

The Kiss 661

Chapter 661

The man went on, "I get it, as a married man, it's not right to go with another woman to adopt a kid. I never knew how to tell you.

But I couldn't turn Patricia down. She was seriously hurt trying to save me once and can't have children because of it.

So, I've always felt that I owed her a lot and have been more forgiving of some of her actions."

Ellinor relaxed a bit. She looked down and listened to him.

"You asked me before what Patricia lost because of me. I didn't tell you because I promised the Howard family I wouldn't reveal the fact about Patricia's infertility. I couldn't tell anyone.

But I was wrong. You're not just anyone, I should've been honest with you and told you this earlier."

Ellinor felt a pang of sadness. She was not used to this aloof and domineering man talking so humbly in front of her.

Theo hugged her tightly again, seemingly still uneasy, afraid she was still angry and would leave him again.

"Patricia always said she loved kids and wanted her own, but she can't conceive. She asked me to accompany her to an adoption agency abroad to adopt a child. She said there was no need to be married, couples could adopt.

She said if I did her this favor, I'd be square with her for saving my life back then, and she wouldn't bother us anymore.

Before you came into my life, I could tolerate Patricia. But after you came, it wouldn't be fair to you if I'm too involved with another woman. So, I wanted to sort things out between Patricia and me as soon as possible, so I agreed"

Upon hearing this, Ellinor frowned and looked at him, "But you still often took care of the kid with Patricia, didn't you?"

Theo sighed,

"I haven't raised a child either, I didn't think there would be so many problems with raising a child, I looked at it too simply. When we came back, Patricia said she didn't dare to tell her family about the adoption yet. She was afraid they wouldn't understand and would send the child away, so she asked me to find a place for her and the child.

There were many issues with raising the child. Whenever she didn't know what to do, she'd call me and I'd help as much as I could.

I arranged a professional nanny for them, but she would still call me from time to time, asking for help for all sorts of reasons.

After all, I helped her adopt the child, so I feel responsible. I would go and help as much as I could.

But I was just there to help. As soon as the problem was solved, I'd leave. There's nothing else between her and me."

Ellinor sneered. This was definitely Patricia's style.

After the man finished explaining, he asked her, "Is there anything else you don't understand? I can answer."

Ellinor shook her head, "No."

The man straightened up. "Now that you're done with your questions, it's my turn to ask!"

Ellinor blinked, "What do you want to know?"

The man squinted his eyes, staring at her lightly trembling eyes, "What's the deal between you and Chase from the Crescent Society?"

Ellinor looked a bit awkward, she said, "We're married..."

The man frowned, "Tell the truth!"

Chapter 662

Ellinor pouted, "Alright, we're just friends."

Hearing her bluntly state the fact, the man finally felt the thorn in his heart being pulled out.

"Why did you lie to me?" he asked, disgruntled

Ellinor felt a bit conflicted. She turned her face away, deliberately not looking at him.

"At the time, I thought you and Patricia were a couple, and even had a child. So, I hoped you would stop pestering me. I didn't want to be the third wheel

The man snorted. "In your eyes, am I the type of guy who would find a third wheel?"

Ellinor rolled her eyes. "Don't judge a book by its cover! I've only known you for three months. How could I possibly know what kind of person you really are!"

As soon as she finished speaking, the man made a move. Ellinor instinctively shrank back, afraid of being hit....

But, it was just her hand being tightly grasped by his!

Theo pulled her hand, then gently pressed it against his chest.

Her palm immediately felt the warmth of his chest and the strong beating of his heart...

She was startled'

What was he up to?

His deep voice rang out, "Wanna dig in and see?"

Ellinor froze, staring into his affectionate eyes in surprise.

They held each other's gaze for a while, then she asked, "Mr. Blanchet, do you really like me?"

The man suddenly leaned in, his tall nose brushing against hers.

Ellinor could feel his heartbeat quickening, pounding against her palm....

He suddenly whispered in her ear, "Do I still need to answer your question verbally?"

Theo rubbed his slightly stubbly cheek against hers,

"I don't know when it started, but whenever I'm near you, my heart races out of control. Tell me, isn't that proof that I really like you?"

Ellinor's eyelashes fluttered. She wouldn't admit that the same was true for her, whenever she was near to his man, her heart would pound uncontrollably, unable to remain calm and composed as usual

The man sighed, "If I could control it, I wouldn't want to be so flustered by you, you heartless woman! Stop running, you can't escape!"

Ellinor snapped out of it, and blinked a playful smile at him, "Theo, didn't know you had it in you!"

Theo raised an eyebrow, "Hm?"

Ellinor shrugged and spread her hands, "You know how to sweet-talk! Whether it's true or not, what you just said really made me happy!"

1

Theo frowned, discontented,

"Ellinor, listen to me. Every word I just said, every move I made was from the heart! I don't have any experience, and I don't understand feelings. I just tell you what I think, so don't make things up in your head!"

His serious and sincere look made Ellinor's resolve to sever any ties with him crumble in an instant.

She knew very well that this man's status and identity could bring her lots of unnecessary troubles, but she just couldn't push him away.

Perhaps, that's why they say people in love can't always be rational

Now that she knew he didn't have any relationship or child with Patricia, Ellinor had to admit, she couldn't help but have expectations, for this man.

She sighed, remembering her hand was still on his chest, she asked again, "You said earlier that you don't have any experience. Does that mean I'm your first girlfriend?"

"Yes"

The man answered frankly, without hesitation.

Chapter 663

She could feel his steady heartbeat under her hand, and she was certain he wasn't lying

Ellinor gave him a puzzled look, "Really? A man in his thirties and never been in a relationship?"

Theo frowned, "I've been too busy"

Ellinor frowned and said. "A man like you without a girlfriend in your thirties, what a waste of your handsome face! You must have been popular when you were young, right? It's a pity that no one has ever had your youth"

The man asked, "Do I look old now?"

Ellinor looked at him in his suit, mature and manly, actually thought he was still handsome, but decided to tease him a bit, "Well, good enough"

Theo's face fell, he held her tightly by the waist, leaned in close, "Sure, I'm a bit older, not much experience in love!"

Just because I'm older, it doesn't mean I can't keep fit with sports.

And, we can accumulate experience between us, we can slowly 'adapt to each other, get to know' each other, right?"

Don't worry, I won't disappoint you"

At the words 'sports', 'adapt' and 'know', emphasized by him, Ellinor's face turned red, "Er... what are you talking about! I don't understand!"

Theo squinted at her blushing face with a glint of amusement in his eyes.

The little girl who was just teasing him now blushing herself?

He chuckled, "It's okay not to understand, tonight I can explain it through practical action, you'll understand perfectly"

Ellinor punched him in embarrassment, "You're such a jerk!"

*Theo said, "I see you understand, you're not dumb!

Damn men!

Switching topics just like that! So unfair!

He switched to this topic, as a little girl, she definitely couldn't compete with a mature man like him!

Ellinor quickly changed the subject, turned to look out the car window, "Er... where are we going now?"

Theo calmly replied, "To where you're staying now"

Ellinor frowned, becoming alert, "What! What are you going to do at my place?"

Theo looked relaxed, a natural expression on his face, "I'm taking you home after packing your stuff."

Ellinor looked repulsed, "Did I agree to that? And that's my home, I have no plans to move!"

Hearing her say that was her home, the man didn't lose his temper, his tone was calm but uncompromising, "Whether you agree or not, I will not allow you to live in the same house with another man."

Ellinor hadn't decided how to get along with Theo in the future, and hadn't thought about going back to the Blanchet family.

"Mr. Blanchet, I've told you, Chase and I are just friends! You've had him investigated, you know he's only interested in those sexy girls in his photos, I'm not his type"

"That's not acceptable either

"Mr. Blanchet, I don't remember agreeing to any kind of relationship with you! You have no right to interfere with my life!"

Chapter 664

Theo squinted at her, chuckling coldly, "Ms. Mendoza, you're carrying my baby and you're saying we're not related? Tell me, which normal guy would be okay with his baby's mama living with another man?"

Ellinor was speechless

She knew it, she should not have let this man know she was pregnant

Once he knew, whether she kept the baby or not, this man would never let her go.

Soon, Collin drove to the building complex where Ellinor lived – Harmony Residence.

Ellinor got out of the car, walking sullenly towards the entrance

The tall and stem man behind her kept pace, following her into the building

At this point, she knew there was no way she could shake him off. She gave up struggling and let him follow

Once they were inside, Ellinor said grumpily, "Sit wherever, I'll make you a cup of coffee."

As she started towards the kitchen, she wasn't able to take a step....

The man grabbed the collar of her dress, holding her like a helpless little bunny, saying, "No need for the fuss, I don't drink coffee. All you need to do is pack your bags, the faster the better!"

Ellinor frowned, looking unwilling...

The man saw her defiant expression and threatened, "Do you want to pack yourself, or should I do it for you?"

Ellinor kept silent, not wanting to speak

As for moving her out, the man was determined, regardless of her willingness.

He didn't waste any more words with her. After letting go of her collar, he strode towards her room...

He knew which room was hers.

He remembered from his last visit that she went straight into the master bedroom to change.

However, seeing Theo about to pack her stuff, Ellinor frowned helplessly and rushed to stop him, "Stop! I'll do it myself! You can wait for me in the living room!"

She had no doubt that this man would actually pack her stuff!

Her bras and panties were all in the wardrobe. If this man really packed her stuff, he'd see all her private things. Super awkward.

"Hmm" Theo grunted in satisfaction and stopped. He put his hands in his pockets, turned around and headed for the living room to wait for her.

Sigh, looks like she had to move today! Ellinor rubbed her throbbing temples, let out a long sigh, and resignedly went into her room....

Being entangled with such a domineering man, she had no choice but to obediently pack her stuff and go with him, and then figure out the rest later

Theo sat expressionlessly on the sofa, propping his head with one hand, lost in thought.

He quietly waited for Ellinor to finish packing. He remembered the last time he came here, he really thought Ellinor had married someone else...

His heart ached, he was furious

Right now, though still not in a good mood, he was at least better off than last time, at least he was sure Ellinor was still single, not married to anyone else.

Theo looked around the irritating house and had to admit, the decor was nice.

Chapter 665

However, given that this was Ellinor's place where she lived with other men, he felt a sense of discomfort no matter where he looked

Next to the couch, there was a small bookshelf filled with books. Feeling bored, the man casually pulled out a magazine and started flipping through it.

"Meow-"

Suddenly, a cat's meow sounded near him.

He looked up to see a white fat cat watching him warily, its chubby body language full of caution.

Theo frowned, thoughtfully observing this cat that clearly wasn't friendly towards him.

He had never owned pets, and didn't particularly like furry animals.

But when he thought about how this cat was owned by Ellinor, he found himself developing some fondness for it.

After some contemplation, he closed the magazine in his hands, sat up straight, and extended a hand towards the plump white cat, his voice cold, "Come here."

"Meow!

The cat didn't come over, instead growling at him...

Seeing this, the man began to feel displeased.

If the cat simply disliked him, that would have been one thing. But he distinctly remembered the cat being quite fond of a man named Chase.

His woman's cat liked to get close to other men. Who would be happy with that?

Just then, there was some noise from the outside. Someone was punching in the code to unlock the door ...

The door opened, and Chase sauntered in, stretching lazily

Upon seeing the man sitting in the living room, Chase froze mid-stretch, taking a few seconds to regain his composure. He quickly pulled his arms back, affecting a natural smile.

"Hey! Mr. Blanchet, what brings you over to our place today? Where's my wife? She didn't even offer you a cup of coffee, how rude of her!"

Hearing the word 'wife' from Chase, Theo's brow furrowed visibly. He leaned back against the couch, legs casually crossed, his gaze cold as he fixed it on Chase, asking him, "Who's your wife?"

Chase had an ominous feeling about the unfriendly counter-question. Was Theo here to stir up trouble?

Chase instinctively glanced towards the master bedroom. The door was open, and he could see Ellinor inside their room, although what she was doing was unclear...

After a moment, Chase grinned again. "Mr. Blanchet, you've met my wife before, haven't you? It's Ellinor!"

Theo's gaze was icy. "Is that so? Are you sure she's your wife?"

Chase could feel the pressure from Theo. "Of course I'm sure! Don't you remember? We've formally introduced ourselves as a couple the last time you visited."

Theo laughed coldly, with a hint of mockery in his eyes.

Chase, unfazed, walked over and sat down on his own couch.

"Mr. Blanchet, we're both men, so we should understand each other. I'm just going to say it straight.

It's not that I don't welcome you, but Ellinor is just too adorable. As a grown man, your frequent visits when I'm not home could easily lead to misunderstandings between my wife and me.

So, I kindly ask you, if there's nothing important next time, please try to refrain from visiting."

Theo said, "I indeed won't be coming again."

Chapter 666

"Major thanks to Mr. Blanchet for playing along!"

Chase could read between the lines in Theo's words, but he wasn't clued in on the specifics. He could only respond according to Theo's drift.

Both men stopped talking, but the tension between them was as thick as the calm before a storm....

Thankfully, Ellinor appeared just in time, pulling her suitcase out of the bedroom, breaking the tension in the living room.

"Theo, I've packed my bags!"

Theo remained stone-faced, simply nodding and standing up from the couch, and walked over to her

Chase also stood up, asking affectionately, "Sweetheart, why are you lugging around a suitcase? Where are you headed, and why didn't you give me a heads up?"

Ellinor merely glanced at him, pulling a wry smile.

"Enough with the 'sweetheart, your act is starting to crack."

"Ouch, has he seen through me?"

Ellinor ignored Chase's reaction. She looked up at Theo, "Theo, we can leave now."

To avoid any conflict between them, she needed to leave with Theo as soon as possible, lest he cause trouble with Chase....

Theo glanced at the small suitcase in her hand, raising an eyebrow, "Where's the cat?"

The cat?

Ellinor was momentarily taken aback, but quickly caught on. She looked down at the cat obediently sitting next to Chase's feet.

"Um Let's leave the cat. It's old and doesn't like to change the environment. I'll come back to visit from time to time."

Would she come back more often? Theo frowned slightly, but didn't say anything. He took the suitcase from her and wrapped his long arm around her, his large hand gently resting on her shoulder, "Then let's go."

Chase watched as Theo's possessiveness over Ellinor was on full display, feeling a surge of pressure...

Theo's possessiveness was blatantly obvious!

By the time Theo and Ellinor had left, Chase was still trying to wrap his head around what had just happened.

Did Ellinor just leave with him?

Didn't Ellinor say she had severed all ties with that guy from the Blanchet family?

Suddenly, the door to another room opened, and Ida, looking as if she had just woken up, appeared.

Chase snapped back to reality, frowning, "Ida, so you were home!"

Ida nodded, "I didn't go to the office today because I didn't sleep well."

Chase complained, "Why didn't you come out earlier? Theo took Ellinor away!"

Ida said, "I heard."

"Ida, do you think Ellinor willingly left with Theo?"

Ida flicked her medium-length curls, leaned against the door, and absentmindedly adjusted her glasses, "Less guessing about what Ellinor thinks. We won't figure it out anyway"

Chase thought for a moment, he felt that Ida was right.

"But, how did Theo find out that my marriage with Ellinor was fake? Didn't Ellinor and I put on a good show of being in love?"

Ida looked at him disdainfully, "With the way you act so wild and unrestrained, how could Theo not see through it?"

Chase realized he had given himself away and felt extremely embarrassed. He shrugged, "Uh, my bad! But I can't help it, I need to seek happiness every now and then!"

Ida looked at him with disdain again, "You should take care of your health!"

The Blanchet villa.

All the way there, Ellinor quietly sat in the car, behaving herself.

Because she knew her any struggle would be futile.

Chapter 667

She got off the car in the Blanchet family's yard

Collin went to the trunk to get her luggage, while she stood by the car, staring at this long last place, not moving for a long time

Theo stood hands in pockets, looking down at her. "What are you daydreaming about? Don't you want to go in?"

Exactly, she didn't want to go in! She shot him a glance and started walking towards the Blanchet family's house...

Knowing his character, if she didn't start moving he might just pick her up and force her inside!

Theo watched her reluctant cooperation, fell into thought, then followed her in.

Seeing the master had gone, the servants cleaning leaves in the yard put down their brooms and excitedly started chatting....

"Did you see it, Ellinor is back!"

"It's really Ellinor who is back!"

"Mr. Blanchet finally found Ellinor!"

Once, they didn't respect Ellinor with no background, thinking she was just a temporary companion brought back by Mr. Blanchet.

But later, they gradually noticed Mr. Blanchet's different attitude towards Ellinor, and were attracted by Ellinor's charm, starting to sincerely respect her.

After Ellinor ran away from home, they all missed her a bit. Now seeing Ellinor safe and sound, they were all happy

Dining room

Veronica Blanchet was enjoying the afternoon tea prepared by the servants.

She had just returned a few days ago, allowed by her grandparents because of recent school exams.

While enjoying her dessert, she heard the servant say Theo was back, Veronica was very happy as she hadn't seen Theo in a long time!

But when she left the dining room, she saw that Theo wasn't alone, that annoying Ellinor was with him!

Why is she back again!

Veronica looked at Ellinor in confusion, rubbed her eyes to make sure she wasn't seeing things, then complained, "Theo, why did you bring her back again?"

Theo looked unhappy. "What did you call her?"

Veronica's heart tightened, "Uh..."

In her mind, the only person suitable to be her brother's wife was Patricia from the Howard family!

Patricia was always good to her, always buying her beautiful clothes and bags.

But Ellinor was different, this woman from the countryside was unacceptable.

Besides, she had been sent to the police station because of Ellinor before, and then was taken abroad by her grandmother for some education!

She refused to acknowledge Ellinor!

Veronica reluctantly said, "...Ellinor."

Ellinor nodded and walked past her, heading straight upstairs

She knew Veronica wasn't sincere, so she just responded politely. There's no need to be too polite to her.

Theo glanced at Veronica and followed Ellinor upstairs.

Veronica sensed trouble, couldn't even finish her afternoon dessert, and immediately went back to her room to tattle to Patricia on the phone!

'Patricia!'

On the other end of the phone, Patricia's voice was gentle, "Veronica, what happened?"

"Patricia, something is wrong! I don't know why my brother brought that annoying Ellinor home again!"

"What? Theo brought Ellinor back to the Blanchet family?"

Chapter 668

Veronica said angrily, "Yeah, I saw Collin come in with a suitcase. It must be Ellinor's luggage!"

For real!, Ellinor was shameless! She left on her own accord, and now she's back trying to charm my brother and ruin your relationship with him!

I think she disappeared on purpose some time ago to make my brother miss her even more!"

On the other end of the line, Patricia's face was very ugly. She gripped her phone tightly, teeth gritted.

She had thought she could solve Ellinor's problems today, and she wouldn't have to worry about them in the future. But little did she expect Theo to suddenly appear and bring Ellinor out of the operating room! And the most irritating part was that this opportunity seemed to have brought the two of them back together? How irritating!

Patricia was ticked off

After a long silence. Veronica was puzzled, "Patricia, why aren't you saying anything? My brother brought Ellinor home, aren't you worried?"

How could she not be worried? She's freaking out! Patricia looked ugly and pretended to be calm.

Veronica, Putnam Blanchet and Marissa Blanchet are going back home soon, right? Maybe Theo brought Ellinor back just to keep things smooth with them. After all, Putnam and Manssa haven't accepted me yet, so I can understand why Theo did it."

Veronica, being the simple-minded person she was, didn't catch the forced calmness in Patricia's voice. She was too anxious.

"Patricia, you're so kind! If a woman dares to approach my boyfriend like this, I can't help but want to teach her a lesson and see if she dares to do it again!"

In a place where no one could see, Patricia's eyes revealed a rare trace of malice. Yes, she would teach her a lesson! If Ellinor wouldn't take a hint, she'd have to take a punishment. She was forcing her hand!

"Veronica, you have to worry about me and your brother again! As much as I believe in Theo, I still hope you can help me pay a little attention to Theo and not let him..." Patricia left the sentence hanging, letting Veronica fill in the blanks.

Veronica thought Patricia finally got her point. She quickly reassured her, "Patricia, don't worry! I'll keep an eye on my brother and make sure Ellinor doesn't get a chance to take advantage of him! I'll report to you if anything happens!"

"Yes, please, Veronica!"

"No problem! I gotta go now, Patricia. I'm gonna see what my bro and that Ellinor are up to!"

Veronica quickly hung up

Patricia dropped her fake smile, her face darkening as she gritted her teeth. She wanted to tear Ellinor, who was now with Theo, limb from limb!

Just then, someone knocked on her door.

Patricia snapped back to reality, adjusted her voice and asked, "Who is it?"

"Patricia, it's me."

Haillie Knotts voice came from outside the door.

Patricia said, "It's Haillie! Haillie, come in!"

-

Haillie opened the door and walked in. Seeing her friend Patricia looking a little disturbed, she asked with concern, "Patricia, what are you doing? You look awful, don't you feel well?"

Patricia shook her head, managing a smile, "I'm fine, just a bit tired. Haillie, what are you doing here? What's the matter?"

Chapter 669

Haillie looked a bit hesitant, "I'm all good! Just popped by to see how your sprained ankle is doing?"

"Ah, it's much better. I can walk normally now, but I can't do any intense exercise yet"

"That's great"

Looking at Haillie, Patricia's eyes held a subtle hint of disdain. She could see right through Haillie's real intentions.

Haille had always been infatuated with her brother Balfour. She always came up with excuses to come over and play, but all she wanted was to get closer to Balfour!

Staring at this good friend who harbored feelings for her brother, Patricia hatched a plan in her mind'

So, she quickly concocted a lie and then pretended to sigh with worry, "Haillie, it's good you came by. There's something I need to tell you as a friend.

Haillie was taken aback, "What is it?"

Patricia said with a sad face, "This morning, I went to the Central Maternity Hospital."

Haillie looked worried, "Patricia, what's wrong? Are you sick? Why did you go to the maternity hospital all of a sudden?"

Patricia shook her head, gently clutching Haillie's hand, "Haillie, don't worry about me! It wasn't me who needed to go to the hospital. My brother had me accompany a girl there for an abortion."

Haillie's eyes widened in shock, "Abortion? Balfour...why would Balfour have a girl get an abortion? Who is she?"

Patricia let out a resigned sigh, "It's Ellinor. She's pregnant."

"What?! Ellinor! But what does Ellinor's pregnancy have to do with Balfour?"

"Haillie, don't you get it? If the baby isn't Balfour's, why would he care about Ellinor getting an abortion? You know my brother, he wouldn't interfere in something that doesn't concern him"

Hearing Patricia's words, Haillie was in complete shock, "How could this happen! Ellinor is pregnant with Balfour's child?! How could Balfour even touch her! No! I don't believe it! Balfour would never touch her!"

Patricia looked at her sympathetically, "Haillie, calm down, let me finish.

Ellinor started working at my brother's company out of the blue, and then she started showing up at my grandparents' house, trying to get close to him. Her intentions were clear.

As far as I know, she managed to drug my brother one night a month ago, and that's how she got him to

I can't believe she got pregnant just from that one night!

It's a good thing my brother doesn't plan on keeping the baby. He won't let her control him!

That's why he had me go to the maternity hospital today to make sure Ellinor went through with the abortion, to get rid of that unwanted child."

Hearing that the man she had admired since childhood had been violated by Ellinor in such a dirty way. Haillie was so angry that her hands were shaking.

"Ellinor is so shameless! She couldn't get Theo, so she set her sights on Balfour!

She'll stop at nothing just to marry into a wealthy family! I feel sick thinking about what happened to Balfour that night!

Thank god Balfour didn't fall for such a low-class woman. She deserved to get that abortion!"

But Patricia looked worried again, "But Ellinor didn't go through with the abortion today. She changed her mind halfway and ran off."

"What?!"

Chapter 670

Patricia nodded, "Yeah, she initially agreed to get an abortion, but changed her mind on the operating table. I couldn't stop her... Upon hearing this, Haillie became frantic, "What? She intends to keep Balfour's baby? Does she really think she's good enough?"

Patricia, can you tell me where Ellinor is right now? I'm going to find her! I can't let her have Balfour's baby and give her the chance to threaten us later"

Patricia looked down, her face full of sorrow, "I just got a call from Theo's sister Veronica, saying Ellinor is with Theo again..."

Haillie didn't get it. "What? Ellinor is with Theo again? What the hell is she up to!"

Patricia sighed, "I think it's 'cause Ellinor lost hope in my brother, so she's trying to win over Theo..."

Haillie cursed in anger. "That's absurd! With Balfour's baby, she has the nerve to see Theo? Can't believe such a woman exists!"

Patricia sighed, "I always thought Ellinor was just a tough person with a good heart, but now it seems that she is not like that!"

Haillie's loathing for Ellinor intensified, "Ellinor is like a ghost, haunting either Balfour or Theo, we just can't get rid of her!"

Patricia suddenly laughed coldly. "If we can't drive her away, we can make her disappear forever!"

Haillie was taken aback. Did she hear it right? How could the gentle and naive Patricia say such a thing?

"Patricia, did you just say you want Ellinor to disappear?"

Patricia put on her innocent face again. She sighed and said, "Haillie, I was just talking nonsense. How could we make someone like Ellinor disappear?"

Oh! Sometimes I wish I could do magic and send annoying people to another planet. Then they won't bother our boyfriends anymore!

Then I could be with Theo peacefully, and you could marry my brother..."

After listening this, Haillie's doubts about Patricia faded. She truly thought her friend was too kind, wanting to send the bad guys to another planet with magic instead of cursing them!

"But to make Ellinor disappear, you don't need magic, you can do it with practical methods..."

Haillie thought for a while and said, "Patricia, don't worry, I'll make your wish come true!"

Patricia acted confused, "Haillie, what are you going to do?"

Haillie chuckled mysteriously. "When you hear the good news, you'll know what I've done! Patricia, I gotta go. I'll come to see you next time!"

"Haillie"

Haillie seemed to have some urgent matters. She quickly turned around and left after speaking, not even stopping when Patricia called her.

Watching Haillie's impulsive and reckless departure, Patricia smirked with anticipation.

Getting others to do her dirty work was too easy for her.

Hopefully, this time Haillie can step up and permanently deal with Ellinor, saving her future troubles!

Suddenly, the just closed door was gently pushed open again, and a child peeked in...

Seeing Patricia in the room, the child happily walked in and reached out his hand, "Mommy Mommy Hug

Baber, that's the kid she insisted Theo adopt from overseas