on guard to prevent her from escaping.

Time ticked by, every second felt like torture for Ellinor.

Before long, the test results were out.

The doctor glanced at the report and cheerfully said, "Ms. Mendoza, congratulations! You're going to be a mother!"

The doctor's words made Ellinor gasp

Theo looked at her with a smirk, Ms Mendoza, care to explain about the baby in your belly?"

Feeling guilty, she looked down, "L"

Theo was deliberately giving her a hard time

How could she explain? She simply failed to keep her secret

At this moment, seeing the vibrant couple, the doctor handed them the report and advised,

"She's just over 20 days pregnant it's best you refrain from intercourse for some time until the fetus is stable."

Theo's expression went stiff, and the warmth in his eyes vanished in an instant. He turned to the doctor, 'I'm sorry, did you just say she's how many days pregnant?"

His icy stare made the experienced doctor shudder.

"Twenty days! The baby is not yet stable, so you must hold off on any intimacy."

Twenty days!

Theo lost his cool, grabbing the report from the doctor and inspecting it closely.

Sure enough, it stated that it was an early pregnancy of twenty days.

Chapter 623

Twenty days...

Did this mean the kid in her belly was conceived after she left the Blanchet family and after she left him?

The baby in her belly was from another man!

Theo's knuckles were cracking, he gritted his teeth and coldly threw the medical report on her face, "Ellinor, you hopped into bed with another man just days after leaving me!"

His words were so harsh!

Ellinor felt a bit pissed. She took the medical report and was surprised as well. How could it say she was twenty days pregnant?

What's going on? She was pretty confused.

Sure, she was pregnant, but it should have been over seventy days.

Apart from that night with Theo, she had no contact with any other men, let alone an encounter that would get her pregnant!

Things were getting out of hand, but it seemed like a good excuse to cut him off.

Ellinor took a deep breath, raised her head with a smile, and said, "Mr. Blanchet, thank you for bringing me to the gynecologist today. Otherwise, I wouldn't have found out so early about my pregnancy! Now I want to go home and share this good news with my husband, may I leave?"

Theo was furious at her careless attitude and how she did not even bother to explain.

He darkened his face and slowly said, "Get lost! Disappear from my sight, never show up again!"

Ellinor really didn't want anything to do with him anymore, but to end things with this disgusting misunderstanding felt wrong to her. She was not that kind of woman.

She pouted in frustration, wanting to explain something but felt like there was nothing to explain.

Anyway, they had nothing to do with each other anymore, let him think what he wanted. Explaining would only make things more complicated.

Just as long as he didn't harm the baby in her belly.

"Fine, I'll do as Mr. Blanchet says."

Ellinor turned around and strode out of this suffocating place.

Theo also left the gynecology department. The tall and handsome man looked as if he had just survived a disaster. He closed his eyes in fatigue and took a deep breath, but he had no outlet for his anger.

His soul seemed to have been sucked out and his mind was in chaos.

He had to lean against the wall to stay steady and practically collapsed onto a chair in the corridor, his hands weakly resting on his knees, his head hanging low in dejection.

A few minutes ago, he thought the baby in her belly must have been his as the result of their night together. Then he could use this as a reason to ask her to come back to him

But reality slapped him in the face

The baby wasn't his.

She was carrying another man's child so soon!

Never had a woman dared scorn him or toy with him!

Twenty days pregnant. This meant that right after leaving him, she already had a new boyfriend.

It turned out that he meant nothing to her and was not important at all!

Well done, Ellinor!

Meanwhile, around the corner of the hospital corridor, a woman in a wheelchair was quietly watching all this unfold from the shadows with a wicked smile spread across her innocent, deer-like face

Chapter 624

Thank god, she and her brother Balfour happened to be at the same hospital as Theo was taking Ellinor for her prenatal checkup

So she had given the obstetrician a heads-up, instructing him to fudge the lab results.

Otherwise, if Theo knew the baby in Ellinor's belly was his, he would surely ditch her and Baber in a heartbeat.

Now, thinking that the baby was another man's, Theo must see Ellinor as a loose woman, and he would surely drop her like a hot potato.

Huh! That despicable Ellinor! Did she think she could snatch Theo away from her again? Not a chance!

"Patricia, why are you all by yourself here?"

Haillie's confused voice sounded from behind her.

Patricia spun her wheelchair around, flashing her best innocent smile.

'Just needed some fresh air; the ward was getting stuffy How's Balfour doing, Haillie?'

Upon mention of Balfour's injury. Haillie's face crumpled, "Balfour's wounds are bandaged. The doc says it's a minor fracture. He just needs some rest. Quinton is looking after him now."

Patricia feigned worry, "I just hope there's no lasting damage. Who would have thought Theo would lay a hand on him, all because of Ellinor"

Haillie gritted her teeth at the mention of Ellinor, "Theo's always respected Balfour. He wouldn't have hit him if it weren't for whatever that tramp Ellinor told him

The more she talked, the angrier she got. She felt like she could chop Ellinor into pieces with her bare hands.

Patricia, as always, played the victim, "Ellinor really crossed the line this time. She's gotten both Theo and Balfour hurt. I don't ever know how badly Theo's injured or if he's seen a doctor."

Haillie huffed, "But you're injured too, Patricia! Your foot, remember? It's all because of that witch, Ellinor. She shows up and all hell breaks loose. It's so annoying! Just wait, I'll deal with her!"

Watching Haillie practically foam at the mouth with hatred for Ellinor made Patricia smirk.

Perfect! It was just what she needed

She wanted to let the idiotic Haillie handle Ellinor, so she wouldn't have to get her hands dirty and risk getting caught.

But thinking about what happened earlier at the Bagley family's home still made Patricia feel a pang of fear.

Before they came to the hospital, she was chatting with Balfour and Haillie in the guest room.

Suddenly, there was a knock on the door. Before they could answer it, Theo kicked the door open.

He stormed in, grabbed Balfour by his collar, and punched him.

Balfour, completely blindsided, retaliated.

And then it was a full blown brawl, where both men were wounded and battered.

Despite the bad blood between the Blanchet and Howard families, they had always maintained a basic level of civility. This kind of disgraceful fight was unheard of.

The whole thing happened so fast that Patricia and Haillie were petrified. They had to call for Quinton to break up the fight.

Balfour wiped the blood from his mouth, seething with eyes full of contempt, "You betrayed Patricia for a woman who left you, and now you're hitting me? Have you lost your mind. Theo?"

Theo's eyes were as cold as ice, "Remember this! No one touches Ellinor! If you so much as harm a hair on her head... you and the entire Howard family will pay!"

With that, Theo stood up, lazily adjusted his tie, rolled his neck, and, without another word, walked out.

Leaving a room full of stunned people and a battered Balfour behind.

Patricia had always known there was a place for Ellinor in Theo's heart, but she didn't expect it to be so significant that he would lose all reason and fight for her.

That's why Patricia was driven mad by jealousy and wanted to kill Ellinor.

She couldn't stand the thought of Ellinor still being alive!

Chapter 625

On the flip side, Ellinor was on her way home

Her mind was a total mess as she relived Theo's injuries, his last look at her, and their misunderstanding

She was freaking out!

As soon as she walked through the door, her cat came over to rub against her foot.

Having swapped her shoes for slippers, Ellinor bent down to pick up her cat, feeling a bit more at ease

Chase was brewing coffee in the kitchen. Seeing her return, he asked, "Why are you back so early? Any juicy gossip from Old Mr. Bagley's birthday party?"

Ellinor sat down with the cat in her arms, flopping onto the couch. "Yeah, I got some."

H

She was mistaken by old Mr. and Mrs. Bagley for their granddaughter, unintentionally, but still, that counted.

This way, it would be much easier for her to go dig up some dirt on the Bagley family in the future.

Something seemed off to Chase, "Eh? Why the long face if you got something?"

Ellinor replied, "Tired!"

Chase handed her a glass of milk, "What's up? Did you dance your feet off at the party?"

Ellinor took the milk, gave Chase, who was always ready with a barb, a look, and then told him about the test results from the hospital thing?"

Upon hearing this, Chase furrowed his brows in alert. "Someone tampered with your lab report, who would do such a

Ellinor chuckled, "If I'm not mistaken, it should be Patricia, she's the only one who would keep an eye on me and pull this kind of stunt."

Chase thought it over and agreed.

"Actually, Patricia unwittingly did you a favor this time. Otherwise, Theo would've found out you were pregnant with his child"

Ellinor's gaze darkened, "Yeah, that's true."

Chase continued, "Anyway. Theo already thinks we're married. Let him believe we're having a child now. This will only confirm our previous lie and get him off our back."

Yeah, that's right.

Ellinor's eyes drooped. The taste of the milk in her mouth was bitter.

Seeing her low spirits, Chase leaned over, "Ellinor, tell me the truth. You still care about that guy, don't you? That's why you're upset about being thought of as a loose woman."

Ellinor fell silent.

She felt an indescribable pain in her heart.

She'd been through a lot since she was a kid; she never cared about what others thought of her, but when it came to him, she couldn't seem to let go.

She was so agitated!

Ellinor didn't want to dwell on it, so she changed the subject. "Enough about that! Chase, go fix me something to eat, I'm starving!"

"Sure thing!" Chase dared not bring up her emotional issues anymore, he got up to head to the kitchen, then remembered.

"Oh yeah, this year's World Hacker Conference has been moved to our country. I heard that AAAres is going too! Ellinor, you wanna go check it out?"

AAAres was considered the world's top hacker.

Ellinor had idolized him since she was a child and he was a senior she'd always wanted to meet.

Her mood hadn't been great lately, if she could meet her idol at the conference, she'd surely be thrilled.

If she didn't get the chance to meet him, she could treat the conference as a getaway anyway.

Ellinor enthusiastically said, "Sure, where's the conference taking place?"

Chapter 626

A few days later in K city

Ellinor hopped on an early flight to K city to attend a hacker conference taking place there

Now that she no longer needed to dodge Theo on purpose, she was free to use public transportation

Coincidentally, Ida Gipson was also in K city for some business and had arranged for a car to pick her up at the airport

Ellinor didn't plan to stay in K city for long so she only brought a backpack with her with some daily necessities

She strolled towards the airport exit with her hands in her pockets.

"Ellinor"

Suddenly, someone called her name.

Upon hearing it. Ellinor halted and turned towards the voice.

She saw a man in sunglasses striding towards her.

The man took off his sunglasses, revealing a handsome face, "Ellinor, it's really you! What brings you to K city today?"

It was that kid, Byran Howard

Ellinor raised an eyebrow, looking at him nonchalantly, and retorted, "If I remember correctly, isn't it a school day today? Why aren't you in school?"

Byran blinked, "Well, I took a day off from school today!"

Ellinor squinted, "Really? Are you sure you took a leave and are not just playing hooky?"

Byran, not good at lying, scratched his head uncomfortably. "Alright, I skipped school, but I have a reason!"

"What reason?"

"I got a message from a hacker friend saying that this year's hacker conference is being held today, in K city!"

Ellinor frowned slightly. "So, you're also attending the hacker conference? Were you invited?"

Byran shook his head somewhat shamefully. "No... It's an international hacker conference, and only the top hackers in the world are invited, I'm not famous enough to be on the list

Ellinor gave him a glance, "How would you attend without an invitation? Do you know how strict those secret meetings are? Even if you sneak in, if you're caught, they might kill you to prevent you from leaking member information. You know that, right?"

Byran didn't care, he lifted his chin and said, "Although I wasn't invited, my teacher must be on the invitation list! Do you know who my teacher is? One of the top hackers in the world, Snow Bunny! I can say I'm going to find my teacher and they'll definitely let me in!"

Ellinor was speechless.

Byran was still too naive and didn't see the complexity of the world.

But the teacher Byran mentioned seemed to be her. Of course, that's what he called her unilaterally, she never agreed to it.

Ellinor said bluntly, "As a student, you should be in school, not attending social events. Now, are you going back on your own, or should I notify Mr. Howard to send someone to pick you up?"

Byran got a little nervous when he heard Ellinor was going to notify Balfour, "Ellinor, why are you like this? I knew I shouldn't have told you the truth! Please don't bother my brother, Balfour. He's been injured recently and doesn't have time to deal with me. You don't need to interfere with my personal affairs!"

Ellinor looked surprised, she asked, "Hmm? Balfour got injured? What happened?"

Oh my! Balfour, who seemed invincible, got injured? That was rare.

Byran pouted and explained, "It happened on my grandpa, old Mr. Bagley's birthday, when Theo suddenly attacked my brother Balfour for some reason. My brother, who had never experienced such a thing, fought back angrily, and they started fighting. In the end, my brother's arm was broken, and I heard Theo was also injured"

Ellinor was taken aback after hearing this.

Chapter 627

Was it that day?

Theo suddenly locked her in the car and took off for a bit. Was he off to pick a fight with Balfour?

No wonder he came back with battle scars.

But why?

Did he find out Balfour dumped a cup of coffee on her and go to take revenge?

That didn't add up!

Theo, being Patricia's baby daddy, should be on Patricia's side. Why would he throw punches for a woman he has nothing to do with anymore?

Seeing Ellinor lost in thought, Byran waved a hand in front of her face, "Hello? What's up with you?"

Ellinor snapped back to reality, then seriously looked at Byran and commanded him. "You're banned from the hacker forum! You're still a kid, don't stick your nose into everything. Go home now! Or don't blame me for ratting you out to Balfour!"

With that, Ellinor turned to continue her way, leaving the airport.

Byran was scared, but he really wanted to attend the hacker conference held domestically. He didn't want to just go home, so he tried to catch up with Ellinor to negotiate, hoping she wouldn't snitch

However, the airport was bustling with people, and soon he lost sight of her.

Ellinor got into the car arranged for her and headed to her destination.

Before long, her phone rang. It was a call from Ida

She answered the call, and Ida's calm and alert voice came from the other end, "Ellinor, we've got a situation!"

"What's up?" Ellinor asked

Ida said, "Ellinor, the bodyguard I sent to keep an eye on you spotted a taxi tailing your car. It's suspicious"

She was being followed? Ellinor looked back through the car window upon hearing this.

Sure enough, a taxi was riding her bumper.

She had good eyesight and could see Byran sitting in the passenger seat of the taxi. Byran was pointing at her car and talking, probably urging the driver to speed up

Byran really did follow her. What a pain!

Ellinor sighed helplessly, "Yeah, I see it. There's a taxi."

Ida softly asked, "Need me to handle it?"

Ellinor thought for a moment and said, "No need. It's Byran from the Howard family. He's no threat to me.

But he's a nosy kid. He's insisting on checking out the hacker conference today. Ida, find a way to stop him. He can't go to the hacker conference no matter what. But he's still a kid, so don't hurt him."

Ida responded, "Alright, I got it. Don't worry."

Meanwhile, in the taxi behind, Byran saw the luxury car in front getting faster and the distance between them growing. If they didn't speed up, they'd lose her again. He was really anxious.

"Sir, can you go faster? If you lose her, I might not pay the fare!"

Chapter 628

The driver looked utterly helpless.

"Kid, you've gotta understand what car is in front of us and what kind of car we've got! My little motor can't keep up with that fancy ride even if I floor it!"

Byran was frowning impatiently, he definitely knew that the car ahead was a luxury one

But it wasn't just any luxury car, it was a car of immeasurable value

It was a centennial anniversary edition by the top-tier car brand BG, available only at their anniversary celebration. There was only one in the world it was a real luxury ride that you couldn't buy even if you had the money.

His brother Balfour had shown interest in the car before and had even flown to the BG headquarters to place an order with their CEO, only to find that the car had already been purchased by a mysterious buyer who wished to remain anonymous.

It was seeing Ellinor get straight into that one-of-a-kind car at the airport that had Byran puzzled.

How did Ellinor know the owner of that car? What was their relationship?

No way, he had to follow her to see who Ellinor was in K city to meet. What was she here for?

Byran didn't want to put the poor driver in a spot, he waved his hand and said, "Alright, alright! If you can't catch up, then so be it. Just don't leave me here!"

The driver happily agreed, "Sure thing!"

However, at that moment, there was a sudden bang, and the taxi shook violently.

The driver braked hard, looking in the rear-view mirror to check what was going on behind him.

It turned out that they'd been rear-ended. The driver frowned and got out of the car to confront the driver behind him.

"How the hell do you drive? You rear-ended me on such a wide suburban road! Can you even drive?"

The other driver also got out. He was a hefty brute with a bad attitude, "Who the hell are you talking to? So what if I hit you?"

The taxi driver didn't expect the guy who rear-ended him to have such a bad attitude, "What's your problem? You hit my car, and you're acting all high and mighty! What a shitty attitude!"

The brute lifted his chin, "It's your car that couldn't avoid mine!"

"What? You've got a funny way of talking! Do you think my car has eyes in the back?"

"Thit your car, I can afford to pay! How much is your crappy car worth? Stop making a fool of yourself!"

The taxi driver felt insulted, "You..."

Byran watched as the car in front got farther and farther away. He got out of the car in a hurry and said, "Hey! Can you stop arguing for a moment? Sort out the accident and get back on the road, the car in front is getting away!"

The taxi driver was now really pissed off, "Kid, sorry, but I have to deal with this accident here. You'll have to find another car!"

"What?!"

Find another car?

They were already more than ten kilometers away from the airport; this was a suburb. How was he supposed to hail another taxi?

Byran walked up to them, frustrated, "Sir, stop arguing with him. I'll pay for the repairs. Just help me catch up to that car first!"

The driver stood his ground, "Kid, it's not about the money! This guy has no respect for others; he clearly hit my car, and he's here acting all cocky! I can't stand it! I'm going to call the traffic police to teach him a lesson, people like him are a scourge on society!"

The burly man stepped forward, puffing out his chest, "Who are you calling a scourge on society?"

The driver didn't back down, I'm talking about you; you're a scourge on society!"

"You dare to curse me!"

Chapter 629

Just like that, the two started bickering

Byran was at a loss for words as he watched them squabble.

Seemed like the driver was not going to take him to find Ellinor. What a bummer...

Byran wasn't holding his breath. He looked around and saw no taxi in sight. How was he gonna hail a cab?

As he was fretting, a two-seater red sports car slowly pulled up.

The driver was a woman with medium-length curls who wore a spaghetti strap silk dress with her makeup absolutely spot on.

The woman gave him a smile, "What's up? Did you get into a car accident?"

Byran was a bit irked and he retorted, "Can't you see for yourself?"

The woman didn't take offense and she chuckled, 'Buddy, hailing a cab might be a bit tough around here. Where are you headed? Need a lift?"

Byran was taken aback. Did he hit the jackpot?

He checked out the woman's car. An open-topped sports car was definitely faster than a taxi. He might actually be able to find Ellinor with this ride.

Thinking of this, Byran quickly nodded, "Sure! Could you give me a ride, please?"

As he spoke, he walked over to the passenger seat, opened the door, and hopped in.

The woman didn't seem bothered by Byran's rudeness. She tossed her hair and asked, "Young man, you haven't told me where you're going?"

Byran crossed his arms, "Just catch up to that car in front."

Ida gave a slight smile, "Alright, hang on tight, buddy""

She stepped on the gas and the car nearly took off

Thank god, Byran had his seat belt on, or he would've been thrown out by the sudden acceleration. He didn't expect this woman to drive like a bat out of hell.

But the faster, the better, at least he had a chance to catch up to Ellinor's car

However, as the red sports car drove away, the burly man stopped arguing with the taxi driver. He dropped his cocky attitude and shut up.

Seeing that the other party suddenly went silent, the taxi driver also felt bored. He took out his phone, ready to call the police, "Just wait, I'm calling the traffic cops to deal with you. You remorseless troublemaker!"

Who would have guessed that the burly man would suddenly change his tune and bow his head in apology. "I'm really sorry, I said some inappropriate things in the heat of the moment. I apologize to you. I'm sorry! Here's some money for your car repair and for your troubles, I hope you'll accept it."

With that, he handed over a cheque that was already filled out.

The taxi driver wondered if he was dreaming when he saw the drastic change in the other party's attitude.

He took the cheque and his eyes nearly popped out of his head. The money was enough to match his annual income.

"Ah, have you genuinely realized your mistake?" the taxi driver asked, puzzled.

The burly man looked sincere, "Yes, I promise it won't happen again."

The guy gave him quite a bit of money, so the taxi driver decided to let it slide, "Alright, I'll let it go this time! Be careful when you drive; don't be so careless. And one more thing. Huh? Where did he go?"

He was ready to give the other party some advice as a veteran driver with twenty years of experience, but when he looked up, there was no one in sight. The burly man had already driven off.

Looking down at the cheque in his hand, the taxi driver scratched his head, muttering to himself, "What just happened?"

Chapter 630

That red sports car was zooming

"Yeah, that one up ahead!"

Ellinor's ride was soon in sight, and Byran pointed enthusiastically, "Quick, help me catch up to it!"

Ida responded, stepping on the gas to tail it closely

They pursued it all the way onto the freeway, gradually closing the gap.

Byran was thoroughly pleased glancing at Ida with admiration, "Your car is really fast!"

"It's alright Ida smiled lightly, always keeping her eyes on the road ahead. Her lazy curls fluttered in the wind, looking both cool and sexy

Byran was utterly smitten, finding her extremely beautiful

But soon, he snapped back to reality, looking back up front, only to find that something was off

Ida's car had somehow caught up with Ellinor's and even overtaken it!

The smile on Byran's face disappeared in an instant. He turned around hastily to look at the car falling behind, urgently telling Ida.

"Wait, why did you overtake it? Slow down, slow down!"

Ida arched an eyebrow, "Didn't you tell me to catch up to that car?"

Byran sighed, "I told you to catch up, not overtake. I wanted to track her and see where she was going, not race her. Slow down now, get back behind that car"

"Alright"

Ida nodded in agreement, slowing down as he requested

But even as they slowed down, the car behind them didn't catch up, instead, it went in another direction,

Seeing this. Byran yelled in panic, "What are you waiting for? Turn around and chase it!"

Ida shrugged, "This is a freeway You can't make a U-turn and can't stop"

Realizing this, Byran was utterly disheartened and began pounding the car seat, "Damn it!"

He was so close to finding out who Ellinor came to K city for, but he missed it

Seeing Byran's disappointed and frustrated look, Ida said, "Really sorry, I wasn't much help. But I can take you somewhere else, where are you heading next?" Byran was irritated, but he couldn't lash out at a stranger who kindly offered him a ride. He waved his hand, "It's fine, I didn't make it clear. Can you take me to Eden International Group, please?"

Eden International Group was the venue for the hacker convention in K city.

Even though he lost track of Ellinor, he couldn't miss the hacker convention he had been looking forward to.

He had to sneak into the hacker convention to find his teacher, Snow Bunny, today. If he could meet his teacher, he would be content.

"Alright, no problem" Ida answered, then she drove steadily on the freeway, taking him to Eden International Group

The freeway was not busy at the moment, the environment was quiet, and they could only hear the sound of the wind.

As Ida drove, she glanced sideways at the baby-faced Byran.

She arched an eyebrow, trying to ask, "Do you know the person in that car? Why were you following them?"

Byran said, "Don't get me wrong, I didn't mean any harm. I know the person in that car, I just wanted to find out who she was looking for."

Ida asked again, "Is it a girl?"

"YES"

Ida chuckled softly, "Do you like her?"

Byran frowned, "Hell no! She's family! I just saw her getting into a stranger's luxury car, I'm worried she'll be blinded by money and deceived by bad guys!"

ida found this amusing Hmm Could that car possibly be your family member's car?"

Byran was very sure, "Impossible! She's not well-off, if she had a luxury car like that, why would she need to work?"

Ida replied. "Maybe work is just a hobby for her because she's bored"