

The Lord 1021

Chapter 1021: Devil Castle

[Black God Cavalry Corps]: With the Black God Horse Den as the vessel, this stone stele has received a massive amount of power from the Black God Horse Den, greatly raising all attributes. All members of the Corps can receive power from Black God Horses, and their power can be fused. Soldiers will receive power from the Black God Horse Den, and the Corps Formation will be a Black God Horse. The limit for this Corps has increased by one million soldiers.

After looking at the Black God Cavalry Corps' information, Zhao Fu felt quite shocked because the Cavalry Corps' information was different to that of other Special Corps. Ordinarily, Corps merely received some sort of power.

However, the Cavalry Corps not only received power but could also share and fuse power with Black God Horses. This made the cooperation between rider and mount even closer.

Moreover, the fusing of their power could result in a cumulative power that was greater than the sum of the individuals.

Zhao Fu had not expected such a thing; just this alone made the Cavalry Corps more powerful than the other Special Corps. Because they also had warhorses, in battles between Corps, the Cavalry Corps would have an advantage.

Following this, Zhao Fu went to the Giant Wolf Den and fused a Corps Core into it. Countless traces of blood-red aura spewed out, and the countless Giant Wolves sensed this power and howled.

The Den gave off a powerful blood-red light and leaked out a large amount of blood. The blood formed a massive, ferocious-looking wolf of blood that was five meters long, and it gave off a dense aura of killing.

[Giant Wolf Cavalry Corps]: With the Giant Wolf Den as the vessel, this stone stele has received a massive amount of power from the Giant Wolf Den, greatly raising all attributes. All members of the Corps can receive power from Giant Wolves, and their power can be fused. Soldiers will receive power from the Giant Wolf Den, and the Corps Formation will be a Giant Wolf. The limit for this Corps has increased by one million soldiers.

The Giant Wolf Cavalry Corps' information was similar to the Black God Cavalry Corps. Next was the Giant Deer Den.

Similarly, countless traces of blood-red flowed out as a powerful aura expanded out, causing countless Giant Deer to cry out. The Den gave off boundless blood-red light, and blood flowed out, forming a massive blood-red Giant Deer that turned into a blood-red stone stele.

[Giant Deer Cavalry Corps]: With the Giant Deer Den as the vessel, this stone stele has received a massive amount of power from the Giant Deer Den, greatly raising all attributes. All members of the Corps can receive power from Giant Deer, and their power can be fused. Soldiers will receive power from the Giant Deer Den, and the Corps Formation will be a Giant Deer. The limit for this Corps has increased by one million soldiers.

Following this, Zhao Fu created the 27 other Special Corps and picked out elite soldiers from the army to join them. Because the Corps only had limited positions, those in them had to be elites among elites.

Finally, Zhao Fu went to the Devil City, planning to create the final Corps. All of the buildings here were built in an ancient Japanese style, looking quite elegant and beautiful. There were sakura trees throughout the city, creating a pretty and leisurely atmosphere.

Zhao Fu did not pay much attention to the scenery and directly entered the Devil Castle. However, he soon stopped because he came across many Devils.

One was quite beautiful and enchanting and gave off a noble and beguiling aura. She wore a light violet palace dress – this was one of the Three Great Devils, Tamamo-no-Mae.

She was leaning against a pillar, her palace dress quite losses, revealing her long and slender snow-white legs and much of her large breasts. She looked at Zhao Fu with her beautiful eyes and lightly bit her lip, looking quite flirtatious.

Legends had it that during the time of the Japanese Emperor Konoe, Tamamo-no-Mae was a golden nine-tailed fox who had turned into a world-class beauty. She was knowledgeable and beautiful, being called Japan's number one beauty and also the number one learned woman.

There was another woman who was extremely beautiful, and her jet-black hair fell to her calves. She wore a white dress stained with blood, and strangely, there were three candles bound to her hair with blue flames on them. She was Ushi Mairi.

She was a specter from legends that was filled with jealousy and anger. Because she had been abandoned, she continued on as a spectre, fuelled by her hatred.

When most people thought about spectres, they thought of semi-transparent ghosts or white hazes, but Ushi Mairi gave off a blood-red light. From 1 AM to 3 AM, she would hammer nails into a sacred tree, which was an ancient method of cursing.

Ushi Mairi was an extremely jealous type of Devil, and she wore an iron ring with three candles. If she hammered the nails and cursed someone for seven days, the cursed person would die. However, if anyone discovered her, the curse would fail.

There was also a pretty woman with an alluring body, who only wore a piece of red cloth. She had a calm smile as she looked at Zhao Fu. She was Dodomeki.

It was said that Dodomeki stole eyes from men for herself, and if she could obtain 100 eyes, she would become an invincible Devil.

There was another graceful beauty wearing an elegant palace dress. She also looked at Zhao Fu flirtatiously – this was Fuguruma Yobi.

Toriyama Sekien wrote about Fuguruma Yobi in Gazu Hyakki Tsurezure Bukuro. She was a book cart that had manifested due to the emotions and attachment from the love letters in her cart. The Japanese people came to view her as a Devil that induced children to read.

Fuguruma Yobi was said to be a Concubine of Emperor Muramaki of the Heian period and was incredibly beautiful. However, she was killed out of jealousy by another Concubine. She was versed in songs and poems, and when she died, she used her blood to write a curse, resulting in the death of Emperor Murakami.

There was another woman who looked quite cold and had her hair coiled up. She was tall and wore a white kimono that showed her shoulders. She had a gloomy smile as she looked at Zhao Fu; she was Hone-onna.

The earliest records of Hone-onna were from Konjaku Gazu Zoku Hyakki by Toriyama Sekien. There was a man called Shiro who could not endure the days of poverty with his wife, so he separated from her. He married the big miss of a wealthy family and became an official. However, he increasingly despised this new life, and he could not help but think back to his wife from before.

A year later, he returned to his first wife, and she did not blame him at all. The next morning, he woke up and found that beside him was a black skeleton instead of his wife.

There was another young woman who was also quite beautiful and had blue eyes, long blue hair, and wore a light blue dress. She was called Aoandon.

The earliest legends were from the Edo period, but they all described her differently. She was a terrifying monster who had once been a Devil in hell and often walked in front of the gate to the Underworld. She liked to play a popular game called Hyakuonogatari Kaidankai.

Chapter 1022: Hyakki Yagyo

Hyakuonogatari Kaidankai was a game where people lit 100 candles and took turns talking about strange or terrifying stories. Each time they finished telling a story, they would blow out one of the candles. After all of the candles were extinguished, it was said that everyone would be brought to hell.

There was dignified-looking woman who had snow-white hair and snow-white eyes. She wore a white kimono and gave a gentle smile as she looked at Zhao Fu. She was called Yuki-onna.

She was a traditional Japanese Devil everyone knew about. She lived in mountains and looked quite beautiful. She would often attract men to places where there was no one else and kiss them. At the same time, the men's bodies would freeze, and she would devour their souls.

The Yuki-onna's children were called Yukinbo, and Japanese folklore believed that the Yukinbo were the Devils who brought the first snow of winter. The Yuki-onna was a world-class beauty and had a cold personality. She was a subordinate of the mountain god and controlled the snow of winter.

Juvenile Yuki-onna were harmless, but mature Yuki-onna liked to freeze men and take them back to where they lived to look at.

There was a pure-looking and slim woman who wore a lace kimono and looked at Zhao Fu while smiling; she was called Hashihime.

Hashihime was called 'the maiden of the bridge' and was a divine type of Devil. It was both a Water Devil and a Water God.

Because she could not be with her beloved person, she drowned herself. If men crossed the bridge at night, she would appear and cause the water to drown them. If women crossed, she would pull them into the water.

Hashihime first appeared in the poem Kokinshu, and there were many stories about her.

There was another woman wearing a palace dress who had fluffy, long hair. She was quite pretty, but her teeth were black and held a mirror. She did not look at Zhao Fu for some reason; she was called Ao-nyobo.

Ao-nyobo was forty-fifth out of the Hyakki Yagyo. She ate humans and was incredibly dangerous.

They were mainly in Kyoto and often appeared in dark and old houses, holding a mirror. She was actually quite pitiful due to her story.

A beautiful woman with an enchanting figure wearing a bathrobe coldly smiled as she looked at Zhao Fu. She was called the Drowned Woman.

She often appeared in onsens, and people would often see a beautiful woman bathing. However, if she stood up, they would see skeletons in the water around her.

She was similar to Kappas, which were Devils that lured people to commit suicide.

There were two types of Drowned Women. One type had the upper half of a beautiful woman but had the lower half of a skeleton; these were called Skeleton Drowned Women. The other type had the upper half of a beautiful woman but had the lower body of a snake; these were called Snake Drowned Women.

A woman who wore exquisite clothes, had a voluptuous figure, and looked like she put extreme detail into her looks looked at Zhao Fu with a gaze full of desire. She was called Futakuchi-onna.

The Hyakki Yagyo recorded that she was a lascivious woman who stole husbands, and she was extremely gluttonous and quite dangerous.

There was also a woman who looked drenched and wore thin white clothes. She had a graceful demeanor, and her looks were quite good. She was called Nure-onna.

Nure-onna were also called 'sea women' or 'sea concubines,' and they lived near the sea.

She was the spirit of a woman drowned in the sea, and usually her lower half was a dragon tail or snake tail. She was always drenched, and from behind, she looked like a rock.

A middle-aged woman with an elegant figure, delicate looks, and a pale face looked at Zhao Fu expectantly. She wore a simple kimono, and she was called Ubume.

Ubume actually came from ancient Chinese legends and sometimes appeared with nine heads. It was said that she was formed from the obsessions of a woman who had died in childbirth. She held a child as she walked in the night, and the cry of the child became the cry of Ubume.

Sometimes Ubume would steal children and sometimes they would adopt them.

Another woman, who looked quite lazy, leaned against the wall. She was quite tall and slim and had an aura that stood out. She looked at Zhao Fu with interest in her beautiful eyes. She was Tenjo-kudari, a Devil from legends that often appeared on the top of houses.

There was another woman wearing a red dress who had a fiery figure. Her hair was long to the point that it fell to the ground; she was Harionago.

Legends had it that if someone in Shikoku saw a beautiful woman smiling at them from the side of the road, they should not be too happy.

It was quite likely that the beautiful woman would suddenly use her long hair to drag them in when they got too close. They would then find out that there were sharp barbs on the end of her hair, bringing extreme pain.

There was another beautiful middle-aged woman wearing a gorgeous dress and looking at Zhao Fu with a lustful look while hiding a smile behind her hand – she was a Smiling Woman.

It was said that Smiling Women came from dead prostitutes, and they had frivolous personalities and liked to laugh. Those who heard their laugh were often in dire straits.

Finally, there was a woman wearing a black kimono with her hair coiled up. She was devilishly beautiful but also contained a trace of maliciousness. Her figure was quite mature, and she held a black cat – she was Nekomata.

Nekomata was a cat devil, and it was said that she was a black cat with nine tails. Her ears were pointed and her teeth were quite sharp, and legends said she had nine lives.

Seeing so many female Devils, Zhao Fu felt quite startled. When he had attacked Japan, he had only talked with Masanori Hano, and he had not gone into the Devil City. After going in, he was quite surprised.

He did not know why they were here, but some of them were evidently tempting him. Masanori Hano was a friend to Zhao Fu, and since he treated her as a friend, he would not let her down.

Zhao Fu thought about it and decided that they had some kind of goal, so he turned around and planned to take another route in order to not make trouble.

Chapter 1023: Devil World

However, just as Zhao Fu turned, another ten or so female Devils appeared behind him.

The Devil in the lead wore red samurai armour and had three samurai swords at her waist. Her black hair fell to her shoulders, and even though she had a smile on her face, her black eyes had a hint of savageness within them. She was quite valiant-looking and had great ambitions.

She was Momijigari and was much more magnificent and renowned than Shuten-douji.

When she was younger, Momijigari had been called Kurei. However, she had been slain by a samurai called Taira no Koremochi with a holy katana. Momijigari, who had wanted to bring peace to the world, could only temporarily hide within the Six Paths of Reincarnation, and hundreds of years later, she reappeared as a man called Oda Nobunaga!

“Your Majesty, why are you leaving? Could it be that you look down on Devils like us? Your Majesty is the Emperor of Great Qin, someone with supreme authority. You should have whatever you want; Your Majesty, don’t be like those other fake men,” Momijigari said as she smiled at Zhao Fu.

Zhao Fu stared and could not understand what she was saying, so he asked, “What do you mean?”

Momijigari gave a slightly mocking smile as she replied, “Those who say they can only love one woman – are they really telling the truth? If they could, who wouldn’t want to have many wives and have as many beauties as the clouds?”

“In this world filled with desires, it’s not just men but women who also want to have multiple husbands and be surrounded by handsome men.”

Hearing this, Zhao Fu nodded and agreed. After all, this was quite true – in this world, how many people truly loved each other to the death? Most of these people only existed in books, as people all desired true love. However, in reality, things were not so because humans were things of desire.

Seeing Zhao Fu agree, Momijigari’s smile became brighter, “Then Your Majesty shouldn’t be one of those fake people; since Your Majesty’s harem is so big, I’m sure you wouldn’t mind Devils like us joining.”

Hearing this, Zhao Fu lightly laughed; he had never thought that she would have these intentions.

At that moment, Momijigari suddenly squatted down and suddenly started taking off Zhao Fu’s clothes as she gave a confident smile and said, “Then, Your Majesty, let me taste you...”

“Wait, tell me your goal first. We are here for proper business and have many things to attend to.” Before Momijigari could finish speaking, Zhao Fu cut her off because he was not someone who would neglect proper matters for his own desires.

Seeing Zhao Fu be so serious, Momijigari could only stand up and say, “Your Majesty, we have three goals. The first is about our Young Miss; we hope that Your Majesty will not continue to neglect her like this. The second is that all of us Devils are quite exceptional, but Your Majesty has also sidelined us; this is not good. Third, we would like Your Majesty to create a Devil World for us.”

After hearing Momijigari’s words, Masanori Hano’s figure appeared in Zhao Fu’s mind. He realized that she had some feelings towards him.

As for the second goal, back then, Zhao Fu knew that the Devil City had countless Devils, but he did not know much about them. Now that he had seen them for himself and knew that they were all quite powerful, he realised that they could serve the Great Qin.

Moreover, because the Devil City was still where Japan originally had been, it was to the side of the Great Qin, and was quite far from the Great Qin’s centre of power. Their intention was quite clear: they wanted to join the Great Qin’s centre of power.

As for the Devil World, Zhao Fu did not know what they meant by this, so he asked, “I can agree to help you with your first and second goals, but what do you mean by the Devil World?”

Hearing Zhao Fu’s reply, Momijigari gave a happy smile before saying, “The Devil World is a world created by us. Of course, Your Majesty has not unified a world yet, so we are unable to truly create a Devil World.

“However, you can prepare in advance and give us ten or so regions. All of us Devils will set up a Ten Thousand Devil Barrier that will turn all of the heaven and earth spirit qi into devil qi. Anything that possesses a certain type of item, whether it be people, beasts, or plants, will be able to become Devils.”

Zhao Fu thought about it and asked, “Tell me the advantages and disadvantages. If it is possible, We will support you in this.”

Momijigari smiled and nodded before saying, “Your Majesty, the advantage is that you will gain a Devil army that will be incredibly savage, bloodthirsty, and evil. It will become Great Qin’s most vicious army. The disadvantages are that those ten or so regions will become completely chaotic and lawless places where the strong devour the weak.”

Hearing this, Zhao Fu frowned because he could imagine what it would be like within the Ten Thousand Devil Barrier. It would definitely be an incredibly dark and bloody place, like a hell on earth.

This was in conflict with Zhao Fu's principles. Zhao Fu could do anything to his enemies, but he was very kind to those within Great Qin. Even though the Devil World would only span ten or so regions, if it were to develop, he would have to send in a large number of living creatures and have them fight and kill each other. Only by continuously killing and devouring would they be able to create powerful Devils.

The Devils created would not have any virtues or humanity, and they would be pure monsters that lived to kill.

These Devils would be different to those born into the Devil Race. Those from the Devil Race were usually creatures that had Cultivated and had intelligence similar to humans. They were also humanoid and just had the Devil Race's bloodline.

However, these Devils were essentially mutations, and anyone from any Race under extreme circumstances could become Devils.

For example, if a person continuously killed 1,000 people, the evil devil qi could turn that person into a Killing Devil. A saber that was stained with too much blood could become a Devil Saber, and a person who had died in immense pain or hatred could also become a Devil.

Evil devil qi was a type of pure dark and evil power, and if one turned into a Devil through evil devil qi, one would most likely become a savage existence.

Did Great Qin want to create a Devil army through such a bloody method? If they threw in some of their enemies, because of their hatred of Great Qin, even if they became Devils, they would not obey Great Qin and would do all they could to take revenge.

However, Zhao Fu could not bear to throw his own people in either because he could not treat his own subjects so cruelly.

"Eh, Your Majesty, you're here. Also, why are you all here?" a surprised voice sounded out, cutting Zhao Fu off in his thoughts.

Masanori Hano appeared, looking at the scene before her in confusion. Why were all of the female Devils and Zhao Fu together?

Momijigari smiled as she replied, "Of course it is for the Young Miss' future happiness and to prevent Young Miss from continuing to think nonsense to herself."

Chapter 1024: Devil Corps

Hearing this, Masanori Hano's face became red, and she looked at Zhao Fu shyly.

Zhao Fu came back to his senses and slightly smiled as he said, "We plan to create a Devil Corps with you as the Captain of the Corps. In the future, you can freely come and go to Great Qin."

"Mm, thank you, Your Majesty!" A happy smile appeared on Masanori Hano's face as she bowed.

At first, Masanori Hano had felt towards Zhao Fu like how girls would normally feel towards idols. She often heard about how mighty Great Qin's Legatee was and how he would often cause abnormal signs. After the illusion trial in the Legacy Trial, her feelings towards him had slightly developed.

After speaking, Zhao Fu turned to Momijigari and said, "We will also consider your matters and give you an answer in the future."

Momijigari smiled and bowed as the other female Devils also gave coy smiles and looked at Masanori Hano before leaving.

Masanori Hano's face was red as she said, "Your Majesty, I'll take you to the City Hall!"

Following this, Zhao Fu went to the City Hall and fused the Corps Core into the City Heart. A powerful aura exploded out as the City Heart gave off an intense violet light and the images of countless demons appeared around it. All of a sudden, Zhao Fu actually felt the aura of a Universal Den.

This made Zhao Fu feel quite surprised because Universal Dens were incredibly precious. After such a long time, Great Qin had only obtained one, and they were incredibly rare and difficult to find.

Only after asking did Zhao Fu find out that the Universal Den from the Divine Fish Festival had been taken by her, resulting in the Devil City. The two of them had already fused so closely that they could not be separated, so Zhao Fu could only bitterly laugh. If it hadn't been for Masanori Hano back then, Great Qin would have had two Universal Dens.

However, Zhao Fu did not blame Masanori Hano. After all, she had obtained this using her own power, and he had no say in how she used it.

After looking at the Devil Corps' information, Zhao Fu looked at Masanori Hano and said, "Hano, come to Great Qin as much as you want in the future; don't wait for Us to summon you. Your power is very important to Great Qin, and We will do Our best to support you."

Zhao Fu had seen Masanori Hano's power as a Legatee with his own eyes, and she could be one of Great Qin's top-tier forces. He had neglected her, and Masanori Hano smiled as she nodded.

Following this, Zhao Fu once again returned to Great Qin. He ordered some people to quickly fill the numbers of the 31 new Corps and provide training for the new members as well. Great Qin was soon going to engage in large-scale battles, so they had to become familiarized with the abilities of Corps.

Zhao Fu also gathered his important subordinates to discuss the matter of the Devil World. Many of his subordinates were against this idea because this would mean pushing dozens, if not hundreds, of millions of people into hell. They would have to kill and devour each other and become terrifying Devils.

Although Zhao Fu was fine with killing people, he was not someone who enjoyed torturing others. Unless he was pushed to it, he would never do anything too cruel, especially to his own people.

However, if he went through with this, it would provide Great Qin with a ferocious army and would be of much help and provide many benefits.

Zhao Fu was now faced with an incredibly tough decision, which made his head ache. He could only put this matter aside and consider it if the need arose for it.

Zhao Fu and his Generals then started to discuss Great Qin's war plans, and they stood around a massive map. Currently, the Continent with the most powerful defenses was the Western Continent. This was because it was the farthest Continent from any other worlds, and it was naturally the safest place.

Many people from the Southern Continent had chosen to escape to the Western Continent, and this included the Li family's people. After what had happened, everyone guessed that Zhao Fu would attack the Western Continent first.

Indeed, Zhao Fu very much wanted to attack the Western Continent and destroy the Li family to end all of this. Another reason was that because the Western Continent was quite powerful, he could not allow it to develop even more. Moreover, there was a Kingdom there, which was Tina Pendragon's Great British Empire.

It was now a Level 6 Barony Kingdom and had Corps as well. It would cause quite a bit of trouble, and if Zhao Fu allowed her to continue developing, things would become even more troublesome.

Even though Zhao Fu quite appreciated Tina Pendragon, as she had never opposed Great Qin, even if Zhao Fu did not want to make a move against her, he had to. They were on different sides, and if he wanted to unify the world, he would have to destroy her.

All in all, Great Qin's main target was the Western Continent.

However, the Western Continent currently had the tightest defenses, and if they attacked, they would suffer great losses. Moreover, once Great Qin attacked, the other two Continents would make a move as well. Now that everyone's lives were on the line, they had to participate as well.

The three Continents had at least 80,000 City Lords, as many City Lords from the Midland Continent and Southern Continent had escaped to them. They also had billions of soldiers, and if Great Qin were to attack, they could not afford to be careless. A single mistake could cause massive losses.

The Continents were all separated by the ocean, and how they would cross the ocean and attack was a big problem. This required detailed discussions to deal with.

Suddenly, a few system announcements rang out in the human world and in the Dark Demon world, making countless people look quite shocked; they had never thought that such a thing would happen now. Wasn't this adding fuel to the flames? The human side started to feel quite panicked.

On the other hand, the Dark Demon world's people's expressions were quite unsightly as well. A quarter of their world's territory had been taken over by that mysterious organization, and their situation was not very bright either. Now that such a thing had happened, they would be in dire straits.

These system announcements, which caused so much unrest, were as such:

“System announcement! The shifts in Fate have caused massive changes. The Heaven Domain Boundary between the Human world and Dark Demon world has started to fade.”

“Warning! The fading of the Heaven Domain Boundary is becoming greater and greater.”

“Warning! As the fading of the Heaven Domain Boundary increases, the Heaven Domain Boundary will soon disappear, and the Human world and Dark Demon world will be officially connected.”

“Warning! The passage between both worlds being opened will result in unexpected changes, please make preparations.”

“Warning! The passage between both worlds will soon open.”

Boom!

A deafening explosion sounded throughout both worlds as if the sky had fallen. In front of this sound, countless people felt incredibly small, and their bodies and hearts trembled.

At the place where the human world and Dark Demon world connected, countless massive cracks appeared, spanning thousands of regions. Even those extremely far away could see this shocking scene.

As the massive cracks appeared, boundless demonic qi flowed through. The sky seemed to collapse as the heavens and earth dimmed and a black aura swept from the Dark Demon world into the human world. Everyone felt as if they had dropped into an icy cavern, and their bodies felt incredibly cold.

Bang! Bang! Bang...

Large pieces of rainbow-colored shards fell from the sky, smashing enormous craters on the ground. Massive sounds rang out and dust billowed up, creating a terrifying scene.

Chapter 1025: Connection

As the shards continuously fell, demonic qi ferociously swarmed from the Dark Demon world into the human world. The human world's spirit qi was forced into retreat, and the sudden inflow of demonic caused the beasts and plants on the boundary of the human world to become demons.

Finally, everything settled down, and the two worlds were fully collected without any barriers. Just by taking a single step, one could reach the Dark Demon world.

As everyone watched on in shock, Zhao Fu received more system announcements, and he received a better understanding of what was happening. He could not help but loudly laugh; he had never thought that such a thing would happen. This undeniably solved one of Great Qin's biggest problems.

These were the system announcements that only Zhao Fu received:

“System announcement! Great Qin controls the Night Dynasty and has cleared one-third of the Dark Demon world's Southern Continent. Great Qin has received control over those regions, and a large amount of the Dark Demon world's Fate has entered the human world.”

“System announcement! Because of the Heavenly Domain Boundary, the Fate is unable to pass through in large amounts.”

“System announcement! More and more Fate is being blocked by the Heavenly Domain Boundary, causing the Heavenly Domain Boundary to go through changes.”

“System announcement! Because Great Qin’s Fate is the dominant Fate in the Human world, it has started to flow toward the Heavenly Domain Boundary, causing the Heavenly Domain Boundary to go through changes.”

“System announcement! The two waves of Fate have caused the Heavenly Domain Boundary to fade. The passage between the two worlds has started to form.”

“System announcement! A large amount of the Dark Demon world’s Fate has entered the Human world. Great Qin’s Fate has greatly increased, and the Dark Demon world’s Fate has gradually weakened.”

That was what was going on. At first, Zhao Fu had been quite troubled as to how to open up the Heavenly Domain Barrier, yet things had happened so easily. Zhao Fu did not even have to do anything; the Night Dynasty had done everything by clearing regions.

Because Great Qin fully controlled the Southern Continent of the Dark Demon world and the Heavenly Domain Boundary was in the way, their people and City Lords could not come and go as they pleased, nor could they relocate. If there were any emergencies, it would be difficult for Great Qin to quickly head over.

Now that the Heavenly Domain Boundary was no longer obstructing them, Zhao Fu could truly make the Dark Demon world’s Southern Continent into his territory, and he would not have to worry about the invasion of the other Dark Demon Continents.

Zhao Fu would be able to move his people and City Lords at will, making things quite convenient. Things would not be so complex, and Zhao Fu could also bring everyone in the Dark Demon world’s Southern Continent to Great Qin.

The 20,000 City Lords and the Night Dynasty’s massive army could now be used by Zhao Fu. Now, if Great Qin were to fight, their help would be a massive source of assistance.

Now, the difference in size between Great Qin’s army and the three other Continents was not very great, and Zhao Fu felt much more confident.

“Your Majesty, now that such a big thing has happened, we should discuss our plans again.” Wei Liao understood what Zhao Fu was thinking from his smile, and he also smiled as he cupped his hands.

Zhao Fu grinned as he nodded. Now that he could use the Night Dynasty's forces, all of the plans from before were redundant, and they started to discuss again.

The Northern Continent was now covered by a dark haze, and everyone's expressions were quite worried and unsightly. They had seen what had happened to the Southern Continent when the Fish Scale world had attacked, and now it was their turn.

What's more, they were facing the Demon Race, which was stronger than the Fish Scale Race. No one would feel good when faced with such a situation.

Thinking about how the Fish Scale world had swept through the Southern Continent, looking as if they were going to destroy the human world, everyone felt quite terrified. If it wasn't for Great Qin forcing them back, it was possible that the human world would have been destroyed.

The people from the Southern Continent had desperately escaped, and the Southern Continent had been taken over by Great Qin. The Southern Continent's people were now living in the other Continents and had to ingratiate themselves to the original occupiers of those Continents.

Now that they were facing the powerful Demon Race, the Northern Continent's outcome would most likely be the same as that of the Southern Continent. The human world had already gone through two wars between worlds and been greatly weakened. Did humanity have hope in the third war between worlds?

This was what the Northern Continent was the most worried about because this matter was simply too big and serious.

However, something they could rejoice over was that they had already constructed defensive walls. Back when Great Qin's Legatee had gone to the outside world, he had told them that they were right opposite the Dark Demon world, and from his suggestions, they had built a defensive wall.

After all, they had all seen the Southern Continent being ferociously invaded, and the Northern Continent's forces were worried that the Dark Demon world would invade as well. As such, they had especially reinforced their defensive walls and prepared many items to counter Demons.

Now, Zhao Fu regretted telling them about this and suggesting that they build a defensive wall. Back then, he had also been worried about an invasion from the Dark Demon world, so he had the Northern Continent build defenses and prepare items that countered Demons. He had even provided some resources to support them.

However, the Dark Demon world's Southern Continent was already under Zhao Fu's control, and these defensive walls and items would be used against the Dark Demon world's Southern Continent. It could be said that Zhao Fu had shot himself in the foot.

If he had not told them that they were opposite the Dark Demon world, the Northern Continent would not have made any preparations, and the Night Dynasty could take this opportunity to launch a sudden attack and sweep through the Northern Continent.

However, it was useless to wallow in regret. In the end, Zhao Fu had not known back then that he would take over the Dark Demon world's Southern Continent. After all, the Dark Demon world was a cultivation world, making it innately stronger than the human world.

Even though Great Qin was quite powerful back then, they had not even established a Kingdom yet, and they did not have many soldiers or regions. If the Dark Demon world had really attacked when the human world didn't have any preparations, they really would have been destroyed. When that time came, Great Qin would not have been able to escape the fate of being destroyed either. That was why Zhao Fu had done this.

After the Heavenly Domain Boundary disappeared, Geoffrey took a large number of Northern Continent factions to the defensive walls to defend in order to make preparations if the Dark Demon people suddenly attacked.

"Ai! The human world is still suffering from internal conflict and now something like this has happened. Even though I haven't personally seen the Dark Demon race's strength, just from this demonic qi, I can tell that the Demon Race is quite terrifying. The human world is in danger; what will our fate be?" Geoffrey sighed as he stood on the defensive way and looked at the demonized ground ahead, his face covered with worry.

The expressions of everyone else were also quite unsightly. With their strength, they had no confidence in facing the Dark Demon world. Many people were incredibly terrified and had already escaped to the other Continents.

"What should we do?" Geoffrey was the strongest person in the Northern Continent, so everyone turned their gazes to him to see what he had to say.

Facing everyone's gazes, Geoffrey sighed and said, "We can only write letters to ask the other Continents for help, especially Great Qin. We need to stop our internal fighting and face this new threat together!"

Chapter 1026: Demon Beast

Hearing this, everyone nodded because the threat of the Dark Demon world was greater than that of the Fish Scale world. When facing the Fish Scale world, even when they had all allied together, they had been at a disadvantage. Facing the even more powerful Dark Demon world, if they did not ally together, they would without a doubt die.

Great Qin was especially important – without Great Qin, they did not feel a bit of confidence at all. Last time, even though they had done decently without Great Qin at first, they had still been completely defeated in the end.

Great Qin was the human worlds' toughest line of defense, and without it, the human world was completely doomed. Everyone felt the same way about this.

Geoffrey quickly sent letters to factions all over the world, and Zhao Fu also received one. The letter described the impending crisis and how terrifying the Demon Race was. They hoped that Great Qin would put aside its misgivings, and the Northern Continent factions sincerely pleaded Great Qin to come. The attitude in the letter was incredibly humble and sincere, but Zhao Fu only smiled.

After everyone received their letters, their expressions became incredibly grave; they had never thought that something like this would happen. It just had to happen while internal conflict was erupting in the human world.

What should they do now? It was evident that the human world was once again going to experience a war between worlds, and humanity was in a crisis. They did not hesitate to head over.

After all, the threat of the Dark Demon world was greater than that of the Fish Scale world, and with their tough defensive walls and Demon-countering items, they might still have a chance. Once the Dark Demon race broke through those defenses, there would be nothing left to defend with.

At the same time, everyone turned their gazes to Great Qin, feeling quite unsettled and unconfident. They were unsure as to whether or not Great Qin would participate because it did not participate last time.

If Great Qin did not come, they could only sigh; they were powerless to change Great Qin's decisions.

This time, no one dared to criticize Great Qin anymore. Before, they had all criticized and slandered it, wanting to make trouble for Great Qin. However, Great Qin now had enough power to threaten the rest of the world.

Anyone who dared to criticize Great Qin would be attacked, and at this critical moment, if they said anything that caused Great Qin not to go and the Dark Demon race attacked, the ones who suffered the most would be them.

At the same time, the Dark Demon world's various factions were discussing this as well. Mo Qi was still recovering from his injuries so he was not present, but the others still went ahead with the meeting.

The human world was no longer a weak chicken like they had thought because it had Great Qin's Legatee. The Great Qin Kingdom was incredibly terrifying, and anyone who even thought about it felt fear.

Back then, even two World Protectors and ten or so Dynasty Legatees using their Nation Armaments could not defeat Great Qin's Legatee, and their world's most powerful person, Mo Qi, had escaped with serious injuries.

It could be said that the Dark Demon race was actually somewhat worried that Great Qin would lead the rest of the human world to attack them; right now, the Dark Demon world did not have any preparations.

This situation made their heads ache; first they had the threat of the mysterious organization, and now they also had the threat of Great Qin.

However, something they could celebrate about was that it was the Dark Demon world's Southern Continent that connected to the human world, and the Southern Continent had been conquered by that mysterious organization. They wondered if those two sides would fight, and they hoped to see this. If the mysterious organisation and the human world fought, they could swoop in at the end to collect the benefits.

Of course, just to be safe, they still decided to make preparations so that they wouldn't be caught defenseless if the other side really did attack.

In just three days, before the Dark Demon race had even appeared, a shocking amount of demonic qi had flooded to the human world's defensive walls.

The Northern Continent factions felt an extreme sense of crisis, and their hair stood on end as they said, "The Dark Demon race is going to attack! Why haven't all of our people come?"

The Northern Continent had 7,000 or so regions in total, around 27,000 Cities, and 2.5 billion soldiers. They had around 80% of the City Lords and soldiers gathered on the defensive walls to defend.

Within the Dark Demon world's Southern Continent, Ye Cang smiled as he looked at his army of two billion soldiers. Only around one billion of them were proper soldiers while the rest were players or other indigenous residents, and they gave off a heaven-shaking aura.

An Ancestor of the Night Dynasty beside him said, "Ye Cang, won't it be too difficult for our faction to attack the human world by ourselves? Also, those people from the mysterious organization haven't sent help, while I heard that the human world is actually quite powerful. Great Qin's Legatee and the Great Qin Kingdom are incredibly powerful, and I feel that with our strength, we won't be able to defeat the Great Qin Kingdom."

Ye Cang smiled but did not respond. After all, he could not just tell them the relationship between Great Qin's Legatee and him.

After a while, he said, "I naturally know about this, and I've already made preparations. Don't worry!" Hearing such confident words from Zhao Fu, the Ancestor nodded. He trusted Ye Cang a great deal.

"Roarr..." the cries of countless beasts sounded through the sky, causing wild winds to blow as the ground violently shook. The people on the defensive walls felt a massive sense of pressure approaching.

Countless demon beasts roared as they flooded towards the defensive walls, and the sky was filled with countless demon birds. The scene of the heavens and earth being covered with demon beasts was quite shocking.

Ye Cang had gathered the demon beasts in the boundary of the Dark Demon world's Southern Continent to launch the first wave of attacks. There were hundreds of millions of these demon beasts, and sensing the humans' auras, they gave off bloodthirsty and merciless gazes.

Geoffrey and the other leaders did not look too shocked; they had already made preparations for the worst.

Facing the incoming demon beasts, the Shieldbearers stood in front with their shields raised while the countless archers behind them took out arrows covered with talismans. The talismans on the arrows gave off white light, and they were extremely damaging to evil-type creatures.

Swish, swish, swish...

Countless arrows brought with them white lights as they flew out powerfully, tearing through the sky. They rained down onto the demon beasts, causing countless demon beasts to cry out in pain. The arrows covered in white light brought immense pain, and normally those that were hit immediately died.

There were many Archers attacking, and with the white talismans, this first wave of attacks killed at least 30% of the demon beast horde.

If they could repeat this three more times, they would be able to essentially exterminate these demon beasts.

However, Ye Cang could not allow this to continue, so he started to attack from another side. 20 Corps released their Corps Formations and attacked the defensive walls as well.

Swish, swish, swish...

Countless arrows started to fly up from the ground towards the defensive walls, while the human side immediately used their shields to defend. At that moment, the Dark Demon world's true advantage was put on display.

The Dark Demon world's real world was a cultivation world, and now that everyone had been brought into the Heaven Awaken World, the fusion of their bodies in the real world and the Heaven Awaken World provided them with a large amount of cultivation power.

Chapter 1027: Blood Demons

After their real bodies fused with their bodies in the Heaven Awaken World, almost all of the players had at least Stage 1 Cultivation, and most had Stage 2 Cultivation. Some of the more powerful ones had Stage 3 or Stage 4 Cultivation; this was the Dark Demon world's powerful advantage.

Even though the soldiers on the defensive walls held up their shields, arrows from Stage 2 players could still send them back a few steps. Arrows from Stage 3 players could directly blast them back.

The formations on the defensive walls were immediately broken, and the Shieldbearers were unable to protect the soldiers behind them. The Night Dynasty's soldiers started to shoot out arrows as well, and many of the people on the defensive walls were hit, crying out in pain, resulting in many injuries and casualties.

The 20 Corps Formations also wreaked havoc on the defensive walls. A demon crocodile that was hundreds of meters long opened its mouth and crushed thousands of people into meat paste with a single bite. A demon sword gave off powerful demonic light as it flew about, killing a large number of people.

A demon ox madly rushed about. Even if there were countless Shieldbearers ahead, they were completely useless and were sent flying.

The losses on this side were quite severe, so everyone immediately sent reinforcements. At that moment, Dark Demon City Lords started to attack. Geoffrey left some people here to kill the demon beasts and defend against any more Dark Demon people, and Geoffrey led the City Lords to face off against the Dark Demon City Lords.

They were quite surprised to find that the Dark Demon people looked Asian. If it wasn't for the demonic qi flowing out of their bodies, they would have looked just like normal Asians.

There were about two billion soldiers and 20,000 City Lords in the air, and some of their auras were especially powerful. The other side had already established a Kingdom and had 20 Corps, so the human side was at a great disadvantage.

What made everyone quite nervous was that this was not even the main force of the Dark Demon world. It was possible that the majority of the Dark Demon people were still waiting for their chance to deal a fatal blow to the human world.

The Northern Continent had already sent most of their forces, and the situation was quite grim. They could only hope that the forces from the other Continents would quickly arrive, or else everything would be finished.

On the battlefield, they did not have much time to think. Geoffrey had the soldiers counterattack and had some City Lords deal with the Corps Formations before leading the other City Lords to attack the Night Dynasty's City Lords.

Ye Cang held a demon sword as he flew towards Geoffrey. Even though Zhao Fu knew Geoffrey and had a good impression of him, in circumstances like this, he would not hold back, and he attacked Geoffrey with his full force.

Geoffrey did not dare to be careless, and he held a spear that gave off brilliant white light as he started to fight with Ye Cang.

Terrifying ripples spread out, and the sounds of the clashes were deafening. The stench of blood was incredibly strong, and corpses were strewn over the defensive walls and the ground. The Northern Continent was at a great disadvantage, especially the soldiers, and it was continuously being suppressed by the Dark Demon world.

At that moment, thousands of Dark Demon people wearing black robes and holding staffs walked out. They summoned a black mist that gave off a darkness aura and caused people to instinctively feel fear.

The black mist drifted towards the defensive walls, and the soldiers who were covered in it howled pitifully. The soldiers were completely devoured by the black mist, leaving nothing behind. This caused a lot of panic and chaos.

Seeing this, Geoffrey felt that this could not go on, or they would definitely lose. As such, he ordered people to use that terrifying thing.

A group of barefoot people dressed in white robes walked out with serious expressions, and they gave off holy auras. The person at the front was holding a holy statue made of glass. The statue was of a man dressed in white robes, and he looked quite kind.

The person in the lead raised the statue and started to chant, and those behind him followed in suit.

Boom!!

A powerful aura swept out, bringing with it wild gales as the holy statue gave off an intense white light and flew into the sky. It broke with a bang, and a massive image appeared.

Instantly, an incredibly massive might covered the surrounding tens of thousands of kilometers. An image that gave off an immense amount of Holy Light power appeared, and it was 1000 meters tall. The sky also gave off a searing white light that was quite blinding.

Sensing this power, Ye Cang's expression fell. He wanted to stop it, but it was too late.

The image stretched out a hand towards the sky, and all of the light in the world seemed to gather. The sky was now so bright that people could barely open their eyes.

Boom! Boom! Boom! Boom...

100 massive rings of light floated out and flew to the ground. Enormous explosions rang out as the ground continuously trembled.

After everything settled, 100 gigantic black rings appeared on the ground. These rings carved dozens of meters into the ground, and everything within them was black as well as if massive fires had been burning there. There were countless charred corpses, and this attack had caused the Night Dynasty to lose roughly ten million people.

After unleashing this terrifying attack, the image in the sky gradually faded, and everything returned to normal.

Seeing so many of his people dead, Ye Cang felt quite angry as he attacked Geoffrey with his full power. A black sword light flashed out, and Geoffrey blocked with great difficulty, feeling quite shocked at how powerful Ye Cang was.

On the other side, some people from the Night Dynasty walked over to the corpses of the demon beasts and started to activate magic formations. A formless energy absorbed all of the blood, causing the demon beasts' corpses to wither.

The blood was used to form demons that gave off ear-piercing howls as they attacked towards the defensive walls. There were only a few million blood demons, but they were able to scale the defensive walls quite easily.

Any arrows shot towards them passed through their bodies and were completely ineffective. Only the arrows with the white talismans were slightly effective.

Most of the Northern Continent's army was focusing on the Night Dynasty's main force, and there were not many soldiers left here. Moreover, they did not know how to deal with these blood demons.

Those blood demons climbed up the defensive walls quite easily and started to fight with the soldiers on the defensive walls. However, these blood demons were incredibly difficult to deal with and were unaffected by ordinary physical attacks. Even though the soldiers desperately tried to find ways to deal with them, they were continuously slaughtered, and their blood was sucked out.

The battle was incredibly intense, and people continuously died. The Northern Continent's side was at a great disadvantage, and this was only with a single wave of Dark Demon people. There were even more Dark Demon people who had not yet come.

After hearing about the situation at the frontlines, the expressions of the Northern Continent's people became quite grim, and a wave of terror started to spread.

Those responsible for receiving the factions from the other Continents felt incredibly worried because after waiting for so long, not a single person had come.

What was going on? Why was no one coming to defend against the Dark Demon people? Were they not afraid of the Dark Demon people conquering the Northern Continent and moving on to the rest of the world?

Chapter 1028: Great Qin is Mighty

This was a time of immense crisis, yet no one was coming to help. The people responsible for receiving anyone who came felt both angry and panicked; back when the Southern Continent had been invaded, the Northern Continent had helped greatly. This was all so that in the future, if the Northern Continent was invaded, others would come to help them.

And yet, things had turned out like this – anyone would feel angry at such a result.

However, the Northern Continent was in a crisis, so they could only send more people to the factions from the other Continents to ask for their support.

On the other side, the other Continents had all made preparations to help and were preparing to go to the Northern Continent through teleportation channels.

They were sure to go – after all, how could the Northern Continent defend against the Dark Demon world by themselves? In the end, the Northern Continent would be broken through and all of them would die, so they had to go and help the Northern Continent.

However, when they were about to go, they suddenly found that they could not use teleportation channels. What was going on? Countless people felt incredibly confused.

Following this, someone came to report that all paths to the Northern Continent had been partitioned; someone had set up a Void Zone between the different Continents, making it impossible to use teleportation channels to go to the Northern Continent. This Void Zone had been set up quite quickly, so it was possible to destroy. However, it would take some time.

This made everyone feel incredibly shocked – what was going on? If they could not go to the Northern Continent in time, the consequences would be unimaginable. Who had done this? Was there a traitor in the human world?

Just who would do such a foolish thing to doom the entire human world?

The Void Zone between Continents had been set up quickly and was a temporary Void Zone, but ordinary people definitely would not be able to accomplish this. Only some of the top-tier factions would be able to do this.

Some people immediately claimed that this had been done by Great Qin. However, if it was Great Qin, what was their goal? The Dark Demon world was invading the human world, and if Great Qin hindered them, they would not benefit either.

Could it be that Great Qin wanted the Dark Demon race to chase out the Northern Continent factions so that it could then go and beat the Dark Demon world back and take the Northern Continent for itself?

However, this did not make sense either – after all, if the factions from the other Continent went, the Dark Demon world would suffer greater losses, which was more beneficial to Great Qin. It only made sense to let them go.

Even though Great Qin was quite suspicious, it did not seem like it would do such a thing, and no one could figure out who had done this.

However, right now, the most important thing was to hurry to the Northern Continent. As such, the various factions immediately gave orders to destroy the Void Zone and then go support the Northern Continent.

By now, the Northern Continent's factions also heard about the Void Zone and felt quite terrified. They had no idea who had done this, but they were faced with a big problem – there would be no one coming to support them for a while.

Once the Dark Demon world sent more forces, the Northern Continent would definitely be doomed, and they would die at the hands of the Dark Demon people.

This news caused the Northern Continent's people to feel incredibly terrified and panicked. With this Void Zone, they would not be able to escape either.

However, soon, a joyous piece of news arrived: Great Qin had been the first to break through the Void Zone and had arrived at the Northern Continent, preparing to resist the Dark Demon world with them.

After hearing this, countless people could not help but cheer. With Great Qin helping them, it was a massive morale boost. With how powerful Great Qin was, their chances of defending against the Dark Demon world were many times higher, and they felt more confident.

Hearing that Great Qin's Legatee had personally come and had brought a large number of City Lords and soldiers, morale became incredibly high. With Great Qin present, who dared to attack the human world? It would be seeking death.

Everyone hoped that Great Qin would be able to beat them back to their own world like he had done with the Fish Scale world and also have them hand over compensation. They would never dare attack the human world again.

"Great Qin is mighty!"

"With Great Qin here, there's nothing to be afraid of!"

"Great Qin is the pride of humanity!"

"We welcome Great Qin to defend against the Dark Demon invasion with us!"

The people responsible for receiving the incoming forces felt as if they had seen their savior. They rushed up with excited looks, and one of them said, "I never thought Great Qin's Majesty would personally come. Thank you so much, truly! Everyone in the Northern Continent thanks you!"

Everyone else around him quickly agreed.

"That's right, Great Qin is just and open minded, willing to put aside our differences and face the Dark Demon world together."

"I think we've misunderstood Great Qin in the past. I never thought that Great Qin was so good. I apologize for my wrong perception of Great Qin in the past."

"We'll remember Great Qin's assistance forever, and we'll be forever grateful. Great Qin is our savior."

“That’s right, Great Qin is the most powerful existence in the human world; we don’t have to fear anyone. Great Qin is mighty! Great Qin is invincible! Long live Great Qin!”

Looking at this group of people, Zhao Fu gave a slight smile as he said, “Alright everyone, there’s no need to go on. Great Qin is part of the human world, so it’s only right that Great Qin will help defend against the Dark Demon invasion. With Great Qin here, we won’t let the Dark Demon race take a single step into the human world. Great Qin will show the other worlds that humans are the strongest.”

Countless people cheered in support of Zhao Fu’s words, and their blood started to boil.

Doke looked at Zhao Fu and felt quite awkward, suppressing his emotions. He was surrounded by many others, so his expression was not noticed.

One of the people from the receiving party said cautiously, “Great Qin’s Majesty, the situation at the frontlines is not very advantageous for us. The Dark Demon people have used all sorts of evil techniques, and the Northern Continent has suffered great losses. We should hurry over.”

Hearing this, Zhao Fu stealthily made a sign with his hand before replying, “Didn’t the Northern Continent’s factions prepare a large number of things to suppress the Demon Race? Why is the Northern Continent still at a disadvantage?”

The person from the receiving party did not notice Zhao Fu’s actions and replied honestly, “The Dark Demon race is too powerful. If it wasn’t for all of our preparations, we would have been defeated already and not have been able to hold on for so long.”

Zhao Fu nodded. “So it’s like that. How many of you have gone to the frontlines?”

The person gave a vague answer, saying that most people had gone, and he asked Great Qin to quickly go and support them. Otherwise, the frontlines would be in danger.

Great Qin’s Generals saw Zhao Fu’s signal and started to make preparations, and the Northern Continent’s people started to feel that something was off. The person from the receiving party had a bad feeling about this, so he had given a vague reply.

Zhao Fu smiled and said, “Don’t worry about the frontlines. In the future, Great Qin will protect the Northern Continent, and Great Qin will defend against the Dark Demon people.”

Those words caused the expressions of the people from the Northern Continent to fall. Great Qin was not from the Northern Continent, yet they said that they would protect the Northern Continent from now on. Zhao Fu's intention was clear: He already viewed the Northern Continent as his.

Chapter 1029: Cherubim

The smile of the person from the receiving party stiffened as he asked, "Great Qin's Majesty, what do you mean by that? The Demon Race is invading the human world."

Zhao Fu grinned as he replied, "And so, if the Northern Continent submits to Great Qin, it will naturally receive the protection of Great Qin. Don't worry and live your lives peacefully; Great Qin will force the Dark Demon race back."

These words were quite clear, causing the Northern Continent's people's expressions to become quite unsightly. They had never thought that while the Dark Demon race was invading, Great Qin would also invade.

They inwardly cursed angrily at Great Qin, thinking that it was simply too shameless. They were taking advantage of this crisis to reap their own benefits. Could it be that Great Qin thought it could beat back the Dark Demon race by itself? This was simply too arrogant. If Great Qin did not have the strength to defend against the Dark Demon race but also attacked the Northern Continent, resulting in the frontlines collapsing, Great Qin would be the greatest criminals of the human race.

In order to lay down Void Zones around the other Continents, sealing them up, Great Qin had spend a great deal of effort.

The Northern Continent was unable to defend against the invasion of the Dark Demon race, so they definitely needed the help of other factions. If Great Qin did not take advantage of this, it would be too stupid.

The Night Dynasty's invasion and the Void Zones around the other Continents had all been set up by Great Qin.

After hearing the intention in Zhao Fu's words, the Northern Continent's people immediately turned to run. However, Great Qin's countless City Lords and soldiers had already prepared themselves and immediately attacked, chasing after these people while shouting, “Those who surrender will be spared!”

There were only about 10,000 people here to receive any arriving parties, while Great Qin’s City Lords alone numbered in the tens of thousands and had billions of soldiers. In front of this world-destroying tide, before they could run even a few steps, their legs grew weak and they knelt on the ground, shouting, “I surrender!”

Of course, there were many people who were unwilling to surrender and continued to desperately run. However, a few sword lights shot out, turning them into a pile of corpses.

“Roar! Roar! Roar...” Zhao Fu waved his hand, and countless Wyverns roared, shaking the surrounding tens of thousands of kilometers. Their enormous dragon’s might caused the entire region to fall deathly silent, and not a single creature dared to make any noise.

“Roar!!” Another eight massive roars tore through the sky, and eight terrifying auras spread out like cyclones, causing the weather to change.

As the countless Wyverns danced in the sky, the eight Aquatic Beast Kings were released. Their auras were even more powerful than before.

After following Great Qin into battle and devouring a lot of flesh, blood, and City Hearts, a small portion of them had been digested by them, making them even more powerful.

Zhao Fu knew about this, but he did not say much – he treated it as a reward for their performance. Moreover, the more powerful they became, the more help they would be to Great Qin.

The tens of thousands of City Lords, billions of soldiers, countless Wyverns, and the eight Aquatic Beast Kings gave off a terrifying aura like a world-destroying tsunami. They seemed like they really had the strength to destroy the entire Northern Continent.

However, this tsunami stopped. Zhao Fu stood at the front of the army and raised a hand before lowering it, officially giving the order to attack.

The world-destroying tsunami unleashed its true might as the Wyverns flew forwards and the eight Aquatic Beast Kings gave off terrifying auras as they advanced. The City Lords turned into rays of light as they shot towards the horizon, and the billions of soldiers also charged.

This shocking aura swept through all of the Northern Continent and seemed incredibly unstoppable.

Before, countless people had been overjoyed that Great Qin was coming to defend against the Dark Demon race, and they waited for Great Qin to reach the frontlines to beat the Dark Demon people back. The human world would once again welcome a time of peace.

However, they had never expected that instead of hearing news about Great Qin attacking the Dark Demon people, they would hear news of Great Qin attacking them. Before many people could react, they had already been killed or had knelt down to surrender.

Great Qin instantly tore through region after region as people escaped in terror. The news of Great Qin attacking the Northern Continent instantly spread, causing mass panic.

“What, Great Qin isn’t attacking the Dark Demon people but us?” After hearing about this, countless people were incredibly terrified. They had never thought that Great Qin would be so shameless and hypocritical. They had said that they were coming to resist the Dark Demon race, yet they had taken this opportunity to conquer the Northern Continent.

Was Great Qin stupid? The frontlines defending against the Dark Demon race was already in an incredibly disadvantageous situation, and it looked like they would be defeated soon. The human world would face a disaster, and if they did not face the outsiders together and instead fought among themselves, wouldn’t this endanger the whole human world?

Moreover, Great Qin’s attack would cause the frontlines to start to collapse as well. The Northern Continent could not defend; the Dark Demon race would soon break through and the Northern Continent would be finished.

The entire Northern Continent fell into chaos, and countless people started to run away from the Northern Continent, that cursed place.

At the frontlines, Geoffrey’s expression was incredibly unsightly. There was a gash on his body, and blood dyed the front of his clothes red. Opposite him, Ye Cang coldly laughed as he ferociously attacked, black substances opening up bloody mouths as they bit towards Geoffrey.

The situation below was incredibly unfavorable for the human side as well. The Dark Demon people relied on their high cultivations to launch ferocious attacks.

Elsewhere, the defensive walls had been breached by the strange blood demons. However, the blood demons had almost been completely destroyed. The Northern Continent factions had summoned a large wave of Angels. These Angels were mostly Cherubim and wielded Holy Light power that was incredibly harmful to the Dark Demon people.

The Night Dynasty also used blood sacrifices to summon demons, taking down all of the Angels in the end.

Most of the Northern Continent's factions used Holy Light attacks, but the situation was still quite grim. They were continuously being suppressed by the Dark Demon world, and there was already a portion of the Night Dynasty's army that had reached the defensive walls and were about to break through.

If they were broken through, the Northern Continent's factions would be pincered on two sides, and they would definitely lose.

"We must stop the Dark Demons!" Geoffrey thought to himself. However, something that caused him to feel incredibly confused suddenly happened – the City Lords fighting in the air suddenly lost their power and fell to the ground, while the Light-attribute power around the soldiers disappeared.

What was going on? Geoffrey looked at the rapidly-weakening City Lords as well as the soldiers, unable to understand what was happening.

Chapter 1030: From Behind

As the City Lords lost their power and the soldiers lost their Light-attribute power, the entire Northern Continent faction took a heavy blow. They had been at a disadvantage from the start, and the number of injuries and casualties continuously increased. The soldiers' morale plummeted, while the Night Dynasty unleashed even more ferocious attacks. It looked like the Northern Continent faction would soon collapse.

Just what was going on? Why were there no reinforcements at all? Could it be that those people were just going to watch on as the Northern Continent was destroyed? At this moment of crisis, was Great Qin not willing to help? Did none of them understand that the Dark Demon world invading was not good for anyone?

A cry suddenly sounded out, making everything clear, "Great Qin is attacking our army from behind, and countless regions have already been conquered by Great Qin. The Northern Continent is in chaos, and countless people have started to run already."

After hearing this, everyone felt a chill within their hearts. They were desperately defending against the Dark Demon people on the frontlines, but they had never thought that someone would stab them from behind. What's more, this was not any ordinary faction but the most terrifying faction in the world, the Great Qin Empire.

Around 80% of their soldiers were gathered at the frontlines, and most of them had died already; the back of their army was unable to defend against Great Qin at all.

Great Qin was acting incredibly shamelessly and despicably, and everyone understood that the Northern Continent would most likely be doomed.

They were already losing against the Dark Demon people, and now Great Qin had stabbed them in the back, causing them to become much weaker. They were unable to defend at all, and if they stayed here, they would all be wiped out.

"Run!!" Without Geoffrey having to give the order, the various leaders took their people and started to retreat. At that moment, the Northern Continent army collapsed, and countless people ran back in terror, while the Night Dynasty gave the order to give chase.

Great Qin surged like a black flood from behind, inundating region after region without any obstruction.

Rumble...

Great Qin's Cavalrymen clad in black armor easily took down City after City and always shouted out, "Those who surrender will be spared!"

Following this, a group would split off and kill those who were escaping or resisting, causing blood to splatter everywhere. The scene was incredibly chaotic, and pained cries and howls continuously sounded out.

Most people in the Northern Continent were westerners, and there were some indigenous people as well. The indigenous people did not resist much, but others resisted greatly, especially those who prized their freedom greatly.

One of the Cities that Great Qin's army attacked was filled with such people. They were quite adverse to a feudalistic centralization of power, and they barely had any Dynasty Legatees. They were all self-governing factions. Facing Great Qin, a Kingdom that centralized power at the top, their resistance was incredibly intense.

In this city, a group of big men swung large sabers, axes, and spears as they rushed out half-naked. They looked quite scary as they were bigger than ordinary Asians. The leader shouted, "Piss off back to where you came from!"

Following this, he led the rest of the group as he roared and charged over.

Great Qin's soldiers were expressionless, and the captain of the team did not say anything. He started to charge, spurring his warhorse on and turning into a black blur as he rushed forwards. The other Cavalrymen also charged, and in a single bout, they left corpses all over the ground.

"Kill! His Majesty orders that all who escape and resist are to be killed," the Captain ordered as he continued to speed forwards. The other Cavalrymen followed behind him, darting through the streets and swinging their weapons, killing those who did not surrender.

The Cavalrymen charged first, breaking the spirits of the enemy and causing the City to fall into chaos. The Infantrymen then followed, killing those who did not surrender in an orderly manner.

The Shieldbearers worked together to force a few thousand resistors into a corner, after which the Archers shot at them. Those people had nowhere to run and could only try to break through, but they were blocked by Great Qin's Shieldbearers.

In the end, they were either shot to death or slashed to death, leaving behind a pile of corpses.

After killing these people, Great Qin's soldiers continued to attack those who remained, whether they were male or female, young or old. The stench of blood filled the entire City, and everyone sank into terror. The cold slaughter caused their bodies to feel icy, and they could not help but tremble.

In the face of such a bloody slaughter, no one cared about their freedom or rights anymore; the most important thing was to just live. More people started to kneel on the ground, not daring to say anything or do anything.

It was difficult to imagine in such a chaotic world that westerners would kneel at the feet of Asians, looking incredibly terrified and not daring to resist.

After this, the surrendered people were brought to the center of the City. A young man wearing a Mage's robe gave a faint smile as he walked about. He pointed at a slim and tall young woman with snow-white skin and flaxen-colored hair before saying, "She has a decent amount of Phoenix Qi; bring her to His Majesty."

Great Qin spoke Chinese and most westerners spoke English, so they naturally could not understand this.

A few soldiers immediately walked into the crowd and dragged that woman out, and she had no idea what was going on.

She had decent looks, so she was worried that the soldiers would try to force themselves on her. As such, she immediately started struggling and cried out, "Help! Please spare me, I'm still a virgin; Great Qin shouldn't treat captives like this."

The other captives also thought that the soldiers wanted to violate the woman, as that was quite common in wars, whether it was in the real world or the Heaven Awaken World. In fact, some of these captives had themselves done this kind of thing when attacking other factions.

During peaceful times, beautiful women were treated as princesses and would be given anything they wanted. They lived carefree and luxurious lives, and this was all because of their beauty. However, their beauty was now their downfall.

Following this, the young man pointed out a few people who had used mud to cover up their looks, and they were also dragged out.

Those women could not help but cry, and the others could only lower their heads. They were furious but did not dare to say anything because they were afraid of the weapons in Great Qin's soldiers' hands. Those weapons were now stained with blood, which slowly dripped down.

They could not even keep themselves safe, so they had no way of interfering in this.

The remaining women lowered their heads in fear, not daring to move. They were extremely afraid – whoever that young man pointed at was doomed.

At that moment, the young man pointed at a young girl with blonde hair, who looked around 13 or 14 years old. That girl immediately started to cry, and soldiers walked up to bring her out.